SUPER FURRY ANIMALS

Rings Around the World (XL Recordings–Beggars Group)

Operating as delightfully eclectic sonic visionaries throughout their career, Super Furry Animals have consistently blurred genre lines, ignored musical convention and shown equal love for classic pop harmonies, electronic mayhem, acoustic balladry and the odd bit of punk rock. With the band's fifth album, Rings Around The World, SFA has delivered yet another instant classic, an album that sounds more polished than previous efforts but is no less brilliant for it. The Brian Wilson influence that came through so strongly on the band's last album, the self-produced Mwng, returns in full force here; however, none of Wilson's songs ever degenerated into industrial-techno bursts fueled by demonic intonations at the end, as on the irresistible "Receptacle for the Respectable." Meanwhile, SFA once again proudly indulges its fascination with technology and its relationship to our lives ("(Drawing) Rings Around the World"), commentary that is offset by often-zany, lighthearted lyricism ("Sidewalk Serfer Girl"). The album also dips into darker territory, though, as on the mournful assault of "No Sympathy" — and perhaps for the first time, something sinister can be heard within the Super Furry world of cartoon monsters and chewing gum. There's a musical twist to the tune, but that shouldn't be a surprise; there's a fabulous twist to every SFA song. — Doug Levy

CUB COUNTRY

High Uinta High (Jade Tree)

If you already knew that Cub Country is the moniker used by Jets To Brazil bassist Jeremy Chatelain, it would be reasonable for you to expect a similarly post-hardcore/emocore, guitar-driven rock record from him. But you would be very wrong. Gone are the distorted guitars and fervent vocals in favor of thoughtful acoustic plucking and warm whispers that tell of loves lost and roads less traveled. Backed by a shuffling all-star lineup that consists of his fellow Jets To Brazil bandmates, plus Cashe Tolman (Rival Schools), Nick Macri (Euphone), Theo Kogan (Lunachicks) and Chris Traynor (Helmet, Orange 9mm), Jeremy and his entourage carve a beautiful disc of Americana, complete with tinges of country, folk, soul and blues, proving that you don't have to play rock to... well, rock. Not that all the rock experience represented in the band is wasted, however. Songs like "Butterfly" revolve around a straight drumbeat and bassline, with electric guitar solos that would make Jimmy Page green with envy. Amid all the sparkle and twang, one might miss the fact that Chatelain possesses one of the warmest and most genuine voices to be found, as evidenced on "What Would You Say To Me?" Those who have an open mind to hear new sounds from some of indie rock's icons are sure to fall in love with this record. — Louis Miller

JOEY RAMONE

Don't Worry About Me (Sanctuary)

Mourn him, praise him, love him and remember him, because the “King of Punk” is gone. He died with the history of New York rock n’ roll rumbling behind him, and a cry of “Hey ho, let’s go!” echoing from here to the moon. But lucky for us, music never dies. It still looks cool in a black leather jacket, and knows how to turn 11 short, sticky and infectious songs into universal gold. Don't Worry About Me, Joey Ramone’s posthumous solo album, doesn’t just carry the torch, it throws the damn thing into the air. From “What A Wonderful World”’s opening rally to the title track, Joey celebrates his life and influences with an optimism worthy of the album’s power-chord jubilation and ’60s girl-group cheer. “Stop Thinking About It” and “Venting” are classic Ramones rants — all stripped-down guitars, swaggering vocals and angst. Singalongs “I Got Knocked Down (But I’ll Get Up)” and “Maria Bartiromo” give testament to Joey’s illness and his crush on the investment news hottie. Joined by Marky Ramone and punk rock elite like the Misfits and Captain Sensible, Joey moans, “I want my life/ It really sucks,” referring to his illness. Hell, we want his life back, too. — Solvej Schou

SHEILA NICHOLLS

Wake (Hollywood–Essex Girl)

“This album is loosely based around the notion of faith,” Sheila Nicholls says of her sophomore long-player, Wake. “It’s about the troughs and peaks of having and not having it, what we choose to put in, why it doesn’t work and how vital it is to have it anyway.” The premise of faith is the pendulum of Wake’s internal clock, swaying consciously with Nicholls’ capability to evoke intimacy with her listeners through plenty of musical atmosphere and lyrical inquisitiveness. “Do you take rich drugs or poor drugs to hide your ache for something more?” she questions during the album’s Glen Ballard-produced opener, “How Strong.” While she’s not as candid as Ani DiFranco, Nicholls’ unrestrained assertiveness, both lyrically and vocally, is her strongest trait; listening to her album is almost like having a private conversation with the artist herself. At times, her melodies can be as radio-friendly as Sheryl Crow and, at other moments, she can be effectively coy, depending on the mood she’s trying to convey. Overall, Wake’s balance of strings and delicacies works, and Nicholls’ confidence as a singer-songwriter is undeniable. Spend some time with “How Strong,” “Won’t Get Lost In You,” “Faith,” “Bread And Water,” “Love Song” and “Ruby.” — Kevin Boyce

WEBCAST FEES SET

The Copyright Arbitration Royalty Panel's (CARP) recent establishment of royalty rates for broadcasters (commercial and non-commercial) who stream music online may be the final nail in the coffin of those broadcasters' future streaming plans. You'll recall that CARP was created to devise a royalty rate as part of 1998's Digital Millennium Copyright Act after broadcasters and webcasters could not come to terms with the record labels on just how much money should be forked over to the artists and labels. The bad news for commercial broadcasters who stream their signal over the Internet is that they'll pay 0.07 cents per performance (defined as "each instance in which any portion of a sound recording is publicly performed to a listener via a website transmission or retransmission"). "Incidental performances" — music used during commercials, 60 seconds or less, and music used as a bumper in and out of commercial breaks or program openings/closings — will be exempt from the fee. The 0.07 cents per performance fee also applies to webcasters like Yahoo and StreamAudio who retransmit terrestrial AM or FM broadcasts. The fee structure stiffens for Internet-only broadcasters, who will be charged 0.14 cents per performance. Royalty rates in the non-commercial world will be set at 0.02 cents per performance. All rates will be retroactive to October 28, 1998 and run through December 31, 2002. The U.S. Copyright Office will review the CARP report next and ask the Librarian of Congress to accept, reject or modify the proposed fee structure by this coming May 21. We'll keep you posted!

