The Demand For Superstars: Escalation Of Signing Costs

Is the era of big artist deals at an end? Think carefully about the answer. The key word, of course, is "artist." Does the question involve an established act or a newcomer? Let's take the latter area first.

It's certainly true that labels are taking a hard look at big financial commitments to new acts. The odds have gone haywire against major newcomer success. It's also a question—at this point in time, at least—of the energy crisis. Because of it, the word has already gone out that one of the casualties of the vinyl shortage or the rate of inflation is a lessening (for better or worse) of going along with lots of new acts in hopes that one will stick.

This brings us to the established stars. If major labels are to compete effectively in view of an unwillingness to try too many new attractions in the marketplace, it stands to reason that they will seek out those with a strong track record. And this is what seems to be happening. We know that a number of major deals are in the works to lure some superstars from their current label affiliations. Today's current economics or no, acts that do move on to new label associations will be enticed with lucrative financial deals that will no doubt take the rate of inflation into account. [We realize that artist "unhappiness" that may have little to do with money may force a change, but money is still number 1 on the Top 10 listings of reasons why key artists leave labels.]

Thus, we believe there's going to be a lot of musical chairs in the future with regard to label rosters. And labels that want to keep a super act are just going to have to come up with ante that tickles the hearts of the artist, their managers and/or business agents or lawyers.

In any era there is a considerable movement of artists of stature from one label entity to another. This movement will be intensified, and rather than leading to what has been seen as a cut in large outlays for talent, the direction may actually mean greater artist signing costs. This would be true even with the elimination of what have been accurately described as "outlandish" deals for the so-called "promising act." Obviously, an escalation in getting the "heavies" requires careful study in the economics of it all. This is hardly the end of the era in big artist deals—especially when the artist commands a commanding position in the marketplace.

DID YOU READ WHAT CASH BOX SAID ABOUT THE NEWEST RELEASE OF ONE OF THE ALL-TIME ROCK 'N' ROLL CLASSICS?

BUBBLEROCK (UK 49020)
(I Can't Get No) Satisfaction

The first spin will turn heads and probably bring about a few groans in the process. But don't let that first time around dictate final feelings. Listen again. You'll like it. A few more spins, and you'll be in love with it. Great arrangement that builds in intensity from start to finish. Although nothing like the original and almost impossible to realistically describe, this one will be an out and out smash!

NEWCOMER PICKS, CASH BOX, 2/9/74

WELL, NOW THE TRUTH ABOUT THE ARTIST ON THE NEWEST RELEASE OF ONE OF THE ALL-TIME ROCK 'N' ROLL CLASSICS CAN BE TOLD.

"Bubblerock" is another pseudonym for one of the most clever talents in music. None other than Jonathan King. And "Satisfaction" is only one of the classic spoofs from an album called "BUBBLEROCK IS HERE TO STAY." (UKS 53101)

NY Times Music/ Metromedia Prod. Ties On Music

NEW YORK — Murray Deutch, president of the New York Times Music Publishing Corp., has established a long-term, co-publishing and administration agreement with Metromedia, Inc. covering music composed, scored and featured in future Metromedia Producers Corp. television and feature film productions.

The New York Times Music Publishing Corp. recently purchased the assets of the music publishing companies of Metromedia, Inc.

Formed in September, 1973, the New York Times Music Publishing Corp. is seeking to acquire existing song catalogues, to sign composers in the popular music field (including theatre, films and television) with special emphasis on composers who are also top performers, and to manage and promote existing song catalogues.

Deutch, a former general professional manager of Southern Music and president of United Artists Music, commented, "The marriage of television and film music interests with one of the great catalogs of contemporary theatre music, is a significant step forward for the New York Times Music Publishing Corp."

FRONT COVER:

One of the most celebrated groups to emerge from England in the late '60s, Emerson, Lake, and Palmer, have justified their early rave notices with solid yet innovative performances (both live and on record), and now rate as one of the supergroups on the rock scene today. While concentrating on consistently improving their music, Keith (Emmerson), Gregg (Lake), and Carl (Palmer) have put together one of the most attractive theatrical stage shows in the business.

Obviously ELP's style has caught on in a big way. With total sales of their 5 gold LP's estimated at over 10 million worldwide, the three talented musicians have established their own label through Atlantic, Mantecore Records, which is actively developing new artists under the direction of the group and label president, Mario Medias. ELP's heralded U.S. tour, which took them to major halls across the country, drew packed houses at every stop and demands for them to return again soon. With so much happening for them, ELP, superstars already, are still improving constantly.

UK Labels Try To Work Around Energy Crisis; Needs Are Met

LONDON — With Britain in the depths of an economic crisis and a miners dispute coupled with the acute vinyl shortage, record companies have begun to minimize their releases after the Christmas period. Although there is a worldwide shortage of vinyl, in Britain the primary problem is the cut back on the usage of electricity. EMI's Uxbridge Road Factory is now on a three day week inasmuch as presses are run for three days only although the factory uses the other days for non electricity consuming processes. At the moment EMI is running at sixty to seventy per cent of normal production but to offset some of the demand it's importing records from Holland and other European factories as well as small amounts from the States.

Coupled with this as EMI's distribution service relies to a certain extent on train services, the railway driver's go-slow for the past few weeks has delayed delivery even further. At the moment, EMI's vinyl supply has been consistent and it has a good stockpile. EMI released 10 singles fewer than Jan. 1973 and fewer albums, also, but this is probably not the picture for the rest of the year as it is hoped that production will increase.

Sir Edward Lewis, chairman of Decca, installed generators before the power crisis at a cost of over £250,000 so Decca is running at full production on a five-day week. Decca's vinyl stocks are low but it has companies.

The CBS factory is running on a three day week from the national grid and open half the factory for the rest of the week running off their own generator. The label will soon install more generators when it is hoped that production will be near normal.

RCA is meeting production by importing from RCA factories in America, Canada and France. For January the firm reported a very good month for sales and so far has not had a problem of low stocks. RCA's factory

Rock 'Prayer' To A&M On A Global Basis

HOLLYWOOD — Due to the "unprecedented response" to the rock version of The Lord's Prayer by Sister Janet Mead, an Australian nun, A&M Records has acquired worldwide rights to the song and plans a major push on the single in the United States. The single broke onto the Cash Box Top 100 at 85 bullet this week.

The only exception to this acquisition will be in New Zealand and Australia where Festival Records will continue to control all rights to the record. Festival Records originally released "The Lord's Prayer" in these countries several months ago.

With sales reportedly over a half million units in the U.S. during the last three weeks, the controversial single is receiving strong reaction wherever it is played. "The Lord's Prayer" was first played by KMPC in Los Angeles, where it received hundreds of calls during the first few hours of play. "The Lord's Prayer" is being played on major stations throughout the country with a similar reaction being reported by the stations, according to A&M.

The rock version of "The Lord's Prayer" is not the first innovation by Sister Janet Mead. She received a great deal of publicity in Australia when she began to hold rock masses on Sunday at the Adelaide Conservatorium in Australia. These masses soon began to draw thousands of people of all ages. The Australian Broadcasting Corporation is currently planning a production of the rock mass for television.

is on a three day week but this is offset by importation.

Pye Records' Mitcham factory has a generator to supply partial power on days when electricity cannot be used and the firm is running at around eighty five per cent normal production. The tape factory at Chadwell Heath has a generator to keep the factory running on a normal five day week so production is not affected. To offset any production loss on records Pye is importing from Europe.

ICI, the suppliers of vinyl in this country, say that the shortage is due to an overwhelming demand in 1973 when supplies of plastic went up by thirty per cent and now there aren't enough factories in the world to meet the demand. Suppliers are loath to set up new factories because of the capital needed in such economically precarious times. Suppliers on the continent have raised their prices so English companies will have to pay more for raw materials which will inevitably mean another rise in the price of disks.

Casablanca Opens On Top 100; Act Plans Mapped Out

HOLLYWOOD — Neil Bogart's Casablanca label, distributed through Warner Bros. Records, is beginning to make chart impact after a month since its official start.

The label has made its first Top 100 showing with Bill Amesbury's "Virginia," which, in its second week on the listings, is number 80 with a bullet. Buck Reingold, national promo director, said the disk is also making it big in Canada. Amesbury is a Canadian act.

In other moves at the label, Cecil Holmes, director of R&B Activities at Casablanca, announced his first signings, the Parliaments. Their first single "The Goose," produced by George Clinton, has been rush-released. Holmes also said Gloria Scott, who will be produced by Barry White, and Danny Cox who is to be produced by Kerner-Wise have both been signed to the label. Both debut singles will be released in late February, with LP's due in March.

Colby Opens 'Other End'

NEW YORK — Paul Colby, musical entrepreneur whose Bitter End coffee-house was one of the best known on the east coast, has opened a new club, The Other End, 149 Bleeker Street.

Concentrating on showcase evenings Monday nights, Colby said, "There's a lot of good talent around. The showcase concept gives the talent and the audience time to get to know each other." Regular bookings of established acts in the club will be announced shortly.

A unique feature of The Other End is a fully equipped recreation room in the rear of the club featuring a miniature bowling alley and other entertainment games. The Other End has a seating capacity of 175 and will include a bar. Colby says it is "the first appearance in New York of the California style club. I want to make The Other End an 'in-place—by word of mouth—the same kind of conceptual, music oriented club that the Bitter End became."

Colby's other activities include management of Gunhill Road ("Back When My Hair Was Short") whose newest single is "She Made A Man Out Of Me" on Kama Sutra Records. In addition, Colby is negotiating with several production companies on an original television concept.

RCA's 1974 Off To Heavy Chart Action On Top 100

NEW YORK—Early 1974 is showing a heavy chart activity for RCA Records, with the label having nine entries in the Cash Box Top 100 singles chart.

Leading off is John Denver's "Sunshine On My Shoulders" at 19*; Elvis' "I've Got A Thing About You Baby" at 52*; "Daddy What If" by Bobby Bare (58); Charlie Rich's "There Won't Be Anymore" (60*); Elvis' "Take Good Care Of Her" (63); "Just Don't Want To Be Lonely," Main Ingredient (81); "Jolene," by Dolly Parton (89); "Quick, Fast, In A Hurry," New York City (91); and Jerry Reed's "Crude Oil Blues" at 96.

Chappell Forms Firm In SESAC

NEW YORK—Norm Weiser, president of Chappell Music, and Salvatore B. Candilora, executive vice president of SESAC Inc., have announced the signing of a long-term affiliation agreement between the newly formed Tri-Chappell Music Inc. and SESAC. Croce Hit Gives New Life, Name To 20th's 'Hero'

NEW YORK — Just how important a film's music is to the success of a picture can be seen in 20th Century Fox plans to re-release "The Last American Hero" in some test markets in the U.S.

The film opened a number of months ago to rave reviews and has been voted as one of the "Top Films of the Year" by a number of movie critics. However, for some reason business was not up to expectations at the boxoffice. Now, this could all be changed with the smash success of the Jim Croce recording of "I Got A Name" and the sales his "I Got A Name" album on ABC is racking up. Keeping this in mind, the studio plans to go with the film once again. This time it will be called "I Got A Name" rather than "The Last American Hero." Based on the success of the movie in several test markets, the studio will make its decision as to whether it should once again put the film into national release.

Charles Fox wrote the music to "I Got A Name" and Oorman Gimbel the lyrics. The song won an award as "Best Song of 1973" from the Young New York Film Critics Association and it is in the preliminary running for an Academy Award as "Best Song of the Year." Fox has also been nominated (preliminary nomination) for his film score for the picture.

'Honest,' Disk-Style Commercials

NEW YORK — If the line between a commercial jingle and a commercial recording is thinning out, a good deal of the credit goes to the efforts of Garry Sherman & Stanley Kahan Associates.

One of the ad world's top jingle writers/producers/arrangers, both men started their company eight years ago with a strong background in the recording field, having had associations with at least 50 chart-making disks.

According to Kahan, the basic element of success in their jingles efforts is a reflection of their "honest" approach to making recordings. "Ad agencies," says Kahan, "are learning that nothing makes it if it's dishonest. Using the proper music and musicians from concept to production and an approach in the studio that's identical to a recording are essential."

Among the team's many credits in the jingle world are work for such products or services as Coca-Cola, Miller Beer, Volkswagen, Scott's lawn products, Buick and Carroll's Restaurant. On the Coke and Miller account, they work closely with Billy Davis, music producer for Coke and Miller, and Bill Backer, creative director of McCann-Erickson, the large ad agency.

Kahan and Sherman's music industry background is extensive, and includes dates cut by Solomon Burke, Bobby Goldsboro, Aretha Franklin, Chuck Jackson, Gene Pitney, Jay & the Americans, Van Morrison, Frank Sinatra, among others. Sherman was also musical supervisor for "Purlie," the hit musical, and has been nominated for two Pulitzer Prizes for serious music compositions in 1969 and 1971.

Ad Scene Change

Kahan admits that the ad agency scene has changed quite a bit in recent years to a degree they are now staffed by personnel who are more aware of today's trends in music. "The Ivy League image is fading in favor of fine arts and 'street people' who understand today's music. At one time, I had to clarify what I was talking about, and go through reams of conversation and records."

Kahan cites as an example of "music honesty" in commercials his uneasiness when he views a commercial whose music does not fit the scene, such as a shampoo production that might have a frantic musical sequence to go along with a scene of girl shampooing her hair. "A shampoo just isn't that exciting, so why should it be depicted as such?" he explains.

Goodman Obtains 'Chariot' Music Rights At MIDEM

NEW YORK — Living in the south of France can have its business advantages as well as its pleasures, for it enabled Harry Goodman, who makes his office in Venice, France to be the first at MIDEM this year where he acquired for Jewel Music Publishing Co. Inc. the publishing rights for the soundtrack of the hit movie "Chariots Of The Gods."

Based on the best-sellers by Erich Von Daniken, the movie opened three weeks ago in Los Angeles and the following week in San Francisco and Detroit and already has grossed over $1.3 million in that time. Nationwide release will be complete by the beginning of March.

The theme from the movie was written by Peter Thomas, and the soundtrack is being rush-released by Polydor. At this time no single release of the theme has been scheduled, but several major artists have been contacted by Gene Goodman and Joe Di Sabato of Jewel Music Publishing Co. Inc., and a commitment is expected shortly.

Kahan's working relationship with Sherman is one of warmth and great respect. "Garry is a complete musician who walks into the studio with a concrete plan of action. He is, however, very flexible and will listen closely to the advice of performers on the date who have a solid feel for the musical atmosphere we're trying to create." The pair has worked most recently with Curtis Mayfield, Aretha Franklin, Nancy Wilson, Billy Joe Royal, Bobby Goldsboro and B. J. Thomas.

Kahan and Sherman are also putting the finishing touches on an interesting concept for the musical theatre. The show is called "Seventh Son" and, as Kahan describes it, it centers around a "Rabbi and his students who are forced to exist with a mixed rock 'n roll group. The music will initially take on different directions—rock, theatre, authentic Jewish themes—but start to take from each other as the show progresses."

NY NARAS Sets 'Supper' Date On Grammy Night

NEW YORK — The New York Chapter of NARAS will be supplementing the Academy's annual CBS-TV special, "The Grammy Awards Show," with its own "Grammy Celebration Supper" on the same evening, Sat., Mar. 2, at Broadway's new Pub Theatrical.

More informal than previous New York Grammy events and beamed at "having a good time," the party will include presentations of nominations plaques as well as the revelation and presentation of numerous Grammy Awards that will not be telecast. In addition, TV monitors will be placed strategically around a portion of the large room so that members and guests can watch the television program. Another part of the room will be closed off so that those wishing to continue eating and drinking, and to dance and socialize, can do so.

