Sony's John Grady Unveils His Vision

■ by Phyllis Stark

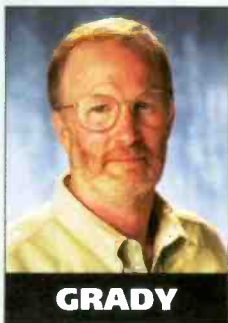

While other Nashville label presidents have taken heat in the past for saying publicly that they don't listen to or enjoy country radio, John Grady has a different take.

"I'm a big fan of radio," he tells Airplay Monitor. "Radio still fascinates me. I'm not angry with it."

In recent remarks during a party at the Country Music Hall of Fame to welcome Grady as the new president of Sony Music Nashville, he told the crowd, "I feel we have the responsibility to take this business to a higher level. We need to write better songs, sign better artists to sing them, make better records and do a better job of marketing to the consumer. Then, good things will happen. We need to stop blaming each other—even radio."

Grady made a lot of friends in radio during his time as senior VP of sales, marketing and promotion for Mercury Nashville and Lost Highway Records, where he worked from 1993 until 2002. More recently, he had been president of the Sony-affiliated DMZ Records.

So what's on the new label boss' mind? Like most label heads, he's concerned about how long it takes for a record to become a hit at country radio. While that has been a perennial complaint

Anatomy Of A Seven-Month No. 1

■ by Bram Teitelman

It was last September when Warner Bros. first impacted "Headstrong," the first single from San Jose, Calif., band Trapt. The song's steady growth and the label's persistence recently paid off when the tune reached the top of the active and modern rock charts in its 28th and 25th weeks, respectively—one of several recent slow builds on the rock side (see The Spin, page 3).

Warner Bros. VP of modern rock promotion Rob Goldklang says the label let the band develop as opposed to cultivating an instant buzz. "This is a band that didn't necessarily have anything handed to them. If you look at the beginning stages, this was never a $6.99 record at retail, and they never had a tour where they were an opening band for a big act. When we came out with this record, we sold a few thousand pieces—it wasn't about making a huge impact [in the] first week. We wanted to get the record in the market and grow it. Where we spent our money in the beginning was putting the band on the road and

Legislators Still Gunning For New Regs

Billboard reports that Senate Commerce Committee chairman Sen. John McCain, D-Ariz., has set June 25 for a hearing stemming from the FCC's controversial June 2 vote to knock down remaining cross-ownership rules. McCain wants to look at the section of the contested rules that would allow the grandfathering of existing clusters that would otherwise no longer pass muster under new market definitions. A hearing was scheduled for June 23, but it was canceled following the death of congressman Bob Stump of Arizona.

McCain's amendment is part of a congressional effort to pass legislation that would roll back the FCC's changes. The Preservation of Localism, Program Diversity, and Competition in Television Broadcast Service Act of 2003, sponsored by Sens. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, and Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., zoomed out of the committee June 19 and is headed to the Senate floor.

The Stevens-Hollings bill would restore the ownership cap, limiting any one TV owner from commanding more than 35% of the national audience. It would also reinstate the cross-ownership rule, preventing a media company in the future from owning a TV or radio broadcast outlet and a newspaper in the same community.

Insiders believe Senate passage of the measure is possible, but the bill faces an uphill battle in the House. The chairman of the telecommunications subcommittee, W.J. "Billy" Tauzin, R-La., has vowed to keep the bill from being considered. Undeterred, several House members say they will attempt to invoke a seldom-used measure to veto the FCC's June 2 ruling.

Those legislative efforts don't sit well with Entercom president/CEO David Field, who was actively speaking out on behalf of broadcasters last week, as part of his other job as committee chairman for the National Assn. of Broadcasters radio board. In an interview with Billboard senior editor Marc Schiffman, Field said, "It would be a great shame if Congress ended up enacting any legislation which hindered the ability of growth companies like ours to compete more effectively with the Clear Channels and the Viacom of the world. They should be encouraging the Entercoms of the world to grow."

Field reaffirmed that Entercom would not strike down its deals with independent promoters despite such decisions during the past nine months by Cox and Clear Channel. While he predicts the end of independent promotion and says, "We're happy to see it going away," Field also says, "As long as they are just one of many tools and it's not violating our programming integrity and they're going to pay us, we'll take the money."

BUSINESS: SIRIUS CRACKS 100K MARK

Sirius Satellite Radio has crossed the 100,000-subscriber mark, besting that number June 20 by about 200 subs. In addition, VP of entertainment/information programming Jay Clark is upped to executive VP of programming.

Clear Channel AC combo KOST/KBIG Los Angeles promotes director of sales Craig Rossi to station manager, duties that had been held by station programmer Jhani Kaye.

KTFM LEANS RHYTHMIC AGAIN

Mainstream top 40 KTFM San Antonio's playlist is looking a lot more rhythmic under new PD John Cook and consultant Steve Perun. KTFM also has a noticeable "old school" component. And Monitor is sorry to report the June 13 death of KTFM night jock Rich Rodriguez at age 31 of brain cancer.

KTIM San Francisco will flip from country to classical June 30. Ironically, KTIM, which had been hampered by a daytime-only signal, has just received FCC approval to go full time.

Former AC WALK Long Island, N.Y., GM Bill Edwards is the new PD of AC rival WKJY as Bill George exits.

Infinity/Rochester, N.Y., names John McCrae VP of programming. He'll also assume PD duties at modern WZNE. The cluster also loses promotions director Rob Riddlemoser.

Rhythmic top 40 KIKI Honolulu PD Fred Rico adds duties for Hawaiian/reggae KDNN (Island Rhythm 98.5). He replaces Lanai, who will concentrate on his morning show.

Toledo, Ohio, gets a dance-leaning rhythmic top 40 as WXQQ (Q96.9) launches under the ownership of Cornerstone Church, according to the Toledo Blade. Brandon is OM.

