Platinum Offers Free MP3 Downloads

In a much debated move, Platinum Entertainment has announced that it will offer free song downloads in the controversial MP3 format. Platinum started the program by offering four free MP3 files from River North Records artists Taylor Dayne, Dionne Warwick, Ronna and The Band, all of which are available at www.MP3.com or www.PlatinumCD.com. Additional files will be available at both sites on a rotating schedule, and holiday music downloads will be featured starting December 1. "While other record labels may still regard MP3 as a controversial format, we see it as a powerful promotional tool," said Steve Devick, Platinum's President/CEO. "In creating a strong online buzz we intend to drive a large and active audience to both traditional and online retail record stores to purchase our music." Platinum's site also offers songs in CD-quality Liquid Audio files. Platinum, self-described as "the country's largest independent music company," includes the labels River North Records, House Of Blues Music Co., CGI Records and Intersound. The Recording Industry Association Of America has argued that the MP3 format encourages music piracy on the Internet.

RZA Becomes Masked Man Bobby Digital On Ambitious Solo Project

By Wendy Mitchell

Robert Diggs, one of 11 children raised by a single mother in Staten Island, New York, has already reinvented himself once as the multi-platinum selling Wu-Tang Clan and producer extraordinaire who has worked with artists from the Gravediggaz to Björk. Now RZA reinvents himself again with the alter-ego Bobby Digital. RZA As Bobby Digital In Stereo (Gee Street-V2 Records) is his first full-length solo album (his 1991 Tommy Boy EP Ooh, I Love You Rakeem was released under the moniker Prince Rakeem), and it is also the first solo project from an original Wu-Tang member since the release of their smash 1997 album, Wu-Tang Forever.

HIGH PROFILE

OFFSPRING

Americana (Columbia-CRG)

The Offspring's brand of punk rock is as American as cheeseburgers and as reliable as Old Faithful, so calling its new album Americana is both funny (it's hardly "Americana" in the radio programming sense of the word) and strangely true (punk is actually the "roots" music of the late 20th century, is it not?). In line with the patriotically-titled album, the band has gotten back to the core of its constituency. The songs on Americana are classic Offspring, not just because they're marked by thick guitar chords and the familiar tone of Dexter Holland's voice, but also because they're packed with the cheeky humor that made the band's breakthrough, Smash, such a hit. The first single, "Pretty Fly (For A White Guy)," is loaded with smart-aleck jabs at suburban gangstas, and other cuts like "She's Got Issues" feature enough clever couplets to keep adolescent skater miscreants entertained for months. Most important of all, though, Americana proves that "career bands" really do exist in the brutally fast-paced music industry — you just have to give the people what they want. — Cheryl Botchick

DR. ISRAEL

Inna City Pressure (Mutant Sound System)

■ Inna City Pressure is a world music masterpiece spawned from Dr. Israel's own "world" — the ethnic neighborhoods lining Brooklyn's Belt Parkway. The dancehall of Buju Banton, the psychedelic dub of Lee "Scratch" Perry, the anthemic politica of Bob Marley, and the rastacore of Bad Brains are all represented on Inna City Pressure and sewn together with spools of hip-hop and high-speed jungle. On "Survivor" and "Life In The Ghetto," he honors political heroes Marcus Garvey and Malcom X by delivering hard-hitting accounts of Third World America over streams of Rock Steady breaks. He slows down the pace with the tripped-out dub of "Israel" and "Iron City," introspective testaments to Rasta piety. Israel's intrepidity is what fuels his individuality, though, as evidenced by his slammin' reconstruction of Black Sabbath's "The Wizard." Dr. Israel transforms the song into "The Doctor Vs. The Wizard," a junglistic ode to the ganja mountain. As punk draws inspiration from reggae, Israel reciprocates with a soulful, energetic revision of Rancid's "Coppers," turning it into a ghetto anthem worthy of the mean streets of Crooklyn. — Ron Hart

Ghetto Supastar (Ruffhouse/Columbia-CRG)

■ Ghetto Supastar certainly wasn't made under the most pressure-free of circumstances. It follows the double-barrel blast of commercial and critical success of both Wyclef Jean's The Carnival and Lauryn Hill's The Miseducation Of Lauryn Hill. While those albums saw each respective Fugee venturing deep into the roots of hip-hop to explore soul, reggae, funk and rock, Ghetto Supastar operates predominately at street level, rarely straying far from the standard 4/4 boom-bap. The album's title track received a summer's worth of heavy rotation, and the commercial success of this record as a party-down staple shines brighter than a mirrorball, bolstered by a string of tracks that rely heavily on the Midas touch of hip-hop's newest hit squad, Wyclef and Jerry Wonder. Samples and hooks culled from hits by the Bee Gees and Culture Club anchor the 18-track collection, but on cuts such as "Can't Stop The Shining (Rip Rock Pt. 2)" (featuring Canibus and Lenny Kravitz on guitar) and "Murder Dem," Pras proves that he doesn't need to depend on catchy samples to shine as a true ghetto superstar. — Ron Hart

Autechre (Warp/Nothing-Interscope)

■ Not all art is meant to elicit pure emotion. Some of it forces you to think more than feel, as in the way an innovative architectural structure or a pioneering mathematical theory challenges established ways of looking at form or physics. The complex digital machinations birthed by the U.K.'s Sean Booth and Rob Brown (a.k.a. Autechre) fall clearly into a similar category. There's not a single tone or rhythmic pattern on Autechre that sounds remotely human, and that's precisely why it's such a fiercely forward-thinking work of sound design. Autechre's approach to music-making is rooted in the computer programming school of ambient techno, but the noises it produces are much too sharp, dense and unpredictable to be classified as such. The album's opening track, "acroyear2," for example, is comprised of dozens of tiny digital fragments — a low, stretched-out bass rumble, short pops and clicks, squelching modem tones — reconfigured into a hyperkinetic Etch-A-Sketch of criss-crossing percussive patterns and fractured melodic ends. It's a compelling example of humans rethinking their concept of music through the aesthetics of machines. — Colin Helms

Diamond Multimedia Cleared To Ship Portable MP3 Player

On October 26, a Federal Court judge denied the Recording Industry Association Of America's application for a preliminary injunction to halt Diamond Multimedia's shipment of its new portable MP3 player. As CMJ reported in issue #594, the court had issued a 10-day Temporary Restraining Order to Diamond Multimedia to halt the planned early November shipment of its Rio player. The RIAA's suit claimed that Rio violates the Audio Home Recording Act (AHRA), which, among other things, establishes a system for royalties to be paid by makers of digital recording devices to copyright holders. The court found that the Rio probably could be categorized as a "digital audio recording device" within the meaning of the statute, but that the Rio also adequately protects against the types of serial copying targeted in portions of the AHRA. The RIAA, which contends that the device will foster music piracy on the Internet, plans to appeal the court decision. With this latest hurdle cleared, Diamond Multimedia said it plans to have the Rio in stores by the end of November. The Walkman-like players, which play MP3 digital format songs that users download from the Internet using their computers, will retail for about $199. Samsung Electronics also plans to introduce its new portable MP3 player to the U.S. market by the end of the year, according to a report in the Korea Times. The street price of Samsung's player is expected to be $159-$229.

Dead Kennedys Sue Jello Biafra

The Dead Kennedys have stepped up their battle with former bandmate Jello Biafra and his Alternative Tentacles label. Three members of the defunct San Francisco punk band — guitarist East Bay Ray, bassist Klaus Flouride and drummer D.H. Peligro — filed suit against Biafra, charging him with breach of duty and breach of contract. In a press release, East Bay Ray said, "Biafra's acting like a large corporate record label. He's shortchanging us on royalties and cutting us out of the earnings from the Dead Kennedys catalog." However, Biafra responded by stating that he had not seen the actual lawsuit and that his former bandmates' statement was "riddled with outright lies." Alternative Tentacles said, "We never tried to shortchange anybody on royalties. Ironically, the only shortchanging has been the other ex-DKs deliberately withholding Biafra's share of royalties." As reported in CMJ #592, the Dead Kennedys voted to sever their ties with Alternative Tentacles on September 30 due to royalty payment disputes, but the label said it plans to continue carrying all Dead Kennedys titles. The Dead Kennedys formed in 1978 and disbanded in 1986, the same year that Biafra became sole owner of Alternative Tentacles. As of press time, a court date hadn't been set.

Royal Crown Revue Singer Arrested After Altercation With Off-Duty Police Officers

Eddie Nichols, singer for the swing band Royal Crown Revue, was arrested October 23 at a Big Boy restaurant in Toledo, Ohio, for allegedly punching an off-duty police officer in the face. The early morning altercation ensued when a plain-clothed, off-duty sheriff allegedly started to shoot spitballs at Nichols and other restaurant patrons. Nichols allegedly asked the sheriff to stop bothering him. When he refused, Nichols reportedly took a swing at the officer. One of the officers then grabbed a restaurant security guard's club and beat band roadie Steve Brewer; breaking blood vessels in his eye. Both Nichols and Brewer were arrested. Nichols, 32, was charged with a felony for attacking a police officer and resisting arrest, and he was held without bail over the weekend at the Lucas County Jail in Toledo. The charges were reduced to misdemeanor disorderly conduct and Nichols was released the following Monday morning. However, during out-processing, Nichols was retained and recharged when another deputy claimed that the singer physically harmed him. Eventually, bail was posted and Nichols was released by order of a judge and resumed touring with his band in support of its latest album, The Contender. Due to Nichols's arrest, two shows in Michigan and Illinois were canceled. A hearing has been scheduled for November 24, and Lucas County Sheriff James Telb has asked for an internal affairs investigation of the incident and the officers involved.