CONSUMERS WILLING TO PAY FOR STREAMING

According to a recently released joint study by Arbitron and Edison Media Research entitled Internet VIII: Advertising vs. Subscription — Which Streaming Model Will Win, approximately nine million Americans (four out of 10) say they "would be willing to pay a small fee for commercial-free content, high-quality audio or content they can't find anywhere else." ### CD SALES DOWN — BLAME BURNING

So, just who is to blame for the 4.7 percent decline in album sales in 2001—from $14.3 billion to $13.7 billion? If you pose that question to RIAA President Hilary Rosen she'll tell you, "The economy is slow, and 9/11 interrupted the fourth-quarter plans, but a large factor contributing to the decrease in overall shipments last year is online piracy and

CD burning. When 23 percent of the surveyed music consumers say they are not buying more music because they are downloading or copying music for free, we cannot ignore the impact on the marketplace. Warner Music Group Chairman/CEO Roger Ames recently told the New York Times that, "The downturn has been coming for sometime. We had been a twin-carrier market, cassettes and CDs. The erosion of cassette sales had been masked by the growth of CDs. Once CDs topped out, you had a fall."

A Q&A WITH EPIC'S CHERYL VALENTINE

Those who have had the satisfaction of meeting Epic Records' VP of Rock Radio Promotion Cheryl Valentine won't fail to remember the experience — or the sushi. Valentine has single-handedly turned countless members of the radio community into raw-fish enthusiasts and, in addition to inspiring major-market Program and Music Directors to swallow their first order of salmon roe, the charismatic record label vet has had a hand in breaking countless gold and platinum artists, including Everlast, KoRn, Incubus and Mudvayne.

She got her start right here at CMJ, as a co-coordinator of the Metal Marathon. Since leaving us in 1986 (damn you, Cheryl!), Valentine has held a number of promotion posts, including stints at Metal Blade, Relativity, Mercury, Tommy Boy and two tours of duty at Epic, one in the early '90s as the Senior Director of Artist Development, and currently as VP of Rock Radio Promotion.

"I worked my ass off the entire time because all I've ever wanted to do is break bands," she says. "I've gone from Metal Promotion to College Promotion to Marketing to Alternative, Modern AC, AAA and Rock Promotion. Now I'm able to concentrate on one format and really hone my skills."

CMJ recently caught up with Cheryl, who was nursing a broken leg (she still won't tell us how it happened), to discuss a smorgasbord of topics, including college radio's significance in 2002.

How important is college radio to Epic Records?

Ever since I've worked at Epic, they have always understood the importance of developing artists on an underground level in order to increase an artist's longevity. It's an integral part of artist development, much like touring and college marketing. Typically, artists who do more than merely provide entertainment are hailed in the college format.

Honestly, how much credence do you give to the statement that college radio remains vital to breaking new artists?

College radio has a difficult time connecting with its audience. Specialty radio is more readily able to connect because they are focused on just a couple of hours per day. New music lovers have

With what I know now, I would have a very focused playlist with a personality the listeners would expect for that type of music. It would be fun and upbeat, with a lot of contests and music and community-intensive events. You have to involve the community to be successful and listen to their wants and needs. The format would be what the campus wanted.

This goes against the grain of almost everything that it is about, but can college radio learn anything from commercial radio that would make for more compelling radio?

A narrow musical focus with strong personalities that fit that kind of music they're pimpin'. When it comes to programming, think focused and repetitive. You have to look at your station as if it were a marketable item that you are branding. Envision the merchandise that your station will spawn.

“College radio has to work in conjunction with college marketing for press, campus awareness and touring. Those three elements together can create a buzz, which you can compound into greater things.”

A.D.D. and need everything presented to them concisely. College alternative radio itself has difficulties selling CDs en masse due to its lack of focus. This excludes stations like WICB, WDBM and WSOU, for example. College radio has to work in conjunction with college marketing for press, campus awareness and touring. Those three elements together can create a buzz, which you can compound into greater things.

In your opinion, what are the good qualities of college radio?

Providing education for those people who want to enter the entertainment industry. You can be more of a screw-up without the repercussions you would have from doing that in a professional environment. It's a good teacher of time management as well.

What can be improved?

More people can use college radio as a platform to a professional career instead of playing records for themselves and friends. Learn, dammit!

Is there enough communication going on between the college radio community and the record community?

Not with all the cutbacks we've had over the years. Major labels, in particular, are more focused on the bottom line, much like the radio industry. We have to rely more and more on independent promotion companies to work the underground radio formats.

This is a hypothetical question. If you were back in college and hosting a show on the campus station, what would the format be and what would the show be like?

What should a jock or a programmer for a college radio station be doing if he or she is seriously considering a career at a commercial radio station?

They should be talking to their local commercial stations about internships. Then, go for the part-time gig, or whatever. Be in their face, be responsible and be personable. Start "workin' it" as a freshman and you should have a full-time gig when you get out.

What artists are you most excited about working in 2002?

All of them! We're working Dope, Incubus and Ozzy Osbourne right now with KoRn, Chevelle, Rage Against The Machine with Chris Cornell on deck. We'll also have new records from the Juliana Theory and Mudvayne, as well as new artists Vendetta Red and Orco. This is our year... big time!

Ozzy has bitten the head off a bird and pissed on the Alamo. Got any stories about him that top those?

Everyone will be able to see what it's like to hang out with him and his family by watching MTV's The Osbournes. It will be on Tuesday nights right after The Real World and it's hysterical! They are a riot to be around. If you've ever seen the VH1 Behind the Music on him, you already know that he snorted ants just to make a point with Mötley Crüe and that he bit the head off a dove during an Epic presentation. Don't get me wrong, he's nuts. He's also a war buff. What an interesting man.

What do you feel is the most satisfying project you've ever worked?

Everlast, KoRn, Incubus and Mudvayne. From the bottom all the way up, baby! NMR

34 SATELLITE

Stop (Hideaway Records)
It's a kick to watch the twang leak out of so many "alt-country" groups' sounds as a new strain of great pop songwriting usurps hipster appeal. To be fair, 34 Satellite has never been a mandolin-pluckin', Merle-lovin' alt-country outfit, but an underlying twang on 1999's Stars was enough to brand them as such, at least until further examination (or another album, say, 2000's transitional disc Radar). Stop, the Colorado rockers' third effort, is free of hickster residue; it's a power-pop platter crammed with singer/guitarist/songwriter Marc Benning's vibrant, invigorating rockers (of which there are many: the 'Mats-y "Getting High With A Stranger," "Get Out Alive," "Caroline," plus the pumping "There Is Gonna Be A Problem" and a sprinkling of wistful ballads ("Smoke From A Funeral," "Spaceman"). Benning infuses these tunes with a blue-collar literacy and melodic finesse for accessibility. Stop, as a title, is contradictory; 34 Satellite has just hit its stride.