To attract as many members as possible (the chapter's rolls have now reached an all-time high), ticket prices for members only have been reduced to $20 per person. This includes supper and unlimited drinks. Non-member tickets are priced at $35 each. Invitations are being mailed this week.

Allan Steckler, committee chairman, and Jean Kaplow, the chapter's executive director, with help from the entire board of governors, are currently lining up a roster of presenters of both the nominations plaques and the Grammys.

FBI Ind. Raid; Nab 4,000 Tapes

INDIANAPOLIS — FBI agents armed with search warrants raided 27 locations of Tuckman Cleaners here and seized 4,000 tapes alleged to be infringing copies of copyrighted recordings.

The raids climaxed a lengthy investigation resulting from numerous complaints that the chain of dry cleaning stores was retailing pirated tapes. A spokesman for the U.S. Justice Department said that the chain's owner, Sidney Tuckman, was interviewed last Aug. by FBI agents. When apprised that he was apparently violating the copyright laws, Tuckman was quoted then as saying that he would immediately contact his distributor to determine if indeed he was selling illegal duplications. A follow-up check, as well as purchases of tapes from various of his stores, indicated that the stores were still selling infringing tapes as recently as Jan. 11 this year, the spokesman said.

of their outstanding collective performance in 1973.

President's Panel

One of the highlights of the convention was the President's Panel which brought together top execs of the Warner distributed labels with the promo force. Bearsville's Albert Grossman, Chrysalis Records' Terry Ellis were joined by Capricorn vice president Dick Wooley, Casablanca chief Neil Bogart and Herb Cohen of DiscReet in a session covering such topics as tours, the importance of singles, product flow as well as the future plans of various artists from "A" (Allman Brothers) to "Z" (Frank Zappa). The meeting was followed by a question and answer period.

Other convention events included a preview of upcoming Warner album releases hosted and narrated by board chairman Mo Ostin and president Joe Smith. Additional convention activities included an ad meet run by senior vice president Stan Cornyn and a series of informal meetings. Regional marketing managers from throughout the country held a series of workshops at the convention site prior to the official star of the meetings.

This year's convention was an international affair with representatives from a number of overseas Warner affiliates in attendance. Newly appointed U.K. managing director Ron Kass and Bill Fowler from the London operation were present, as were Killy Kumberger of Germany, Claude Nobbs of Switzerland and Diminik Lamblin and Benoit Gauthier of France.

4 Labels Sue On Charges Of Piracy

BOSTON — Four record companies have filed suits in U. S. District Court here charging Magnitron Inc. of Oklahoma City and Wildlife Enterprises, Inc. of Brookline, Mass., with manufacturing and distributing pirated versions of their sound recordings.

The suits brought by A&M Records, Inc. CBS, Inc., MCA Records, Inc., and Warner Bros. Records, Inc., charging infringement of common law copyrights as well as unfair competition on the part of the defendants, seek a permanent injunction against the continued manufacture, sale or offering of unauthorized tape duplications, as well as damages.

Recordings Involved

The suits alleged that Magnitron manufactures the pirated sound recordings which are distributed by Wildlife Enterprises through retail stores throughout Massachusetts. The companies maintained that pirated versions of their recordings included "Killer" by Alice Cooper; "Master of Reality," "Pure Black," and "Paranoid," all by Black Sabbath on the Warner Bros. label; "Stones" by Neil Diamond on the MCA label; "Mad Dogs and Englishmen" by Joe Cocker and "Tea for the Tillerman" by Cat Stevens on the A&M label, and "The Need for Love" by Earth, Wind & Fire; "Santana" by Santana; "Pearl" by Janis Joplin, and "New York City" by Al Kooper on the CBS label. These pirated tapes, the suits say, were purchased in a number of stores operated by Bradlee's and at the Hyde Park Music Center in Hyde Park, Mass.

Last Dec., the same record companies were granted a temporary restraining order by the Superior Court of Massachusetts against Wildlife Enterprises and the Stop & Shop Companies, Inc., doing business as Bradlee's. The suit is still pending.

THE VOICE—MARLO THOMAS is a working mom in Cashbox's executive offices in New York City. She's also a mother of three children. She's been known to many as "That Girl" from the musical "Grease" and a star on "You Don't Own Me" for a Grammy Award. She's also the record of "The Year" but her reason for visiting us is twofold. She's here to promote the special we've got going on ABC, March 11," she says, smiling warmly. "Because so many people have contributed their priceless time and energy to the show, it's on a scale."

The special Marlo alludes to is a TV special where people all come together as a result of her arduous efforts on behalf of children everywhere whom she feels "... Have been taught how to do everything, but be themselves." In helping them become free to be anything they choose, Marlo has dedicated herself to the TV special and a hard cover book of the sketches from the show, to be simultaneously released by McGraw Hill.

"The show's really going to be something unique," she notes, "because in addition to the stars who performed on the album, we also have Dustin Hoffman, Kris Kristofferson and Rita Coolidge, Michael Jackson, and Roberta Flak. There are twenty-two different sketches in the special, each one a story in itself. What we feel this is is a true 'family show,' not one where the parents let the kids watch. We believe that parents will be able to learn as much from the show as the kids."

In using music as the universal medium, Marlo explains that the sketches are not the usual, stereotyped children's fairy tales, but real life situations posed in humorous, inventive contexts. On the Grammy nominated LP, Mel Brooks and Marlo portray two newly born infants assessing the state of the world and its problems and this bit reappears in the TV show with Mel's and Marlo's parts taken visually by two of Waylon Flowers' cleverly made, life-like puppets. The

HOLLYWOOD—TIM WEISBERG: THE ARTICULATE FLUTE

"You're a maniac." Chuck Kaye, former A&M vice-president told Tim Weisberg. "It's going to take a while, but you're so tenacious that I know you're going to make it." Before signing with A&M, Tim had banged his head against the wall of a dozen Southern California college auditoriums, playing for a pittance, just trying to get his foot inside the door.

"I wanted to play," recounted Weisberg. "I didn't know what needed to be done, but I expended the energy. I ended up being a manager, a schlepper, the bank; I bought the equipment and sold my sportscar to buy a van." When I played a college gig, I'd xerox the reviews and send them to another school. 'Look; I'd say, 'let us play a noon concert for 100 bucks and then if you dig us, invite us back to do another concert. So we played with people like Frank Zappa and Buffy St. Marie—I even had to do a thing with some money for the concert director of one school—but it worked. People liked us and I finally took some of those reviews to A&M Records."

Tim Weisberg's music is a complex blend of wildly diverse elements, a mixture that reflects his classical background, an affection for rock music and an aloof rapport with jazz. "There's really a wide spectrum of things that I like," says Tim. "You might hear in my music some of the subtleties and color changes that are found in classical music. There's also a rock orientation there; I like the rhythms in rock and the emotions that come out."

Because his act is instrumental and based partially on improvisation, Tim has had to avoid being branded as a jazz artist. "I'm really not a jazz player," he says. "But you can play 50,000 pop gigs, then play one jazz date and they pidgeon hole you. Then there's no promotional money, small budgets, that type of stuff. I would describe myself as a pop musician with a classical background."

His classical training is extensive, including a master's degree from San bit, originally written by Carl Reiner and Peter Stone, is one of the highlights of the one hour show.

"Making the album with Mel and Diana Ross, Alan Alda, Harry Belafonte, Jack Cassidy, Dick Cavett, Carol Channing, Billy DeWolfe, Tommy Smothers, Shirley Jones, Bobby Morse, The New Seekers, and Rosey Grier took quite an effort by my producer, Carole Hart, but on this special alone we have over a hundred people contributing and that includes the sponsors, Procter Gamble and General Foods too. The usual television special costs about $415 thousand, but this one cost about two million dollars, which makes me believe that other people care as much as I do. It's a reassuring feeling," says Marlo, continuously beaming that infectious charming smile that's become synonymous with her pretty face.

"This is not just going to be a variety hour," she adds pointedly, "it's like a story with a continuing theme that reflects life in a realistic fashion, in a way children can identify with. Carl Reiner, Sheldon Harnick, and Peter Stone wrote practically all of it so naturally it's very funny in some spots. But it's also very moving and touching, too. In one sketch, Dustin Hoffman plays a child who finally gets the courage to cross a street alone. It's called "How I Crossed the Street For The First Time All By Myself," and it's a beautiful piece that Dustin felt very strongly about doing. He's a great actor and it's a treat having him contribute."

Reflecting for a moment, Marlo adds, "We also have Michael Jackson and Roberta Flack singing a duet (a TV first) about what it will be like to grow up. On the album, Diana Ross sang "When We Grow Up," but in this sketch there's a lot of wild movement and crazy costumes and it turns out to be one of the best parts of the show. Michael and Roberta do an incredible job and lend a lot to the original theme with their performances. One of the other sequences that came out great was Kris (Kristofferson) and Rita (Coolidge) doing a song called "Circle of Friends." It sort of brought everything together in a beautiful way."

Marlo says that for the time being her plans to star in a murder mystery have

Fernando Valley State College and years of study with composer/flutist Fred Katz. Though much of that training is already reflected in his performing, he hopes to implement it further as his music progresses. "It will grow as a continuum," said Tim. "We'll be getting into transcribing classical things, maybe even writing our own. Possibly, there will be arrangements for flute and two acoustic guitars, maybe flute and an arp, tuned like a string instrument—lots of different combinations. There was an experiment on the "Dreamspeaker" album where we used an orchestra and I'd like to go further in that direction. I'd like to see the ban wholly integrated with the orchestra, instead of having us sitting out in front of sixty well-schooled guys who are sawing away playing half-notes and whole notes. I want the members of the orchestra itself to see the project as a challenge. I'd like to have them walk away from the performance saying, Wow!"

"I think there would be people who at first questioning would say, 'I don't want to sit there in an auditorium and listen to anything serious.' But we could sensitize them as we take them through the show, I've done it before, played Bach compositions before a rock audience who had come to hear Dave Mason. It went over very well."

Tim was asked if he had considered adding a vocalist to his act, or otherwise change his all-instrumental format. "It's been suggested," he said, "and I gave it a lot of thought before rejecting the idea violently. Then, I sat down and thought about all the reasons why I rejected it. It would change the whole concept—A human voice always dominates the sound, no matter in what context its placed. I don't sing and I guess it could be partially a question of ego—performers are that way—but I really don't see any way that you can build a focal point around a flute and have a vocal also present. That's why I picked the title "Dreamspeaker"—I really think that I'm a hell of a lot more articulate when I play my flute than I am when I'm talking. The flute is like my voice. When I play, I'm singing with it, or sometimes, I guess, I'm shouting."

...the response to the Beatles 10th Anniversary album. The whole point is time went by and even got to the point of... that response. I must say that the... sometimes to the point of downright... there was an... the winners did seem... in the category of "Favorite Beatles Film,"... the group's five... "Hard... "Magical... No real... seabra.

In the album category, votes were cast for six different albums, including a couple of votes for a bootleg LP "Wood Bowl '64," and a couple of rather obscure collections entitled "Beatles Feb All" (on VeeJay) and "Beatlemania" also receiving votes on at least one ballot, but in the end, the established collections did prevail. The order of finish seems to indicate that the group's earlier collections still live on in the hearts (and on the turntables) of the world (or at least to those who responded to the poll. Here is the order of finish in the album category: 1. Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band 2. Rubber Soul 3. Abbey Road 4. Revolver 5. Beatles Double White Album 6. Meet The Beatles 7. Magical Mystery Tour 8. Help! 9. Beatles '65 10. The Beatles Second Album. Probably the most amazing aspect of the album results was that there were only three points separating the top three album finishers, with Sgt. Pepper eeking out Rubber Soul by two points and third place finisher Abbey Road just one back of Rubber Soul.

The singles category results were even more interesting, almost to the point of amazing in that 107 different songs were mentioned in the overall response (try to think of 107 songs by any other group). In the end, The Top Ten did prevail and an interesting note is that every song that finished in that top 10 is a ballad. That's right, not one rocker in the lot. Of course, many of the group's rockers did score points, but not enough to get those songs listed near the top finishers. Here, now are the top ten, those Beatles songs that you, the voters (bless your little hearts) selected as your favorite Beatles songs of all time (or at least during their career as a group). 1. Hey Jude 2. Yesterday 3. Something 4. The Long And Winding Road 5. Here Comes The Sun 6. For No One 7. Eleanor Rigby 8. A Day In The Life 9. While My Guitar Gently Weeps 10. Let It Be. In case you didn't notice, the results do lean a bit more towards Paul McCartney and George Harrison than Ringo Starr or John Lennon, although all songs were naturally group efforts. And also, Hey Jude as the top song, edged out Yesterday by a single vote. There were no ties in the top ten with 65 points separating the top ten finishers. Funny thing is, that out of the second ten finishers, seven were Beatles rockers. Of those, She Loves You, Rain, Ob-La-Di, All My Lovin and Eight Days A Week seemed most significant. Once again, thank you to all of you who found the time to submit entries. We will be doing it again with somebody else in the future, probably within the next two weeks, so watch this column for the next poll. Hope it was fun for you, it sure was for me...

Jeff Beck, Tim Bogert and Carmine Appice will have their second Columbia album released in about a month. No title has been disclosed yet... There was an error in this column last week concerning the winners of the Young New York Film Critics recently presented awards. Alan Price won for his "O Lucky Man" soundtrack and Gimpel and Fox's "I Got A Name," as recorded by the late Jim Croce, in the film "Last American Hero" was named Best Song from a film. The flick, by the way, has since been retitled "I Got A Name" and is scheduled for re-release within the next month or so... Nicky Hopkins has another LP on the way, due sometime in March and entitled "Long Journey Home." Some of the side men included on the LP are Mick Taylor, Chris Spedding, Ronnie Wood, Ronnie Lane and the mysterious George O'Hara on guitar... The New Riders Of The Purple Sage have replaced bassist Dave Torbert with former Byrds bass man Skip Battin (who, by the way, had a great solo album of his own almost two years back)... Lee Michaels has completed his next album, entitled "Tailface"... Frank Sinatra's concert tour will not include Radio City Music Hall as listed here last week. Seems the hall had already booked shows for the dates that Blue Eyes was available and could not come to terms. He will, instead, play the Nassau Coliseum in Long Island and will perform at a benefit at Carnegie Hall, in New York. Other dates will be announced shortly. Watch the On The Road Again column for details... Steely Dan is ready to go out on the road with major dates in New York, L.A., Chicago, Philadelphia and San Francisco included. Their new album to be released any minute now... The energy crisis in England (getting worse all the time) has forced Steely Dan, Joe Walsh and Barnstorm, and Commander Cody and His Lost Planet Airmen to all cancel British tours. It's unfortunate that now even entertainment is being affected...

If you listen very very closely to Carly Simon's newest "Hotcakes" LP, you'll hear Mick Jagger (on vanity) in the background. Mick has also worked with Bill Wyman of late for the latter's solo debut to be released shortly... Chicago to go back on the road in March, major dates, of course... Capitol has heeded the call. The edited down version of "Jet," that tremendous Paul McCartney and Wings "Band On The Run" single track has been pulled back (jack) and has been re-issued in its entirety (all 4:08). Thank goodness... New one almost on the way from Grand Funk, and its gonna be in 3D to boot... "Pepper Box" by the Peppers (natch) has finally come to be a chart reality. This week it's #100 on our CB singles chart. It's really first starting to move. The track is one of the best instrumentals of recent years and a former #1 disk in France... Believe it or not, Canned Heat, Buddy Miles and Emerson, Lake & Palmer all jammed together recently at Richards, in Atlanta. There's just gotta be a name for something like that happening on stage. I won't even attempt a guess—arty goodman

MARLO THOMAS (Cont'd From P. 14) had to wait as the TV show and book have been two years in the making. Quite understandable when you consider the energy she's expended getting the show together. In researching the reactions of children to the various skits, she traveled extensively all over the country and with the trained eye of a school teacher (she has a degree in the field) observed that the kids really dig the material a lot, which is the best testimonial anyone could give it. With the time and money that's being spent on the March production. david budge.