Jordan Walsh exits the PD slot at top 40 WLDI (Wild 95.5) West Palm Beach, Fla.

Heritage KLAQ El Paso, Texas, PD/afternoon jock and 24-year station vet Mike Ramsey exits.

Josh Klemme exits as PD of modern WEQX Albany, N.Y. He may be reached at 347-668-2798.

Top 40 KKMG Colorado Springs, Colo., PD Scotty Valentine exits. Reach him at 719-964-2904.

AC KRBB Wichita, Kan., PD Lyman James becomes OM for Clear Channel/Wichita, as Jack Oliver exits. KKRD APD P.J. is named PD for that station; a PD for country KZSN will be hired.

PEOPLE: INGRAM EXITS CBS-FM

Radio legend Dan Ingram exits P/T duties at oldies WCBS-FM New York. He declined the station's offer to stay on for one shift per week instead of two, according to New York's Daily News. Ingram tells the paper that he's headed to Australia on vacation and that he's not finished with the radio industry.

A Long Way To The Top If You Want To Rock'N'Roll

Who would have ever thought it would take longer to get a record to No. 1 at country than AC? Or that the next-lowest format after those two conservative pillars of music radio would be modern rock?

Prompted by the recent spate of slow-building modern rock hits (see story, page 1), Airplay Monitor looked at the average number of weeks that songs needed in each format to reach No. 1. While the numbers are largely stable from last year, stories emerge when you look at the long-term trends: top 40 songs typically hitting No. 1 in 10 weeks or less, modern rock doubling since the new rock revolution of 1994 and country almost doubling.

That's evident this week at modern rock as Chevelle's "Send the Pain Below" (Epic) reaches No. 1 in its 21st week. It is the second consecutive song to take more than 20 weeks to top that chart and only the third song in chart history to need more than 20 weeks to reach the summit.

"Magic Stick" (Queen Bee/Atlantic) by Lil' Kim Featuring 50 Cent sets the one-week detection mark at rhythmic top 40 with 3,471 spins. The prior record was held by 50 Cent's "In Da Club," with 3,421 detections on March 28.

Jimmy Wayne scores the highest-charting country debut single in more than one year as "Stay Gone" (DreamWorks) rises 4-3. It's the biggest debut since Tommy Shane Steiner's "What If She's an Angel" peaked at No. 2 in May 2002. In other country news, the RCA Label Group claims the five biggest gainers on the country chart: Alan Jackson & Jimmy Buffett, Kenny Chesney, Brad Paisley, Martina McBride and Brooks & Dunn.

R&B WKYS Washington, D.C., shuffles its lineup. Osei, from defunct R&B outlet WXYV Baltimore, takes afternoons, replacing Lorenzo Thomas. Zulu returns for nights from R&B WBTJ (the Beat) Richmond, Va., sending K.K. Holiday to late nights. WKYS' love song show is gone.

Oldies KQLL Tulsa, Okla., morning host Andy Oatman has resigned to work on personal projects, including a biography of his late father, Great Enpire Broadcasting founder Mike Oatman. Replacing Oatman is Bob Cooper, who has worked for country KVOO and KWEN (K95).

Former KSCS Dallas APD/MD Linda O'Brian has been named MD/midday host at rival KFWR (the Ranch). PD Dave Marcum, who recently exited, will still consult KFWR for a few months.

Adult R&B WVAZ Chicago ups P/T Ramonski Luv to afternoons, replacing Tony Richards.

R&B WRTK Youngstown, Ohio, p.m. driver Young Dave adds MD duties... WXSS Milwaukee taps Rahny Taylor for morning co-host from KDWB Minneapolis... Modern WXTM Cleveland revives "The Metal Show" with Matt Wardlaw and Chris Akin. Wardlaw did the show for six years on active rival WMMS.

Modern WOCL (O Rock) Orlando, Fla., taps former talk WKRR Detroit duo Kramer & Twitch for mornings. Carter stays on as producer. Across town, modern WJRR picks up WXTB Tampa, Fla., syndicated morning jock Bubba the Love Sponge. Records That Stunk Up Top 40

There are records you like.

There are songs that you don't like right away and come around on. "Hey Baby" by No Doubt was hard to get my arms around at first. But it sounded less odd with each listen. When I looked up a month later, it finally sounded like a hit.

There are records that you're indifferent to: "La Isla Bonita" by Madonna never did much for me. Still doesn't. But it was a legitimate hit, and I never begrudged it a place on the radio.

There are records that are destroyed by overexposure. Some, like "Celebration" by Kool & the Gang, never sounded good again. But I had nothing against it in 1980.

Then there are the records that just stink. Records that you despise so much, you don't care if a million other people bought and enjoyed them. Records that you can't sit through, no matter how much you want to hear the radio station that's playing them. Records that, depending on when they come along, actually hurt the top 40 format.

If you've followed the Ross on Radio column or its predecessor, Top 40 Topics, you know that there are some records I've singled out for particular abuse over the years. Usually, they're songs that mainstream top 40 was playing when it could have been playing something much better. I wouldn't have despised "Mister Sandman" by Emmylou Harris (who is otherwise a favorite artist of mine) if top 40 had also found a place for "Give It to Me Baby" by Rick James. But they didn't. And a decade later, during the next top 40 doldrums, you could say the same about "When She Cries" by Restless Heart taking the slot that should have gone to "Rump Shaker" by Wreckx-N-Effect.

As you might have intuited by now, my "records that stunk" were almost always MOR. And since the notion of a top 40 that doesn't acknowledge the upper demos at all is a relatively recent phenomenon, there has probably been one of those for you, no matter when you grew up, whether it was "After the Lovin'" by Engelbert Humperdinck in 1976 or "Friends and Lovers" by Gloria Loring & Carl Anderson a decade later. I couldn't stand either of those songs, but I wasn't consistent. I hated "I've Never Been to Me" by Charlene in 1977, and having it come back in 1983 was worse. But I'm not embarrassed (well, not much) to admit that I didn't hate "You Light Up My Life" by Debby Boone at first. What everyone thought was sappy and insipid I heard as unusual and moody, at least for the week or two before it gained critical mass nationally.