ANTIBALAS AFROBEAT ORCHESTRA

Talkatif (Ninja Tune)
As if born to fill a void after the 1997 death of Nigerian superstar/Afrobeat king Fela Kuti, the massive groove outfit Antibalas Afrobeat Orchestra formed in Brooklyn in 1998 with members of retro-soul outfits Daktaris and Soul Providers. This second volume from Antibalas ("Bulletproof") follows in the footsteps of Liberation Afrobeat Vol. 1, unloading more dense African grooves, righteous horn charts and extended keyboard jams. Fela's hot-blooded Afrobeat is definitely the blueprint here, but with more than a dozen players (black, white and Latino) lending a voice to Antibalas, the surprising mix of African, Latin, jazz and soul influences keeps the sound of Talkatif current, if not evolutionary. There are also political echoes of Fela here; Antibalas tends to put its musical voice and muscle behind a number of liberal and grassroots causes. Even without lyrics, tracks like "War Is A Crime" make a statement. With bold horn harmonies and sax solos riding over the bubbling bass, it has the stirring quality of a struggling people's freedom anthem. — Steve Ciabattoni

BRICK LAYER CAKE

Whatchamacallit (Touch And Go)
Brick Layer Cake's only member Todd Trainer must have a sweet tooth. Not only is Cake part of the band's moniker, but it also pops up on a couple of tracks, "Icing On The Cake" and "Heaven To The Oven." This guy must be one hotshot baker — musically, if Whatchamacallit was a cake, it would be dense and oddly filling, like sawdust with a cherry filling, certainly not angel food or anything with lemon. Produced by Steve Albini in his self-built Electrical Audio Studios, he shepherds his Shellac bandmate (Trainer is the drummer) through a dark world of sludgy power riffs and abrasive slow jams. Guitars screech and moan like an alley cat in heat, while Trainer's lyrics and delivery are like a macabre carnival barker sampling too much of his own codeine cure-alls. His dirty old-man rant on "Icing On The Cake," with its ominous one-chord guitar strums, is downright creepy. Don't eat too close to bedtime; Brick Layer Cake is sure to induce nightmares. — Chris Larry

ELVI

Indestructible Suit (LCRC)
It's been quite a while since bands like Handsome, Quicksand and Helmet topped the college radio world with their stop-start, harmonically distorted riffing and gritty, soul-bearing compositions. But outta sight hardly means outta mind, since a whole generation of bands have been influenced by the aforementioned riff rockers. A band like the Elvi (think the plural form of "Elvis") has certainly taken inspiration from those bands, as evidenced by the sweaty, clanky, minimally produced Indestructible Suit. The album undoubtedly keeps the Helmet dream alive, injecting it with a goofy yet young 'n' hungry vibe. The Chicago-based foursome — decked out in black suits in the liner notes — employs kitschy lyrics, brimming with inside joke type of references that make you wonder just who ate a Southwestern Death Omelette or ordered X-ray specs from a catalog, all sung over spirited chords that would make any self-respecting punk rocker proud. Tense barnburners include "Emily, Let's Go," the title track and "Too Lame For TV." Proceed to rock out with your um, you-know-what, out.

GIANT SAND

Cover Magazine
(Thrill Jockey)

A covers record is often an easy target, especially when Black Sabbath's "Iron Man" is on the menu. Still, leave it to Giant Sand to deliver one so thoroughly above reproach. GS nucleus Howe Gelb, Joey Burns and John Convertino are joined by a Who's Who Of The Gifted And Talented (Grandaddy, PJ Harvey, Neko Case, Kelly Hogan, Jon Rauhouse, Kevin Salem) and together, they reconstruct a well-chosen set. Gelb and Harvey give X's "Johnny Hit And Run Pauline" a mostly acoustic makeover, while Sonny and Cher's "The Beat Goes On" is rendered twice, as a sultry six-minute treatment and a two-and-a-half-minute piano-and beer-bottle manifestation. "Iron Man" is dressed in lounge-y attire, nearly unrecognizable in its piano, trumpet and bathtub-drain instrumentation. Gelb even revisits his own "Blue Marble Girl" for nine minutes before getting to the true tribute: the late Rainer Ptacek, Gelb's friend and collaborator, is toasted with the psycho-country blues rendition of Harvey's "Plants And Rags" and a live cover of Ptacek's "The Inner Flame." Giant Sand: they do covers right.

DANIELLE HOWLE AND THE TANTRUMS

Skorborealis (Daemon)

Is Danielle Howle the folksy prodigy who serves as the Indigo Girls' stunning opening act? Or is she the wry indie-rock darling with releases on Simple Machines, Kill Rock Stars and Sub Pop? Skorborealis, the latest with her rock band, the Tantrums, revels in these split identities. Because Howle lacks the self-involvement that haunts many singer/songwriters, her folk sensibilities meld seamlessly with the album's sometimes twangy, sometimes distorted guitars. The strength of amusing songs like "Could Be Here," "Cut A Rug" and "Karaoke" could justify labeling her a female Jonathan Richman. But dig a little deeper and you'll find straight-up rock like "Subclassic" or a torch song like "Dark Like the Coat." One of Howle's best-known tunes, "Big Puffy Girl Handwriting" (first heard on Working Holiday Live) makes an appearance here, now reborn as a bouncy party song.

However, even a track this great gets overshadowed by all the country-tinged ear candy ("Let the Angels Commit") that makes Skorborealis such a sweet treat. — Amy Wan

MIRAH

Advisory Committee (K)

Though it sports an array of sounds wider than the eyes of its precocious, chanteuse/progenitor, the most delicious noise on Mirah's second K Records full-length is the din of realized potential. Advisory Committee expands the chutzpah and charm of Mirah's overlooked

2000 release, You Think It's Like This, But Really It's Like This, and the results are only occasionally short of breathtaking. Mirah's guitar-based tunes have the tenacity (and infectiousness) of tapeworms — yet they're welcome residents in the expansive gut that is the record's impeccable production (provided by Mirah and Microphones wunderkind Phil Elvrum). The album's first track, "Cold Cold Water," is a tumultuous dirge to polygamy, equally punctuated by shuffling polyrhythm, humongous tympanis and searing lyrical imagery. The song is not merely a masterpiece; it's a masterpiece with personality. Elsewhere, dulcet-voiced Mirah is a lo-fi Stacy Lattisaw on the funky "Recommendation," and a lovelorn curator through the stunning tour of "Mt. St. Helens." Whip-smart and consistently arresting, Advisory Committee is a spellbinding giggle in the face of the sophomore slump.