NEW YORK—LARRY O'NEILL—BRIDGING THE GAP

Vibrant operatic tenor Larry O'Neill, is attempting to bridge the worlds of the rock and classical modes with a distinctive type of music which could be classed MOR, but in reality has a much wider appeal. A wider appeal, because O'Neill incorporates elements from two very different genres and the textural meld he constructs is truly a unique sound.

The multi-lingual classically oriented tenor, was a protege of the widow of the late operatic singer Pasquel D'Amato. His extensive background in languages allows him to sing with a sophisticated knowledge in Italian, French, German, Spanish, Hebrew and Irish.

An entrepreneur as well as a polished vocalist Larry has his own record label, publishing and production companies. The Fenoragh label which Larry's LP appears on is entitled "Masters Gone Modern/Now And Then." The label, named after Larry's Irish setter (naturally!) is being distributed independently.

Larry, the Brooklyn-born son of Irish parents who immigrated to the United States from the Belfast region settled in New York prior to World War II. After initial operatic tutelage Larry moved on to New Orleans to perform under Renato Cellini, a well-known figure in the music world and his grasp of the singing started to develop into new directions. Attending the Manhattan School of Music and studying under Alfredo Martino privately, Larry progressed into a dynamism of vocal power and execution. He has sung in productions as "Kismet," "The King And I," and "West Side Story." Recently O'Neill performed at Carnegie Hall and his vocal stylization has been compared to the likes of Sergio Franchi and Enzo Stuarti.

The outspoken singer related the absolute frustration he has encountered in attempting to secure a spot for his kind of music.

O'Neill hopes to augment the interest of classical music without relying on the usual standards as "Impossible Dream," and "Ebb Tide." A New York appearance will be at Town Hall on May 9. michael david

CINEMA SOUNDS

BURT BACHARACH: THE BALANCE OF HIS NATURE

As numerous a legend as is Shangrila, the lost horizon, he is Burt Bacharach, the former lyricist partner Hal David. In a recent Cash Box interview, Bacharach took place in the immuring backyard of Burt's own Shangrila (his residence), his reply to the now oft-asked question "Aren't you writing regularly with Hal anymore?" was "Nothing goes on forever." This philosophy differs from the "lost horizon" concept of eternal youth but then Life is not a permanent thing of stationary quality, in fact, it is ever changing, not a "thing" at all, not a reification, but rather a series of ever changing events. An event has a beginning, a middle, and an ending at which point another event occurs. Although Burt and Hal penned several hundred tunes together their last collaborating efforts, demanding a year and a half of work, went towards the Ross Hunter film musical "Lost Horizon," which Burt blatantly considered "a colossal disappointment."

Burt, who just finished his Chevrolet tv special (it aired a few weeks ago), announced that he intends to stay home for a bit and write songs. But who then will he write with? The revered musical lama of Hidden Valley estates, dressed in sports attire and tennis shoes, told us that he was writing with various people including playwright Neil Simon and Bobby Russell. This reporter had already discovered the former information a few seconds before the interview had actually started. Seconds after this writer wended into the Bacharach home, he was guided down steps by Stan Rosenfeld, Burt's publicist, leading to a rumpus type room which obviously was Burt's record regnum, with gold records on the wall, a grand piano, and sheet music spread out everywhere. Rosenfeld briefly explained that this is where Burt composes. The comfortable room opened up onto the sweeping backyard of trees and a swimming pool. Burt was rambling about in the house and hadn't come down stairs yet. Having only seconds to scrutinize and assimilate the entire room before the interview commenced, this reporter looked quickly to glean as much as he could. The publicist was already trying to escort him outside but as if feigning to not understand Rosenfeld's quite affirmative directions, this writer wasn't ready to "walk on by" the piano without looking to see what was in the works. The only split-second thing he saw was a song called "Seconds" written with Simon. Enough time spent at the piano for no longer could one ignore Rosenfeld, who was practically carrying on a conversation with himself outside on the patio. This reporter scurried to his side, managing to come in on the tail end of Stan's "setting the scene" introduction.

The biographical details had already been furnished by Dorene Laurer, publicist for A&M Records, the label for which Burt records. Fact sheets reminded one that Burt was born in Kansas City, had been billed as a concert pianist during his army days, had once been the accompanist to Vic Damone, had conducted and arranged for Marlene Dietrich, had scored the films "What's New Pussycat," "Casino Royale," and "Butch Cassidy and The Sundance Kid," and had written the music to the Broadway hit "Promises, Promises" (based on the comedy "the Apartment"). The fact sheets are practically ad infinitum. They would go on to mention all of the Dionne Warwick penned hits. The first "Don't Make Me Over," was reviewed in Cash Box on October 20, 1962. Reviewers using the grading system of that key day awarded it a "B+." The tune was listed as being written by David and Bacharach, which is the customary way of placing the shortest writer's name first. Today, however, most of their credits are nearly always listed as Bacharach and David. The record review called "Don't Make Me Over" "a strong ballad" and went on to say "... this distinctive deck could really go places." Just a few seconds had passed by and Burt came down the stairs and onto his own "distinctive deck" overlooking the pool. He was trying not to think about "going places."

Now that the Chevrolet show was over, he had only a few weeks to just stay home and write some new songs, rest, play some tennis, and then continue nightclub engagements. Burt arranged his lounge chair and then before sitting down cordially shook hands with this reporter, as he apologized for having to rely on his left hand. He had just injured his right hand during a tennis match in Miami for the Motion Picture Relief Fund, where he finished third. Comfortably seated, he moved his drink from the right hand to the left. The glass had embedded on it linear stars which somehow seemed symbolic and apropos since Burt is a star. In fact this very appraisal may be one of the reasons for the Bacharach/David abatement. Burt remarked, "I was on the road a lot, and doing television, and while I was involved in these things, what was Hal expected to do?" So perhaps indirectly the star status quo, at least as far as time schedules, often exhausting and exigent were concerned, somewhat forced the split.

However, Burt doesn't want to think that the songs from "Lost Horizon" will be the last ones that the two of them will ever write together but rather opined that they are both presently involved in their own projects. This respite, might be just that, no doubt, when "Promises, Promises" is filmed this year and all of the Bacharach/David tunes are brought to our attention once more. Burt reported that Neil Simon will write the screenplay adaptation and he also disclosed that there will be some new tunes written for the film. Will the lyrics be written by Simon or David? Meanwhile, Hal David is busy writing another Broadway show.

When Burt writes a song, say it happens to be one of new ones written with Bobby Russell (slightly country influenced) does he play it for any special confidants to find out what others might think about it? Burt says that he's his own best judge. His lovely wife Angie Dickenson listens to his songs but only because she's genuinely interested. Burt Bacharach appreciates the relentless enthusiasm of say a Mitch Miller, where Mitch would always claim "It's a smash," and even when it wasn't always a smash, Mitch, says Burt, never compromised for something like "Well it might make it." This kind of conviction is what Burt has adopted whether he's right all of the time or not. It's impossible to be right all of the time. There is a hefty gamble to deciding what music the public is going to like.

The prefix to the name Bacharach is, in fact, the same as two games of chance, Baccarat and Backgammon. Three of Burt's least favorite tunes "I Say a Little Prayer," "Message to Michael," and "What The World Needs Now," turned out, despite his personal rejection to be very big hits. Here he conceded "I was wrong and the world was right." Burt says that once in a while you're going to be wrong. The tunes to "Lost Horizon," for example, didn't fully come across because the songs were specifically written for the film's characters. He explained that audiences would have had to care enough about those characters to have made the songs more successful.

At this point in our interview, Burt's publicist came to the sliding glass doors and earnestly waved his hand and announced "five minutes to go." This made the reporter a bit nervous for how was he to ask Burt everything else in just five minutes? He dispensed with the rest of his questions and told Burt that they were now going to play a little game called "crossroads." Burt, the natural athlete (at one time he wanted to be a football player) thought about this suggestion for a moment, curiously and with due reservation, as if to say "Well you see my hand is still recovering and it has to mend for this big tennis tournament coming up." Next Burt watched his confronting interviewer to see if he was about to produce a heretofore concealed tennis ball, some portable baseball bat, or some other unexpected sporting apparatus. His apprehension and curiosity eased as he learned that "crossroads" was a mental reflection game where one stops to think had they taken some other path along Life's highway, where would they be today, instead of here, rich, successful, and famous. Burt was asked if he had ever played this parlour game before? Burt plaintively offered "no." This short, direct reply seemed to also describe his aptness to play but the reporter continued "Well for example you wrote with Bob Hillard in the early days, have you ever thought what would have happened if you had continued writing with him?" "No." "Well where is Hillard today?" "Dead," Burt replied wishing to stop the game. Next Crossroad question. "What about Sid Shaw, you wrote 'Heavenly' with him." Burt answered "Sid's dead too." "Oh," the interviewer said sorry now that he ever brought the game up. The interviewer was now at his own crossroad, either continue with the game (in the minute and half remaining) or go on to talk about Burt's new A&M album, his fifth for that label.

The new album is called "Living Together" and it includes some of the last songs penned with Hal David like "The Balance of Nature," "Walk the Way You Walk," and songs from "Lost Horizon." His next album will probably include a batch of new tunes. In the last couple of weeks he's already written about eight new songs. He plans to make demos for them for his publishing firms Blue Seas and Hidden Valley. Bacharach said that he's not interested at the moment in acquiring a new artist to produce. Burt will play Las Vegas late this month. He feels that performing is easier than writing, commenting "Performing is easy since it's the enactment of your own songs." Around this time, Burt extended his left hand again, and this journalist shook it and then left behind one of the world's greatest contemporary composers sitting in the serenity of his own Shangrila.—ron baron

Mancini MD Of 46th Oscar Show

HOLLYWOOD — Henry Mancini, a three-time Oscar winner, has been appointed music director of the 46th Annual Awards Program of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. This is Mancini's third such assignment on an Oscar Show. He served as music director of the 41st Awards Presentation in 1968 and the 44th Presentation in 1972.

The noted composer-conductor, who has written the music scores and songs for many Hollywood films, is one of the few men to win Oscars in both the scoring and song categories. He won his Oscars for the songs "Moon River" from "Breakfast At Tiffany's" and the title tune from "Days of Wine and Roses," both written in collaboration with Johnny Mercer, and for his score of "Breakfast At Tiffany's." All told, he has been nominated 13 times.

The 46th Annual Oscar Show will be held Tuesday, Apr. 2, at the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center. It will be telecast live and in color by the NBC Television Network.

Brut Sets Bennett Experimental TV Marketing Campaign

NEW YORK — In what is admittedly an experimental and innovative project, Brut Records is initiating a series of marketing and merchandising campaigns. The first in this series will be a major television ad campaign on behalf of the single release "All That Love Went To Waste", by Tony Bennett. An industry first, the 60 second spot was filmed in the studio as Bennett recorded the song, with a voice-over by the artist as well.

In explaining this experimental project, Dennis Ganim, general manager of Brut Records stated: "There are a number of reasons why we have decided to make this move. One of the most important for me is a simple question of mathematics. It is estimated that there are some 30 million record players currently in use in the U.S. And yet, our industry is delighted if a single release sells one million copies. Relative to other commercial enterprises, this represents a very marginal market penetration. In plain words, given the potential, we would like to see sales of eight, nine, even ten million copies of hit records." Initially, the special 60-second spots will be aired in New York and L.A., with other major markets to follow.

When contacted, George Barrie, president of Faberge Inc. which wholly owns Brut Records, stated in conclusion, "We are attempting a new and innovative approach to effect better penetration for the vast existing record market. We are testing this program in the two major markets to create a strong awareness of, and demand for, purchase this specific product, "All That Love Went To Waste".

SUPER SNOOP-ER COOPER—Pop star and Warner Brothers recording artist Alice Cooper recently filmed a segment of "The Snoop Sisters" NBC Mystery Movie with Helen Hayes and Mildred Natwick. Here Alice chats with Miss Hayes on the set of the show entitled "Up Jumped The Devil". Airdate is March 6.

Lawrence, Hart To Pen Pilot Theme

NEW YORK — Producer Fred Coe has hired Stephen Lawrence and Bruce Hart to write the music and lyrics, respectively, for the theme song for the Michelle Lee television pilot, under the auspices of Metromedia Producers Corp., for CBS Television.

Deal was negotiated by personal manager Scott Shukat.

STATION BREAKS:

A good idea that many other stations have employed in the past has again come to be reality at KSAN, San Francisco. The station has begun an apprentice training program where young students interested in becoming broadcasters are taken in at the station for an eight week training course whereupon they eventually obtain their third class license and do actual on the air work as weekend jocks and newsmen. As mentioned above, this has been employed at many stations in the past and KSAN is just of the many that has the good grace to think about the future of the industry. Here's to all of those at the station who decided to run the program and to all the other stations who have done so in the past . . .

Gladys Christman has been promoted to promotion manager of KFI, Los Angeles. The position was effective February 1 . . . Over at WXLO, New York, Jerry Clifton has been appointed program director, and Ted Ronneburger has been appointed chief engineer . . . Bouncing it back to the west coast, John Hokom has been named sales manager at KHJ, in Hollywood . . . Warner Fusselle has joined the staff of WTAR, Norfolk, Va. as the "Voice of The Virginia Squires", the ABA team. He replaces Marty Brenneman who will be doing play-by-play for the Cincinnati Reds National League baseball team . . .

The CBS radio network has announced two new positions. Ben Lochridge and Richard Brescia have been named vice-presidents at the network . . . Jo Ann Manera has been named editorial and community affairs director for WPLJ in New York. Over in Fort Dodge, Iowa, Skip Nelson has been named the country music outlet's program director. He replaces Mike Hoyer who left the station to buy his own radio station in Montana. By the way, the station is KWMT . . . Back over in the Big Apple, Al Brady has been named assistant program manager for WNBC-AM. He will also be doing some air work for the station . . . The CBS radio network has just announced a new affiliate WIST, Charlotte, N.C. . . . later . . . arty Goodman

Cash Box/R&B News Report

R&B SCHEDULE — Jerry Gladson, WFFF's popular DJ, is the newly elected leader of the Jack Walker Chapter of NATRA (Eastern Region). The following DJs will also be seen on the R&B national promo director at RCA, is now in charge of the new R&B promo director at RCA. Marty was heading the R&B promo for the last year. The Escorts (Alithia Records), who were the first to appear on the new R&B stage, will appear in The Escort Concert to take place in January at the Symphonie in Newark, N.J. Special dispensation for the group. The Alithia family of artists will also be on the bill, including English, The Gentlemen And Their Ladies, Norman, and the late James Lewis Fields. "Right Here Is Where You Belong" a hit from Jerry Gladson, on the Excallo label about a year ago; Jerry is back on the air with the new, produced and arranged, "I Really Love You" for his own Top Pop label. James Lewis Fields is the first top pop artist. He gets down with the funk name. The phone number for Top Pop: (212-778-3304). "Basketball and Cool," a guide to Basketball and Cool, is a new book by Walter and Ira Brekow. The title of the book is, of course, a take-off of the old "Rock Steady" . . . Dennis Williams, currently musical director of the O'Jays, has signed a production/publishing deal with Burlington Productions . . . One must assume that Ego-tripping is, indeed, a self-rewarding color full rose experience. But, one has to question how long and how far the trip will go. This is a day and age when there is need for . . . being for real . . . and communicating realness through honest communication. What better way to take measure of the man. And, in black radio, there is a growing awareness of the need for better cooperation and communication. Those who do take care to find out what is really happening are making tremendous strides forward. 'Tis true that black radio is personality radio and it should be remembered, any black DJ will verify this, a black audience has the capability of consuming music that boarders close to insatiable. When the station is serving up the proper ingredients the audience is there. Again, Donny Brooks (program director) at WLOK in Memphis turned in top pluse ratings according to the Oct.-Dec. '73 period. WLOK a 250 Watt station is cookin' with a #2 punch from 3 PM to 7PM. The station takes the top spot from 7 PM to 12 Midnight.

