Convention Fever: An Essential Catalyst

The Elektra/Asylum convention which concludes this week heralds the end of over seven weeks of major record company meetings across the country and signals not only a new fiscal year for some, but new challenges for all. One by one, starting in mid-June, the big labels have assembled their respective troops for a series of sales, promotion and marketing seminars as well as individual field awards and gold and platinum record accolades. Product presentations, panel discussions and talent showcases have rounded out most of the convention agendas.

Though many different topics have been dealt with during the course of the various conventions, one theme has emerged which effectively binds all of them together — unity of purpose. No mere rah-rah college fraternity beer blasts, these exercises in hard work and celebration have underscored one of the record industry's founding principles — talent plus effort equals reward.

Interestingly, each label so far, has emerged from its convention with the resolve that it was going to set records for sales as well as establish new heights of aesthetic artistry. Key executives have delivered speeches carefully calculated to embrace both artistic and business sensibilities. These speeches have appeared to motivate normally business-like field staffs and give them renewed vigor. Couldn't they have become self-motivated or perhaps renewed by a long vacation? Maybe and maybe not. The conventions seem to have breathed an indomitable spark of life and unity into diverse personnel and molded them together like no other phenomenon. Obviously, every company can't be number one, but each has emerged with the belief it could be. That's the point. If conventions serve no other purpose but to bring people together and allow them to reach a common understanding of purpose then they are beneficial to the most exciting segment of the entertainment industry. There's nothing like them for starting the juices to flow and one can only hope that they will flow long, strong and profitably.

Copyright Bill To Full Committee; Juke Amendment Rejected

by Rebecca Moore

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The House Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice tentatively finished its work on the copyright revision bill last week despite delays caused by cancelled sessions and last minute amendments. The bill, which completely overhauls the current (1909) copyright law, must now be adopted by the full Judiciary Committee before it goes to the floor of the House.

Eleventh Hour Amendment

The subcommittee rejected an eleventh-hour amendment to exempt jukeboxes from royalty rate review. Jukebox owners will be paying an $8 per box royalty fee each year for the first time when the new law passes. Not optimistic about getting the break which could have forestalled potential rate hikes, a Washington jukebox spokesman said he was not surprised the amendment was defeated.

Said Rep. George Danielson (D-Cal), sponsor of the jukebox exemption, "Their industry is sort of on the rocks." He added, "They're having problems even now."

"I appreciate why the amendment is offered," replied chairman Robert Kastenmeier (D-Wis). "The jukebox industry has fallen on hard times."

First Proposed

Despite sympathy, the chairman pointed out that the $8 rate had not been raised since it was first proposed in a 1967 copyright revision bill. Kastenmeier felt the newly-established Copyright Royalty Commission, responsible for reviewing royalties written into the law, would consider economic factors during their reviews. "I would think that the state of the industry would be a factor in their review of the rates," said the chairman. "We have to trust that the various parties will get fair shakes."

Although the subcommittee voted down Danielson's jukebox amendment, it did adopt a fallback amendment. The new compromise Danielson amendment requires the Copyright Royalty Commission to consider only those economic factors existing after the date of enactment of the bill. Agreeing that the bill should not be retroactive, and that the amendment would aid not only jukeboxers, but everyone paying out royalties, subcommittee members adopted the limitation.

Complex Revisions

Jukebox owners were not the only ones hoping for a break in the revision bill. During the seven-month mark-up of the numerous and complex provisions of the 83-page bill, a variety of special interests clashed. The issue: millions of dollars in new and higher royalties.

High First Half Sales Reported By Atlantic

NEW YORK — Atlantic Records' first half-year sales period has been one of the best in the company's history, according to label president Jerry Greenberg. The report attributes sales magnitude to platinum albums by the Rolling Stones, Led Zeppelin and the Bee Gees, which led to a mid-quarter announcement of April ranking as the second greatest sales month in Atlantic history. This report follows the reported most successful quarter in the history of Warner Communications Inc.'s records/music division, which includes Atlantic's parent corporation, WEA, which also handles distribution for Elektra/Asylum and Warner Bros. Records.