MOODROOM

Hung Up On Breathing
(FOWL)

What do an award-winning composer for television and film, would-be soccer pro, a First Class Petty Officer in the U.S. Coast Guard and a grad student all have in common? They are all members of the Washington, D.C.-based Moodroom. Fresh off the stage at the 2001 CMJ Marathon and riding high on the success of its two previous EPs, the band is ready for the release of its debut full-length, Hung Up On Breathing. A personal, insightful jigsaw puzzle of confessional lyrics and inner emotions, the album's lead single, "Loving," is about a relationship that's soured, its underlying resentment fueled by the frenetic chords of guitarist Gene Diotalevi. "Vibes" and "Declined" project the same post-breakup mentality yet are more melodic, radio-friendly tracks that probe the emotional revelations in any given relationship. Singer/songwriter Step Magro states, "When I write... it has to move me emotionally and intellectually." If only every singer had the same creative definition.

PLAYGROUP

Playgroup (Astralwerks)

It's Saturday night, and your cell is ringing off the hook with the burning question everyone wants to know, "Where's the party at?" You ring up Playgroup brainchild Trevor Jackson, the producer and remixer to Britain's dance elite, and his decisive answer is this debut disc. After years of playing hired gun to spice up the booty quota, Jackson re-emerges as Playgroup — a sparkling homage to both the '80s and to nightclub revelry. His unabashed disco-house invites a diverse cadre of allies in his quest to paint the town eternally red. Merrymakers like Shinehead and Edwyn Collins take part in the festivities, and a roller-skate jam by Le Tigre's Kathleen Hannah comes as a delicious left-field treat ("Bring It On"). While definitely rooted within the dancefloor, some tasty genre hopscotch takes place by throwing elements of punk, pop and reggae into the mix. For all your entertainment needs and then some, call up your friends and tell them that Playgroup's an instant party in a can.

SIX PARTS SEVEN

Things Shaped In Passing (Suicide Squeeze)

Dream if you can a courtyard, with oceans of violets in bloom... it's a wonder Prince hadn't heard Six Parts Seven as he penned the lyrics to "When Doves Cry." Because Things Shaped In Passing — which, as the title implies, operates in the boundary-free gauze of open air — really does sound, well, purple. From the uplifting, silken strains of percussion and nuzzling melodies on "Spaces Between Days" (Parts 3 and 4) to the meandering, playful swells of Eno-like proportions driving "Cold Things Never Catch Fire," 6P7 makes the heart burst with anticipation. Sometimes a band's musical vision is so pure, so whole, that it takes no words to convey a portrait like that Prince-ly garden estate. "Now Like Photographs" is full of spine-tingling fretwork that plunges down a Velvet Underground path before picking up a more ethereal, jazzy Western vibe; within the cycle of the song, it feels as if the band has encountered its own Vivaldi's Four Seasons, going from winter to summer in one fell swoop. Don't pass over Things Shaped In Passing.

TOWN AND COUNTRY

C'mon (Thrill Jockey)

As acoustic purists in the Chicago post-rock scene, Town And Country occupies a place far removed from the region's usual fare of technologically enhanced progressive soundscapes. Armed with upright bass, guitar, harmonium, coronet, clarinet and a healthy dose of chimes and bells, the quartet's often gorgeous and at times hypnotic ramblings also have noticeable roots in both the avant-garde and underground jazz scenes. C'mon sees the group moving away from the unnecessarily extensive exercises that plagued some of its earlier work, and instead features seven tight little packages that retain a loose, improvised feel and still contain enough direction to hold the listener's attention. Thick basslines create grooves akin to early Tortoise while heavily directing tracks like "Bookmobile," and "I Am So Very Cold," and the accompanying instrumental work is mellifluously ripe with chimes and other subtle contributions. Multiple listens will uncover endless new layers of sound on this unassuming but rewarding disc, and the fact that Town And Country creates its songs solely with beautifully natural timbres only makes the achievement more astounding.

FIVE QUESTIONS WITH... GARY MESKIL OF PRO-PAIN!

Since its debut, Foul Taste Of Freedom, in 1992, Pro-Pain has sold over 600,000 albums worldwide, played over 2,000 gigs, and released seven studio albums, including its latest ball-shriveling beast, Shreds Of Dignity. In a world of nü-metal crybabies, Pro-Pain has never strayed from being one of New York hardcore's meanest group of motherfuckas this side of the Hudson. The CMJ Loud Rock department recently chased down the band's founder, bassist and vocalist, Gary Meskil, to ask him five questions.

Shreds Of Dignity is Pro-Pain's seventh studio album. What's the secret to the band's longevity?

Viagra! We still enjoy playing our music. We love to tour and see our fans. It's something that we've never grown tired of. Once we do, we have to step back and question ourselves.

What's the story behind the title of the new album?

It has to do with the longevity of the band and how much we put into it. We're not a household name, we've never graced the cover of many magazines, but we continue to put out work that we're proud of.

Being a New York band, how much did the events of Sept. 11 influence the new album's direction and tone?

Sept. 11 had a lot to do with the demeanor of the record and its more aggressive tone. It's not something that we wanted to wear on our shirts — to say that this album has a lot to do with 9/11 — because there is only a certain percentage of material on the album that includes that as its theme and we certainly don't want to exploit the tragedy. I lost a close high-school friend that day. He was a Brooklyn fireman who was one of the first guys on the scene, so I felt like I had to include something on Shreds Of Dignity concerning that.

You know, collectively, I think the guys in Pro-Pain could fuck some shit up. I, for one, am never going to get mouthy at a Pro-Pain show. You guys ever have the desire to get a bunch of these nü-metal kids alone in an alley in Brooklyn and put some boots in their ass?

Yeah, that's one way to put it! I hate to look at kind of thing with a certain amount of resentment, because it's kind of like saying, 'Oh, the kids nowadays!' A lot of these bands are doing the same things and writing about the same stuff and it's turned into a big Hollywood scene. It's a little disheartening because heavy music, in general, has a lot of integrity and I never wanted to see it turn into a big assembly line of bands that changed their style yesterday in an effort to be like the few successful bands that have come to the forefront of that genre.

What does the future hold for Pro-Pain?

Touring in Europe in April and May, then in the United States for the rest of May and June. Pro-Pain will continue doing what we're doing and write more good, heavy music.

We look forward to it!