CBS Revamps South Marketing

Ziegler, Dempsey Named To Posts

NEW YORK — Jack Craigo, vice president of sales and distribution for CBS Records has announced the restructuring of CBS Records' southern marketing region. In an effort to achieve more marketing concentration in the south, the region has been reorganized into separate areas. Norman Ziegler, formerly director of sales for the southern region, now becomes regional director of the southwest area. Don Dempsey, formerly sales manager of the Atlanta branch, has been promoted to the position of regional director of the southeast area. The new southeastern region will include areas formerly covered by the northeast promotion and sales field.

In his new capacity as regional director of the southwest region, Ziegler will concentrate the efforts of his staff in New Orleans, San Antonio, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Kansas City, and Memphis. He will oversee all promotion and sales operations at the CBS Records sales offices in Dallas, Houston and St. Louis. He will report directly to Craigo.

east region, Dempsey will oversee all promotion and sales operations for CBS offices in Washington, Atlanta and Miami. He will also be responsible for operations in Baltimore, Norfolk, Charlotte, Nashville, Birmingham and Jacksonville. He will also report directly to Craigo.

The creation of two southern regions became necessary due to the substantial growth of the CBS Records' branches in the south.

Norman Ziegler has been with CBS Records since 1951 when he joined as salesman in Detroit at an independent distributor. He moved to St. Louis in 1961, where he worked as branch manager and, in 1964, became sales manager in Chicago. Diedrich Named To MIA Operations

NEW YORK — America's Denver branch, which also incorporates the companion Record Sales Corp. of Colorado distributing wing, has brought about the appointment of Clem Diedrich as operations manager, according to Bob Krug, branch manager of the Mile High city disc complex.

Diedrich, who enters the Denver picture after a stint with Musical Isle's St. Louis operations, will assist Krug in all aspects of the business.

The appointment comes in the wake of major increases in the company's rack and one-stop operations. Sales at the May Company outlets increased in some cases by more than 50 per cent in the past year, while volume at the Berstein-Applebee chain were the best ever in records and tapes for these stores.

Three months ago, the Musical Isle branch also acquired as a new account, the downtown Denver Woolworth store, the world's largest Woolworth retail location containing the largest Woolworth record department.

On the distributing side, the firm recently acquired Vanguard, Mainstream and Savoy Records, to add to a roster which already includes Motown, Chess-Checker and Buddah families of labels and Scepter-Wand. Diedrich, as operations manager, will be involved in a supervisory and coordination role.

a long and pleasant relationship between our two organizations." In addition, SESAC's recent concentrated drive to sign writers directly has brought scores of both new and established writers in all areas of contemporary music to the firm's roster. Picks of the Week

CHARLIE RICH (Epic 5-11091)

A Very Special Love Song (2:44) (Algee, BMI—B. Sherrill, N. Wilson)

Charlie follows his super successful "Most Beautiful Girl" with this equally beautiful potential chart buster that has already made a dent on both pop and country listings. Will obviously be topping both charts in a few weeks as Charlie further proves that he is stronger than ever before. Flip: no info. available.

NEIL DIAMOND (Columbia 4-45998)

Skybird (2:18) (Stonebridge, ASCAP—N. Diamond)

Neil delivers another track from his highly touted "Jonathan Livingston Seagull" soundtrack, and this one should take off as quickly as "Be" did a little while back. His powerful performance of his composition is one that most pop and MOR stations will find impossible to pass on after just one spin. Listeners should feel the same way. Flip: Lonely Looking Sky (3:12) (Credits same as above)

ELTON JOHN (MCA 40198)

Bennie And The Jets (5:10) (Dick James, BMI—E. John, B. Taupin)

The Elton Express is in high gear again with this new-ie culled from that fabulous "Goodbye Yellow Brick Road" collection. As there's just no way that Elton is going to miss with any disk at this point in his career, this one is certainly a natural, but do listen closely, the song is a strong one and worth every second of its 5:10. Programmers will be depriving their audiences should they not go on this one immediately. Flip: no info. available.

STEVE MILLER BAND (Capitol 3837)

Your Cash Ain't Nothin' But Trash (3:10) (Hill And Range, BMI—C. Calhoun)

Steve follows his "Joker" smash with this funky number certain to further expand his already super following. Steve gets into this tune so much that he may even attract a selected r&b following in time. Either way, this is his second pile driver in a row. Here's to many more in the future now that the Steve Miller Band has got their act together. Flip: Evil (4:35) (Haworth, ASCAP—S. Miller)

THE STAPLE SINGERS (Stax 0196)

Touch A Hand, Make A Friend (3:26) (East/Memphis, BMI—H. Banks, R. Jackson, C. Hampton)

Again culled from their great "Be What You Are" LP, this hit bound gospel rocker might very well be the Staples' biggest yet. Mavis up front delivers her vocals as never before and the mix to include a sweet string section, with some added percussion, makes this a Top 5 item if there ever was one. This group gets better all the time and we, the people, are reaping all of the benefits. A great record! Flip: no info. available.

LOGGINS & MESSINA (Columbia 4-46010)

Watching The River Run (3:25) (Jasperilla/Gnossos/Portofino, ASCAP—J. Messina, K. Loggins)

Kenny and Jim once again deliver a pretty country/pop ballad certain to once again turn all ears in their direction. As pretty and as soft as "Danny's Song" or "Love Song," this one should take off in that same hitbound direction, eventually settling itself in the Top 10. Strong lead vocal performances and tight harmonies with sensitive acoustic backing makes this track a candidate for out and out smash. Flip: no info. available.

BEE GEES (RSO 408)

Mr. Natural (3:34) (R.S.O./Midweek, ASCAP—B. Gibb, R. Gibb)

The harmonies are there, but you won't believe that these are the same Bee Gees that have hit time and time again. This incredibly delicious track by the chart veterans is their best ever. Spiced with a dash of rock, it is a totally unique excursion for them. One listen will hook even the most critical of pop fanatics. No way this is going to stay out of the Top 5. In fact, it will probably be carried straight to the top (possibly due to the knock out bass line running through the entire track). Do not miss this one from the new Bee Gees. Flip: no info. available.

EARTH, WIND & FIRE (Columbia 4-46007)

Mighty, Mighty (3:01) (Sagifire, BMI—M. White, V. White)

In obviously describing the talents of this group, the title of this power driving track sums it all up. A tough, hard mover that's going to generate across the board play and settle itself high on both pop and r&b charts really soon. The similarity to a Sly and The Family Stone performance will obviously be made here, but this group is as individual as can be and a hit making machine beyond belief. Flip: no info. available.

LIGHTHOUSE (Polydor 14220)

Magic's In The Dancing (3:19) (C.A.M.—U.S.A., BMI—R. Cole)

This high spirited band just missed the top of the mark with their last great one, "Pretty Lady." Well, that won't be the case this time around with this track, also pulled from their great "Can You Feel It" LP. The excitement here is in the energy created through the group's smooth blend of jazz and rock and does it ever work. Call this one a strong contender for Top 10. The group has got their consistency, it's time the public got turned onto it. Flip: no info. available.

MAC DAVIS (Columbia 4-46004)

One Hell Of A Woman (2:52) (Screen Gems-Columbia/Songpainter/Sweet Glory, BMI—M. Davis, M. James)

The man who has become both pop and country superstar, comes through again with a strong country rocker, heavy on the lyric and strong on the musical arrangement. This one may not be nearly as big as his "Baby, Don't Get Hooked On Me," but it is most definitely one hell of a record and one that's going to make a strong dent on a couple of charts. Flip: no info. available.

SAMMY DAVIS, JR. (MGM 14685)

Singin' In The Rain (2:50) (Robbins, ASCAP—N. Brown, A. Freed)

Take the established combination of this classic song, an arrangement a la "Candy Man" and Sammy Davis, Jr., the man who gave us that hit some time ago and the result is this track, a certain hit, and one of the surest bets in some time. Sammy even works with that energetic chorale as in "Candy Man." MOR's and pop Top 40's will pick up on this one instantly. Listener response is a natural here. Flip: Chattanooga Choo Choo (2:30) (Leo Feist, ASCAP—H. Warren, M. Gordon)

ALBERT HAMMOND (Mums 6026)

I'm A Train (3:16) (Leeds, ASCAP—A. Hammond, M. Hazlewood)

It's difficult to say exactly why Albert hasn't really hit on his last few outings, but that's all in the past now. This latest track should change things for the better and get this fine writer/singer/musician back on the right track. High spirited performance of a cute tune will attract ears and bring those eyes back to the man who gave us that west coast weather report and put it at the top of the pops. Give this one a try, it deserves the play. Flip: no info. available.

JIMMY BUFFETT (Dunhill 4378)

Saxophones (3:18) (ABC/Dunhill, BMI—J. Buffett)

Jimmy reappears with his first certain hit single from his second super album, "Living And Dying In 3/4 Time," and the similarity to Jim Croce, in both performance and arrangement is uncanny. Highly lyrical track with great backing music makes this one a pop/rocking delight and one that stations will be flocking to upon first spin. Look for Jimmy's career to fly high from here on in. Flip: Ringling, Ringling (2:31) (Credits Same As Above)

FOGHAT (Bearsville 0019)

That'll Be The Day (2:52) (Melody Lane, BMI—J. Allison, B. Holly, N. Petty)

The groups first single from their latest LP, "Energizer" is this vintage Buddy Holly tune, reworked in hard rocking, contemporary style to give it life all over again. Strong vocal and musical performances give the song excitement as never before. The group should have no difficulty in pinning down their first single smash here. A mover! Flip: no info. available.

LYN COLLINS (People 633)

Don't Make Me Over (3:22) (Blue Seas/Jac, ASCAP—B. Bacharach, H. David)

The preacher-ess really gets down to sizzling with this classic Bacharach/David tune made famous years ago by Dionne Warwick. In treating this one to a super soulful performance, Lyn establishes herself as the soul artist of the '70's as she sets this one flying onto both pop and r&b charts. You already know the song, now get to know Lyn's way of putting it across. Flip: no info. available.

MICKY DOLENZ (Romar 715)

Buddy Holly Tribute (Peggy Sue/Every Day/Maybe Baby/That'll Be The Day) (2:44) (Melody Lane/Peer Int'l, BMI—Petty, Allison, Holly/Petty, Hardin/Petty, Holly/Petty, Allison, Holly)

Although Micky hasn't hit on his own, this medley of Buddy Holly rock classics should change matters somewhat. Great, contemporary rocking arrangements of four Holly greats are better than ever. When combined, complete with great segues, this disk cannot be beat. Hey, remember those fabulous '50's? They're even better in the '70's, thanks to Micky Dolenz. Flip: Ooh She's Young (2:20) (Amsamic/Romar/Today, BMI—M. Dolenz)

Newcomer Picks

MARTHA REEVES (MCA 40194)

Power Of Love (3:05) (Blackwood/Gaucha/Belinda, BMI—Gamble, Huff, Simon)

Martha (formerly with the Vandellas) kicks off her solo career (with Richard Perry as her producer) with this top flight Gamble-Huff-Joe Simon tune that just can't miss. Vibrant as any of her work with her former association, the lady really gets down to it in letting loose with a funky performance that will attract immediate pop and r&b attention. Also worth the price of admission is that horn section, running in and out throughout the track, accenting everything Martha does (arranged, by the way, by James Taylor). Hitbound, and big too! Flip: no info. available.

GUIDO SARDUCCI (A&M 1504)

A European (Speaks Up For The U.S.) (3:29) (Irving/Novello, BMI—Novello, Neuman)

This label has already given the world the insanity of Cheech & Chong (through their distribution of Ode) and now this bit of craziness based on the current "Americans" smash will generate another ton of solid belly laughs. As funny as the "Americans" is serious, it's a safe bet that stations will be flocking to this one, too. Flip: Questions To God (1:33) (Irving/Novello, BMI—Novello)

KATHI McDONALD (Capitol 3835)

Freak Lover (3:10) (Open Wound, BMI—M. Unobski)

Kathi, one of the stronger back up vocalists for some time now, comes bursting forth on her own with a powerful blues performance that is going to establish her own career, and fast. The backing vocals help considerably as does the music, but it's all Ms. McDonald as she dynamically makes this track work. AM's, and FM's alike will listen to, and program, this track, probably upon receipt. Flip: no info. available.

JIMMY GRAY HALL (Epic 5-10089)

Be That Way (2:35) (Pale Moon, ASCAP—J. Hall)

An impressive debut of a new artist who demonstrates that he can deliver a tune with the finesse and strength of an established artist, this performance by Jimmy, an almost reggae pop rocker, is a certainty for most pop markets looking to get their listeners up and dancing. Keep a close eye on this artist, he's going to be heard from a lot in the future. Flip: no info. available.

When I arranged and produced "Hooked On A Feeling" in 1971, featuring the grunts of 100 gorillas, I wasn't to know that it would be a big hit in England, Holland, Belgium and Germany.

But when it was, I hoped that it would happen in America—seems I was three years ahead of my time. Now a Swedish note-for-note cover has been released and is receiving substantial airplay.

Do me a favor and listen to my version before you program theirs. It's not easy being creative when someone else is pocketing the money.

The 11th House

Larry Coryell

THE PATRONS PLACE, POULTRY — Back at his admitted favorite club, singer-guitarist Larry Coryell gave the audience an incredible show. With his recently formed band comprising the talents of Mike Mandel on keyboards and synthesizer, Alphonso Mouzon at the drums, Randy Brecker on electric trumpet, and Danny Trifan on bass, together they let loose on a multitude of different sounds that had the audience in awe. Each member of the 11th House has been with well known groups before, with Mouzon formerly the original drummer with Weather Report. Each member was featured both in the solo spotlight as well as having their individual compositions performed. The show started with "ISM," a track from the first 11th House Vanguard album. It sounded a bit like "Birds of Fire," a Mahavishnu Orchestra composition, but that is totally possible as Billy Cobham and John McLaughlin have both performed and recorded with Coryell. It also seems highly possible that with the void created by the disbanding of the Mahavishnu Orchestra, and with some more work and exposure, Coryell's new group could easily have the same following and deserved recognition. All compositions were instrumentals and very exciting. Mandel's tune "The Atom Smasher" was a great example of the high energy level generated during their show. Coryell performed only one piece alone, sans band, "The Eyes of Love," which demonstrated his excellent guitar work. Mouzon let loose on a couple of occasions where I thought his drums would either break or go up in smoke, he played so intensely. Larry Coryell's 11th House is definitely a group you should see.

Ivory

PLAYBOY CLUB L.A. — Ivory Professor Irwin Corey, renowned lecturer in thallophyte sciences and musicology was fortuitously on hand to deliver the opening remarks. His befuddling introduction served as an appropriate prelude to Ivory's generally good, but uneven set at the Playboy Club.