Ticketmaster Sues N2K For Breach Of Contract; Shareholder Hopes To Stop N2K-CDnow Merger

Ticketmaster Corp. has filed a lawsuit against N2K Inc. alleging breach of contract. Ticketmaster maintains that N2K violated the terms of an agreement signed last spring by repudiating the contract and defaulting on a payment. Under terms of the marketing agreement, which made N2K Ticketmaster's exclusive online music retailer, N2K was supposed to pay Ticketmaster $12 million over two years in return for sales, marketing and advertising services. Ticketmaster said that N2K formally notified Ticketmaster that it would not honor the agreement on November 2, one day after N2K defaulted on a $3 million payment owed to Ticketmaster. Ticketmaster maintains that it "fully performed all of its obligations under the contract" and that N2K "without any factual or legal basis" repudiated the agreement. However, N2K responded with the following statement: "This process began when we informed Ticketmaster that they had breached their agreement with us by failing to perform their obligations under the agreement. Rather than attempt to remedy these breaches, Ticketmaster has brought this action and rejected N2K's attempts to settle this matter. We clearly have the duty to defend against this unwarranted action and to pursue the various remedies we have against Ticketmaster in light of its breaches." N2K did not specify how Ticketmaster had breached the contract.

N2K is also the target in a class-action lawsuit filed by one of its shareholders. N2K shareholder Morris Rubin filed suit to challenge the proposed merger of N2K and CDnow. In the suit, Rubin said the value of the deal was "unfair and grossly inadequate." The deal values N2K's stock at $7.83 per share, while investors in the company's October 1997 initial public offering paid about $19 per share.

Amazon.com Becomes Top Online Music Retailer

Amazon.com reported that its third quarter music sales of $14.4 million made it the leading online music retailer. Amazon's net sales for the quarter were $153.7 million, compared with $37.9 million last year. The company posted a pro forma net loss of $24.7 million, compared with $9.6 million last year. Amazon.com launched its music store in June, and it added a classical music section in September. "We are very grateful to our customers for choosing Amazon.com as their online music store so quickly," said Amazon.com Founder/CEO Jeff Bezos. "Though pleased with these results, we know our growth initiatives will continue to require aggressive investment and entail significant execution challenges." In comparison, online music retailers CDnow and N2K reported third-quarter sales of $13.9 million and $10.5 million, respectively. Those two companies plan to merge by early 1999.

Mercury Starts Beauty Records Imprint

Mercury Records has started a new imprint, Beauty Records, which plans to sign three developing acts per year. Jim Fouratt, Beauty's President and VP of A&R at Mercury, will sign all acts. The imprint will favor a non-traditional marketing and promotional plan for its artists, and it will use new technologies such as the Internet to promote artists. "Beauty will not involve the Mercury promotions team with these developing artists until the demand has been created which will allow an artist and audience to discover each other in a more organic way," Mercury said in a statement. Beauty's first signings are Bush Tetras, David Clement and Sidedoor Johnnies.

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

HOVERCRAFT

Interview by
Jordan N. Mamone

Hovercraft's label, Blast First Records, started as a U.K. outlet for '80s milestones by Sonic Youth, Big Black, Butthole Surfers and other American guitar-torturers. The Seattle-based instrumental power trio of Campbell2000 (guitar), Sadie7 (bass) and dash11 (drums) extracts those bands' sonic violence and filters it through an improvisational, abstract, vaguely psychedelic post-rock lens. As a result of Hovercraft's ongoing war between trance and truculence, Experiment Below (Blast First-Mute), the band's second album, drones off into the ether with its rhythmic backbone intact. Campbell and Sadie offered CMJ some insight into their unorthodox compositional methodology.

CMJ: How do you achieve such a balanced mixture of ambiance and physicality?

Sadie7: When we first started playing, it was a different band. About seven years ago, we were trying to work with "songs," but when we got frustrated with that, we started to just do what we wanted to do with sounds. We got much more interested in exploring sound and making it musical, rather than trying to put structure to it.

Campbell2000: We weeded out the parts that we didn't enjoy playing, which was anything that was remotely related to traditional uses of instruments from a guitar standpoint...I just put all my energy into the way I really wanted to play to just do what came naturally. We've never made any conscious effort to change anything or do anything for anyone else, not from a selfish standpoint, but because that's the only way we could put all of our energy into it.

How much of the music is improvised and how much of it is worked-out?

Campbell: It's kind of a worked-out improvisation. So much of it relies on communication that we've gotten very comfortable with. It's not completely improvised from ground zero...We practice a technique of communicating through our instruments.

Sadie: We have a little cache of sounds in our heads.

Campbell: Parts are improvised and parts are just variations on a theme-repeating things and coming back to things, building them and taking them apart... It's constantly evolving.

Trans World To Buy Camelot Music, To Launch Online Store

Trans World Entertainment has signed a definitive merger agreement to buy Camelot Music Holdings, creating the country's largest mall-based music retailer. After the merger, the combined company will run more than 1,000 stores in 44 states. Under terms of the deal, each Camelot shareholder will receive 1.9 newly issued shares of Trans World Entertainment for every share of Camelot. Trans World Chairman, CEO and President Robert J. Higgins will hold the same titles for the combined company, which will operate under the name Trans World Entertainment. Two members of Camelot's board will join the Trans World Entertainment Board after the merger is completed in early 1999. Trans World operates the music and video chains Record Town, Saturday Matinee, F.Y.E., Coconuts, Planet Music and Strawberries Music. Camelot operates mall stores under the Camelot name, plus Wall and Spec's stores. "With relatively few stores overlapping, this merger will allow us to rapidly grow the store base by expanding our presence in existing areas of operation, while providing a springboard for expansion into new markets," Higgins said. "In addition, by acquiring Camelot's distribution facilities in Ohio, we will strengthen operating efficiencies and enhance overall financial performance."

In other news, Trans World announced plans to launch TWEC.com, an online music retailer. Trans World's retail stores will have their own branded sites (such as Coconutsonline.com) which will link customers to TWEC.com. In addition to "hundreds of thousands" of music and movie titles, TWEC.com will also feature live artist chats and Webcasted concerts. Trans World also plans to soon sell video games and CD-ROMs through the site.

Alice Cooper's Publishing Company Sues KISS

Shock rocker Alice Cooper's music publishing company Bizarre Music/Six Palms Music Corp. is suing rockers Paul Stanley and Bruce Kulik of KISS, Mercury Records and Polygram International Publishing for copyright infringement. In a complaint filed in the U.S. District Court of Los Angeles, Bizarre Music claims that KISS's song "Dreamin'," from the recently released Psycho Circus, rips off Cooper's 1971 hit "Eighteen." According to attorney Martin Kelete, Bizarre claims that the KISS song has "substantial similarity" to Cooper's song, and that KISS's songwriters would have been familiar with "Eighteen" because both artists were rock contemporaries in the '70s. Cooper himself isn't involved in the suit.

SpinART Records Licenses Catalog To GoodNoise

GoodNoise Corp. has signed an exclusive licensing agreement with SpinART Records and has acquired the downloadable rights to SpinART's entire catalog. GoodNoise will release SpinART's 68 albums from 47 artists in the MP3 format. The deal started with the releases from Bill Fox, the Minders, Apples In Stereo and Cinerama. In the coming months, GoodNoise will release more albums from the independent label's catalog, including releases by artists such as Frank Black, Boo Radleys, Lotion and the Dambuilders. GoodNoise charges fans $8.99 for complete albums or 99 cents per song. "As an independent record label, we are always looking for new ways of promoting and distributing our artists and releases," SpinART President/Founder Jeff Price said. "Working with GoodNoise has allowed SpinART to become an innovator and leader in what we believe is the future of music distribution...Five years from now when downloads of music are outselling physical CDs, we believe the announcement of this relationship will be one of the milestones."

Nashville Pussy's Firebreathing Heats Up Tower

Rowdy rock band Nashville Pussy sparked a bit of controversy during an in-store performance at the North Clark Street Tower Records in Chicago on October 22. A Tower Records manager said that the store was concerned about the band's firebreathing, a routine part of its stage show, especially after Mercury/PolyGram Group Distribution failed to sign insurance liability forms. Band manager Peter Davis said the members of Nashville Pussy initially agreed to exclude the firebreathing, but they became annoyed at Tower's reminders not to do so. The band's 55-minute set was typically explosive and raunchy, and Amazonian bassist Corey Park did indeed blow flames at the end of the set. One spectator also observed that guitarist Ruyter Suys spitting beer on audience members, giving the middle finger to record executives, and being doused in beer by her husband, frontman Blaine Cartwright. No one was hurt nor was the store damaged in the incident, and the band remained in the store to sign copies of its new Mercury release, Let Them Eat Pussy (originally released on Amphetamine Reptile last year). Davis recounts that after the show, Tower management and Scott White, an account development representative from Polygram Group Distribution, verbally accosted Davis and the band, and Tower personnel even threatened to pull all PGD records from the chain, or remove all Nashville Pussy records from the chain. However, a Tower representative said the store's General Manager threatened to pull only Let Them Eat Pussy (not all PGD releases) because the band went back on its word. Davis said White didn't escort the band to radio interviews as originally planned, and also canceled a party to be held in the band's honor. White didn't comment on the events, and said only that Nashville Pussy "came to Chicago, they kicked butt, and they moved on." Davis speculated that the band would not cut the firebreathing from its repertoire during future in-stores, suggesting that Nashville Pussy should instead opt for outside performances.