HATEBREED

Perseverance (Universal)
Nü-metal, your destroyer has arrived (no, it's not the Stay-Puff marshmallow man) and its name is Hatebreed. As far as we're concerned, the voting booths are closed; 2002's Loud Rock Album Of The Year is Perseverance. Since the 1997 release of its full-length debut, Satisfaction Is The Death Of Desire, Hatebreed has toured with an almost unhuman level of dedication, logging countless shows over the past five years. Anyone who has seen this five-piece perform will testify that its strength is incontestable. On Perseverance, the musical and lyrical ferociousness that Hatebreed has refined since its debut convulses with the energy of fracturing tectonic plates. Sure, this album's heavyweight guitar riffs and jackhammer timing will shake listener's bones to the point of splintering, but it is lyrically where Perseverance truly shines. Each song's rousing wordplay — sans pretension and budding with realism that erupts only from one's soul — has the ability to connect with listeners on a level that most Loud Rock bands only dream of. In short, Perseverance should be in every Hardcore/Loud Rock fan's CD library. Check out "I Will Be Heard," "Proven," "You're Never Alone," "A Call For Blood," "Unloved," "Hallow Ground," "Healing To Suffer Again" and the title track.

HYPOCRISY

Catch 22 (Nuclear Blast)
Piloted by singer/guitarist/producer Peter Tägtgren (who has also produced Dimmu Borgir, Immortal and Marduk, among others), Hypocrisy has certainly come a long way since arising in 1990 and releasing its debut, Penetralia, in 1992. Through lineup changes — the band was a five-piece at the beginning of its career, but has remained a trio since 1993 — and a short-lived breakup after the release of its extraordinary 1997 album, The Final Chapter, Hypocrisy remains a Loud Rock favorite... and rightfully so. On Catch 22, the band finds a comfortable balance between its musical origins and the integration of some new elements into its signature sting that's sure to attract fans old and new. Even though there are F-bombs dropping left and right during the song, we find it hard not to put the CD in and go right to track six, "Turn The Page." We also think you'll slap yourself silly while listening to "Don't Judge Me," "Destroyed," "A Public Puppet," "Hatred," "Another Dead End (For Another Dead Man)" and "Uncontrolled."

APEX THEORY

Topsy-Turvy (DreamWorks)
Damn you, Mike Patton! From Incubus to Dog Fashion Disco, it's hard not to hear the influence of that trendsetting vocalist — best known for his stint with now-defunct Faith No More — stamped all over a huge segment of current rock artists. Topsy-Turvy, the Don Gilmore-produced (Linkin Park) full-length debut from L.A.'s Apex Theory, is an album that may remind listeners of the aforementioned singer's best commercial work, but (like Incubus) Apex Theory takes Patton's ball and runs with it in its own direction. The result is one hell of a catchy rock record. Fueled by the warm reception it has been receiving from commercial-rock radio for its single "Shhh... (Hope Diggy)," this band will be one to watch in 2002.

UNDEROATH

The Changing Of Times (Solid State)

With a new lineup in place, Underoath's sound has progressed in a striking direction. On its third album, The Changing Of Times, this Florida-based band has tweaked its spiritual-leaning (they are devoted Christians) metal/emo-hardcore sound by incorporating numerous melodic elements, à la indie rock, while downplaying the black metal components of its past. And, even though Underoath has smoothed out some of its harder edges, it doesn't derail the fact that The Changing Of Times is a brilliant leap forward by one of Loud Rock's most promising acts. Fans of Poison The Well's Tear From The Red will feel right at home here. "Letting Go Of Tonight," "A Message For Adrienne," "Never Meant To Break Your Heart," "Short Of Daybreak" and "When The Sun Sleeps" are all good places to start.

just have to say... the Grammys suck. We all know this — it's hardly an earth-shattering development, but the representation of hip-hop at the awards ceremony was definitely weak. Producer Of The Year, Non-Classical nominees included T-Bone Burnett (who walked away with the award), Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis, Dr. Dre, Gerald Eaton and Brian West, and Nigel Godrich. Where are the Neptunes? Where's Timbaland? In addition, the lines between "Rap" and "R&B" need to be more defined. Missy Elliot's "Get Ur Freak On" is R&B? The song was nominated for Best R&B Song and Best Rap Solo Performance; I'm confused. The highlight of the night — I turned it on halfway through the ceremony and knew immediately that I didn't miss anything — was definitely the pink jumpsuit Dre had on (not to mention the platinum wig). In his acceptance speech for Outkast's Best Rap Album award for last year's Stankonia, Dre mentioned a new Outkast clothing line. I can't wait to see folks all decked out in jumpsuits and wigs! Of every color! Outkast won for Best Rap Performance By A Duo Or Group. I noticed that as they were announcing the nominees for Best Rap Album, they had the album cover wrong. Instead of showing Stankonia, the morons running the show put up a graphic of Big Boi And Dre Present... Outkast. D'OH! India.Arie was nominated seven times and didn't win shit; they could've at least thrown a sister a bone. Alicia Keys pulled down five awards (out of the six she was nominated for — Clive Davis did have the last word, after all). Yes, the album was good, but I can't help thinking that it was a classic Grammy move by picking the safe, obvious choice. • I heard through the grapevine that Epic will soon be releasing Ghostface Killah's Greatest Hits... and you know what that probably means: see ya, 'Face! Epic just loves throwing out those GH albums right before cutting all ties with an artist. Word has it that Busta's been trying to get the elusive Mr. Ghost to sign with J Records. Clive Davis is really building himself an impressive roster of "urban" and new artists who win lots of Grammys. I can't help picturing him behind a huge desk laughing his ass off. Not bad for an old guy. • Slum Village has just been signed to Priority. Go, Mr. Pete! This guy should get on the cover of a magazine for that shit (ahem). Also expect a new Dilated 12-inch in the future, along with a new Snoop Dogg album, which may feature collaborations with Timbaland and the king of hooking up with movers and (rump) shakers, Ja Rule. Big Moe's "Purple Stuff" (a Springtime "must" for all those down South DJs) will be impacting April 23, and Rasco will have a new album coming out this summer as well. • Bay Area trio Illa-dapted will drop its sophomore release, Youthful Indecretion, this April on ABB Records. • The third annual "Hip-Hop As A Movement" conference will take place April 19–21 on the University of Wisconsin–Madison campus. Panelists will include Fred Hampton, Jr. Spragga Benz and Davey D. For more info, check out the website: www.hiphop-generation.org. • Madlib of Lootpack has been a remixing machine recently. Look for his versions of Jurassic-5's "The Influence" and "Jurass Finish First," Zero 7's "Distractions" and Glenn Lewis' "Don't You Forget It." • I recently went to a listening party at Karma for the new High Times Records' debut, THC, due out April 23. (How could I not!) These folks definitely know what they're doing with this CD because, halfway through the very, uh, atmospheric evening, most folks had settled into chairs, conversation was at a minimum and the head-nodding was at an all time high. Ah, good times, good times. I'm sensing a theme to this week's column — High Times party, Herbaliser and High & Mighty reviews... hmmm.