Other factors in the half-year success reported by Atlantic include RIAA certified gold records by Hot Chocolate, Bad Company, Black Oak Arkansas and Aretha Franklin, all backed by summer sales campaigns along with other artists' releases.

Under the revision bill, passed 97-0 by the Senate last February, jukeboxers, cable TV owners, and public TV stations will be paying royalties for music and other copyrighted works for the first time. The estimated $3.5 million royalties from jukeboxes will go entirely to music composers.

The estimated $8.5 million cable royalties, however, will have to be divided among a variety of groups: broadcasters, music copyright owners, independent sports promoters. The Copyright Royalty Commission will have responsibility for dividing up the jukebox and cable TV royalty pies among the various claimants.

Compulsory License

Public broadcasters will pay royalties for musical and graphic works as well under a compulsory license. If the broadcasters cannot voluntarily negotiate royalty rates, the Royalty Commission will arbitrate binding compulsory rates. The House subcommittee reversed the Senate bill when it knocked literary works out of the compulsory rate plan. Public broadcasters, unhappy about paying any royalties, were displeased they lost literary works to free market negotiation.

'Best Six Months Ever' Highlights RCA Convention

by Gary Cohen

SAN FRANCISCO — Citing the best 6 month sales and earnings performance in the company's 75 year history, RCA Records president Ken Glancy formally welcomed approximately 500 delegates to the RCA Records convention. In welcoming them, he urged them to "regard these four days here as a celebration."

He noted that "the business has come a long way since the early days, but then and now we're in the business of selling music and artists. And our commitment is as strong now as at any time in the past."

Glancy traced the history of RCA Records, noting it goes back a full 75 years, to October 3, 1901, with the founding of the Victor Talking Machine Company. Their new invention, the talking machine, "sounded like a parrot with a sore throat, yet was a new art form." Victor, founded by Eldridge Johnson, a machine shop operator, and Emil Berliner, a scientist and inventor who invented the microphone, first came to fame in mid 1902 when Enrico Caruso recorded 10 sides ("all in one take") for the Victor Co. "Caruso's artistry built the Victor Company," recalled Glancy. "The success of Caruso made it possible for Victor to attract other serious artists to the medium. Those early years saw the Victor Company way out in front of its competitors."

Weaknesses

In a jocular aside, one of many in Glancy's address, he noted that "Caruso had two weaknesses: pasta and breads, and he established a lifestyle for all artists in the industry."

In 1906, he continued, Victor introduced the Victrola, which became the generic term for what we now call the phonograph. Around 1905-1906, Victor's annual sales totaled $12 million.

Modern History

The modern history of Victor dates from 1929, when Victor was acquired by the Radio Corporation of America and David Sarnoff. Glancy interprets the history as translated into "75 years of a lot of ups and a few downs."

Glancy then introduced Jerry Weintraub, who promptly lamented that he was "upset to be in a room this size and not get $10 a head." He declared that he has had "a really wonderful association with this company for the past eight years, and I know it all

New York City 'Price War' Accelerates; Korvettes, Goody's Lower Traditional Prices

by Julian Shapiro

NEW YORK — Fasten your seat belts. The "price war" among record retailers in the New York metropolitan area has shifted gears, and is accelerating at a dizzying pace headed for who-knows-where.

Korvettes and Sam Goody, Inc., the area's two largest record retailers, are no longer watching from the sidelines: they are both active participants now, with the appearance of advertisements in this week's daily newspapers offering selected recent releases (all $6.98 list) at prices far below those that either has traditionally charged. In some cases, these prices dipped below the wholesale cost.

Sunday New York Times Ads

In the July 25 edition of the Sunday New York Times, Sam Goody displayed in a portion of its full-page ad a section labelled "Picks of the Week." This consisted of 10 LP's (Steely Dan's "Royal Scam," "Ole ELO," Jefferson Starship's "Spitfire," Andrea True Connections's "More, More, More," Marvin Gaye's "I Want You," "Monkees Greatest Hits," Peter Allen's "Taught By Experts," "Chicago X," Donna Summer's "A Love Trilogy," Bob Marley & The Wailers' "Rastaman Vibration") each priced at $3.59. Goody's price for sale merchandise ($6.98 list) had hovered at $3.99 for some time.