A sextet, Ivory consists of two keyboardists, a pair of vocalists, a bassist and a drummer, all excellent musicians whose performance seemed hampered only by the limiting nature of their material. From their opener, a boisterous tune, containing references to Hare Krishna etc. and through such songs as "Bringing Me Down," the band appeared to be floundering in a structureless hodge-podge, mixing extended solos and energetic vocals in a formula that never quite managed to coalesce.

One bright spot throughout the evening was the drumming of Jim Divesek, whose precise and creative use of percussion remained crisp during even the most flacid portions of the set.

In what amounted to an about face, Ivory presented their new Playboy Records single towards the end of the set. "Life Goes On," penned by Paul Williams and Craig Doerge, was a perfect vehicle for their collective talents, and the band's sound became more disciplined, tighter and finally found the direction that had been lacking. Once having arrived at that plateau in their performance, the group remained there for the duration of the set. A rendition of "Nature's Way," a slow, winding ballad, was again an effective showcase, especially for Lance and Grant Gullickson's vocals.

Ivory seems to be undergoing a very positive transition, one which should be watched closely in the coming months.

Joni Mitchell Tom Scott & The L.A. Express

RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL, NYC — In this undoubtedly was the finest performance by a rock star (sorry Joni, you're there) in this giant concert hall, one of the great ladies of American (or perhaps Canadian/American) music, delivered the message that her many thousands of fans had been waiting for. Though shy and introverted in concerts past, Joni took the stage with the confidence of a Sarah Bernhardt and performed a beautifully paced two-part, hour and fifty-five minute set that for the most part featured selections from her recent Asylum LP, "Court and Spark."

Accompanied by Tom Scott and The L. A. Express, an Ode Records' act, Joni did "Help Me," "Free Man In Paris," "Twisted" (her final encore number), and "Raised On Robbery," her current single, as well as "Both Sides Now" (on which she forgot her own lyrics), "Blue," "This Flight Tonight," "A Case Of You," and "Yellow Taxi". The L. A. Express, a talented quintet of super session men who've worked with the likes of Zappa, the Byrds, and Jimmy Witherspoon on the road, opened the show and played well for about forty minutes, but were much more effective backing Joni, so much so that they consistently helped her achieve the in-studio dynamics that made her songs come across so powerfully.

As the case had been the night before, the audience was predominantly comprised of young girls in their teens who had hitch hiked to the concerts from places like Stony Brook and Trenton, and they lent their vocal support to Joni throughout the show, yelling, "We love you" between songs and occasionally shouting out a request.

For her part, Joni was quite conversational, at one point digressing into a long discussion about the birth of one of her songs. "I woke up one morning in Hollywood and noticed that my place was getting filled up with a lot of superfluous, opulent things," she said, "and I decided I'd do a real get back to nature trip, so I went up to Canada, bought a little

Harold Melvin And The Blue Notes

ROXY, LA — Probably the second world's greatest black male vocal group came to Los Angeles recently with their soulful review. The praised Philly quintet who are personable, polished, and precisioned sauntered thru their aggregate of Gamble and Huff hits like "If You Don't Know Me By Now," "I Miss You," and "The Love I Lost." Each member of the Blue Notes capably establish their own distinctive personalities and voices. They also demonstrate some of the best harmony ever heard by this reviewer. Melvin himself is the suave, soigne sophisticate of the act responsible for several million selling records. Especially good was the song "I'm Weak For You," off of their new Philadelphia International Album. On this particular number the group comically spoofed it up with a descent that invited audience participation. Opening The Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes Review was comedian Rodney Winfield who had some funny one liners. The one liner he seemed most impressed about was the one on the label in his jacket which said "Pierre Cardin." Sandwiched between Rodney and Harold on the bill was songstress Sharon Page. At one point during her gospel sounding vocal workout someone spiritedly called from the audience "Let's go to church," however her "holey" seductive sari probably wouldn't allow her in a church gospel sounding or not. She was very good on "I Think I'll Tell Him" but relied a bit heavily on hand gestures to both sell her song and her sari.

piece of land, and settled in to give my spiritual side a chance to catch up with my sensual side. Anyway, I was sitting one night knitting myself a coat, when I thought I heard applause outside. I walked out on the porch and looked around, but didn't see anything, then I noticed that the sound was coming from an Arbutus tree, a very tough, independent tree with rubbery leaves and a will of its own. So I went back inside and thought about that for quite a while."

When Joni proceeded to sing the song about the Arbutus tree, her whole rap came into clear perspective as she retold the story in her unique poetic way. For too long Joni's hesitance to tour has prevented her from receiving her just due. Without doubt, she is the finest lyricist working today and her performance at Radio City also proved that she has worked hard at widening her vocal range. d.b.

Stories Ken Tobias

BITTER END, NYC — The powerful driving rock of Stories, pulsed through the Bitter End, as the Kama Sutra recording artists told a tale of hard rockin' and rollin'. The dynamic energy of Ian Lloyd as the lead singer, was complimented by the tight knit instrumentation of the group.

Having undergone a change in personnel, Rick Ranno played some of the most electrifying guitar licks, and Kenny Aaronson, bassist, adroitly picked at his bass strings giving a solid pulsating undercurrent to the group's music. Kenny Bichel on electric piano and mellotron painted some incredible music with his skill on straight playing and came out with some of the most outrageous sound effects via his mellotron.

Opening up with the hard rocking "Bridges" from their "Traveling Underground" LP, their music was at once electrifying. Most of their material was up-tempo and hard driving and included "Mammy Blue," their next single "If It Feels Good, Do It," "Top Of The City," and "Brother Louie," from their second LP "About Us"

Ken Tobias performed a most interesting acoustic set which had a countrified folk flavor to it. His profound lyric and mellow voice made fine music, and his next MGM single "The Other Side" highlighted the set. m.d.

C. M. Lord

STARWOOD, L.A. — Not since the early days of Gladys Knight and The Pips has a lady delivered r&b vocals with the impeccable precision and energy of Catherine Mitchell. Together with fellow vocalist Richard Mosley, she led C. M. Lord's performance at the Starwood through a vigorous set composed largely of fresh, original material.

C. M. Lord, London Records' newly signed sextet, also features organist Steven Hines, guitarist Victor Lewis, Jack White on drums and Mike Ziskin on bass and vocals. Their rhythm section is particularly strong, and Victor Lewis' guitar work, as well as generally excellent use of rhythms and harmonies on songs like "Hard Times Rocky Roads" should give their material, as well as their act, immediate cross-over potential.

The group displayed great versatility on a cover version of the O'Jays' "Love Train" and with a number of medium-tempo songs that provided a perfect showcase for Catherine Mitchell's rich, husky voice.

Coming fresh on the heels of their rousing success with Bloodstone, the signing of C. M. Lord should put London Records in an admirable r&b position.

Charles Mingus And Old Friends With Rahsaan Roland Kirk

CARNEGIE HALL, NYC — When Charles Mingus and Roland Kirk joined forces the jazz lovers came out in force. Such was the case at this Saturday night show. Before a sellout crowd the "New Audiences" presented the reunion of Charlie Mingus and Old Friends. And quite a reunion it was.

Opening the show was the Charles Mingus Quintet, consisting of Charles Mingus on bass, Don Pullen on piano, George Adams & Hamiet Bluiett on alto and tenor sax, and Danny Richmond, one of the best jazz drummers alive. The Quintet was joined by John Faddis, a truly superb trumpet player and a friend of Charles Mingus.

Because of the unusually responsive audience, the Quintet performed for two hours, spotlighting each musician several times. The knowledgeable audience seemed to influence the Quintet, as they jammed on such numbers as "Peggy Blue Skylight," "Celia" and "Big Alice."

After a brief intermission the audience was anxiously awaiting the arrival of Roland Kirk, and his performance was no let-down. The second set saw the Mingus Quintet, along with Roland Kirk, John Handy, Charles McPherson, and John Faddis work together. What resulted was an overwhelming jam session. Four saxophones simultaneously backed Roland Kirk with power. Roland played some leads with two saxes at once and jazz was played as it was meant to be played. In all, the show proved to be a quencher for a true jazz lovers' thirst.

Forrest Green

BITTER END, NYC — An interesting assortment of roots, influences and techniques are incorporated into the fiery set of Forest Green. The opening night engagement of the Capitol recording artists proved to be an enchanting musical sojourn, taking us from rock to classical and improvisational jazz. Forest Green has the ability to put these rather divergent elements together, and the result is a textural meld that proved itself to be both tight and musically satisfying.

The full instrumentation included a tenor and alto saxophone, flute, bass guitar, lead guitar, drums, bassoon and two electric pianos. At once the group began to cook coming up with intriguing rhythms, tight vocal harmony, and instrumentation par excellence.

A sophisticated rock ensemble, their choice of material was apt because it clearly reflected the polished musical diversity the group possesses both as a unit and as independent performers.

"Movin' To The Country", a real rocking mover, began with a flash beginning that had the group imitating a locomotive engine. And the cookin' rhythms picked up speed and carried this superb rocker along. "Scream Fear," an up-tempo tune with fine piano work is a song spiced with most provocative lyrics and fine horn accompaniment. "Mountain" had a serenely tranquil melody that floated forth from the group. A total mastery of form and instrumentation, carried this song very well. "Black Shepard" clearly incorporated classical elements with an almost Baroque quality to the flute solos which left us all very mellow. "Beggar Man" and up-tempo tune employed moving rhythms with an excellent lyric and vibrant images. Closing their energetic set the group performed "Leave Your Love". A complex series of melodies and great instrumental solo spots concluded the dynamic performance of this fine group.

Lord's Prayer—Sister Janet Mead—A&M

This is Sister Janet Mead and she has one of the biggest rock hits in the country: “The Lord’s Prayer.”

Sister Janet’s version of “The Lord’s Prayer” is becoming very popular very fast—over a quarter million singles in three days.

Sister Janet is an accomplished musician from Australia whose Rock Masses are highly regarded in her own country. Her recording of “The Lord’s Prayer” is one of those rarely successful fusions of tradition and change and will be a very pleasant surprise to anyone who hasn’t heard it.

For an audience that has come to take the 2000 year old prayer for granted, Sister Janet has made it new again.

“The Lord’s Prayer” by Sister Janet Mead.

POP PICKS

TWIN PEAKS—Mountain—Columbia/Windfall PG 32818

For all devoted Mountain fans (and for those who just like good rock 'n' roll music) the group's latest live two record set is a treat. Featuring some of the band's biggest sensations such as "Mississippi Queen," "Mantuck's Sligh Ride (Parts 1 and 2)," and Jack Bruce's "Theme From An Imaginary Western," the album is a pulsating tribute to the power that this group possesses each time it takes the stage. It is obvious from listening to the ecstatic crowd response (the concert was recorded in Japan at Osaka Koseinenkin Hall, Aug. 30, 1973) that this is a typical show of Mountain power. The musicians in the group besides founders West and Pappalardi are Bob Mann, guitar, and Alan Schwartzberg, drums.

COME LIVE WITH ME—Ray Charles—Cross-over CR9000

Every release of Ray's is anxiously expected and this unique collection is certainly not an exception. Highlighted by the hit title track, the LP is neatly divided into ballads and up-tempo tunes. "Somebody" looks like a great potential single, capturing the essence of the artist every bit as well as his classic "Hit The Road Jack" of 1961. For diversity, Ray has a wonderful version of the old Everly Brothers' hit, "Problems, Problems" adorning side 2 of this LP, complimenting "Louise," "Everybody Sing," and "Where Was He" perfectly. His vocals are as spirited as ever, and the entire effort is one of his best.

HERE COMES INSPIRATION—Paul Williams—A&M SP-3606

To all of those who have followed Paul's multiple careers as performer, songwriter, singer, and TV star, this new LP will be a healthy tonic for mid-winters' coldest and loneliest days as well as an inspiration for the inevitable warm breezes of spring. The lovely and tender ballad "You and Me Against The World," a beautifully orchestrated song, is placed for contrast after the short romantic spoof entitled "Nilsson Sings Newman" and gives an insight into Paul's concept of the pacing and juxtaposition of his material. Paul uses no less than 50 musicians and singers to give this LP the richness which is its trademark.

LOUD 'N' PROUD—Nazareth—A&M SP 3609

In the great tradition of powerful British bands, Nazareth has come through in fine fashion on this rock 'n' roll gem which will have knowledgeable fans everywhere up and boogie-ing around their record players before they know what hit them. "Go Down Fighting" is typical of the band's straight forward approach, and we all know that the shortest distance between two minds is a thumping rock beat with solid vocals behind it. "Not Faking It," "Child In The Sun," and a great version of Joni Mitchell's "This Flight Tonight" are further proof that this group is on its way to the very top.

SKYLARK 2—Skylark—Capitol ST-11256

The quote from Kahlil Gibran on the back cover appropriately sums up the group's philosophy when it says "... but who shall command the skylark not to sing?", and this LP provides further emphasis that Skylark's intention is to fill the air with beautiful music. "Love's A River Flowing" is one of the prettiest and most capably arranged ballads we've heard in quite a while and displays the excellent inner workings of the artists' minds as they make difficult harmony parts sound effortless. "If That's The Way You Want It" and "It's A Wonder" are our favorites from this worthwhile effort.

HELLO!—Status Quo—A&M SP3615

England's number one boogie band has itself another stellar LP with this smokin' collection highlighted by "Roll Over Lay Down," "Claudie," and the epic "Forty-Five Hundred Times." Francis Rossi, Richard Parfitt, Alan Lancaster, and John Coghlan have gotten down to the essence of boogie and rock on this album and the effort may very well be rewarded by the group's biggest sales to date. With tunes like "Caroline," "And It's Better Now," and "A Reason For Living," the band that has already established itself as a top box office draw in England, is surely headed for the top of the U.S. charts with this one.

NEWCOMER PICKS

SWEET FORTUNE'S DARLING—Hotspur—Columbia KC 32541

Exquisite harmonies and powerful, driving rhythms highlight this attractive debut LP for the talented quartet. "I Lost My Wings In Memphis" is a fabulous rocker with a steady, repeating chorus that gives it enough strength to be considered as a single. Throughout the collection, Hotspur effectively makes use of percussion, in much the same way as the Stones, using accents to bolster the feeling of the song. "I Wrote This Song," "The Best I Can Do," "Countryside Ride," "You Can't Lose (What You Never Had)," and "We Need A Captain" are all well worked pieces of music, showing promise for the band.

ETHNIC STEW—Tribe—ABC ABCX 807

One of the most versatile new groups to emerge this year does so with refreshing abandon on its ABC debut LP, a collection that starts out funky and just doesn't let up. "The World Should Learn To Party Together," "Think People," and "Lovin' On The Outside" are typical of the raw yet well paced fury the group puts together throughout the collection. Obviously well versed in the crucial arts of arrangement and dynamics, the band has that good time feeling in its songs that's infectious and catchy. Listen to "Tribe," "What Am I Gonna Tell My Wife," and "Siggy Siggy" and you'll fall for this band in a big way.

JAZZ PICKS

VIRGO RED—Roy Ayers Ubiquity—Polydor PD 6016

Fascinating is the best word to describe Roy's new Polydor LP, which combines jazz's finest overtones and octaves with a steady, cookin' feeling that's altogether compelling. Featuring an interesting version of the Stories' hit single, "Brother Louie," as well as the memorable tracks "Love From The Sun," "I Am Your Mind," "Des Nude Soul," and the stunning title cut, the album is a rapturous sortie into the textures and modes of the present and future. The entire collection is permeated with constantly changing rhythmic patterns that are sure-fire dance numbers. Watch for the LP to take off very soon.