THE HERBALISER

Something Wicked This Way Comes (Ninja Tune)

The Herbaliser (a.k.a. Jake Wherry and Ollie Teeba) creates a veritable multi-faceted imaginary world with this new musical treasure trove. From the opening track's haunting vocals by Seaming To (which sometimes sound like someone playing a saw) to the bluesy, instrumental "Unsung song," the album plays like a soundtrack to Alice In Wonderland featuring an Alice on large amounts of drugs. The album's first single, "Verbal Anime" (featuring Iriscience of Dilated) includes samples from old Hanna-Barbera cartoons (Auggie Doggie? Yogi? Is that you?). "Time 2 Build" (featuring Blade) has an updated Eric B and Rakim feel, while "24 Caret Blag" sounds straight out of a blaxploitation film. MF Doom appears on "It Ain't Nuttin'," a straight hip-hop track destined to be the next single, although this album is meant to be listened to from start to finish as a whole entity. Elements of funk, jazz, acoustic guitar, orchestra, percussion are scattered throughout the album, rendering each song a unique gem, different from the next and the one before. A personal fave is the brilliant "Battle Of Bongo Hill," a b-boy track that just gets better listen after listen. Feeling a little wicked? Slip it in and enjoy the ride.

HIGH AND MIGHTY

Air Force One EP (Landspeed)

High And Mighty (Mr. Eon and DJ Mighty Mi) are originally from Philly, and currently hail from NYC. These are the guys behind the Eastern Conference label and subsequently, the Eastern Conference All-Stars Pt. II compilation, so it's pretty much a given they know their shit.

This 10-track EP features Mobb Deep's Havoc, Copywrite, Cage and RA the Rugged Man as well as production by Reef, J-Zone and Ayatollah but these guys do great work without any help from their friends. In fact, the tracks that really stand out are the ones the guys did on their own. Eon's gruff, throaty voice matches well with the playfulness of Mighty Mi's production. The dreamy, smoked-out groove of "Mighty Mi" is a nice contrast to lo-fi old-school vibe of "Illadel." Mighty Mi definitely pays tribute to the skills of DJ — scratching, sampling, beat juggling, all the elements are here. This guy's done his homework and it pays off. Not one throwaway track on this offering, which proves that a couple of white boys from Philly can get it done right.

5 CURRENT FAVORITES

Throbbing Gristle D.O.A. The Third And Final Report Of Throbbing Gristle • Arbus Vice-President Of The Johnny Eck Fancub! • Zealous Fuel The Unknown Label • Blitzkid Let Flowers Die • Little Brother Acquaintances Volume 1

How many watts is your station? How many people do you reach?

15,000 watts, broadcasting to a portion of five states: Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, and North Carolina — plus, we webcast. We're not a college station, but a community station. I didn't want to quit radio when I graduated, so here I am.

What's the station motto/your personal programming philosophy?

"Turning your cobwebs into golden fleece," though my philosophy is more like, "Fuck," and then me laughing because I said "fuck."

What do you do to build your station's audience?

I sleep with most of them. It's a dirty job, because a lot of our listeners are totally fat.

What was your most successful fundraiser? How much money do you raise on average?

We're a community station, so we have to raise most of our budget. We do two on-air fundraisers a year that average about $30,000. But, in my opinion, the most successful fundraiser we had was when we got little Timmy a new liver.

Who are you most proud of bringing to the station to perform and why?

That would have to be the time the mystical supra-genius Tapeworm Love visited and said "fuck" on live radio and then immediately said, "WMMT regrets the accidental broadcast of any material that may be considered indecent."

Are you on the air? What kind of show do you do?

I do three shows: "Man And His Symbols," which is political commentary, industrial, metal, and punk; "Electronic Histrionics," which is IDM, EBM, progressive house and a little gabber; and "The Shape of Jazz to Come," which is jazz.

Have you ever had sex (or done something equally as naughty) in the booth?

Oh, yes. There is a lot of Lewinsky space underneath the control board. For discretion's sake, I will say no more, except that Brenda was great!

What's the best promo item you've ever received?

The best would have to be the promo syringe full of heroin that I got for a Ministry record, and the worst would have to be the O.D. I got from that.

What's the best use for a CD other than for storing music?

I shove them up my ass and slide across the floor. It's totally fun.

Napster: yea or nay?

Napster provided the service that radio and MTV used to provide: a selection of music that you could discover and then go out and get. I hate corporate music. I like that porno Napster. What's that called? I can't remember, but it's awesome.

Name one CD you're embarrassed to say you own.

I'm not embarrassed by any of them, but I think I'm supposed to be embarrassed about my complete library of Cinderella CDs. But fuck that! They were mis-marketed! They weren't hair metal, they were a blues-soaked rock 'n' roll band. Plus, they swung their guitars and never missed a beat. You try to synchronize three guitars in a swing. It's hard.

Why did you go into college radio?

Having control of a club budget allowed me to get the college to pay for me and all of my friends to drink.

Every station has that one old dude from the local town that's been doing a show since anyone can remember. Who is it at your station, what kind of show do they do, and what's their deal?

Rockin' Marvin does "Rockin' Marvin's Atomic Fireball Hour," which plays old rock and roll. Marvin is older than God and likes to pinch girls' asses. He rules.

If you could see anyone live (dead or living), who would it be and why?

Andy Gibb, so I could kill him again. Or maybe Corey Feldman's band.

Are you interested in going into the music industry? Doing what?

Well, I'm pretty good at being a giant whore, so I suppose I could do anything.

What's your favorite Behind The Music episode?

As if that's a question! Journey, of course.

Any shoutouts?

Yeah, to all the people at my old college station, WQFS 90.9 FM in Greensboro, particularly Mad Dog and whoever did naughty things with me in the booth while I was there.

COPE WITH IT

With all the recent brouhaha regarding exclusives and unfairness on the sales playing field, I thought it would be important to point out what our friends at Sony have done with the current release and celebration of Rock 'N Roll Hall of Famer Johnny Cash, whose early Sun Records defined the roots of rock. If you have any doubt, find a copy of The Million Dollar Quartet featuring Mr. Cash, Carl Perkins, Jerry Lee Lewis and Elvis Presley. I believe you could call that the first “super group” in rock music—but I digress, so back to Sony.

In celebration of Johnny Cash's 70th trip around the sun, Columbia/Legacy has released The Essential Johnny Cash, a package that includes 30 tracks. Yes, there have been the usual direct TV campaigns, along with promotions at the major accounts, but one thing really stands out here: Sony's commitment from the beginning to draw the independent retailer into the mix by giving them the support and tools they need, helped turn this re-packaging of previously released material into a vital piece of new music available for, and marketed to, the young hip buyer. And it has worked!