New York University radio station WNYU has released a collection of on-air performances. Profits from IPS: Live Performances On WNYU 89.1 FM will help pay for the station's operating costs. The album, produced by former WNYU Music Director and current V2 Records Non-Commercial Radio Promotions Rep Lawrence Lui, boasts 21 tracks from artists as varied as the Tindersticks, Anal Cunt and the Roots. Space Needle, the Old 97s, Low, Windy And Carl, Pram and No Redeeming Social Value also contribute tracks.

Immortal-Epic Records has released the soundtrack to the independent film Slam. The movie follows the life of a fictitious poet, played by real-life urban poet Saul Williams, who triumphs in the highly competitive world of the poetry slam. The movie's soundtrack intersperses spoken word pieces between hard-hitting tracks by Goodie Mob and Eshero, Black Rob, Flipmode Squad, DJ Spooky and Mobb Deep, among others.

The Putumayo label has just released another fine collection of global sounds. A Native American Odyssey: Inuit To Inca, features recordings from Native American artists from North and South America such as Regional Vermello, Bolivia Manta, Tudjaat and Jaramar. The performers hail from Brazil, Canada, Mexico, Bolivia and the United States.

Honest Don's Records is treating consumers to some of Honest Don's Greatest Shits. Graced with what is perhaps some of this year's rudest album art, the compilation serves up a heaping mess of punk rock treats. Current, as well as former, Honest Don's acts such as J Church, the Riverdales, Mad Caddies, Dance Hall Crashers and Anti-Flag make this collection a listening party fit for pogo dancing.

In Tha Hood (Pistol Grip 2), will be released to radio as the lead single, but tracks by Spice 1, Boo-Yaa T.R.I.B.E., C-Bo and Volume 10 also prove that Street Institute is primed for success.

N2K Encoded Music will issue CD and home video versions of Burt Bacharach: One Amazing Night on November 17, while TNT will re-broadcast the star-studded concert in late November. The show is a 12-track trip through Bacharach's career. A varied cast converges to perform appreciative renditions of songs by the master of lush pop. Ben Folds Five offer up a spirited version of "Raindrops Keep Falling On My Head" while Mike Myers has his way with the campy "What's New Pussycat?." Sheryl Crow, Barenaked Ladies, All Saints, Luther Vandross, David Sanborn, George Duke, Wynonna, Chrissie Hynde and Dionne Warwick also strut their stuff, as does Bacharach's current writing partner, Elvis Costello. The home video includes additional performances by Costello and Warwick, along with footage of Bacharach discussing his work.

Ten years ago, David Byrne's Luaka Bop label released Beleza Tropical. The acclaimed compilation helped generate considerable stateside interest in Brazilian music back then, and the world music imprint has recently issued the record's companion anthology, Beleza Tropical 2: Novo! Mais! Melhor! (emphatic Portuguese for: "Beleza Tropical 2: New! More! Better!"). The new collection highlights Brazil's modern, post-Tropicalia generation of audio artists. Compiled by Byrne, it includes tracks by Gilberto Gil, Tom Zé, Arnaldo Antunes and Caetano Veloso, and it kicks off a year-long celebration for the globally-minded label's 10th Anniversary.

Earlier this year, Skunk Records mascot Toby Dog was killed when he was attacked by a mountain lion in Northern California. (Skunk, if you'll recall, was the label that launched Sublime.) Toby Dog, who should not be confused with Sublime's late, now-famous Louie Dog, was 19 years old. Skunk Records Fall Sampler 1998 pays tribute to the beloved pup with 19 songs from Skunk artists such as the Long Beach Dub All Stars, Das Klown, Filibuster and Corn Doggy Dog & The 1/2 lb.

Street Institute, a new hip-hop label based in Moreno Valley, California, is cutting its teeth with a sampler called S.I. Riders. The new joint by gangsta rappers Volume 10, "Raised

SINGLE ARTISTS

Chicago indie Thrill Jockey Records has recently cut a second pressing of Glam, the latest offering from German experimental techno-ambient duo Mouse On Mars. The Chicago label licensed the vinyl-only release from the pair's German imprint Song. The LP, which features an off-kilter mix of warm, analog synth tones, clumsy, sputtering rhythms and impressionistic sound textures, was originally recorded as the soundtrack to a straight-to-video film starring Tony Danza (incidentally, the music was never used). At the moment, Thrill Jockey has no future MOM releases scheduled, though the duo is working on various side projects for other labels.

Those '80s hair metal kingpins, Mötley Crüe, are honored with a new best-of package. BMG imprints Beyond Records and Mötley Records have co-released Greatest Hits, which includes such tracks as "Girls, Girls, Girls," "Smokin' In The Boys Room," "Dr. Feelgood," "Too Fast For Love"—17 tracks of pure mascara madness!

Bang-Epic Legacy has just re-released Van Morrison's Blowin' Your Mind! The new pressing of the 1967 album reprints the original artwork, complete with the amusingly timely phrase "including the current hit 'Brown Eyed Girl.'" Considered by some to be Morrison's masterpiece, the CD also includes five alternate takes, along with the original recordings of Morrison's hits "Goodbye Baby (Baby Goodbye)," "Spanish Rose" and "Midnight Special."

Ex-Guns 'N Roses guitarist Gilby Clarke has bounced back with a new solo album, Rubber (Pavement Music), a 12-song testament to the man's talents as a musician and as a songwriter. Clark employs Hammond organ, mellotron and piano on a few of the tracks, exhibiting a surprising touch of subtlety. But never fear, his Flying V guitar is more than loud enough to shock your parents.

Queen Latifah Gets Jazzy

Queen Latifah has already proven herself as a rap artist and an actress, and now she is trying her hand at jazz singing. Latifah appears in the new film,

Queen Latifah

Living Out Loud, as Liz Bailey, a sultry singer who befriends divorcee Judith (Holly Hunter). In the film, Latifah performs Mervyn Warren's "Lush Life," Little Anthony & The Imperials' "Goin' Out Of My Head" and Irving Gordon's "Be Anything (But Be Mine)." The songs are also included on the RCA Victor-Jersey Records soundtrack, along with tracks from Sly & The Family Stone, Mel Torme, Etta James and others. "I've always liked jazz because it's a genre that you can interpret your own way," Latifah said. "You can make it your own, but no matter what, it always has to come from the heart."

Matador Signs Jega, Khan

Matador Records has signed two new acts, Jega and Khan. Jega is a project of Manchester, England's Dylan Nathan, whose previous efforts include two 12"s on Skam Records as well as the Spectrum album, which was released in the U.K. by Planet U Records. Matador plans to release Spectrum stateside in February, and the label hopes to augment the release with a few bonus tracks. Khan is German/Turkish/American musician Can Oral, who also records as Khan & Dr. Walker and 4E. Matador will release Khan's new album in April, and a compilation will follow.

Robyn Hitchcock Film Opens This Month

The new Robyn Hitchcock performance film, Storefront Hitchcock, opens in New York on November 18. The Orion Pictures-MGM film, directed by Johnathan Demme, captures Hitchcock performing 15 songs in a Manhattan storefront before a small live audience. Hitchcock was joined on stage by frequent collaborators Demi Bonet (violin) and Tim Keegan (guitar, backing vocals). Demme also directed the famed Talking Heads concert film Stop Making Sense. Warner Bros.' Storefront Hitchcock soundtrack (available as a single CD or double LP) features Hitchcock's spoken interludes along with 12 cuts including "1974," "I'm Only You," "Glass Hotel," "The Yip! Song," "Alright, Yeah," "Where Do You Go When You Die?" and a cover of Jimi Hendrix's "The Wind Cries Mary." During the two-day filming, Hitchcock had to play four shows consisting of the same 22-song set list.

African Media Buys Stake In TicketWeb

African Media Entertainment Ltd., the parent company of South African concert promoter Big Concerts, has purchased a 20% interest in online ticket retailer TicketWeb for $2.8 million. Under terms of the deal, AME has the option to buy additional equity based on TicketWeb's future performance. AME has also licensed the TicketWeb system and has formed TicketWeb South Africa, which will begin competing with South Africa's long-standing ticket company, Computicket. TicketWeb South Africa started selling tickets online, over the phone and at retail outlets in September. AME said the company should become profitable during its first year of business. TicketWeb said it plans to announce more international ventures soon. The company will launch a movie cinema ticketing division in early 1999.