I also didn't hate "Seasons in the Sun" by Terry Jacks, although it creeped me out when I heard it for the first time, late at night, transistor under pillow, on CKLW Detroit. That song, and all its '70s death-rock counterparts, seemed to perform the public service of opening the topic up to 12-year-olds who, in most cases, wouldn't have a lot of reason to discuss mortality. But for many people, it's the defining bad record of the era.

For many people, the "records that suck" were novelty reaction records, disco, '70s bubblegum, or some combination of the above. Those were the easiest ones for the jocks to pick on. There might indeed have been some point in my adolescence where I couldn't admit that I liked "Little Willy" in a public place. But by the early '80s, if you had challenged me on that song, I would've just said, "Hey, it was better than 'Muskat Love.'"

That brings us to "Mickey" by Toni Basil, a record about which Monitor readers have heard plenty over the years. I recognize that it was, definingly, a record that stunk for a lot of people. In fact, after 15 years of having gotten into arguments about that song, it actually surprised me to start encountering people who remembered it fondly. But I knew that when I asked top 40 and AC programmers to name the songs that they hated growing up, "Mickey" would come up at least once. And it did.

Looking at their responses, the surprise was that there weren't more PDs who grew up with a lingering resentment of novelty/reaction records. I expected to get a lot more "Boom Boom (Let's Go Back to My Room)" and a lot less MOR. The '70s teenybopper records are represented, but WHTS Davenport, Iowa, PD Tony Waitekus also weighs in to defend them: "I loved all the songs that were generally regarded as songs you were supposed to hate. Give me Bo Donaldson & the Heywoods' 'Who Do You Think You Are,' Blue Swede's 'Hooked on a Feeling' and 'Never My Love,' or Ray Stevens' 'The Streak.' I generally always liked the hits."

I was also surprised by how many people have a lingering resentment toward songs I always considered harmless. "We Are Family" never struck me as a song that you could get really worked up about. But AGM/Bakersfield, Calif.'s Bob Lewis comes by his resentment honestly. And, of course, the point of this whole exercise is just to show how different our tastes were. Until now, I never knew how polarizing "Islands in the Stream" or "Nothing Compares 2 U" were.

Some records you hate are ameliorated by time, or they're better once you're old enough to understand what they were about. CIHT Ottawa PD Rob Mise reels off 10 songs from the '70s and '80s, including "Delta Dawn" by Helen Reddy, "Surfin' USA" by Leif Garrett, "Time and Tide" by Basia and "Don't Know What You Got (Till It's Gone)" by Cinderella. But then he adds, "And I have all of these songs on my iPod."

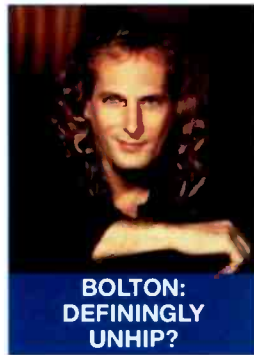

I still wouldn't listen to "Friends and Lovers" if it came on the radio now. (And if you listen to European radio on the Internet, hearing it again isn't out of the question.) But I might let "Bluer Than Blue" by Michael Johnson. Then again, I'd be really upset if I punched to another station afterwards and heard the fade of a song I really liked.

Teens were allegedly not as cynical in previous decades as they are now (although many of us in this business were jaded ahead of our time). So it's hard to imagine that there aren't some songs at top 40 now that are setting off the same radar for listeners, especially with the format again in a doldrums. There are at least four hit records from the past three to four months that I think I would really despise if I were 16. And I wonder if not disliking more has something to do with being 40 instead.

Clear Channel/Tucson, Ariz., OM Steve King raises the same question. After declaring a tie between Julio Iglesias & Willie Nelson's "To All the Girls I've Loved Before" and Kenny Rogers & Dolly Parton's "Islands in the Stream," he adds, "Not even my parents, who were top 40 listeners at the time, understood why these songs were on the radio. Especially when you had 'Islands in the Stream' playing next to the likes of ZZ Top, Def Leppard, and John Mellencamp. Or Willie and Julio followed by Frankie Goes to Hollywood, Prince, or Bananarama. It sounded odd."

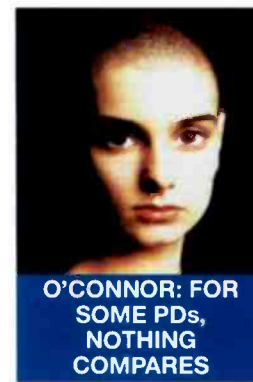

"The sad part is that 19-20 years later, we are playing 'Picture' and 'Landslide' next to 50 Cent and Sean Paul," King continues, "and I'm sure the next generation will say the same thing about these songs. We repeat the cycle and don't learn from our history."

What Record Stunk For You?

"Toni Basil's 'Mickey.' That song made me want to drive into a giant oak tree."—Alex Tear, PD, WDRQ Detroit

"Growing up listening to WABC New York, I distinctly remember 'You Light Up My Life' being No. 1 for something like 50 weeks. Also, the Manhattans' 'Kiss and Say Goodbye.'"—Steve McKay, WPTE Norfolk, Va.

"Sister Sledge's 'We Are Family.' There were these obnoxious neighbors, a brother and sister my age, in LaCrosse, Wis., who used to sing that song and dance in their backyard when I was trying to figure out puberty. I hate that song! More than I hate 'You Light Up My Life' by Debby Boone."—Bob Lewis, OM, AGM/Bakersfield, Calif.