"It (the 'price war') seems to be escalating in New York," commented George Levy, president of the 27-store Sam Goody chain. "Nobody can make money selling records at $3.64 or working at 10% above cost. But the price problem has sucked everyone in. The 'Picks of the Week' will be a regular feature, and you can expect prices to change in New York."

Korvettes Sale At $2.99

This is probably due to the prices that Korvettes instituted in the 30 metropolitan area operation. In the same edition of the New York Times that Goody introduced its new feature, Korvettes advertised five LPs ("Ole ELO," Ronnie Laws' "Fever," Jefferson Starship's "Spitfire," "Starland Vocal Band," Neil Sedaka's "Steppin' Out") for $2.99 each. They were listed inconspicuously in one corner of a full-page display, under the title "Super Specials."

Quantities were limited to one of each title per customer, but no store limits as to quantity available were posted. In addition, 16 other recent releases were prominently advertised at $3.44 each, including five from Capitol Records, four from CTI/Kudu, and four from ABC.

Four days later, in the July 29 edition of the Daily News, Korvettes advertised "Ole ELO," Donna Summer's "Love Trilogy," and Kiss' "Destroyer" for $2.99 each, all under a "Super Special" monicker. In addition, two releases were listed for $3.44 each and the Grateful Dead's "Steal Your Face" (2-LP set listing for $9.98) was sale-priced at $4.99, the lowest price advertised in 19 major metropolitan markets as surveyed by Cash Box since the album was released six weeks ago.

'No Comment'

Dave Rothfeld, vice president and divisional merchandise manager for Korvettes, refused to comment on this recent development. "We are not at liberty to discuss strategies of prices; I have nothing to say."

Industry sources agree that the chain cannot be making money at the $3.44 price, and are certainly losing money selling records at $2.99, since this is below wholesale cost (what Korvettes pays the manufacturer for the records). It is believed that the reason for the low visibility of the $2.99 specials was so as not to excessively anger the record manufacturers.

This contention was corroborated by Levy. "The manufacturers don't like the price war because it's killing the rack jobbing operation, which is 50% of the manufacturer's business. Of course, they (manufacturers) are selling more records as a result of the low prices, but they're afraid that chain operations, being squeezed as a result of the rack jobbers' inability to compete with these prices, will throw up their hands and get out of the record business, and turn to more profitable ventures."

The Initial Combatants

Meanwhile, the initial combatants have not remained silent in the wake of these recent developments. Alexander's, in the July 23 edition of the Daily News' advertised the Beatles' "Rock 'N' Roll Music," a 2-LP set with a list price of $10.98, for $4.99. This matches the lowest price at which the package was advertised in a recent nationwide Cash Box survey (July 17).

Jimmy's, the nine-store record chain which many industry observers cite as an initiator of the current "price war," added a new wrinkle to its established policy of selected $2.99 specials. In addition to most recent LP's by Helen Reddy, Donna Sum-

... And In Britain

NEW YORK — As the price war heats up stateside, record buyers in Britain are also being treated to slashed LP prices at the retail level.

According to a recent report in Melody Maker, the British pop paper, the discounts range from 18 cents to $1.26 in American money, and generally extend only to albums in the top 50, and often only to the top 5.

The discounters include one-store operations as well as the biggest general retail and record retailing chains. A typical album by a top artist in Britain costs $5.79. With the top discount it would sell for $4.53. A British law prevents the sale of any item below the price paid by the retailer. The practice of "loss leading" on certain items in order to get customers into the store is widely used in America. Melody Maker reported to have found one shop selling an LP for more than its list price. Discounting of records is fairly new in England, mainly because there is a no-returns policy on records there. All figures above are based on the value of the British pound at press time.

HOUSTON, TEXAS — More than 66,000 allegedly pirated tapes were seized by agents of the FBI in raids conducted in more than eight Texas cities.

TULSA, OKLAHOMA — More than 25,000 allegedly pirated tapes were seized by the FBI from a number of locations.

DOVER, DELAWARE — An anti-piracy statue signed into law by Governor Sherman W. FRONT COVER

Once in a long while a group comes along, a group that is something special to the music industry. The Spinners have been together for twenty years, and during that time its members have worked magic on the people they work with and audiences they play for all over the world. More than just in the music industry, though, this is one of the best loved groups of people anywhere.