FCC Updates Experimental Radio Service Rules

The Federal Communications Commission has revised its Experimental Radio Service rules. To promote technical innovation, the FCC will now permit longer license terms, simplify the application procedures and will make schools eligible for experimental licenses in the same way that individual students are now. The Experimental Radio Service allows parties to experiment with new radio technologies and equipment in ways that are not otherwise permitted under FCC rules.

Sumthing To Distribute Razorfish Releases

Razorfish Studios has signed a national distribution deal with Sumthing Distribution, the independent distribution network recently acquired by producer/artist Nile Rodgers. Sumthing will distribute Razorfish's debut record release, Ticklah's Polydemic, which is described as "slinky ska-jazz and far-out dub." Razorfish Studios President Michael Simon said, "Sumthing allows us to reach a wider audience, without compromising our creative sensibilities."

USA Songwriting Competition Announces 1998 Winners

New York singer/songwriter Steffani Bennett won the Overall Grand Prize of the 1998 USA Songwriting Competition with her song "I Got A Feeling." Raw Sugar Records released her debut album, I'm The Girl, in September. Other winners included Saimone Vuatalevu, Clifton Byrd, Veigar Margeirsson, Ari Posner and Tutu P. Tutani and Trevor Bridgewater. Guild Guitars/ Fender Musical Instruments, D'Addario Guitar Strings, Cakewalk Music Software, Musician's Friend and Superdups sponsored the competition. For details about the 1999 competition, call 617.576.9732 or email asn@tiac.net.

ASCAP Launches ASCAP Ear Compilation CD

On November 18, ASCAP will formally launch the first volume of ASCAP Ear, a 22-song CD sampler of music born from various ASCAP showcases and workshops. The CD, executive produced by ASCAP VP of Membership John Alexander, features work by artists of all genres ranging from R&B to rock to electronica. Featured performers include Old 97's, Ozomatli, Sonichrome, Jude, Martin Sexton and Citizen King, who've all gone on to major label deals. The CD is part of a campaign to raise awareness of ASCAP's ability to identify and nurture new talent.

half-robot superhero that bring elements of the digital revolution to the B-boy on the street. He is also a hip-hop decadent that loves ladies, wine and partying."

The album is only one step in the Bobby Digital masterplan. RZA has also written, directed, produced and starred in a film entitled Bobby Digital. The film, which will go straight to video, features several other members of the Wu-Tang posse and it is primarily comprised of visual interpretations of the ideas found on the record. Lui says the marketing for RZA As Bobby Digital In Stereo will also feature "Mad, mad, mad street promotions including Bobby Digital masks, posters, stickers and a souped-up van that will drive around proclaiming the coming of Bobby in 'Wu-Surround Sound.'" The November issue of Stress magazine will also feature a cover story on RZA, and the magazine's bonus CD will include an album track and an 11-minute exclusive track, "Do You Hear The Bells."

As expected with a concept album based on an alter ego, the Bobby Digital record won't be exactly what Wu fans have come to expect from RZA. "Believe it or not, RZA has been going in a more electronic direction in the past year. The album has hardly any samples and the sounds are mostly generated using an array of keyboards," Lui says. "This goes along with the Bobby Digital concept, which seeks to inject sci-fi digital technology into the B-boy ethos. With this album, RZA is attempting to create a cyber-funk environment for hip-hop heads."

Yet RZA As Bobby Digital offers plenty for Wu-Tang fans to appreciate. "All the elements that made the Wu-Tang great are on display here," Lui continues. "The abstract flows, the complex mythology, the otherworldly backgrounds. The album is very densely layered, both sonically and lyrically. You can listen to it 50 times and still hear new things." RZA was joined on the album by such guests as Ghostface Killah, Ol' Dirty Bastard, Masta Killah, Killarmy Army and Method Man.

The album goes for adds on November 24, and the first single, "B.O.B.B.Y.," hits radio on November 16. RZA is also working on another solo album for release in 1999.

the spring, the album will include a new rendition of the hit "MacArthur Park," to be produced by Giorgio Moroder, who also produced Donna Summer's disco version of the song. Psychotica's earlier cover of the song was included on its sophomore album Espina, which Zero Hour Records released earlier this year. American Recordings released the band's debut album in 1996.

KUNV's Switch To Jazz Draws Protests

A group of musicians, current and former KUNV staffers, and Las Vegas community members have rallied together to protest KUNV's switch to all-jazz programming. As CMJ reported in issue #574, the University of Nevada Las Vegas station eliminated its "Rock Avenue" programming because, as the station said in a statement, "The listener share and funding support for alternative rock on KUNV has been dropping steadily." The newly-formed Rock Avenue Alliance, which lists itself as "not anti-jazz, but pro-diverse," has already gathered more than 5,000 petition signatures protesting KUNV's programming change, and former KUNV Rock Music Director Ducky Slaughter hopes more will sign up at an upcoming protest concert. More than 11 local bands will play at the June 20 concert at the Huntington Theatre in Las Vegas. A number of local businesses are sponsoring the show, and petition forms are also available at other participating businesses in the Las Vegas Valley. Slaughter said he is protesting not only the station's change to an all-jazz format, but also the way he and his Music Director Tego were told about the decision. Slaughter said he was called to the station at about 6 a.m. on May 19 (after summer finals had ended) and told to clean out (continued on page 35)

N'Dea Davenport Demonstrates Her Versatility On Solo Debut

By Wendy Mitchell

Most people remember N'Dea Davenport as the sultry, soulful soulist for Brand New Heavies. Even longtime Heavies fans may be surprised at the diversity of the artists N'Dea has worked with in the past — from Guru and Malcolm McLaren to Herbie Hancock and Natalie Merchant. While her self-titled solo album, due June 30 on V2 Records, doesn't go to the jazzy extremes of Hancock or the punk of McLaren, it certainly shows Davenport's versatility as a musician. For Caron Weezer, Head of Product Management at V2, that means diverse groups of potential fans. "What's great about this album is (continued on page 15)

BECK

Radio 200: 74-4

Core Radio: 68-4

Adds: #14 with 23 reports

Triple A: 26-3

Even though Beck has been asserting that Mutations (DGC) isn't actually the "official" follow-up album to the wildly successful Odelay, it appears as though radio couldn't care less. Beck may consider it a creative speed bump in his career, but Mutations is barreling up the Radio 200, Core Radio and Triple A charts with impunity, and continuing to garner new support (though it's the album's third week out, it's still performing on the Adds chart, with 23 new stations this week). Watch for the "real" Odelay follow-up in the second half of next year, and in the meantime, enjoy the fact that there's an artist out there whose supposedly inconsequential albums are as strong and well-liked as Mutations.

MACHA

Radio 200: 124-21

Core Radio: #32 debut

Macha is more the product of the bohemian college-town vibe of its hometown of Athens, Georgia, than the city's Southern vibe. This debut, self-titled album (Jetset) is a heady mixture of Eastern musical influences layered over Western-styled pop music. It's a tall order, but Macha pulls it off, using instruments like hammer dulcimer, wind chimes and vibraphone to augment its base of guitar, bass and drums. Macha leaps 103 positions to #21 on the Radio 200 this week, and nabs a #32 debut on the Core Radio chart.

Radio 200: #31 debut

Core Radio: #20 debut

Adds: #9 with 39 reports

Though live albums are traditionally most anticipated by fans, Live At The Albert Hall (Dedicated-Arista) is a concert album that can stand on its own in the Spiritualized oeuvre. Anyone who has seen the band live knows what a rich sensory overload the experience can be, and though it obviously lacks the visual element, ...Albert Hall preserves the headiness of the live Spiritualized trip. The album debuts impressively on both the Radio 200 and Core Radio charts (#31 and #20, respectively), and appears at #9 on the Adds chart, garnering 39 new stations on this juggernaut of an album.

PLACEBO

Radio 200: #39 debut

Core Radio: #47 debut

Adds: #8 with 45 reports

Hot on the heels of a packed performance at CMJ's 1998 Music Marathon & MusicFest, Placebo begins to deliver the goods on the CMJ charts as well this week, debuting at #39 on the Radio 200 and #47 on the Core Radio charts while accruing 45 new Adds. With band members featured in the new film Velvet Goldmine, where they play musicians from the glam era, commercial radio Christmas shows planned for the coming month and a full-fledged tour to follow, Placebo is off to a running start. Though its 1996 album on Caroline was much more popular overseas than here in the States, Without You I'm Nothing could be the release to break the band in America.