The plan to draw in the independent community started with Sony's Josh Rosenthal and his staff of “Kids With Initials” (as CIMS President, Don Van Cleave, calls them) setting up this record properly and in advance. They took advantage of the various programs offered by both coalition and non-coalition stores using Sony's Independent Retail Directory to involve as many independent stores as possible. The result? Last week The Essential Johnny Cash exploded onto the CMJ Top 100 Sales chart leaping from No. 86* to No. 45* and holds a second week in the top 60; it also jumped from No. 6* to No. 2* on the Top 20 In Store Play chart this week. Congratulations to Josh and his staff for not only giving Johnny the respect he deserves, but for recognizing and understanding the role independent retail plays in the big picture (and life) of an artist and his/her body of work.

Things to put your ears to this week are two labels out of Georgia. The first is Terminus, who just released a wonderful album by Precious Bryant called Fool Me Good (distributed by Rykodisc). Precious is the real deal — recorded the whole album live with no overdubs. The second is Rattlesby Records (distributed by Southwest Wholesale) and their debut release of Georgia locals, Janah's World That Surrounds You ranges from Afro-Celt Sound System to Peter Gabriel and U2—and I hear they rock live. Check them out at rattlesby.com (the band at janah.org). Last but not least is Gomez's In Our Gun. With the recent troubles and changes at Virgin, one can only hope this band gets the support it deserves for their great new album. If you can see Gomez live, do it, you'll be a better person for the experience.

Peace, Cope.

SPEAK OUT

CARRIE COLLITON Music Monitor Network Raleigh, NC

After reading CMJ Retail's call to arms for Josh Clayton-Felt (NMR issue 751) the Music Monitor Network responded immediately.

Recently, we at The Music Monitor Network donated space in two of our marketing programs (Monitor This! CD sampler; Lightbox) to Josh Clayton-Felt's Spirit Touches Ground. Yes, his story is a sad one, heartbreaking, but let's be honest: artists get battered around this industry and albums fall through the cracks all the time. Why should we step up for this one?

A lot has to do with Josh, of course, a guy who just wanted to make music and share it with anyone willing to listen. He didn't care about spins, counter placement, stadium dates—all of which seems to be increasingly and so much more exhaustingly important in the day-to-day of what we do. Josh fought to get his music out there, because for him it was the only thing to do. His family and friends continue — and though as healing as this may be, it must be a painful reminder of what they've lost. But for them, it is the only thing to do.

When I asked Network members about this donation, the “yes” was immediate (as I knew it would be). I have never met an indie retailer who got into this to make money, and enough of them are still so joyfully fanatical about music that I'm never depressed about the industry for long. Yes, we do the wheeling, dealing, decision-making it takes to stay in business, but almost all Network members have a “give back” attitude, if not an actual policy. Our markets may be big, but we're still neighborhood folks.

The Network's marketing programs work, we all know that. They get the word out. They sell units. But when the artist, the project, the music and the team are all coming from such a pure place, and for such good reasons, it is breathtakingly easy to decide to join in. For us, with Josh Clayton-Felt, it was simply the only thing to do.

She recently finished playing several dates supporting The Blind Boys of Alabama and David Lindley. Watch for Precious at festivals throughout summer 2002.	You need to see these guys live — they are amazing. They'll be coming to the U.S. this summer/fall. Doing extensive touring in the U.K. to support the U.K. release of Gun this spring. Stay tuned — we'll keep you posted.	In-stores helping kick things off at Looney Tunes March 29 (hometown), Manifest (March 23) and at Plan 9 in Richmond, VA (March 24). TBS will be doing all three weeks of the Victory Records Tour which starts March 15 at Emo's at SXSW.
internet	Sony started with lifestyle, PP and Jason fan sites to initiate online grass roots campaign. Phantomplanet.com best site for streaming tracks, videos, and to catch phone-ins from the band. Over 20k signed to fan email list. AOL, MSN, Yahoo, MTV all getting behind Guest online.	Check out terminusrecords.com for bios, pics and streaming audio. Musicmaker.org includes a bunch of info on Precious and other blues artists. There is a four and a half star review of Fool at Allmusic.com. Fool is also included on Amazon.com's blues page and as part of a "Past Buyer" emailing.	Best site for Gomez info is Gomez.co.uk. Scott Perry new media campaign throughout CIMS planned for this month. Tentative listening party at AOL upcoming as well (check Gomez site for details). New facelift for U.S. site will launch around street at freegomez.com.	Victoryrecords.com has MP3 of "Cute" that's getting tons of downloads. Last sold out show, crowd new all the words. Banner ads at all the punk and emo sites. TBS Yahoo club size doubled in last two weeks. MP3.com email blasts throughout March. Great contest now at makeoutclub.com.
notes	In-stores at Fingerprints Long Beach (95 sold) and Rhino Claremont (85) added to an amazing week of in-store/campus shows. List is $13.99 with an initial run including a bonus box with extra live tracks. National staff of college reps very aggressive setting up listening parties and hitting competitive shows in order to drive traffic into stores.	We just love this lady, and this long overdue debut is an important record—passionate, raw, intimate, one of the best to play this kind of blues. "Don't Mess Up A Good Thing" is included on the latest CMJ Certain Damage sampler. For more info contact: info@terminusrecords.com.	Truth be told? Whatever Virgin's current challenges (real and/or perceived), we and Virgin love this record and we want to do whatever we can to support it here at CMJ Retail. Play this thing in-store and it will turn heads — and sell.	Ask Victory's Angel what the plan is and he'll tell you: "To do everything they've done with Thursday, only twice (and hopefully within half the time)!" TBS are selling out all their merch at shows. Band ready and available for in-stores too. For displays, posters, buy-a-cd-get-a-poster promos, etc. Angel can hook you up (angel@victoryrecords.com).

visited Kief's for the first time in 1983 on a road trip that included a stop at Lawrence, Kansas' KJHK. At the time, I was working for A&M Records as "the oldest college rep. in the industry." That day I made an important music connection with a guy named Steve Wilson (we'll get to him in a second).

Forty-three years ago in 1959, John Kiefer was frustrated by his inability to find his favorite music. The snooty, well-established shop in Lawrence didn't carry Toussaint McCall or Jimmy Reed. So assuming there were others similarly confounded, John adapted and started rack-servicing regional department stores. Consequently, Kief ended up getting a better price. So John reinvested the proceeds into store inventory. He also expanded into stereo equipment/ home entertainment sales and custom installations (which is where the money is now). Kief's now has a mobile sound division too. Music, though, is still a priority and they sell a lot of it at both the main location and at Kief's Downtown Music, which opened in 1998.