"'Islands in the Stream.' Ugh! It was like an old person's love song—because they were old."—Nikki Nite, PD, WFBC Greenville, S.C.

"Baltimore's 'Tarzan Boy.' Beyond annoying."—Allan Fee, PD, WQAL Cleveland

"'Dear Mr. Jesus.' I forget who sang it, but it was bad."—Tracy Austin, PD, KRBE Houston

"'Billy, Don't Be a Hero' by Bo Donaldson & the Heywoods. Possibly the cheesiest song ever recorded, next to 'Dear Mr. Jesus' by that annoying little girl in the '80s."—Dusty Hayes, PD, KTTB Minneapolis [The act, who programmers have done a better job of forgetting than the song, is Powersource.]

"All Michael Bolton, especially 'When I'm Back on My Feet Again.' The very definition of unhip."—Cat Collins, PD, KQKS Denver

"Any song by Air Supply."—Jeff Z, acting PD, WKTU New York

"I hated the Eurythmics' 'Sweet Dreams.' The video scared the hell out of me. I still hate it and 'accidentally' skip over it when it schedules."—Skyy Walker, MC, WKTU New York

"'Black Betty' by Ram Jam. A smash when I was in junior high, and I never understood it. Still don't."—Mark Edwards, PD, KOSI Denver [who is blissfully unaware that the song is now a European hit for Tom Jones.]

"C.W. McCall's 'Convoy.' Also up there is 'I've Never Been to Me' by Charlene—without a doubt the corniest thing to hit top 40 since I discovered radio."—Jerry McKenna, PD, WQXS Boston

"The top of the list is 'I've Never Been to Me,' but I'd also have to include 'Daddy Don't You Walk So Fast' by Wayne Newton."—Brian Kelly, OM, Entercom/Milwaukee

"'Mandy' by Barry Manilow. Nuff said."—Doug Hamand, regional VP of programming, Clear Channel/Birmingham, Ala.

"Lionel Richie's 'Dancing on the Ceiling.' That song stinks for any format, let alone on a top 40."—Darren Davis, regional VP of programming, Clear Channel/Detroit

"Anything by Warrant. I was a metalhead, and they were just so stupid."—Jeff Cushman, PD, WOMX Orlando, Fla.

"'Achy Breaky Heart' by Billy Ray Cyrus was awful, but we played it. Of course, I was in Paducah, Ky., at the time, so maybe it made sense. We were struggling to find hits then. It was a bad time for top 40."—Rod Phillips, PD, WKSC Chicago

"I don't want to dis that many songs, because I'm sure some people like them. But I wonder why songs like Biz Markie's 'Just a Friend' or Bow Wow Wow's 'I Want Candy' became hits."—Rob Tyler, MD, WQXS Boston

"'Nothing Compares 2 U' by Sinéad O'Connor."—Chris Carmichael, PD, WVSR Charleston, W.Va., and Jon Reilly, OM, Archway/New Bern, N.C.

"Billy Vera & the Beaters' 'At This Moment.'"—Al Levine, APD/MD, WBLI Long Island, N.Y.

"Ironically, she's making money with them, as they're included on her top 10 'The Very Best of Cher,' but does it get any worse than her early-'70s hits? 'Half-Breed,' 'Dark Lady,' 'Gypsies, Tramps & Thieves.' I admire all that she has accomplished over the years, but that was a rough stretch."—Mike Rossi, APD/MD, WSTW Wilmington, Del.

"Every time I heard 'Seasons in the Sun,' I wanted to run the car into the river... Also, 'Video Killed the Radio Star' by the Buggles. 'I want my MTV?' When this song came on, I wanted to shoot my MTV."—"Mr." Ed Lambert, PD, KZZO Sacramento, Calif.

Songs ranked by number of detections. () Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first. If tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. *Initial Impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (◊) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

H=Heavy (30+ Detections), M=Medium (15-29), L=Light (Under 15). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. *Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

Songs ranked by number of detections. () Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Providing Progressive Leadership In An Increasingly Progressive City

When Brian Wallace returned to his hometown to program WTLC-FM Indianapolis in 1998, much had changed. A veteran of heritage R&B call letters that include KKDA-FM Dallas, WYLD-FM New Orleans and KMJM St. Louis, Wallace came back to a more cosmopolitan market. "The perception of Indianapolis had always been slow and conservative with little night life," he says. "What really helped this city rise above others in the region was its strong, higher-paying job market, along with an overall progressive attitude that has attracted people here from other places."

Wallace joined WTLC-FM just in time to steer it to a more adult-leaning mainstreamer under new owner Emmis. "Our first goal was changing the ideology, making everyone understand that from this point on they were all accountable for their performance." At the same time, Radio One was making its move in Indy, picking up then-rhythmic top 40 WHHH (Hot 96.3). Just as WTLC was skewing a little younger, Emmis sold the station to Radio One, resulting in WTLC-FM switching to adult R&B outright and ceding the hip-hop franchise to WHHH.

"We never really were told exactly why we were sold, but [locally owned] Emmis had other stations and perhaps thought they could be a bigger player in another pond," Wallace says. "I can't say I was worried, because we had accomplished much in a short time, and I felt that would speak for itself. My attitude has always been, 'Just let me know what the game plan is, and we'll continue to execute.'"

Radio One rewarded Wallace by giving him PD duties for WHHH. His first task "was getting everyone out of the 'us vs. them' mode as competitors. I still have jock meetings with both staffs together in order to preach a family atmosphere." Refocusing WTLC to adult R&B was a step-by-step process. "It took a minute for people to realize we weren't playing Jay-Z anymore."