After spending decades touring the world and experiencing music from its every corner, producer/musician extraordinaire Quincy Jones decided to lend his name and taste to an Internet-based radio station to give better exposure to his favorite world musics. Qradio is the first station to be branded by a celebrity like Jones, and makes full use of the producer's legend. On the site's home page, visitors are greeted by a full screen-size image of Jones's recognizable face and the heading "Quincy Jones' Best Music From Around The World." The site includes the Qradio Top 10 and employs a Java-based RealPlayer called a Qplayer, which streams live radio feeds from around the world. The site itself is divided into five distinct areas: "Correspondence," which offers editorial on hot topics, hot artists and events from around the world; "Qradio Selects," which profiles the Qradio Top 10 and offers visitors a chance to read about the artists and buy the music; "Destinations," which focuses on three countries: South Africa, Cuba and Brazil; "Sounds," a genre-based page on which world artists are categorized and profiled according to their genre, and "Community," which maintains a Qnews newsletter and profiles Qradio itself. Qradio will become a syndicated broadcast radio show in January 1999, with plans to expand into three other shows covering urban, pop and jazz. Qradio recently joined with RealNetworks to develop the company's "RealNetwork's Radio Toolkit," which is designed to integrate advertising, e-commerce and radio into one package. Finally, the very busy Qradio found another way to support world music by sponsoring secure online music delivery through Liquid Audio. Through the Qradio site, world music enthusiasts can buy individual tracks from South Africa's Sheer Sound label. — David Day

JAMTV & Rolling Stone Launch Radio Service

JAMTV (www.jamtv.com) and the Rolling Stone Network (www.rollingstone.com) have launched Rolling Stone Radio, the first multi-station Internet music service to use RealNetworks' new Radio Toolkit. The site includes stations devoted to pop, R&B, modern rock, hip-hop, college rock, electronica, women's rock, dance, country, classic rock, new wave and guitar rock. Additional stations, including one programmed by David Bowie, will be added in the future. Rolling Stone Radio users can click on an artist's name and/or song titles, which serve as a link to biographies, discographies and other editorial content. Listeners may also rate songs and request tracks. Amazon.com has signed on to become the exclusive online retailer for Rolling Stone Radio.

Report Reveals Huge Potential For In-Office Internet Broadcast Viewers

Broadcast.com has commissioned The Delahaye Group to measure the demand for in-office Internet broadcasting. Delahaye surveyed 500 studies using professionals in industries such as banking, insurance, communications, education, government and retail, and found a potentially huge number of in-office listeners and Internet broadcasting viewers. The survey revealed that 99% of the respondents had a PC on their desk at work, while 32% had a radio and 9% had a television. Also, 95% of the respondents had Internet access and 71% had either listened to music or watched video on the 'Net at work. Finally, 54% connected to the Internet on T1 lines or above. Tina Williamson, Broadcast.com VP of marketing said, "The survey establishes a built-in audience familiar with multimedia, who are already savvy about receiving broadcasts from the comfort of their own desks." A complete copy of The Delahaye Report is available at www.delahaye.com.

Barnes And Noble To Expand Music, Video Catalog

Bookseller Barnes And Noble (www.barnesandnoble.com) announced that it will expand its online music and video catalog beginning in the first quarter of 1999. The bookseller's new content deal with the All-Music and All-Movie guides (www.allmusic.com, www.allmovie.com) played a key part in the company's decision. "They are content rich," said Barnes And Noble CEO Steve Riggio. "Their links provide enormous cross-merchandising opportunities with our book database."

Del-Fi Gets Amplified

Amplified.com (www.amplified.com) has signed a licensing agreement with independent label Del-Fi (www.del-fi.com) to provide 30-second audio samples for more than 900 songs in the Del-Fi catalog. Classic soul, doo-wop, rock, hot-rod and surf music are just some of the genres comprising the heart of Del-Fi's back catalog, which boasts tracks by artists such as Ritchie Valens, Barry White, the Bobby Fuller Four and Chan Romero.

MSN Adds New Stores

MSN has announced that it has expanded its online shopping site with the addition of six new merchants: Crutchfield, K-Tel, 911 Gifts and Harry And David. The site (<http://shopping.msn.com>) already peddles wares from Eddie Bauer, 1-800-FLOWERS and The Gap Online Store.

Sony, RealNetworks Create Pay-Per-Listen Jukebox

Sony Music Online and RealNetworks Inc. have collaborated to create what they claim to be the Internet's first pay-per-listen audio jukebox (www.sonymusic.com/jukebox). The 24-hour jukebox features clips in a variety of musical styles, and it is available on-demand, using RealNetworks' RealPlayer. While the current list is limited, users can create customized playlists. Song prices range from $2.50 for 10 selections to $10.00 for 50 selections. Sony Music has also entered into a partnership with Columbia House's Total E (www.totale.com) to provide consumers with instant retail access. The companies hope the jukebox will be ideal for people without access to a stereo in the workplace.

JAMTV Signs Deals With Magnitude, RadioWave

Internet music giant JAMTV has announced new alliances; the company has inked deals with Magnitude Network (www.magnitude-network.net) and with RadioWave.com (www.radiowave.com). JAMTV will provide format-specific music content for Magnitude, which has pioneered Rad-Net (the integration of radio and the Internet) to create profit and new opportunities for broadcasters and advertisers alike. JAMTV will also provide artist-specific content for RadioWave, an Internet-based radio player featuring interactive content, along with live broadcasts. Users of the RadioWave player will be able to access song-related content, including artist bios, discographies and concert information.

HIVE

Devious Methods (Phase 4-London)

In the sea of sampler-driven music, the old adage "lead or get out of the way," applies. DJ Hive may not be leading at the moment, but he's certainly not being left behind.

Devious Methods, the California mix-master's full-length debut, was cooked up in his Odditorium, a home studio where Hive has one hand on hip-hop, and the other on jungle. Some DJs build soundscapes that would compliment film, but Hive's beats and noise create their own action. The grinding Bad Brains riff looped over a street beat and lapped by a double-time jungle splatter provides the album's hardest punch. Elsewhere, Hive's judicious use of spoken samples adds a few jabs of irony to his dark and devious mixes. — Steve Ciabattone

The Storms Of Early Summer: Semantics Of Song (Saddle Creek)

Cursive mines the same sonic and emotional territory that a number of other emo-core bands explore, skillfully balancing the visceral wallop of its post-punk instrumentation with the urgency of its vocals and the pained earnestness of its lyrics. The band flexes a considerable amount of technical muscle throughout The Storms Of Early Summer, however, that lends its cathartic roar some truly formidable athleticism and drive. Guiding its dual guitar hammering with tightly controlled shifts in dynamics and tempo, the quartet moves between fierce hardcore volleys and slower, more tension-ridden restraint, occasionally warped with some artful guitar

Guiding its dual guitar hammering with tightly controlled shifts in dynamics and tempo, the quartet moves between fierce hardcore volleys and slower, more tension-ridden restraint, occasionally warped with some artful guitar interplay. For the most part, the performance is fierce and relentless, offering up one clenched fistful of guitars after another to support Tim Kasher's angst-fueled howling. — Colin Helms

DUB PISTOLS

Point Blank (1500-A&M)

"Big beat" is the terminology used to pigeonhole the funky U.K. entourage known as Dub Pistols, but the big beats and breaks driving Point Blank, the Pistol's debut full-length, are just starting points for the troupe's sound. Musical mastermind Barry Ashworth blankets the album's rhythms in a broad palette of influences — from heavy dub and rock to hip-hop and Latin — that lends the tracks an indefinable style, while remaining easily decipherable and digestible. The music is at once familiar and strikingly original, moving from cool, laid-back jams to red-hot club anthems. The band may be arriving on U.S. shores on a wave created by like-minded acts such as Fatboy Slim and Propellerheads, but Dub Pistols are working to create their own current. — M. Tye Comer

PHISH

The Story Of The Ghost (Elektra-EEG)

Phish are modern masters of the post-hippie jam, but for the most part, the Burlington, Vermont, quartet seems to reserve its real creativity and energy for its marathon concerts. For The Story Of The Ghost, Phish's seventh proper album, the group takes the stream-of-consciousness approach it uses onstage into the studio to deliver the most well-crafted collection of its near 15-year-long career. Overall, Ghost is simpler and more immediate than the band's previous work, allowing Phish to expose its less obvious influences such as the minimalist post-funk of the Talking Heads and the heady pop of the Velvet Underground. The inclusion of the epic tour staple "Guyute" also shows that the boys are remaining true to their granola roots, proving that a steady diet of Phish is just as good with or without the noodles. — Ron Hart

TWO DOLLAR GUITAR

Train Songs (Smells Like)

Two Dollar Guitar's "train songs" don't resemble those of Boxcar Willie, but the album title is fitting nonetheless. The trio's experimental folk-rock uses repetitive sound patterns to mimic the steady force of a locomotive, an image that also supports the band's exploration of American roots music through the use of banjo and tambourine. On this all-instrumental third album, guitarist Tim Foljahn (ex-Mosquito, Half Japanese) leaves enough space for his bandmates to step into the spotlight; listen for drummer Steve Shelley's (Sonic Youth) restraint and release on "Erie Lackawana" and bassist Dave Motamed's (ex-Cell, Das Damen) nearly sultry groove on "Flying Crow." Even without vocals, Two Dollar Guitar varies the mood by fluctuating between passages of quiet cymbal tapping, dirge-like organ, bluesy guitar and crashing noises mimicking typewriters, gunshots and a chugging train. — Wendy Mitchell

SPAHN RANCH

Beat Noir (Cleopatra)

Spahn Ranch was originally conceived as a one-off project in 1992, but it has gone on to become one of the most respected outfits in America's late-'90s electro-industrial scene. The Los Angeles trio's sound has continued to mature and expand with each release.