Now back to Steve Wilson, who came aboard in December 1973. Steve expanded inventory and worked hard to make Kief's an even greater music store; after all, despite all their growth, music was where it all began. Steve is Kief's buyer, manager, ad-domo, and psychotherapist — and he has a great crew around him. There is Deb Werts, who has run the office for twenty-five years, and at the downtown store there is manager, Mark Roseberry. Kief's has the coolest selection around with the friendliest, most knowledgeable people in town. This is what keeps the regulars returning and making new converts. Who could ask for more? (Sure, Steve could wish new product had close to half the margin their used business does, but hey, then he'd be in another business).

Steve doesn't get enough music at work, so he gets a double dose from his band, The Mahoots (an Indian word for "elephant driver"). Look for a new Mahoots release soon. (Hey A&R guys wake up — more great bands coming from the heartland!)

Programs? Sure, they've got them all: LP, P&P, radio, television and print advertising. Basically, they're ready to listen to any label/distributor with good ideas for promoting product. Kief's tries to be especially accommodating to indie labels, particularly if they're doing well with some of their releases. Check for media and prices at www.cimsmusic.com.

CMJ Q&A with Steve Wilson

All-time favorite album?

Uh, okay, the frickin' Beatles. How 'bout the White Album? Sometimes, though, I just have to hear the New York Dolls' debut.

All-time favorite B-side?

How retro! Was Dylan's "Can You Please Crawl Out Your Window" a b-side?

First record bought? Where?

My first real album purchase was the Beatles' Songs, Pictures on Veejay (an American bastardization of the UK debut record). I bought it at Woolworth's in Lawrence, Kansas.

Favorite Weekend Party Disc?

The Hearbreakers' l.a.m.f. or any good New Orleans compilation. There's also a really good import called Saturday Night Fish Fry.

Favorite Sunday morning disc?

Velvet Underground's Sunday Morning; or Van Morrison's Astral Weeks.

First Concert? Where? When?

Believe it or not, The Doors in Santa Barbara, Louisiana at the Playa Stadium, 1968.

Best concert ever attended?

Out of a few thousand? Stones' Exile tour in Kansas City, 1972. Or, Dylan's Rolling Thunder Revue in Wichita, 1976. Most recently? Guided By Voices and the Strokes on December 30, 2001 at the Apollo. That was a cool show.

What artist (past or present) would you like to see live?

Beatles.

Currently reading?

John Berger's The Shape of a Pocket; before that, Darcy Steinke's Jesus Saves; before that, Nina Antonia's Johnny Thunders biography, In Cold Blood.

What do you collect?

Dust.

NEWSWORTHY

FROM THE COALITION OF INDEPENDENT MUSIC STORES:

Over the past several years, the recording industry has seen an ever-increasing incidence of exclusionary practices in the issue of new CDs. This results in certain accounts getting exclusive access to a superior version of a new release that other stores cannot access. The practice of producing these superior versions of important artists' new releases causes disruption in the marketplace and leads to confused and alienated consumers. We believe the solution is to offer the exact same versions to all retailers and all retail channels with no exceptions.

Accounts that do not get the superior version have documented a noticeable decline in sales during the time that these superior versions are available (the crucial first two weeks of a release). This is due to customers shifting their buying to the retailer offering the superior version. And although this practice is inherently unfair and puts most retailers at a disadvantage in selling new releases, there is another factor that actually compounds the problem and makes it worse. Currently, accounts are not notified at the time of solicitation that a superior version is available to "select" retailers or retail channels.

To mitigate the harm done by this exclusionary practice, we demand that notification of superior product must be listed on the one-sheet at the time of solicitation. Otherwise, we are not being given the full information we need to make intelligent buying decisions.

If such advance notice is not provided in writing, we assert our right to return all inferior versions of the product immediately. We expect to be credited fully and immediately, without otherwise-applicable return restrictions or penalties, freight charges, or any other "disincentives" (by whatever name) that result in additional financial loss to the accounts that return product for this reason.

To put it simply, we are hereby advising all vendors that as a condition/term of purchase, we expect that there will not be premium versions of the products we purchase offered to others unless we are so notified in advance or at the time of our order. If we are not so notified, the terms of return are as stated above.

INDEPENDENT RETAILERS SHARED POSITION ON SUPERIOR VS. INFERIOR CDs/DVDs

Recently, select labels have begun creating superior new release packages (i.e. CD/DVD releases with added tracks/enhanced content, or the ability to sell before street date) for a select group of retailers, while offering other retailers inferior versions of the same release. We believe that this type of exclusivity is damaging to our relationship with our customer base and with the offending label's distributor. Further, we find that this practice is anti-competitive, unfair, and may be illegal. It is our feeling that it is a direct contributor to the shift in business as a whole.

Many in our industry now openly acknowledge the drop in overall national music sales due to the explosion of CD burning and Internet piracy. We also believe the offering of "superior" CD versions to one group of retailers while offering "inferior" versions to others is also a contributing factor, and restricting competition. Recent Soundscan information illustrates this point in black and white:

Sales of CDs and DVDs through mass merchants are up. Sales of the same product through music retailers are down. Sales of music product overall are down.

The evidence is right before our eyes that this exclusionary practice is causing disruptions within the marketplace, is unacceptable, anti-competitive, and must stop. All retailers should be treated equally and offered the same quality lines of product, whether it be CDs or DVDs. To this end, we are simply asking the following:

That all retailers have the ability to buy the same product at the same price. That when this type of exclusivity occurs, labels acknowledge the harm done to both retailers and distributors and send proper notification two weeks before orders are due so the retailer and distributor can make adjustments to orders on the inferior versions.

As retailers, each of us will support all labels that do not violate fair trade practices, treat all retailers equally, and allow them to sell the same products to their customers. This group of labels will be treated as true partners and will continue to enjoy the excellent business relationship we've shared for decades.

Labels that continue to offer superior/enhanced product to an exclusive group of retailers can expect less from each of us. Reserving at all times the right to act individually, in our own independent interests, as circumstances dictate, each of the undersigned independent retailers will keep any specific agreement we make with you on marketing individual releases but will severely limit support of your roster of bands beyond this specific marketing agreement. This limitation would include the lack of any in-store promotion for established or developing artists who are not part of a specific, agreed upon marketing plan.

Those of us who are music retailers are doing our part every day to encourage the growth of not only our own individual businesses, but the industry as a whole. We hope that you will take our concerns seriously, listen to our request, and join us in our effort.