STAN GETZ & BILL EVANS—Stan Getz and Bill Evans—Verve V6-8833

This LP is something special, not just because it highlights a whole series of previously unreleased recordings of great jazz artists on Verve (there are 6 such LP's in all), but because it brings two of jazz's greatest masters together in a very impressive and distinctive collection along with Ron Carter, Richard Davis (who share bass duties), and the redoubtable Elvin Jones on drums. Each of the six compositions on this album from "Night and Day" to "Melinda" is as well put together as a fine Swiss watch. We particularly like Evans' work on "But Beautiful," a good description of the LP and the Verve series.

CHILDREN'S PICK

SINGS FOR ALL THE BOYS AND GIRLS—Bob McGrath—Disneyland 1357

To all the kids who watch Sesame Street (and that includes a lot of older kids too) Bob is a household word, and his new Disneyland LP should provide one of the biggest treats of the year. Using the Jimmy Joyce Singers, as well as an excellent group of versatile studio musicians, Bob gets into "I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing," "The Unbirthday Song," "Black And White," "It's A Small World," "Everything Is Beautiful," and "Joy To The World," rendering each in a classy, effective style, perfect for the young (and young at heart). Arrangements of the songs were done by the talented Lee Norris.

ORIGINAL CAST PICK

JEROME KERN IN LONDON—Original Cast Recording—Monmouth—Evergreen MES/7064

The Monmouth-Evergreen label does musical theatre fans another big favor in bringing this import here from EMI. Featured performers in London productions of Kern shows sing such perennials as "I've Told Ev'ry Little Star," "She Didn't Say Yes," "Look for the Silver Lining," among others. "Among others" includes a lovely neglected Kern-Hammerstein song, "Hand in Hand," sung with surprising romantic flair by Stanley Holloway. To discover this song alone is worth the price of the album.

Musical Isle Promotion On 'Americans'

NEW YORK — A major promo thrust, incorporating the twin patriotic phenomena of Washington's Birthday with Brian MacGregor's Number 1 single hit, "The Americans," and its rapid follow-up album, is being mapped by Musical Isle of America branches in St. Louis, Kansas City and Baltimore.

According to Norm Winstroer, MIA St. Louis branch, the albums will be stacked up, grocery-style, in the Venture chain of St. Louis and Kansas City stores and the Hecht Company outlets in the greater Baltimore-Washington area. Fifteen stores in each chain will be involved in the promotion and each will employ heavy display and point of sale aids. The campaign runs from Monday (18) to Sat. (23).

An extensive newspaper advertising schedule has also been developed to promote the "special." Both the Washington Post and the Star-News will be employed, along with the Baltimore Sun. In the midwest, the Globe Democrat and the Post Dispatch in St. Louis, The Kansas City Star, The Peoria Star and the Springfield (Mo.) News Ledger among others, are being used.

U. Of Pacific Course On Rock Biz

STOCKTON, CALIF. — The University of the Pacific, Stockton campus, is repeating its course of study into rock music and its influence upon society. Piloted by the school's Communications Arts Dept., the course is once again being taught by UOP graduate student Larry Seidman.

Said Seidman: "A main objective this year will be how popular music, that is, rock and roll, becomes a product." He said the business side of rock music will be studied more closely than last year, and he will be receiving assistance in this area from The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences Institute. "We will look at the popular music industry and its relationship to its audience and to society," explained the 24-year-old Seidman, who attended an institute symposium last summer in Nashville, Tennessee on popular music.

Several guest speakers, such as music critics Philip Elwood and Ralph Gleason, University of California history professor Leon Litwack and rock promoter Bill Graham are scheduled to visit the class. Also planned will be the showing of selected films, field trips to rock concerts and visits by rock bands.

The class, already with a maximum enrollment of 60 students and a waiting list, began Thursday (February 7) with a program by "quicksand," a rock band. Several of the sessions later in the semester will be open to the public.

"I think it is time the rest of our society realized that rock music is a cultural indicator of great impact," explained Seidman in describing why the class was developed. "Rock music is the largest medium of communication in the country. It is an artifact of our society, a vehicle to political, social and cultural awareness an art form. Because it is all of these things, it is a form of communication that needs to be studied," he declared.

Some of the top artists that have been showcased at the Southern Showcase are Tom T. Hall, Conway Twitty, Jerry Lee Lewis and Rick Nelson.

Within the near future those that will be spotlighted are George Jones and Tammy Wynette, and Johnny Rodriguez, with Loretta Lynn set for the week of February 18.

Acuff Awarded Gold Record

NASHVILLE — During their recent visit to Nashville, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band presented veteran entertainer Roy Acuff a gold record for his participation in their million-plus selling album, "Will The Circle Be Unbroken," a project that has held true to its announced intention of helping "music form a new circle."

Dirt Band producer Bill McEuen expressed his personal appreciation for Acuff's willingness to assist in the sessions at a time when "a lot of people were more concerned with the length of our hair than with the fact that we wanted to make music." And make music they did. Interestingly, one of Acuff's comments—dealing with spontaneity and concentration in contrast to doing countless takes on the same song—has become regarded as a highlight of the album and a major statement of philosophy regarding recording.

NARAS Luncheon To Discuss Piracy

Country Artists of the Week: MACK WHITE

Its All "Commercial" — When it comes to music, Alabama born Mack White has, virtually, a one man show. First, he wrote his current chart climbing hit single "Too Much Pride," then he produced himself as artist on his own label. And, appropriately enough, his own label is named "Commercial."

Mack White was born and reared in a family of musicians and show business promoters. His father, mother, two brothers and two uncles were musicians. His sister was a booking agent and one of his two brothers was a very successful show business promoter. At the age of four Mack was encouraged to begin a serious study of music. Starting with the guitar, he studied with many professional teachers and musicians as early as grammar school and continues those studies today. An extremely versatile artist Mack sings, plays piano, guitar, bass and drums and he has composed and written the lyrics for about 200 songs.

His study of music has paid off in a sensitive awareness of changing styles and a keen intuition of not just what's going on now, but where the musical scene is headed. Altogether, his songs range from jazz through rock, country, western, folk, soul and his personal style—which grows out of his rich feeling for what music has been, is, and what listeners want to hear now.

Choctaws To Honor Twitty

NASHVILLE — MCA recording artist Conway Twitty will be appointed "Honorary Chief of the Choctaw Indian Tribe" on February 12th, a singular honor that has only been bestowed once before on a white man. In 1955 Roy Rogers, who had adopted two Choctaw children, received the same accolade, but he was not given the ultimate distinction of a tribal name, which will be assigned to Conway by Harry J. W. Belvin, principal chief of the Choctaw Nations, during the ceremonies in Hartshorne, Oklahoma.

As a national sales agency, NSD has been instrumental in establishing several independent country labels. They are currently in the national country charts with records on Commercial Shannon and Brand X Labels.

Country LP Reviews

HAPPY HOUR—Tony Booth—Capitol 11270
 Tony Booth, undoubtedly one of the freshest and most talented young singers on the country scene today, has put together an album of great material that gives his vocal abilities all the room they need to really take off. The title cut is an up-tempo tune that takes hold of you just as she takes hold of him. The fine material presented on the album is written by such greats as Buck Owens and Freddie Hart. "Bring Back My Peace Of Mind" is a moving ballad that has a fine identifiable lyric. Some of the selected cuts which bear careful listening are "Across The Town And Gone," "Fishin' On The Mississippi," "The Good Old Days (Are Here Again)," and "Secret Love."

I'VE ALWAYS BEEN COUNTRY—Ivory Joe Hunter—Paramount 6080
 Ivory Joe's countrified approach is something fresh and new to behold on the country music scene. When Ivory Joe puts together an album you can bet the LP is going to be a tight package of the kind of music that Ivory Joe manages to perform so well. "Today I Started Loving You Again" is a moving ballad that Ivory Joe really lets loose on with fine instrumentation and great background harmonies. "Streets Of Baltimore," an interesting tale, possesses Ivory Joe's melodic undercurrent which makes this record something special. "He'll Never Love You," is a tender ballad that has that Ivory Joe flair. Others include "City Lights," and "San Antonio Rose."

THE OAK RIDGE BOYS—The Oak Ridge Boys—Columbia 32742
 Renowned as one of the most talented gospel acts around, The Oak Ridge Boys have an uncanny ability to incorporate Gospel into a country type sound. There new album is a glorious achievement both for their established devotees as well as a primary vehicle for the winning of new fans. And once The Oak Ridge Boys have captivated you with their vocal magic you will undoubtedly remain steadfast. Included in the excellent selection of material is a great rendition of "The Baptism of Jesse Taylor." Splendid string arrangements abound by Bergen White. The display of material includes "Loves Me Like A Rock," "Put Your Arms Around Me Blessed Jesus," and "What A Time We Will Have Over There."

New Opry House To Have Grand Opening

NASHVILLE — The grand opening and first performance of the Grand Ole Opry in Radio Station WSM's new $15-million Opry House will take place March 16 before a capacity audience of regular Opry fans and music industry, civic, business, and government notables from across the nation.

The last Saturday evening performance of the Grand Ole Opry in the 84-year-old Ryman Auditorium, home of the Opry since 1942, will be March 9, and the last Friday evening performance will be March 15.

The new 4,400-seat air-conditioned Opry House has been under construction since November 12, 1971. It is the world's largest broadcasting studio. Construction of the House is substantially complete, with only some equipment installations and tests remaining to be completed.

It will be the first building to house the Opry that was specifically designed and built for the 48-year-old radio show. The Opry began as "The WSM Barn Dance" in November, 1925 in one of the WSM studios on the fifth floor of The National Life and Accident Insurance Company home office building. The name was changed a few months later to "The Grand Ole Opry" after a fortuitous ad lib opening remark by the program's master of ceremonies, "the Solemn Ole Judge," the late George D. Hay.

The Opry outgrew a succession of larger and larger studios and then was moved to the East Nashville Tabernacle, then to the old Hillsboro Theatre, and then to the War Memorial Auditorium, before moving to the 3,000-seat Ryman Auditorium in 1941.

National Life and Accident bought the Ryman in 1963 and changed its name to the Grand Ole Opry House. The insurance company began serious studies of the feasibility of making the Ryman the permanent home of the Opry. Although many improvements were made to the property, air conditioning the building turned out to be impractical, and the company was not successful in obtaining additional property surrounding the Ryman for parking.

The architectural firm of Welton Beckett & Associates of Los Angeles was given the assignment of creating a house with a greater seating capacity, yet one that would retain the intimacy between performer and audience that exists in its present location.

The new Opry House has fine acoustical and lighting systems, 12 dressing rooms, a band rehearsal room, more than 12,000 feet of storage space. Television shows can be produced in the 4,400-seat Opry House auditorium or in the separate television production studio, that has a seating capacity of 250.

In addition to being the new home of the Grand Ole Opry, the new house will be available for a wide range of events from conventions to performances by symphonic orchestras.

The House has been booked by the Nashville Symphony Orchestra for a guest appearance by pianist Van Cliburn this spring as well as for two Broadway show summer performances. Other events scheduled to date include television specials, a major cattle auction and a performance by a Norwegian Ballet company. The House stage is 110 feet wide and 68 feet deep and the depth can be extended to 91 feet by means of a hydraulically-operated elevating mechanism.

Planning is underway for the 30-minute dedicatory ceremony which will precede the beginning of the first Grand Ole Opry performance in the new House, and the list of guests to be invited is being compiled.

"We already have a file of requests for tickets to the first show that began coming in from regular Opry fans many months ago," says E. W. (Bud) Wendell, vice president and general manager of the Opry and

Ms Douglas Studies Nashville

NASHVILLE — Despite a crowded schedule, actress Donna Douglas took time during her recent visit to Nashville to discuss the purpose of the visit. "Well, there are several reasons for me being here," she explained. "Part of it is simply to visit with a number of friends—Joannie Keller, Paul Huffman—and it was delightful to get to see Lester Flatt again—but another part concerns my continuing education in show business. I don't think my role of Ellie May Clampett has created any particular limitations as an actress, but I'm always open for new ideas; I've had several offers to record and I frankly don't know much about the recording business and I think Nashville would be the best place in the world to learn."

Ms. Douglas emphasized that any material she might record would "have to be something that would enable me to stay in contact with kids," although she's not particularly interested in becoming known as a kiddie entertainer. "Kids loved Ellie May," she elaborated, "and that made me very happy—kids are very important to me."

All arrangements for Donna's visit to Music City were handled by Owens-Fair and Associates. From here she went to Chattanooga for a cerebral palsy telethon that raised in excess of $100,000.

Opryland. "And, while there are many dignitaries we hope will be with us for the ceremonies, we want the regular Opry fan to be represented in a big way also."

Wendell said the ticket requests for the first show are being honored in the order of the date of postmark.

The new Opry House is the centerpiece of Opryland U.S.A., National Life and Accident's $26-million "theme" park which opened in 1972. WSM, Opryland, the Opry, and National Life and Accident are all affiliates of NLT Corporation (NYSE, MSE).

Malcolm Forrester has resigned his position as general professional manager and director of Carlin Music in order to devote himself exclusively to his Getaway Music catalogue. He will, however, still be headquartered at Savile Row and Carlin will continue to administer the catalogue as before. Forrester had his own office at Carlin with his own company prior to becoming general professional manager in 1971. Forrester's duties will be absorbed by vice-president Paul Rich. Whilst at MIDEM Rich finalized agreements which were started during his recent Stateside trip whereby Carlin Music acquires for the world catalogues of Blendingwell Music, Sweet Songs Inc. and Sister John Music which houses the writings of Cashman and West, Jim Croce and new singer Henry Gross. A new company, Sweet City Songs Ltd. has been formed.

Hal Shaper, president of Sparta Florida Music group currently in New York for talks with publishers and will then go to Nashville where he will be joined by Jeff Kruger head of Ember. On the 17th he leaves for Los Angeles for meetings with Wes Farrell whose Coral Rock Music, Sparta administer in the U.K.

Affiliated Music Publishers Ltd., EMI's publishing subsidiary which incorporates Francis Day & Hunter, Feldmans, Robbins and Keith Prowse Music has changed its name to EMI Music Publishing Ltd. The change was effective from Jan. 21. At the same time executive director Ron White was appointed managing director. Other directors on the board are L. G. Wood and J. Phillips. The name change is to bring the company in line with other EMI subsidiaries, so that all EMI companies around the world will include the EMI name. The four companies will still keep their separate identities and the directors and general managers will remain the same, being Miss Kay O'Dwyer (Francis Day & Hunter), Ronny Beck (Feldmans), Terry Slater (Robbins) and Peter Phillips (KPM). The sheet music division will be known as EMI Music Publishing Sales and Distribution Centre.

Deputy managing director of CBS Records Maurice Oberstein announced the appointment of Frank Whipp to the newly created post of manager, manufacturing and technical operations. Whipp has been a management consultant at Coopers and Lybrand for the past three years and prior to that was with the Three M Company.

Terry Slater, general manager and director of Robbins Music has negotiated a deal with Sydney Thompson whereby Thompson's Invicta Music catalogue will be published by Robbins world wide. Invicta Music contains a substantial amount of original copyrights recorded by Thompson on his Dance Records label and the Invicta label.

Jeffrey Kruger, chairman of the Ember Group of Companies has announced the acquisition of two sets of publishing rights. Barton Music, which contains songs recorded by Frank Sinatra will be administered world wide excluding America, Canada and Japan by Ember subsidiary Sparta Florida Music, and Wes Farrell's highly successful Coral Rock Music will also be administered by Sparta Florida in the UK only.