Beat Noir, the band's fifth album, marries the sonic mentality behind old-school industrial with energetic and enterprising new-school technologies. The album also boasts an intelligently executed combination of drum 'n' bass-inspired breaks, brooding textures, complex melodic arrangements and emotive vocals, further establishing the Ranch as one of the most progressive and forward-thinking units to emerge from the American industrial underground.— *M. TREIOPS TREYFID

Reach The Explosion (Deep Reverb)

Treiops Treyfid first rose out of the Washington, DC, rock underground as part of Pitchblende, though he now performs as a solo artist. More defined and controlled than the manic eruptions of sound that made Pitchblende so interesting, Treyfid's debut emphasizes jagged, off-kilter guitar lines that continually change. While the guitars provide the hooks, Treyfid's voice is surprisingly the most memorable facet of Reach The Explosion. The lyrics spouted by his squeaky monotone relate vivid stories about bank clocks controlling the weather and the meta-physical properties of magnets. Treyfid's brainy pop is lent additional color by an all-star cast of DC backing players who provide bass, drums and various musical odds and ends. — Tud Hendrickson

DENIZ TEK

Equinox (Citadel)

Ann Arbor, Michigan, native Deniz Tek migrated to Australia in the 1970s. As the guitarist for Radio Birdman, he served as the Oz music scene's genial and spiritual link to the Stooges/MC5-era school of garage-tinged proto-punk. Two decades and several solo releases later, the former navy flight surgeon is still strutting righteously. Equinox often messes with his searing, tough anthems by glossing them over with coldly modern keyboards and polished production. While this sometimes saps Tek of his raw power, the closing "Tone Poem" reveals a hard-hearted, intelligent lyricism, akin to author Charles Bukowski fronting EVOL-era Sonic Youth. Elsewhere, when the hallowed, no-nonsense barre chords of the less artful numbers kick in, Tek's usual he-man rocking remains a thing of simple, familiar beauty. — Jordan N. Mamone

MELT-BANANA

Charlie (A-Zap)

"Introduction For Charlie" opens Melt-Banana's third full-length with vocalist YaSuKo yelping like a warrior princess in a chop-socky film. She shrieks over a lopsided, galloping rhythm and some frenzied, post-hip-hop turntable scratching. That hectic velocity pretty much sets the pace of Charlie, which like the band's previous efforts, convulses at super-human speed, delivering a hardcore-informed, distinctively Japanese audio information overload. Agata's irrational, post-metal guitar slams into Yasuko's aggravated pep squad proclamations atop tight, neck-snapping rhythm change-ups. But don't slag off MB as "just another noise band from Tokyo." The quartet's spirited, spastic voodoo coheres into a kind of damaged logic. Charlie is not noise for noise's sake; it's some of the most painfully inventive, zero-attention-span rock music you'll ever hear. The self-aggrandizing "Area 887" insists that "Melt-Banana will melt your face off and melt your brain." Who's arguing? — Jordan N. Mamone

I LIVE THE LIFE OF A MOVIE STAR SECRET HIDEOUT

Oddly enough, the duo with the long and complex name turns out short and simple tunes. Gale Wind Transistor collects songs written, recorded and released in the last four years by Movie

REVIEWS

Star leader Adam Bayer. Many of his modestly performed songs move forward without drums, allowing the chugging chords to push the tunes along. When the drums do kick in ("Radio Argot"), they flesh out Bayer's skeletal designs, fueling potent, sub-three-minute pop pick-me-ups. Bayer's voice leans towards the plain and flat, but it's always warm, cooing out innocent, reflective lyrics without the slightest trace of angst. Maria Pitallano occasionally shares vocal duties, adding an interesting, bittersweet harmony and an even lighter touch to Bayer's more effortless tunes. — Steve Ciabattoni

LOVE-CARS

Chump Lessons (No Alternative)

The sonic explosiveness and emcore coatings of Love-Cars' debut are suitable for any mood. The quartet's guitar-fronted pop rock contains formidable hooks and boasts a propensity for savory, stainless melodies delivered with relentless, jagged aggression. Chump Lessons' skit-tish, high-spirited blasts are augmented by the bittersweet lyrics and the urgent emotional streaming of James Dier, casting faint Sunny Day Real Estate-like shades over the songs without overshadowing the band's warm, lustrous glow. Songs such as "Somerset" and the instantly-hummable punch of "Letter Grades" provide the listener with compact, fully digestible nuggets of aching musical splendor — emotionally jarring qualities that give the listener the sense that Love-Cars are quite aware that great pop music doesn't have to come in adorable, beautiful wrappings. — Glen Sansone

ERIC B. & RAKIM

Paid In Full: The Platinum Edition (Island)

Since hip-hop's inception, few albums that have impacted the artform as strongly as Eric B. & Rakim's 1987 landmark debut, Paid In Full. Not only did it prompt the New York hip-hop community to scream "Eric B. Is President," but it simply sounded like nothing else at that time. Eric B. was a master of the cut; his sparse, soulful yet hardcore beats did as much to establish the DJ as an expressive, integral part of the music as Grandmaster Flash did in the early '80s. At a time when hip-hop needed to rise above the simple, street-level boasting of artists such as L.L. Cool J and Run-D.M.C., Rakim took us there with his deep, golden and widely envied flow. Dark and ominous, his masterful turns of phrase created the spark for every Eric B. cut. Paid In Full, reissued here with a second CD of classic remixes, is still one of the most complete albums in hip-hop history. It's utterly lean and each cut, from "I Ain't No Joke" and "I Know You Got Soul," to the Barry White-sampled "As The Rhyme Goes On," remain as timeless and innovative as the day each was created. — Glen Sansone

DEREK TRUCKS

ROOTS 'N' BLUES

Out Of The Madness (House Of Blues)

Although one should always hesitate before bandying the word "genius" around, that tag has certainly been earned by 18-year-old guitar player Derek Trucks. The guy can simply play the devil out of a guitar, whether it's hell-driven slide, sweet jazz or sensitive acoustic passages. While his first album showcased his slide and electric chops, Out Of The Madness builds upon that foundation and also features Trucks's heavy steel guitar playing. He's grown up surrounded by music (Trucks's uncle is Derek Trucks of Allman Brothers Band fame), and has already assimilated decades of history into his own expansive style. Like true guitar greats such as Duane Allman, Jeff Beck, Mick Taylor or Jimi Hendrix before him, his style builds on the blues but also takes it to new, unexplored, wholly individual realms. — James Lien

Fidel (Fidel)

Fidel is a new project from Boston singer/songwriter Greg Ackell, the former frontman for woody indie-pop band the Drop Nineteens. With Fidel, Ackell downplays the noisier shoegazer approach of his former employ, instead focusing on subtle, eclectic production flourishes and an easygoing pop feel in his songwriting. Ackell's soft, almost innocuous voice lends the songs a quiet, understated beauty, while the equally underplayed touches of horns, Moog synths and electric piano add hints of sophistication to his gentle guitar-pop. The album has it share of fluffy, lightweight moments that could benefit from more forceful playing and fleshed-out production, but when the band's simple instrumentation and Ackell's pretty songcraft collide, the results are refreshingly straightforward and poignant. — Colin Helms

I'M YOUR Fan

NENEH CHERRY

Homebrew (Virgin)

Sometimes it's a good thing to keep a record on the shelf for a few years before you dig it up again for another spin on your stereo. It's been a good five years since I broke out Homebrew, the sophomore masterpiece from hip-hop diva Neneh Cherry. It's funny how time and the absence of new work seems to bury some of the brightest musical talents in the industry shuffle. With production help from Portishead brainchild Geoff Barrow, Homebrew's clever, attitude-thick mix of streetwise hip-hop, space age R&B and ambient grooves not only holds up to anything of its kind out today, but also blows the majority of chump change trip-hop acts clear out of the water. For one thing, it displays Cherry's wide range of influences, particularly in her choice of guests. "Sassy" is a razor-sharp duet with Gang Starr's Guru supported by a classic DJ Premier backbeat, while "Trout" gave her some rock cred with a bangin' duet with Michael Stipe. (It still holds up as the best thing Stipe has been involved with outside of R.E.M., at least in my book.) "Buddy X," Homebrew's most successful single, is a scathing dis to retro-rocker Lenny Kravitz for trying to get with her while he was still with Lisa Bonet. If Massive Attack's Blue Lines was the record that introduced trip-hop to American ears in 1991, then Homebrew served as a testament to the genre's quickly growing impact and effect on the future. It seems like an eternity since Neneh Cherry released an album in the U.S., but considering the state of music these days, I'm not sure if people will be able to handle the ground a new Neneh album will most surely break. — Ron Hart

For Fans Of: Lauryn Hill, Portishead, N'Dea Davenport
Recommended Tracks: "Sassy," "Move With Me," "Buddy X," "Trout"
Bio-Facts: Cherry released the follow-up to Homebrew, 1996's Man, exclusively in Europe, and is reportedly in the studio working on a new album; appeared on Pulp's This Is Hardcore on the track "Seductive Barry"

Swedish newspaper Expressen recently reported that Icelandic superstar Björk may consider giving up music for good, following yet another bizarre obsessed fan incident. According to the NME, Expressen reported that police arrived at Björk's mother's house after a Spanish stalker broke in and left threatening messages pertaining to her daughter. Björk told the Swedish newspaper that the man, who has been following her for four years, slept in her mother's bed and ate her mother's food. "This is worse than the mailbomb," Björk told the paper. "That the people I love are subjected to threats because of me is horrible! And the thought alone that someone could hurt my son makes me feel sick. I feel

THE ORB

U.F. Off: The Best Of The Orb (Island)

Innovator. Trendsetter. Icon. For nearly a decade, the Orb's frontman Alex Patterson has been defined by these titles and his shadow will only loom larger as the music he has made continues to influence current and future generations of electronic musicians. Largely inspired by '60s and '70s psychedelic rock, the Orb blends ambient, dub, and techno to create music that relates to listeners on physical, mental and spiritual levels. The two-CD U.F. Off compilation is a thorough documentation of Patterson's strange eight-year trip. Disc one presents 12 of the Orb's classic singles, while the second disc is a collection of remixes that takes the group's sound into more extreme realms.