"As a heritage station, WTLC had a strong passion [from its listeners]," Wallace adds, "and we did a good job of cross-promoting each other to let listeners know WHHH was the station for hip-

As for programming multiple stations, Wallace says, "everyone knows it starts with great people and delegating duties. Garth Adams is our APD at WTLC, and we hired J.J. last November for WHHH from our sister cluster in Dayton, Ohio; she also had a stint at WBSL New York. What's great about both is they want to be program directors. I love the teaching part of my job, and it's great having people around you who want to learn everything they can... I really appreciate the chance to find employees I can allow to take ownership of some things."

As a PD in 2003, he continues, "you have to be in the mix on all fronts. While aircheck sessions with your jocks and music meetings are still important, PDs have to be much more savvy in marketing and understanding the lifestyles of people in order to develop targeted promotions that fit your station and its audience."

WALLACE

LOCAL MUSIC ON THE RISE

Musically, Indianapolis has not been known as a music hub, but that may be changing. "We've got a local artist WHHH broke named Preny Mo, who was recently signed by Universal. What's interesting is since we began playing him we've seen a dramatic increase in the quality of local music that's now being submitted to us."

"We usually do music meetings together with both APDs and WHHH night jock DJ Wreck One. I like everyone to know what each station is doing. With the quality R&B product available now, we roll on a case-by-case basis. Floetry, for instance, started as a WTLC record that made it to WHHH, while Ashanti was a WHHH artist whose 'Foolish' found its way to WTLC over time. And it's always nice to find a record strong enough to work on both, although WTLC maintains a gold-intensive format."

Wallace sees music trends continuing to go in cycles. "For a minute you had the neo-soul revolution; now it's straight-up R&B. A couple of years back, it seemed like labels were leaning all male with artists like Donell Jones, Carl Thomas and Usher all at the top of the charts. It's just what-

Q: Are you playing the Ashanti or Tamia version of Fabolous' "Into You"?

Ken Johnson, Cumulus Broadcasting: "Some of our stations may be hitting the Ashanti version, if they are aware of it. I like to stick to versions of songs that record companies are pushing, because of the possible additional exposure it may or should be getting, meaning video play and [spins on] other stations."

Steve Hegwood, On-Top Broadcasting: "On Top's stations are all playing Fabolous & Ashanti, because that's the only version CD buyers have and can hear. Until the video hits, then we'll decide if we switch versions."

Jack Spade, PD, WQSL/WQZL Greenville, N.C.: "The Ashanti has a smoother sound to it, and it seems like a better fit for the song."

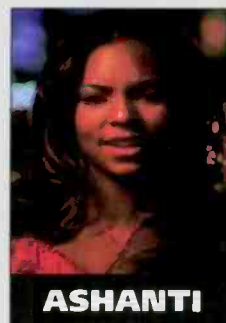

Sherita Saulsberry, PD, KVEG Las Vegas: "We are playing the version with Tamia. In the beginning, listeners were definitely confused. We received numerous calls from the listeners attempting to correct the jocks: 'It's Ashanti, not Tamia. I have the album.' At one point, my jocks were just announcing Fabolous' [name]. Now the confusion has cleared, and the listeners understand that there are two versions. In the end, if the second version is just as good or even better, who cares? It's a bonus for music lovers like me."

R. Dub, PD, KOHT Tucson, Ariz.: "We're playing the Tamia version simply because we have a lot of Ashanti on the air already, and her version would cause music scheduling conflicts. We've gotten some calls, asking, 'Is that Tamia with Fab? I thought Ashanti was on the song.' But nobody has complained. It's more just curiosity."

Erik Johnson, PD, KQCH Omaha, Neb.: "If stations don't have a problem playing 50 Cent every 20 or 30 minutes between four or five singles, why would we have a problem playing Ashanti's own single and Fabolous/Ashanti? Hits are hits... Singles rights are a farce."

hop is the popular, mass-appeal music now. Eighteen months ago, [top 40] stations had more alternative music to choose from. However, we watch everyone, whether we consider them a competitor with our stations or not."

IN THE COMMUNITY

While some Midwestern cities have been experiencing serious racial tension, including Cincinnati and most recently Benton Harbor, Mich., Indianapolis has avoided many of those issues. The city is home to the Indiana Black Expo, one of the earliest and biggest of the genre. And black college football's Circle City Classic tournament airs on BET each fall from the city's RCA Dome.

Wallace says Indy's image is due to several reasons. "First off, you've got a larger percentage of African-Americans here than most people give us credit for, at about 16% overall. Second, Indianapolis has done a great job running these events while marketing them outside of the city where it's regionally and nationally possible to attract African-Americans to travel here.

"It's almost like New Orleans, where jazz lovers from around the nation would plan yearly trips to attend its Jazz and Heritage Festival," Wallace adds. "In fact, we're excited Russ Parr will broadcast his show live from this year's expo."

Wallace says that in addition to the city's events, Radio One has been actively involved in developing its own. "Along with our women's expo [that is] held yearly, we have really been able to grow our Moselle Sanders Radiothon. Sanders was the first gospel announcer on WTLC when the FM signed on about 36 years ago. He had a Thanksgiving dinner for the needy and homeless every year, which has now grown to between 12,000 and 15,000 meals annually." National recording artists including Brian McKnight have hosted airshifts yearly for donations. Wallace says "both WTLC and WHHH along with gospel WTLC-AM are now all involved, and we've raised as much as $40,000 for the foundation along with participation from corporate sponsors."

hop and WTLC was the place for R&B and classic soul. WTLC also shifted [veteran morning host] Guy Black to afternoons and moved the "Tom Joyner Morning Show" from another station in the cluster to WTLC. While Joyner had been in here for some time, WTLC was actually the first to promote him in the market and make him a part of us rather than just having the show on the air; now Joyner usually comes in top three 25-54. At WHHH, we've got Russ Parr, who is also great in mornings—he's normally top two or three 18-34."

ever the music trend happens to be at the moment, and right now there are more R&B records. As for hip-hop, listeners tend to lean more Southern and West Coast in terms of taste."