Just look at the facts. Four gold LPs. Five gold singles. A star on Hollywood Blvd. Sold-out concerts wherever these men appear. Sometimes you can measure a group's force on the music scene by the number of other artists directly affected; the remarkable style that is the Spinners crops up practically everywhere you look in pop music today.

So, twenty years strong, The Spinners are still forging ahead. There's a new album on Atlantic, and many concerts to perform. And, as Pervis Jackson said recently, (Pervis sings bass) "We'll always be a group, on or off stage. We're together. It works for us."

Clive Davis Speaks To Western Retailers

by John Mankiewicz

LOS ANGELES — In the first of a four part series of afternoon dialogues that will take him to New York, Chicago, and Minneapolis, Arista Records president Clive Davis talked with western retailers about his company's upcoming releases and shared his own record business philosophy.

Last week in the grand ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Davis was relaxed and informal as he played tapes of new material by Arista artists. "The common denominator of Arista," Davis explained, "is not to take advantage of daily occurrence, but to build for the future."

With that, he added that he was going to play a few songs by a major group. "This is a record that's going to come out soon, and I'm not going to say who it is." Then the room was filled with the sound of confident, professional rock 'n' roll. When the tape was stopped, Davis invited anyone who thought he knew the name of the group to take a guess. For a few seconds the room was silent, then a voice from the back said "The Bay City Rollers?" When Davis confirmed the guess, an audible gasp rolled through the audience.

Davis then explained some behind-the-scenes working behind the upcoming Rollers tour and album. "This is a group that sells 750,000 units in the United Kingdom on its first release. And, while retaining the teen image, I felt it was necessary to go beyond that, to expand the market. The group is going to play some dates in Canada, where it is unbelievably popular, and then come to the United States. We feel we have a great group in the Rollers, and we want to build them carefully. This is an image change, not unlike what is happening to Eric Carmen, who is not just a balladeer, but a full-fledged rocker as well."

Before moving into the R&B side of Arista, Davis fielded a few questions from the audience. "I think the music business is healthy," Davis responded. "People are always saying 'Where's the new music coming from, where are the new revolutions?' I think it's nice to find a revolution. Certainly there's one happening now with progressive music. When there is a revolution (and you can find them if you absorb all the cross-currents), other kinds of music get pushed to one side and one kind becomes dominant."

Moving into R&B, Davis played some selections from an upcoming General Johnson LP, and talked about breaking new artists. "I believe that Arista has broken more artists in the last year and a half than the next two companies combined," he declared, listing a number of Arista artists that he said have achieved national importance. "But this can't be done," he added, "if a company pursues a course that involves fairly indiscreet artist signing. This doesn't do justice to the artists that need nurturing on labels that make a practice of this."

With that in mind, Davis explained that he doesn't like to release a single without an album behind it. He related an incident concerning one of Arista's new groups, Silver, and how he felt that he should make an exception in that case. "A song was brought to my attention, 'Wham-Bang Shang A Lang,' that, while I felt it was not representative of Silver's work, would be a song that they could do well. I brought it to them, and they incorporated it into their act. We felt we had a hit, and we turned out to be right." (The tune is 45 with a bullet this week).

Image Building

Davis then previewed some material from the upcoming album by Silver. "In image building," he remarked, "you look for FM hits if the artist has the capabilities." One tune by Silver, "To Be A Musician," was received most enthusiastically when considered in this light.

Davis then concluded the program by playing some tapes of a new group, The Funky Kings. "Obviously," he said, "I'm using a lot of superlatives when talking about these groups because I believe in them. After all, I signed them."

Davis thanked the retailers who attended the presentation. "We're dependent upon you retailers, not just because of the enormous job you do, but also because of the excitement that you put into that job."

Retail Reaction

"I don't remember a presentation like this ever coming up before," remarked Lou Fogelman, president of the Music Plus chain. "The people I talked to after the show were all very much impressed. Davis is certainly a knowledgeable speaker, and it's nice to see a heavyweight get into the front lines."

MCA's Earnings Peak

UNIVERSAL CITY, CALIF. — MCA Inc. has stated that the estimated earnings per share for the three month and six month periods ended June 30, 1976 were $1.17 and $2.54 respectively, compared to $1.14 and $2.03 for the comparable periods of the prior year.