KPM has acquired the musical score to the film "Papillon" for the UK. The score was written by Jerry Goldsmith, and the film stars Steve McQueen and Dustin Hoffman. As previously reported EMI are to release the soundtrack album in March and the film will be on general release next Easter.

Ardmore & Beechwood Belgium has acquired the rights of the music from the film "Papillon" starring Steve McQueen and in co-publishing with Jean Kluger Music the rights of "Pceder schmink en mascara" recorded by the Flemish top artist John Terra.

Editions Basart-Belgium reports that the number "Put your head on my shoulder" sung by Albert West on CBS is published through MAM-Basart. Also the songs "Let me get to know you" and "This is your song" are controlled by Editions Basart-Belgium.

Intersong-Primavera sent a list of the most important copyrights of the moment: "Paper roses" (Marie Osmond), "Die mooie zomer" (Gerard Cox), "Schones Madchen aus Arcadia" (Demis Roussos), "Someday somewhere" (Demis Roussos), "Star" (Stealers Wheel), "One way ticket" (The Osmonds), "Big fat mama" (Long Tall Ernie and The Shakers), "Wonderful" (Colin Blunstone), "Shady lady" (Shepstone & Dibbens) and "Showdown" (E.L.O.).

1973 was a very positive year for EMI-Belgium. Since Jan. 1 the company also distributes the MCA label. The promotion department will get a new structure. Robert Pernet will be exclusively responsible for the promotion of the WEA label. Dirk de Vries, promotion manager, will promote the new extended EMI catalogue in co-operation with Mr. Jean-Claude Lambert who is responsible for the EMI labels (French sung promotion). Mr. Jan Florizoone left EMI from February 1974. Much promotion is given to the film-version of "Jesus Christ Superstar". Dobie Gray has a new LP entitled "Loving arms". Much is expected from the new Bob Dylan and the Band album entitled "Ceremony of the Horsemen" on Dylan's own record-label Ashes and Sands Records, which will be distributed through Elektra/Asylum Records. A new gold record for Bob Dylan is already a certainty. Jack Jersey's new single is entitled "Don't break this heart". Jack Jersey is a Dutchman who sings in the style of Elvis Presley and who has much success in the Benelux.

Polydor does a big promotion for the new single by Georges Moustaki: "Sans la nommez".

Olsen's Gold Again

DENMARK — One year ago, the Olsen Brothers created sensation in Denmark by being awarded a silver disk for the sale of 20,000 copies of their debut album. However, this did not mean by any means that sales diminished. The Olsen Brothers have just received a gold disk for the sale of 50,000 copies of their debut album "Olsen." Previously only four albums have sold enough to qualify for this distinction in Denmark, among these LP's by Simon & Garfunkel and Rogger Whittaker.

Ward Swingle Inks April Music Pact

NEW YORK — April Music (U.K.) has signed an exclusive long term publishing deal with Ward Swingle—creator and producer of the Swingle Singers. The worldwide publishing agreement will run concurrently with Swingle's new recording deal with CBS.

American-born Swingle, who is now living in England, was one of the pioneers of the fusion between classical music and jazz. He recently reformed his Singers under the new name of Swingle 2, and is currently working on his first album for CBS which will be released in the spring.

"It will be a collection of madrigals from all over Europe," said Swingle. "I am hoping to use an A.R.P. Synthesizer to copy the sound of Medieval instruments — otherwise, apart from voices, I will only be using bass and drums."

April music general manager, Ivan Chandler, said; "We are very pleased to be involved with Ward Swingle. I, personally, have admired his work for many years."

Energy Crisis KO's Steels Dan, Walsh UK Tours

LONDON — The energy crisis and gas shortage in England have forced cancellation of two American band tours, those of Steely Dan and Joe Walsh, with his Barnstorm group, both of whom were originally scheduled to headline tours there this spring.

Walsh and Barnstorm were to have been on the bill with the Doobie Brothers at the Rainbow Theater in London, the highlight of their now cancelled schedule.

Joel Cohen of Kudo III Management in Beverly Hills, manager of Steely Dan said, "the time just isn't right now. American groups don't know what will happen to them if they play England, especially with the severe gas shortage."

Steely Dan and Walsh are on the ABC-Dunhill label in the U.S., and represented by Probe Records in the U.K.

A Probe spokesman said, "until the present situation improves, all British tours by our acts will be held in abeyance."

Nordista/Big Secret Deal At MIDEM

CANNES — During MIDEM, AB Nordiska Musikforlaget, Stockholm, concluded a catalog deal with Big Secret Music Ltd., London. The result of the discussions between Lennart Desmond of Nordiska Musikforlaget and Guy Fletcher and Doug Flett of Big Secret Music, was that the firm will represent the catalog for Scandinavia including Finland and Island.

Seikodo Of Japan Shows A Profit

TOKYO — One of Japan's largest record wholesalers, K. K. Seikodo (president, Masanobu Iihara) reconfirmed his company's sales target for the 29th term (Jul. 1-1973 to June 30, 1974) and announced its target for the 30th term (July 1, 1974-June 30, 1975) at the firm's annual conference, held Jan. 26 at the head office in Tokyo.

Sales for the 29th term are projected to be 13,200,000,000 yen ($44,000,000) 200,000,000 yen more than expected initially. This is due to the receipt of 8,950,000,000 yen ($29,833,333) by the interim report of Jan. 15, 1974, or 68% of the full term's target. Sales for the term as of Jan. 15 were up 20% over the same period of the previous year with records accounting for 89% of total sales and tapes 11%.

Sales target for the 30th term is 16,000,000,000 yen ($53,333,333) and the projected figure for the 31st term is expected to be amended from 18,000,000,000 to 20,000,000,000 yen.

Shinseido Shows Growth In Sales

TOKYO — The president of Masamori Miyazaki, K. K. Shinseido (one of Japan's largest record retailers) reported that 1973 sales is close to reaching the projected yearly target of 6,200,000,000 yen ($26,666,666). Sales target for 1974 is 9,000,000,000 yen ($30,000,000), but the figure is subject to change according to the raw material shortage and curtailment of electrical power. The sales increase in 1973 was due to the establishment of 27 new branches in several districts in Japan.

Budd To Israel

NEW YORK — Julie Budd, the 19-year-old singer, will depart on her first trip to Israel on Feb. 19th for a 10-day visit in which she will give 30 shows for troops and hospitalized soldiers.

Accompanied by Herb Bernstein, her conductor-arranger-manager, she will be making the trip under the auspices of the United States Stars for Israel program, founded by impresario Harry Walker and co-chaired by Alan King and Theodore Bikel. The program has been sending a succession of American artists to entertain Israeli troops ever since the Yom Kippur War.

While at MIDEM, Diresa Records of Spain completed a three year agreement with Byg Records France whereby their catalog will be distributed throughout Spain by Diresa. Present at the signing were Gaby Fortuny (Top Magazine Spain), Mae-teo Fortuny, Dorris Land (Cash Box) Jean Luc Young (Byg Records, France) Manuel Muniz (Diresa Records, Spain—actually doing the signing) and Antonio Olano (Spain).

A.T.E. Is Good Despite Energy Crisis

Despite the energy crisis and the continuing industrial problems besetting the United Kingdom at the present time the Amusement Trades Exhibition took place as usual from 29th thru 31st January 1974 at the Alexandra Palace. The usual exhibitors were there and many overseas visitors came to look and buy at what is generally considered to be the largest showcase for the coin machine industry in the world.

Lars K. Skriver, Germany arcade owner and executive president of the working committee for the promotion of the German Amusement Arcade Industry—a stalwart A.T.E. visitor was in attendance as usual. Skriver told Cash Box that he is well on the way to attaining a goal he has been aiming at and that is to raise some 40,000 dollars amongst his fellow arcade owners in favour of the Dolphin Foundation for Disabled Children. His collection in 1973 amounted to 5,250 dollars bringing the total amount of $25,600. When the total of $40,000 is reached a press conference is to be held which will be attended by many well known doctors and high officials.

Also very evident at this year's show was the advent of the video tennis game.

London Coin Machines Ltd., one of the international leaders in the world of coin operated amusement machines took their usual prominent stand and deputy chairman, H. David Rogers said that although the show itself was a success business was not as buoyant as in previous years due to the conditions prevalent in the U.K. right now. However, as far as London Coin was concerned the World Cup, manufactured especially for the American and overseas market, had done exceptionally well. He had many orders for this machine and although World Cup looks like a video game, it is in fact a mechanical game, very easy to look after, much less expensive and whereas on a video game the player only has control of the bat on the World Cup the player has control of the ball itself and is able to maneuver the ball when attacking into the other side. The game is manufactured by Brenco Equipment Ltd. of Weston-Super-Mare, Somerset who have a factory of some 50,000 square feet and a turnover of 100 machines a week. The delivery is excellent.

The American Kiddierama Company were well in evidence on the Marmatic stand and having established their product in the States they are now entering the international market via Mar-Matic Sales in England, Japan and Belgium with Belam Exports in the U.S. representing Kiddierama for the rest of the world. Shipments have already gone out to France, Hong Kong and the Middle East. Kiddierama, the first cartoon machine in the world, because of its content is in the happy position of needing no licenses and no gaming controls. A complete movie running for six minutes in colour and sound is available for ten pence. They have the largest film library in the world and have access to all cartoons from major motion picture shows in Hollywood. The Kiddierama theatre is a product of the technological age because the film is unbreakable, the cartoon is a cartridge and the lamps are long burning so there is no problem on wear and tear.

ADP Automaten from Germany were at the ATE to launch their new air hockey game Taifun which, by maximum noise reduction through patented cushioning is silent and the only audible sound is the result—a score. This makes it much easier to locate.

EDITORIAL:

A Word To The Wise

Every intelligent juke & games operator keeps a list of reasons in his head why direct location ownership of equipment will hurt rather than help that location's profits. He normally pops these reasons out whenever a direct sale threatens one of his locations. The major points normally stressed are:

1. No location owner is equipped with the skill and technical knowledge necessary to keep machinery functioning smoothly, and it must either rely upon guesswork when a machine breaks down or call in costly service help from an independent.

2. No location can afford to rotate in new music boxes and games as can an operator with a broad route and with business contacts with all legitimate distributors.

3. No location can adequately select the right record mix for the box as can an operator equipped with professional help in that regard.

Now, there are loads of other legitimate reasons why the professional operator's skills always work out best for the location, but let's just discuss these three. Why? Because these are three areas which many, many operators today are abusing themselves, and in the main, they have absolutely no logical ground to stand on when fighting a direct sale.

What hypocrisy! Imagine an operator mouthing off to the owner of Joe's bar who's considering buying his own juke, flipper and/or table when: 1. service by that operator stinks and machines are either old, dirty or dead half the time; 2. new or newer different machines are only reluctantly installed after the location screams for months;

3. records are selected in the most senseless way . . . letting someone who doesn't even work for the route pick them and then throw them at the routeman to put out anywhere he likes instead of utilizing all the printed data available in conjunction with the operator's own intimate knowledge of the tastes of each of his stops.

What we're saying is simply: don't tell a location that he can't perform the necessary skills to keep machines operating and coin coming when you don't provide those skills yourself.

Allied Leisure Fire Report

HIALEAH — The extent of fire damage to the Allied Leisure factory complex here was not nearly as severe as company executives originally believed when the blaze engulfed the facility week before last. According to present assessment, the fire was concentrated in the executive offices, shipping and silk screening departments. The production line, engineering and cabinet making facilities escaped critical harm.

Company marketing vice president Chuck Arnold said they are in a "business as usual" posture, shipping Tennis Tournay—video games and some Super Soccers. "And our target date for the release of our up-coming novelty game remains March 4th," he declared. The new items, details of which are still under wraps, will be introduced to Allied distributors at their March 1-3 meeting at the Doral Country Club in Miami Beach.

Atari 'Superpong' Is Being Readied

LOS GATOS, CAL. — Atari's latest video amusement game, "Superpong", is now in manufacturing. A fast action 2 player game, Superpong features three paddles per player and the ball is served from random locations on the screen (unlike "Pong", where the ball is served only from the net). Which paddle hits the ball, and where on the paddle the ball hits determines the angle and speed of the ball.

Superpong is in limited production, and Atari sales chief Pat Karns anticipates more orders than can be filled. Atari, according to Karns, is clearing the manufacturing line early to make way for possibly one of the "most exciting new concepts in video games in two years."

WORTH TONAWANDA — Wurlitzer held a two-day service seminar in St. Louis, Missouri and Pensacola, Florida. Wurlitzer field service engineers Bob Gilman and Karel Johnson led music operators and their service representatives through the complete procedural exercise of servicing the new Americana 3800. The two-day sessions were designed to familiarize operators in the territories of St. Louis and Pensacola with Wurlitzer's new phonograph. The Americana 3800 is currently keeping pace with the record sales enjoyed by its predecessor, the Model 3700, according to factory executives.

At the Wurlitzer Service Seminar conducted by Bob Gilman in Pensacola, Florida on January 15 and 16: Kenneth R. Melvin, OK Music; Donald Romig, Gaudin Amusement; C. E. O'Neal, Ed's Amusement Co.; Edward Batchelor, Dothan Amusement; Hubert M. Parker, Amusements Incorporated; Dal Brasell, Mobile Amusement Co.; John A. Fla. AMA Set To Be Held Sept. 20, 21, 22

ORLANDO — Chuck Cunliffe, convention chairman of the Florida Amusement and Merchandising Association, announced that the 1974 Annual Convention and Trade Show will be held on September 20, 21, and 22 at the Sheraton Olympic Villas in Orlando, Florida. The hotel, located only five minutes from Disneyworld and ten minutes from the McCoy Jetport, is offering special room rates of $17 single and $20 double occupancy for the annual gathering.

The hotel was selected by the Convention Committee not only for their convenient location and unique decor, but also because they have sufficient exhibit space to allow FAMA to accommodate more displays at the Trade Show.

Lack of space forced the 1973 Show to be closed out at 30 exhibits. The Trade Show will be expanded this year to include product manufacturers, as well as amusement, music, and vending machine manufacturers.

For additional information on the Convention and Trade Show, contact Judi Deaver at FAMA Headquarters, Post Office Drawer 1519, Winter Haven, Florida 33880.

A.C.A. Has Shipped Its 1st Thousand Sportscenter TV

'SPORTS CENTER'

LOS ANGELES — A.C.A. Sales vice president Mickie Greenman revealed last week that For-Play Mfg. Corp. has completed shipment of the first two thousand Sport Center TV games to its distributors in the United States and Europe. This includes a major shipment to South Africa as well.

"The most gratifying aspect of these shipments," said Greenman, "is the numbers of positive re-orders." He explained that word from both domestic and foreign distributors via their customers is that Sport Center is the "strongest income producer on the route."

"After all," he said, "in our business, route income is the name of the game. Just like our Rally, Sport Center is proving itself in the one way operators understand best and that is in the cash box of the game."

Greenman declared that Sport Center was an immediate hit at MOA, and equally successful at the recent A.T.E. exhibition in London. He went on to say that obviously operators have the same intuition all over the world and that's why Sport Center has been so universally accepted.

A.C.A.'s current network of U.S. distributors handling the For-Play games line include: Atlas in Chicago, General Vending Exchange in Baltimore, Lew Jones Dist. in Indianapolis, Shaffer Dist. Co. of Ohio, A.M.A. Distributing in New Orleans, Robert Jones International in Boston Dedham (Boston), Games Sales Company in Memphis, Eastern Music Systems (Philadelphia), Mountain Distributors in Denver, Commercial Vending in Dallas, Bilotta Distributing in New York and Sandler Vending in Minneapolis.