While moving the R&B/hip-hop franchise to WHHH effectively eliminated the rhythmic top 40 competition, there's still the normal complement of crossover R&B/hip-hop on mainstream WNOU (Radio Now), while WZPL recently began dabbling in hip-hop titles again after several years as an adult top 40. Wallace says, "I don't really see it as an infringement on WHHH. Hip-

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

on Music Row, Grady suggests that the one, obvious thing that might change it is releasing "better records that react quicker." That's something he plans to do at Sony.

Grady also has concerns about what he calls "patriotism as a promotion." He's specifically referring to how stations handled the recent Dixie Chicks controversy, which was winding down by the time he joined Sony on May 5.

He has no problem with stations that wrap themselves in the flag 24/7, something he recognizes as one of country radio's core values. But he does take issue with the way some stations conducted themselves during the Chicks situation, using patriotism and Chicks bashing as a way to generate publicity and rally fans.

"I'm not so sure it was a core value as much as it was promotional value," he says. "I'm not sure that's exactly what the country needed or needs [now]. It concerns me more as a human being than as a professional."

At the same time, he praises radio for opening its doors to rootsy-sounding music like the Chicks' "Long Time Gone" during the past year.

Grady, one of the architects of the runaway sales success of the "O Brother, Where Art Thou?" soundtrack, experienced plenty of frustration a few years ago when country radio largely refused to play the single from that album, "I Am a Man of Constant Sorrow." He concedes now, however, that radio's lack of support for that project added to its "underdog story."

But he thinks that project and others that followed paved the way for radio to embrace records with a rootsier, more acoustic, bluegrass sound.

"O Brother," he says, "was a door-opening experience. I hear a lot of instrumentation and production of that kind in all sorts of records now."

On the completely opposite end of the spectrum, Grady says another fight with long-term implications was the "bloody battle" the Mercury team fought to get Shania Twain's pop-sounding records on country radio when her "Come On Over" album was released and started getting airplay in other formats. Since then, he says, it has been easier for poppier-sounding records to make inroads at country radio. And that's not a bad thing.

"Any time the genre allows itself to open up to more people without [alienating] the core, any time we allow our biggest artists to venture out of our parochial format, it's good for our business."

Even if "somebody has to fall on the sword" to open those doors, he says, it's worth it. "Somebody has to fight the fight and succeed in order for it to open up."

QUALITY AT ALL COSTS

Grady and new Sony Music Nashville executive VP of A&R Mark Wright recently made headlines by cutting the company's artist roster in half. Eleven acts were eliminated, including former platinum-sellers Pam Tillis, Mark Chesnutt, Black Hawk and Billy Gilman and one-time gold sellers Michael Peterson and Cledus T. Judd. The roster now contains only 11 acts and a few development deals, although Grady says the existing infrastructure at Sony Music Nashville could successfully handle about 20 acts.

The roster Grady left in place is a bit edgy by Nashville standards, although Grady says that wasn't necessarily by design. It includes Rodney Crowell, Marty Stuart and the Deraillers.

Deciding on who to cut and who to keep wasn't easy. There was, Grady says, "a lot of research, discussion, listening, reading and a lot of trying to predict the future" involved.

"I have a limited amount of time to make a mark here and be a successful and profitable business," he says, referring to the unspecified length of his contract. "Months and years fly by quickly. I have a limited amount of time to make this a successful record company, and to do that, we have to establish our creative vision."

That vision is simple: "Quality of music at all costs."

As for some of the edgier acts left on the roster, Grady says, "I'd like to take a realistic approach to records like this on the radio and use it as part of the plan, not the entire plan. I'd love to have a hit on all my records, but I also don't believe if you don't get on the radio you just stop."

REMEMBER TO MAKE RECORDS

During his speech, Grady made it clear he's all about music. "I have never read a marketing plan that makes people cry or stop what they are doing," he said at the time. "Songs do that."

In the same speech, Grady said, "I don't really want to be remembered as part of the generation that was so baffled by technology that it forgot to make records. I believe in artists and music and songwriters and songs, and I believe that if we enable them, they will lead us to the next great era of country music."

Grady is unapologetic for prioritizing music over business. "I can't control what fascinates me," he tells Monitor. "I can learn business, but the [music] is just a part of me. I don't have an MBA. I have a bachelor's degree in history."

Sony will have new country albums this year from Stuart, Buddy Jewell, Crowell and Patty Loveless, and new projects from Travis Tritt and Mary Chapin Carpenter are due in early 2004.

WUSN (US99) Chicago celebrated Flag Day June 14 with a free concert with Aaron Tippin (pictured) at Hawthorne Race Course in Cicero, Ill. An estimated 10,000 people attended the show, which was billed as a Salute to Summer Bash. The station distributed more than 5,000 mini American flags.

RLG's Barnabee Upped To Senior VP

Paul Barnabee has been promoted to senior VP of finance and administration at RCA Label Group in Nashville. He was RLG's VP of finance.

An ad for Lipton Iced Tea that features the Dixie Chicks is being pulled, according to AdAge.com. The ad was to debut in May to coincide with the start of the group's Top of the World tour. AdAge says it's unclear when or if the ad will run. A spokesperson for Unilever, which markets Lipton, would not comment on the situation. The decision to not run the ad has had no effect on Lipton's sponsorship of the tour.

Gaylord Entertainment and the Grand Ole Opry will jointly present a check for $25,000 to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital on behalf of the artists who performed in the IMAX film "Our Country." The check is to be presented to St. Jude's Teri Watson at the film's Nashville premiere June 25. The artists featured in the film voted unanimously to direct a donation to St. Jude in lieu of compensation for their appearance. Acts featured in the film include Alabama, Sara Evans, Vince Gill, Alan Jackson, Patty Loveless, Martina McBride, Jo Dee Messina, Dolly Parton, Marty Stuart, Lee Ann Womack, Trisha Yearwood and Dwight Yoakam.