CHRISTOPH DE BABALON

If You're Into It, I'm Out Of It (Digital Hardcore)

While the title of Christoph De Babalon's debut disc seems to fall in line with the confrontational personalities of most artists in the Digital Hardcore camp, this album is actually the most inviting and non-threatening music the German label has yet to release. Marked by dark, beatless ambient musings and darker, scratchier breakbeat experiments, If You're Into It's subtlety distinguishes this Hamburg artist from his DHR contemporaries.

BLACK SABBATH Reunion (Epic)

Reunited and it feels so good. Seeing the original Black Sabbath line-up at last year's Ozz-Fest (sans Bill Ward, who was recovering from a heart attack at the time) ranks right up there with viewing Star Wars for the first time in 1977. It's epic, it's huge and it's life-altering. The band's live show lives up to what you would expect from 20-year-olds and not from the geezers that these guys actually are. The two new songs added onto the end of the live show are unimpressive fillers, but the real point of the record is to promote the tour, which should not be missed. If you do, you will regret it for the rest of your life, guaranteed.

When Satan Lives (Roadrunner)

When Satan Lives is a live album from one of the sickest bands in death metal. Recorded earlier this year at Chicago's House Of Blues during the "Serpents Of The Light" tour, this album assaults you with even more intense bass-heaviness than the band's studio albums. If you can't handle being scared, don't listen.

Queens Of The Stone Age (Loosegroove)

The brother band to Slo Burn, QOTSA formed from the other half of the late, great stoner rock band Kyuss. With Slo Burn, we got to revel in John Garcia's sexy voice; here, we are treated to the wonderfully fuzzy guitar tones of John Homme. His masterful playing reverberates throughout the songs — and he sings, too!

loud rock news

Given the fact that Black Sabbath has reunited and that Slayer is still kickin' ass after all these years, ye olde heavy metal remains alive and well. To boot, 12 newly remastered and enhanced Iron Maiden CDs have been released. Spanning the band's career from 1980-1993, the reissues include bonus tracks and biographical material. They're also encoded with a pair of videos from each era. AMX Studios — the wizards responsible for interactive digital designs for Oasis, the Foo Fighters, the Beastie Boys and the Spice Girls — produced the reissues, nine of which have already hit the U.K. top 40 charts.

Ben Folds is a fan of both William Shatner's Star Trek career as well as illustrious musical endeavors. Shatner's dramatic interpretations of songs like "Mr. Tamborine Man" and "Lucy In The Sky With Diamonds" have made his 1968 Transformed Man album a cult classic. The track "In Love," on an album by Folds's side project Fear Of Pop, will couple Shatner's "unique" voice with the sounds of Ben Folds. MELISSA FERRICK

Everything I Need (W.A.R.)

In 1991, Morrissey asked the then-unsigned Melissa Ferrick to open his U.K. tour. Shortly after returning to the U.S., Ferrick was snapped up by Atlantic Records, despite solid songwriting and critical acclaim for clever tunes such as "Juliana Hatfield," widespread sales have eluded her. Ferrick proved herself an increasingly talented singer/songwriter on her 1997 live album, but Everything I Need is her first studio album that successfully captures her live energy. While she maintains her pissed-off attitude, Melissa also seems more relaxed here with a full band, as she sings about freedom and accepting what life delivers.

Klezmatics

New York's eclectic Knitting Factory presented La French Touch Festival from November 19-21. The bash's events were held on all four of the club's stages in an attempt to document the certain je ne sais quoi that makes each French art form — from politics to painting — so innovative. Musicians Frank Amsellem and Tim Reis, Mino Cinelu, Renaud Garcia Fons, Jeff Sharrel and Fred Galliano performed at the Perrier-sponsored celebration. In addition, Galliano doubled as an on-duty DJ. Various authors also read from their work, several short films were screened along with exhibitions of art and photography...The Klezmatics continue to add dates to their tour in support of The Well, a collaboration with Israeli singer Chava Alberstein. After some late-October Florida shows, the band hit the Midwest in the middle of November. The Klezmatics will reunite with Alberstein for a December 20 Hannukah appearance at Lisner Auditorium in Washington, DC... Sonolux USA and 24K Records cemented a new partnership October 29. Label 24K is the imprint created by by Raul Acosta, leader of the highly successful meringue group Oro Solido. Sonolux USA is the three-year-old branch of Colombia's 50+-years-old Sonolux Records...Calendarock is publishing the first ever Rock En Español Wall Calendar for 1999. This perfect gift for Spanish rock folks savors the final year of the millennium con todas las estrellas de mundo Hispano. The stylish package features 12 months of snappy photos of Rock En Espanol's finest bands hailing from Argentina, Colombia, Spain, Venezuela and the United States. It also includes a CD with music by many of the acts pictured on the calendar. Que bueno.

SPIRIT NATION

Spirit Nation (V2)

This project is an ambitious blend of indigenous sounds and modern-day beats in a Deep Forest-like amalgam of old and new. Spearheaded by Judy Crescenzo's unique voice, it's uncanny how well the vocals mesh with the modern instrumentation. There are plenty of connections to be made, especially when one considers the rhythmic nature of indigenous American languages.

Recommended Tracks: "Wankatakiya," "Spirit Path," "I Am Water," "Spirit Nation"

SOLAS

The Words That Remain (Shanachie)

Although this Irish supergroup is only three years old, they have come to be regarded as one of the foremost practitioners of Irish folk music. The group's third album finds a greater American influence in the form of covers of Peggy Seeger and Woody Guthrie, and banjo cameos from Bela Fleck. There has always been a strong connectin between Irish and American folk music, so Solas new fusion is really no surprise.

Recommended Tracks: "Pastures Of Plenty," "Song Of Choice" (with Iris Dement on vocals), "The Stride Set"

JASON MARSALIS

The Year Of The Drummer (Basin Street)

Drummer Jason Marsalis is the youngest of the Marsalis clan, but he's a sophisticated player with talent and experience far beyond his years. After honing his skills drumming with his father Ellis's trio, Jason's first steps on his own are phenomenal on this debut filled with New Orleans rhythms, classic jazz changes, and — most importantly — a very healthy '90s sense of humor. With all the great drummers around in this "Year Of The Drummer," Jason stands head and shoulders above the pack.

Recommended Tracks: "In The Tradition" "The Upper Second Line," "Lucky Number 7," "At The House, In Da Pocket," "He Who Swings The Rumba Clave"

GARY BURTON

Like Minds (Concord)

All too often these days, the jazz equation is composed of one big star name and a bunch of younger, less experienced sidemen. This is not the case with the all-star cast assembled for vibist Gary Burton's Like Minds, which features first-chair talent in every position: Burton, pianist Chick Corea, guitarist Pat Metheny, drummer Roy Haynes and bassist Dave Holland. It's an all-star session that bristles with the scintillating contributions of each talented player—one of Burton's best albums.