"Although at this moment," Greenman went on, "Our big push at A.C.A. is Sport Center, we do have other projects under development for our distributors."

Greenman added that A.C.A. would naturally keep its distributors completely informed as to what was happening. He did explain that new products would be forthcoming in both the TV and non-TV areas. "The need for games is getting greater as operators explore and develop new locations. It behooves manufacturers and distributors to intelligently fill this growing need."

MILWAUKEE MENTIONS

Although this time of the year is expectedly rather a slow time, businesswise, there doesn't seem to be much evidence of a lull at the local Wurlitzer Dist. Corp. premises—and that word comes from branch manager John Nix, who said they're selling just about every Wurlitzer phonograph model in their current lineup! . . . John is planning to host a Wurlitzer service school sometime in mid-February. Session will be held at the local showroom and invitations will be in the mail shortly.

FOR THE PAST SEVERAL MONTHS Stu Glassman of Radio Doctors here has been campaigning most vigorously, in behalf of operators, to correct the problem of defective records and to get shorter records on 45's for juke box play. "I am happy to report," he said, "that our efforts have certainly not been in vain. There's been a decided improvement in the quality of product and many record companies are releasing special shortened versions (3 min. or 3:22) of recordings earmarked specifically for operators." Stu said he was very gratified that so many label executives took the time to respond to the operators' complaints and thoroughly investigate the matter. In one instance he mentioned, a label discovered that their defective product was not at all mechanical in origin but the result of packaging. The tight packaging was causing records to warp, so the label quickly corrected this problem and eliminated the defective product! "I can honestly say the quality of records has vastly improved. Where formerly we had a major problem of defects at least once a week, it has now been almost 60 days since we received a defective record. That's progress!" he concluded.

Washington State Assc's. 1st Meeting To Be Held Feb. 23

SEATTLE — The first large-scale meeting of the newly-formed Washington State Coin Operators Association will be held here Saturday, Feb. 23rd at the Sea-Tac Motor Inn (Seattle-Tacoma Airport). Al March (Hart Music), president of the group, said the principle business to be conducted will be formation of by-laws, incorporation of the group under Washington State law and the ultimate election of a board of directors. At present, officers are March as president, Jim Hart vice president and Bud Miller secretary-treasurer. Buzz Heyer of Northwest Sales (also an MOA director) also serves as an ex-officio officer and advisor to the new group.

The meeting gets underway at 1:30 PM with a business meeting to complete the articles outlined above. Following will be a social hour, then dinner and entertainment. Tom Skiffington, Seattle Record One Stop, is serving as entertainment coordinator and will have Dot Records' Pat Roberts and Cinnamon Records' Jackie Ward on the bill.

Marsh advised that the principle reasons he and his colleagues decided to organize an operator association was both to promote the image of the coin phonograph-games industry and to educate location owners against direct machine buying.

"I felt we needed to advertise ourselves a bit more in this state," said March. "We know we've got a solid, healthy and necessary service business here and felt it was time to say so and quit hiding. Besides, we've had a bit of trouble with direct sales and figured that a little united trade work could educate our location owners into reasons why taking an operator instead of trying to maintain the equipment they buy themselves is preferable," Marsh stated.

"Many of us have suffered by losing locations to direct sellers but it's the location owner who suffers most . . . in the cost of equipment, in his attempt at maintaining the equipment technically and in supplying records and vendible items, and eventually in losing much of the good will he's had with his customers who get tired of playing the same old equipment and same old records. That is, provided they keep playing."

Marsh is expecting a large turnout of Washington operators, together with their wives and key employees, at the Feb. 23rd function.

Supak & Sons Mfg. Enter Soccer Table Arena With "Le Grand Football"

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. — Another new coin game factory has entered the business with a new table soccer game. The firm, Supak and Sons Mfg. of this city, has developed a "French-styled" soccer table which they call Le Grand Football. Bulk deliveries to distributors (who are now being appointed) will commence in March. And according to Jon Supak, general manager of the Le Grand division of Supak & Sons, the game will be priced "$100 to $200 below our competitors."

Company president Nate Supak said the Le Grand soccer table (which they produce in the Far East and import into the States) is "the result of a long chain of events beginning in Virginia Beach, Va. where football

French-style table consistently grossed more in all locations . . . not only in parlors but also in arcades, bowling alleys, college dorms and neighborhood bars."

Judging that the profitable action in Virginia Beach could be telescoped across the entire country, Supak decided to "take action" and called his son Jon, in Hong Kong at that time as far eastern representative for Supak & Sons. "I asked him to see if we couldn't produce a French-styled soccer machine which was both better and cheaper than the French-styled tables now in use," Supak said. "Jon began an intensive research into all the manufacturing possibilities and traveled throughout the Orient. After was first introduced in a big way in the United States.

Seeing what he described as "amazing profits being made in youth-oriented football centers, Nate Supak spoke with a few local football parlor operators. He said he then "examined all the soccer games currently on the market and found the finally locating exactly the right people to produce this type of product, Jon got together with me. We then established a brand new manufacturing and assembly plant directly supervised by Supak and Sons for the exclusive production of the Le Grand competition model French style

S. Rose App't. V.P. Sales Nutting Assoc's

MOUNTAIN VIEW, CALIF. — Bill Nutting, president of Nutting Associates, has announced the appointment of Stuart Rose as vice president in charge of sales. Initially, Rose will be headquartered in Cherry Hill, N.J. and cover sales for Nutting in the Eastern U.S.A. Bill Nutting himself will cover sales in the West.

The company, Nutting further advised, is now in full production of their 'Wimbeldon' color-screen video tennis game, and bulk shipments have been sent to their network of dealers from coast to coast.

Wimbeldon, originally previewed to the industry at the MOA Expo in Chicago, features a color tube which depicts a tennis court, complete with green grass and boundary lines.

Football table."

Inherent in the "French-style" table, according to Supak, is the "competition factor not found in other style machines. The telescopic rods, which do not extend through the opposite side of the table, allow the players to stand closer to the table without fear of injury," he said.

"The semi-rough P.V.S. playing surface makes for excellent ball control and the heavy duty metal men permit very powerful and skillful goal-scoring shots. What all of this means is that customers developed sufficient skill to allow steady improvement which keeps them and their friends coming back. But despite being the best and most profitable table, the French machine was still not in all ways satisfactory. The ashtrays were too small and overflowed all over the floor, annoying janitors, and machine downtime was high because the French coin mechanism was continuously jamming. The French coin slot was also easily picked by the players. This combined with jamming was costing the average parlor operator and amusement company several hundred dollars weekly, and many disgruntled operators were forced to replace all the coin slots with American-made push type pool table coin chutes," Supak declared.

"The improved production samples of Le Grand Football were tested in a Tidewater Football Parlor and quickly became the favorite of all players, out-grossing all the other tables in the parlor," he said. The players found the Le Grand to play smooth as silk and liked its added color. The management was happily spending time counting money rather than trying to get downed machines back into play."

Now the enthusiastic Jon Supak has left the garment division of Supak and Sons to devote himself full-time to the production and marketing of the Le Grand.

UPSTATE ITEMS—Next regular meeting of the New York State Operators Guild will be held Feb. 20th (Wednesday) at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston. Usual 7:30 PM starting time . . . Thanks largely to Johnny Bilotta, Lindy Nardone and Pat Bilotta, the Rochester, N.Y. Democrat and Chronicle put together one whale of a great feature article on the jukebox industry in that upstate city. Johnny said quite candidly that when reporter John Czarnecki originally came to him it seemed the writer was more interested in doing a piece on the old "black eye image" of the business. But because John, Lindy and Pat gave the writer real solid info on this industry, the article turned out to be a testimony to the worth of a machine in the entertainment of Rockester's citizens, as well as a good description of the business side of jukes. Article even described what a distributor is, even how commissions are arranged with locations, etc. Lindy explained how the equipment turned from 90X mechanical to 90X electrical today and how valuable qualified service help is to operators. He even gave a pat on the back to the record trade for providing money-earning music, as well as technically better records. "Luckily records get on the average of 4,000 plays now. In the Old days, the most you could get was 40," he said. The PR award of the week goes to our upstate traders with, of course, a generous vote of thanks to John Czarnecki. Would that there were more like him.

FROM THE BUCKEYE STATE — CleCoin's Ron Gold back from the A.T.E. Show in London where he enjoyed meeting with many old friends and customers and checking into new machines on display. Tho, with exception of one or two items, Ron says he'd already seen just about every amusement there. Also says attendance was down compared to recent A.T.E. shows he's been to, probably because of the off-again, on-again business that preceded the event due to the energy and employee crises there . . . Ed Shaffer, president of Shaffer Dist., Columbus, says sales of new music and amusement equipment are doing very well these days. A particularly hot item remains the Brunswick 'Air Hockey', including their recently-released model 746 3' x 6' Air Hockey.

FROM PHILLY — Big news from the David Rosen, Inc. people may pop soon. Watch the trades . . . Fred Pliner, Henry Petherbridge and Marty Jansen of PMC Electronics back from the A.T.E. London show echoing other comments that attendance was off but that distributors in from all parts of the world more than made up for it. After all, those are the gents the factory people are most interested in speaking to and Fred and the PMC people had sample of their brand new 'Players Choice' video game on display at the Music Hire booth. Fred says it got rave notices from distribs and that the Belam Co., which exports his line there, made quite a number of deals right there at the show to move the machine throughout Europe. Players Choice, which is available in either an upright or console cabinet, offers two different games: "BlueLine Hockey" and "Boss." The first a hockey item, the second an elimination game. Bulk deliveries to U.S. distribs later this month.

Other American traders spotted on the A.T.E. trade show floor included: Frank Murphy of Williams, Irv Margold and Marshall Caras of Rowe, Gil Kitt and Joe Robbins of Empire, Sam and Gary Stern of Seeburg, Al Simon, Dick Simon and Len Schneller of U.S. Billiards, Lou and Gene Boasberg of New Orleans Novelty, Marc and Bob Haim from R. H. Belam Co., Barry Feinblatt of Jersey, Art Daddis of United Billiards, Tom Leon of Kiddierama, Bill O'Donnell of Bally, Irv and Arnold Kaye of the Irving Kaye Sales Corp. and Nolan Bushnell of Atari. Noted foreign trade friends spotted by the Cash Box reporter included Mike Kogan of Taito, Dave Rogers of London Coin, Joe Khoury of Dale Distributing, Toronto, and Paul Hunger of Rowe International.

HEADING SOUTH — Gratefully, that reported fire at the Allied Leisure plant in Hialeah wasn't nearly as serious as rumor originally had it. See story on details elsewhere this issue . . . Just back from Columbia, South Carolina, where he was the guest of Peach State Distributing for the 11th Annual So. Carolina Coin Operators' Convention, Atari sales chief Pat Karns reports a great visit. From Columbia, Karns went on to Peach State's headquarters in Macon, Georgia, and also visited their Atlanta office. Bill Arcush, Atari field engineer, accompanied Pat and got some first-hand experience with Atari game location operations. Pat was very impressed with Peach State's set-up. Said he'd never seen anything like it!

CHICAGO CHATTER

Following the announcement of the merger of Phoenix, Arizona-based Arizona Automation with Micro Games, Inc., firm's president Dick Raymond further informed us that a location has been selected for the construction of a new 50,000 foot plant. This will be in addition to the recently completed facilities on W. North Lane in Phoenix. "We have been enjoying tremendous success with our Champion Soccer coin and non-coin version units and are presently very much involved in the production of video games," Dick said. "We have an excellent product in Champion Ping Pong, our first video unit (which was shown during MOA Expo) and we intend to accelerate our efforts in this type of equipment, since Micro is a leader in the software and hardware testing of integrated circuit boards" . . . Dick will be in Chicago February 10 thru 14 to exhibit his very popular Champion Soccer non-coin operated model at the National Sporting Goods Association convention in McCormick Place.

A SERIES OF discussion workshops for operators is being sponsored by the Illinois Automatic Merchandising Council (state chapter of NAMA) on the subject of the energy crisis. Sessions will be held at the Marriott Hotel in Chicago (2/13); the Holiday Inn in Bloomington, Illinois (2/21) and the Holiday Inn in Bettendorf, Iowa (2/20). Workshop chairman is Ken Gruenes of Cockrell Coffee Service Inc. in Schaumburg, Ill.

FRESH ON THE HEELS OF the release of "Playtime", Midway Mfg. Co. unveiled still another T.V. game. This one's called "Leader" and it is geared for two or four player action and housed in an attractive upright cabinet. Larry Berke is quite excited about it and he's urging operators to stop in at their local Midway distributor showroom and have a look at it!

UNDERSTAND THE T.V. GAME was as big an attraction at the ATE convention as it was at MOA Expo '73! ChiCoin's export manager Bob Sherwood, although he didn't attend the show this year, was in daily touch with Avron Gensburg who was at ATE and noted especially the numerous new companies (both U.S. based and from foreign countries) who displayed video units! . . . Incidentally, samples of ChiCoin's new "World Series" baseball game have been in progress for the past week and the feedback from factory distributors has been most gratifying, according to Bob. Distribs are very impressed with the entire unit, which is an upright console model, and Bob said the factory is geared for a very successful run!

FROM THE MOA NEWSLETTER: Association vice president Don Van Brackel, in the hopes of forming a state association in Ohio, has called a meeting of area operators for Friday, February 22, at the Holiday Inn in Columbus.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

Coming fresh on the heels of their success with "Playtime," Midway's new 4-player video game, "Leader," has been applauded as a huge success by the local operators. Also a hot item at C.A. Robinon is the new Atari "Super-Prong," featuring 3 paddles for each player. The firm, incidentally, is currently conducting a post-inventory sale with bargain prices being posted on much of their stock. . . Fuel shortages haven't prevented operators from the surrounding areas of L.A. from driving in to see what's new in the city. Last week Jerry Kunreuther of the Albright Vending Co. arrived, having driven from his home in Bishop Calif., in the high sierras.

Californians returning last week from the A.T.E. show in London included the A.C.A. brass George Muroaka and Mickie Greenman, and Rui Lopes, executive vice president of Nutting Associates. Greenman described the show as good for the manufacturers, meaning that many distributors from the United Kingdom, the Continent and other sectors of this earth came by machine exhibits to make deals. Matter of fact, none other than Francis-Claude Gosteli from France's legendary Electro-Kicker company will be in Los Angeles in a couple of weeks to firm up French distribution deal he struck with Greenman for the For-Play video game "Sport Center." A.C.A. president Henry Leyser, also at A.T.E., jetted off afterward for conference with distribs in Germany before returning to Oakland.

IT'S A WHOLE NEW BALL GAME

REBOUND™

The Action Starts Here

Rebound. It's the newest action game from Atari. In fact, it's a whole new ball game that may be faster, more fun and more profitable than anything you've seen yet. This one is everything you've come to expect from the leader in innovative video games . . . and more.

Just Like Real Volleyball

Rebound is for two players and the play's just like real volleyball. Serve . . . a quick return up and over the net . . . back and forth. It takes a lot more than luck to win this one. It takes steady nerves, fast reactions, concentration and practice. The more it's played, the better it's played.

Maximum Player Appeal

Of course, that's the way we designed Rebound . . . for maximum player appeal. And, that means maximum profitability for you. Contemporary cabinet styling and special graphics demand attention. The fast-paced action assures replay after replay. And, Rebound offers the same exceptional reliability, solid state design and full year warranty available in previous Atari video games.