Keith Urban's fan club won the Fan Club Challenge for St. Jude Kids held during the recent Fan Fair in Nashville. The event raised more than $61,000 for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, nearly half of which came from Urban's fan club members. Toby Keith's fan club took second place, followed by Billy Ray Cyrus' fan club in third. Fundraising events organized by the participating fan clubs included bake sales, car washes and auctions.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 20 weeks.

making sure the band was meeting people and playing in front of kids."

Warner began letting radio hear the record in July and August. It initially reacted faster at active, with a nine-week lapse between its first appearance on the two charts. "The record definitely took off quicker at [active] than modern, but there were a lot of stations that were there from the beginning," Goldklang says. "About half of the modern panel was right along the lines of what [active] rock was doing, but the other half didn't initially hear the song."

"I don't think any of us thought that it was a No. 1 song until we got to February or so," Warner Bros. VP of rock promotion Mike Rittberg says. "We knew we had a good song that was very competitive and would hit with the kids. What showed us was [modern WXTM] Xtreme in Cleveland and KXXR in Minneapolis giving decent airplay to the track, getting phones, seeing a spike in sales and getting great research. We knew we had a story to tell and prioritized the record as a staff, since we had a story to go behind it with Xtreme and KXXR."

BALANCING 'HEAD' AND GUT

WXTM PD Kim Monroe says, "We actually felt pretty good about the song from the first listen. And we were really glad to see that our audience responded so quickly as well."

"We were passionate about the song immediately," modern WNNX (99X) Atlanta PD Chris Williams says. "It's a great song. It has great energy and is aggressive, but [it's also] positive and motivational. We knew from the beginning—like the way we did with Linkin Park in the early stages of their career."

Modern XETRA (91X) San Diego Bryan Schock knew "Headstrong" from its inclusion in the "NHL 2003" videogame, and he was also among the early adopters. "I thought that the sound fit what was going on," he says. "We were banging it quick. We got some phones initially, but I don't put a lot of faith in phones. When we put it in callout and it showed us that it was a strong callout tune, that's when I knew for sure that we had something." Schock was slightly taken aback, however, when he saw just how well the song tested. "I wasn't surprised that the song worked, but I was surprised it came back that big and we were able to put it into power rotation as quick as we did."

It took stories like those to break through the resistance, especially at modern. Trapt was "lumped in with a lot of the other new bands, and people didn't see them as special," Goldklang says. "People saw all these records as records that were going to peak in the 20s. As much as we had a song that people liked, some people saw it as another faceless, nameless rock band that would [peak at] mid-chart and go away."

"It has been amazing watching the development of a record that wasn't on most people's radar grow to the point where everyone had no choice but to add it," Goldklang adds.

Asked for a pivotal moment, Goldklang offers several. "After four weeks of airplay in Atlanta, they were headlining a show and 1,000 people showed up, which was a definite sign," he says. "Another sign was when we came back at the beginning of the year and we were stronger than ever."

WON'T BE TRAPT BY TOP 40 SUCCESS

While "Headstrong" is currently making its way to top 40 radio, beginning with strong scores in HitPredictor, there's little concern thus far about a backlash. "Puddle of Mudd, 3 Doors Down, and Evanescence have all gone that way as well,"

Rittberg says. "You've got smart top 40 programmers at stations like [WDCG] G105 Raleigh [N.C.], KXXM San Antonio or WNOU Indianapolis who are always early on rock records. If they see something going on in the market, they jump on it."

"When records are huge, No. 1 hits, they're almost always taken to top 40," Goldklang says. "If you look at what the format is, it's hits. They take the hits from all the formats, and when you have a record that's as huge as Trapt is, there's going to be interest from top 40, and we would be foolish not to chase that."

While 91X moved "Headstrong" to recurrent in May, Schock says that even if it was still a power, the song's top 40 success wouldn't discourage him from continuing to play it. "We were one of the first stations on Smash Mouth's 'Walking on the Sun,' and that's the kind of song that, once it got popular, we had to admit it crossed over. This is not a pop song—this is a rock song. It doesn't matter to me that top 40 is going to play it."

Williams agrees with Schock. "I can see why they might want to play the song, because it's a No. 1 song and the whole point is to play hits, but the band is clearly a modern rock band. Much, again, like Linkin Park, [whose] songs crossed over to top 40 not because the band is a pop band or is going to live in that world, but because their songs were hits and couldn't be ignored."

With follow-up single "Still Frame" just issued, there are some stations just hitting their stride with "Headstrong" and are not ready for another song yet, which is fine with Goldklang. "Honestly, that's OK," he says. "Right now, we're selling 25,000 records a week from 'Headstrong,' and when 'Still Frame' gets on the radio, it will help them develop even more as a band. There's a lot of people who were really late in the 'Headstrong' game. There's nothing we can do about that."

99X is closing in on 1,000 spins with "Headstrong" and still has it in power rotation. But that doesn't mean Williams isn't ready to play "Still Frame." "The life cycle of ['Headstrong'] is beginning to arc in that direction where we can take another record, and that's good timing. We can play two records from the same band at the same time, particularly when it's doing as well as this is. I can imagine in the next couple of weeks being ready to escort 'Headstrong' into recurrent and welcome a new song."

And Monroe, who helped jump-start Trapt's success in Cleveland, says that the week-long victory on WXTM's nightly Cage Match feature helped convince her to add "Still Frame."