Recommended Tracks: "Straight Up And Straight Down," "Soon," "Like Minds," "Windows"

MISAKO KANO

Breakthru (Jazz Focus)

Pianist Masako Kano comes from Yamauchi, Japan, but since the early '90s has thrown herself headlong into the New York jazz scene. Breakthru, originally released in Japan, teams the currently Tokyo-based pianist with a New York quartet, featuring the talents of saxophonist Thomas Chapin, bassist Ron McClure and drummer Jeff Williams. There are three standards on the program, but the spotlight is squarely on Kano's originals. Fans of the late saxophonist Chapin should check out the melancholy piano/sax duet on "Never Let Me Go."

jazz news

Filmmaker Woody Allen and his New Orleans jazz band were the subjects of the documentary Wild Man

Blues. The feature-length film chronicles the group's 1996 18-city European tour and it offers rare insight into the enigmatic personality of Allen, whose passion for jazz is reflected his 25 years of weekly gigs at New York's Michael's Pub. (Allen's act moved to Café Carlyle in 1996.) The Wild Man Blues soundtrack, released November 10 by RCA, highlights re-recorded selections from the documentary, and additional numbers by Allen and his band...Charlie Parker's remains will be moved from Kansas City, Missouri's Lincoln Cemetery to a location in that town's historic jazz district, where the icon got his start as a budding altoist. Parker's corpse will be placed in a tomb — marked by a Robert Graham bronze sculpture sculpted — befitting of the musician's regal standing in jazz history...The Web site for saxophonist Tim Berne's Screwgun Records has moved to www.screwgunrecords.com. The site sells Screwgun releases, and it also includes bios, discographies and interviews. Also, watch for Berne's Empire Box, a five-CD reissue of Berne's first four records. Among others, Nels and Alex Cline, Paul Motian, Vinny Golia, Olu (continued on page 34)

THE EX FILES

Story by Tad Hendrickson / photos by Brad Miller

The Ex was formed in 1979 when a group of young, politically-minded Dutch punks drew straws to decide who would play which instrument. Over the last two decades, the band has evolved from a rudimentary punk outfit into a rhythmically complex musical collective with issues-oriented lyrics, tribal drumming and skittering guitars. The Ex's music is now informed by traditional world music, the open precepts of free jazz and the simple qualities of Western folk. Its social concerns have broadened as well. Emerging from the squatter movements in Amsterdam and Wormer, Holland, the group's focus now reaches beyond local politics to encompass global issues. The Ex's social efforts have included releasing a single to raise money for the Sandinista resistance in El Salvador, launching a benefit tour to raise money for striking British miners, contributing to money-raising compilations for the Palestinian uprising, and railing against the music industry's commodification of the Anti-Apartheid movement.

Collected on over 17 albums and on countless singles, EPs and compilation tracks, The Ex's music has absorbed a dizzying amount of information and influences, yet singer G.W. Sok sees this synthesis as a natural process. "We listen to a wide variety of styles of music," he points out. "And I think in the end, it all filters through somehow and often in retrospect we might notice, 'Hey we must've picked that up from listening to this and that folk music last month, or from having played with someone a year ago.' It's amazing how wide our musical roots begin to spread simply because we now have such unbelievable access to every possible kind of music."

While The Ex's tireless artistic evolution and political integrity has made fans of such underground rock luminaries as Sonic Youth, Fugazi, Jon Langford, Chumbawamba and Steve Albini, the Dutch group's profile in the States is considerably lower than that of its admirers. With most of its back catalog released on its European vanity label or carried by tiny American indies, the Ex's U.S. visibility has finally taken a turn for the better with Starters Alternators, released by Chicago stalwart Touch And Go Records.

Last year, the group agreed to take a 12-month hiatus. Guitarist Terrie drove across Africa, while Sok, guitarist Andy, bassist Luc and drummer Katrin (who refuse to provide their last names) worked on a variety of other musical projects. On the one-year anniversary of the beginning of the break, the group reconvened to tour Europe and to begin work on material for Starters. "The first thing we wanted to do [was to] just play and make new music, to consolidate, and see whether we were still into doing it and where it would lead us," says Sok. "The main thing was that we wanted to do 'The Ex' again, not 'The Ex & Guests' or 'The Ex & Dancers,' etc." Recorded at Steve Albini's new studio in Chicago, Starters Alternators benefits from the producer's ability to hone in on the strengths of the group's live performance. "In the past we have occasionally suffered from the sound [being of sub-par quality], but this time it sounds excellent. Steve did an excellent job."

The level-headed Sok has realistic, yet hopeful expectations for the new album. "We think it is a really good album, we're totally happy with it. Sales-wise we have no expectations, we just hope that we can sell at least enough records to break even and make ourselves and Touch And Go happy. We don't mind selling more, of course, although that will never be a reason for us to put a record out."

When asked about the recent multi-platinum success of fellow politically-motivated act Chumbawamba (The Ex toured and shared a 7" with that band in the mid-'80s), Sok admits to having mixed feelings. "Obviously independent bands aren't supposed to join the hit parade circus and have hit records," he says. "And certainly not anarchists on a major label. It's not an easy position for them to be in, in that sense, because we personally would find it hard to honestly justify working with whatever label they're on in the U.S. I hope they can survive spiritually and musically in that environment. I think we would die a quick death surrounded by all those bloodsuckers."

Fortunately for The Ex's fans, Starters Alternators marks a strong return to form for the group, which will celebrate its 20th anniversary on May 29, 1999. The band members' ever-guiding formula for artistic success is simple one — to embrace change and to learn from the world around them. "If we all remain open-minded as humans," explains Sok, "[The Ex] can continue 'til we die."

ERROL KOLOSINE

GENERAL MANAGER,
ASTRALWERKS/CAROLINE RECORDS

Phone: 212.886.7521
Email: errol@caroline.com

Interview by Amy Sciarretto

College radio and the indie rock community have always held Caroline Records in high esteem. The label released some of the most influential albums of the late '80s and early '90s, among them Pussy Galore's Right Now!, Swans' Children Of God, Smashing Pumpkins' Gish, Hole's Pretty On The Inside and Primus' Frizzle Fry. But following the late '90s surge of electronica and dance music, Caroline imprint Astralwerks has emerged as a dominant force, releasing albums by electronic and dance oriented artists such as Fatboy Slim, Air, Chemical Brothers and Phatek. Of late, Caroline proper has lingered on the backburner. CMJ spoke to label general manager Errol Kolosine about these issues.

As general manager of a record label, what are some of your main responsibilities? Do you find yourself directly immersed in specific activities at Caroline, like A&R or college radio promotion? My main responsibility is to make sure that everyone has what they need to make our artists succeed and that our artists are happy with our efforts. That sometimes does involve getting into the minutiae of certain areas, but the staff here does an exceptional job so it's usually just on a consultation level. There are also a whole lot of areas I never dealt with before — legal, financial, etc. — that I am finding extremely gratifying to have a hand in.

How long have you been working in the music industry? What other positions have you held and how have they helped you in running a label?

My first "formal" music job was Music Director of the mighty WVFS in Tallahassee, Florida. That is where I learned a lot of the things that still serve me in good stead today. I was very involved in many elements of the station, especially dealing with the local music scene and trying to foster a strong reputation, both local and national, for Tallahassee bands. I became totally addicted to the thrill of turning a large audience on to new music. I also realized that I really enjoy helping artists realize their goals and visions, and that led to my taking a college radio gig at Caroline in 1994. Caroline went through a lot of changes over the next few years, people and bands coming and going a lot. During this time, and despite my initial terror, I moved into commercial radio and actually had some success. We really tried, and still do, to make our approach to commercial radio one of putting the music first. My next move after that was Director of Marketing and Promotion, which allowed me a great opportunity to learn about all areas of the business. I was lucky to have some really patient and positive mentoring in this period. Then, about six months ago I moved into the GM position. It's really been a combination of things, most especially this company's willingness to put its faith in me. I haven't worked at any other record companies and I'm not in any hurry at all to do so.

Astralwerks started as a Caroline imprint, but it seems to have emerged as the more dominant of the two labels. Why is that? What's going on with Caroline on the backburner, given its phenomenal back catalogue?

It was really a case of the Astralwerks roster evolving into the more dominant label very organically. This label is very driven by the feelings and tastes of the entire staff and the fact was that our signings for Astralwerks became much more numerous than the Caroline signings and that's the long and the short of it. We released some really great stuff on Caroline over the years and we will re-launch the label when we have a band that we think makes the right statement aesthetically for the future of the label. We want to make sure that when Caroline returns it will be with the respect that it deserves, because it has been a very influential label.

How has college radio responded to Astralwerks artists like Fatboy Slim, Gearwhore and Phatek? I think really well. As much travelling as I do, I get to see the results of college radio's support in the faces of all the kids at our artists' shows having a great time. We've also been lucky enough to have Jeff Sperber and then Crystal Stephens in the College Radio Promo position, who really have done an incredible job of getting our label's message across.

In general, why do you think college radio or the music industry has embraced electronic and dance music?

I think that college radio has supported and will continue to support both classic and new ways of making music. My hope is that college radio is continuing in the direction of a genre-less approach. Good music is good music, period. Why would a station that doesn't have to follow the rules of a commercial format impose those rules on itself?

What are you five favorite albums of 1998 so far?

I disqualified our roster, otherwise it would probably be mostly our stuff! The Beta Band The Three EPs, the Nuggets box set, Mercury Rev Deserter's Songs, Liz Phair Whitechocolate-spaceegg and Elliott Smith XO.

What are you five favorite albums of all time?

Sorry, couldn't do just five...it was driving me insane. Maybe you can print 'em tiny? David Bowie Station To Station, James Brown Star Time, The Clash London Calling, Elvis Costello Armed Forces, Beastie Boys Paul's Boutique, Bob Dylan Highway 61 Revisited, Beatles Revolver, Echo & The Bunnymen Ocean Rain, Jimi Hendrix Axis: Bold As Love, Kraftwerk Autobahn, Public Enemy Fear Of A Black Planet, The Smiths The Queen Is Dead, Talking Heads Remain In Light, X Los Angeles, and The Harder They Come soundtrack!

If you weren't running Astralwerks/Caroline, what would you be doing?

Working on my English Doctorate, still playing in my bands and hopefully working at a college radio station!

Answer this: My job is the best job in the entire world because...

...Of the artists and the staff at Astralwerks/Caroline.