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

H=Heavy (30+ Detections), M=Medium (15-29), L=Light (Under 15). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. ★ Initial Impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (▲) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Compiled from a national sample of data supplied by Nielsen Broadcast Data Systems. 106 mainstream rock and 22 triple-A stations are electronically monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Songs are blind tested online by Promosquad using multiple listens and a nationwide sample of carefully profiled music consumers. Songs are rated on a 1-5 scale; final results are based on weighted positives. Songs with a score of 65 or more are judged to have top 10 callout potential, although that benchmark number can fluctuate based on the strength of available music. New Releases are songs that have been recently serviced to or impacted at their respective formats; Recently Tested Songs are the five songs tested during the past month with the highest score. Mainstream Top 40 respondents are divided into two age groups: 13-29 and 13-24. For a complete list of current songs with Top 10 Callout Potential, see HitPredictor.com. © 2003. Acts Singing More About The War

When the war in Iraq began, it was hard to know how much music would emerge. The first Gulf War had conditioned Americans to hope for a short conflict: By the time the first Gulf War songs started coming out, it was already over. And the Dixie Chicks controversy was already having a chilling effect, as witnessed by the sudden withdrawal of Madonna's "American Life" video.

But going by the aftermath of Sept. 11, 2001, I was expecting a slew of country titles, seizing on the instant success of Darryl Worley's "Have You Forgotten?" I was also expecting that someone in the R&B/hip-hop world—the format whose audience best understands that supporting the troops doesn't necessarily mean agreeing with how they're deployed—to weigh in, and I was a little surprised that they hadn't already.

By the time of George W. Bush's aircraft carrier speech, enough war-related music had piled up on my desk to create one CD-R compilation. By mid-June, I had enough for two. There were nearly 40 songs, and if I'd thrown in some recent Dixie Chicks and Toby Keith interviews, as well as some of the more obscure country music, I could have had a third CD. On my new CD, I had "God Bless the U.S.A." by the American Idol Finalists and a rerecorded version of the same song by Lee Greenwood. There was an attempted comeback by Juice Newton, although I never did find a useable copy of similar efforts by Cat Stevens and Bo Diddley. There were the many Web-only tracks from R.E.M., Lenny Kravitz, Beastie Boys, and others. There were the station splice jobs, with war-related actualities added to titles by Aaliyah, Lonestar, and R. Kelly. There were songs like "American Life" that were only tangentially connected to the war. And from Germany, there was an oddity called "Mr. Bush (You Are Not the President of the World)." The title phrase was pretty much the entire song, since it was presumably written by someone for whom English is a second language.

HIP-HOP FINALLY WEIGHS IN

I was surprised, ultimately, that no other war-related songs joined "Have You Forgotten?" atop the country charts. The wake of Sept. 11 was strong enough to put Charlie Daniels and Ray Stevens back in country's top 40 for the first time in years. This time, it could only propel Clint Black to roughly the same regions.

I wasn't surprised that hip-hop eventually weighed in, first with Jay-Z's call to "leave Iraq alone" in his guest appearance on Panjabi MC's "Beware of the Boys," then with the Black Eyed Peas' "Where Is the Love?"—a song that now plays without incident on hundreds of top 40 stations, even with such lyrics as "Overseas, yeah, we try to stop terrorism/but we still got terrorists here livin'" and "a war is goin' on but the reason's undercover/the truth is kept secret, it's swept under the rug."

I also expected to hear from Don Henley, so it makes sense that there would be a new Eagles single, even though the album isn't due until next year. In the end, the controversy over "Hole in the World" turned out to be not the lyrics but the decision to initially sell it only at Best Buy. That might reinforce the belief that country drew a harder line than other formats, but "Landslide" dropped precipitously at pop radio too in the first weeks of the Dixie Chicks flap. It's also worth noting that the first stations to support "Hole in the World" at adult top 40 included Clear Channel's KYSR (Star 98.7) Los Angeles, despite Henley's decision to go head to head with Clear Channel at congressional hearings earlier this year.

So has dissent not been as thoroughly squelched as I initially feared? Well, it's not like the new Dixie Chicks single is flying up the country charts. And the songs that expressed dissent didn't really kick in until after the aircraft carrier speech. Their growth parallels what is at least a slight restlessness on the home front as new attacks on American troops continue to materialize and firm evidence of Iraq's weapons of mass destruction does not. As previously noted in these pages, it took four years and a lot more casualties than we've seen to get from "The Ballad of the Green Berets" to "four dead in Ohio" and "war/what is it good for?"

NO ONE ANTHEM

Going back through the CDs I made, there hasn't been a song that entirely resonates with how I felt last spring. That's not so surprising. I'm not sure if any song became the soundtrack of my life during the first Gulf War, but I'm sure it wasn't "Show Me the Way" by Styx. If memory serves, I probably just defaulted to "Life During Wartime" by Talking Heads. In fact, the best commentaries were often those written in another context, e.g., the first line of the Dixie Chicks' "Truth No. 2": "you don't like the sound of the truth/coming from my mouth" or a line in Sam Roberts' "Brother Down"—"you keep looking for peace/but they're bringing you war"—a song that came out in Canada more than one year ago.

Logistics did, indeed, mediate against any artist being able to say anything too profound in a timely manner. The task was enough to trip up even such reliable craftsmen as Kravitz and the Beasties, although it's a tough job to come up with a song that deplores Saddam Hussein, supports the troops, questions the war, and sounds like a hit. It actually felt as though Worley and Black were coming up with better zingers than the Beasties, and who would have expected that?

But, just as the musical musings on Sept. 11 became better-written and better-considered as the weeks, then months, went by, there's likely to be a great song that addresses the war in Iraq at some point. Alan Jackson's "Where Were You (When the World Stopped Turning)" benefited from its six-week distance from that day's events (by which time the country radio pipelines were already jammed), and Bruce Springsteen's album The Rising only gained in currency after a year's time.

Similarly, the Isley Brothers' "Harvest for the World" offered one of the best observations on Vietnam and, particularly, its aftermath in the African-American community ("dress me up for battle/when all I want is peace/those of us who pay the price/come home with the least") more than a year after the last American helicopter left Saigon. It would be nice to think that there's something that poignant or well-considered still to come on either side of the debate.