The estimated figures are being released at this time in view of a substantially lower estimate of MCA's earnings per share for the second quarter of 1976 made recently by a major Wall Street brokerage house.

3 N.Y. Dept. Stores To Open On Sundays

NEW YORK — Korvette's, Macy's and Alexanders', which collectively account for over 9 billion dollars in annual retail sales, have made plans to open their doors to customers on Sundays. In addition, Abraham & Straus, Gimbel's, Orbach's, Gertz's and J.W. May's are department stores also contemplating Sunday openings. Korvette's is the metropolitan area's largest record retailer, and all the stores mentioned maintain record departments.

The plans are made possible by a recent New York State Court of Appeals decision to abolish the state's traditional blue laws. Macy's is targeting an initial Sunday opening for sometime in September, while Korvette's is reportedly considering a date as early as August 29. Alexander's has already begun placing advertisements for part-time help on Sundays in several local newspapers.

The stores are looking to seven day weeks partially on the basis of the good business they have had as a result of opening on the Memorial and Independence Day holidays, during a year marked by otherwise erratic retail action. The success of supermarket chains which have opened on Sundays is also listed as a factor in the decisions.

RKO-Aussie Radio Exchange Dubbed: 'A Happy Hookup'

by Stephen Fuchs

LOS ANGELES — Ordinarily, "Rocktober" marks the highlight of the Australian radio year as far as promotion is concerned. But this year it's going to be pretty hard to make the month of October stand out as something special, rock music notwithstanding. Two of the best disc jockeys from Sydney and Melbourne admit that whatever contests their stations have lined up will probably pale in comparison with the just-completed "Friends Across the Pacific" deejay exchange between the U.S. and Australia.

'The Happy Hookup'

A cultural exchange broadcasting program affectionally sub-titled "The Happy Hookup" by some of the participants, "Friends Across the Pacific" was a first in broadcasting for the type and scope of communications effort undertaken. All told, six Australian jocks traded physical places with six personalities from the RKO chain for a week of share-and-tell, highlighted by three days of live transmission beamed over the Pacific via satellite to their respective homelands.

The tradeoff, part of a bicentennial effort between the two nations, was coordinated by Paul Drew, vice president of programming for the RKO chain and Digamae Pty. Ltd., an Australian programming consultation firm. Jack Neary, commissioner-general for the Australian bicentennial committee, was the man "on the other end."

Similarities/Differences

Anyone near a radio during those special broadcasts (July 23-25) knows by now that the exchange was a success. No major language barriers presented themselves and, outside of a cold or two brought on by low resistance during a heavy work week with a lot of travel involved, "a good time was had by all." Which brings us to the meat of the story: just how much alike are the Australian and American approaches to radio programming?

Van Dyke

Upon his return to Los Angeles, KHJ program director and morning air personality Charlie Van Dyke dutifully phoned Cash Box with a portion of "at least a thousand" stories he brought back from his part of the foray into Australia. According to Van Dyke, Melbourne's Radio 3XY, where he guested, is similar to and different from KHJ in a couple of ways.

First off, rather than solid rock programming, the Australian station engages in combined formats. That is to say, instead of an entire day of rock, "blocks" of time are allotted to talk shows, sports coverage, etc. A breakfast show and an afternoon show may be concerned with top 40 material. When those programs roll around, production is quite similar to the kind we're familiar with here in the U.S.

The Video Revolution — Has It Really Come Of Age

by Nick Nichols

LOS ANGELES — The recent technological developments in the field of video electronics have been heralded by many as the forerunner of a new industry — one that will revolutionize the present recording industry by coupling it to the visual media through the application of video cassette tapes and, in the near future, video-discs. Is it really time for a major realignment of the present recording format? Though no clear cut answer has yet surfaced, some steps have already been taken in this direction. For example, in what appears to be the beginning of a trend, several major arenas across the United States have installed large-screen video equipment for use with all of their various events — sports, business and, of course, music (see Cash Box, Jan. 17, 1976). This in itself opens new doors to the performing artist.

Selling By Seeing

Various video techniques have also been utilized in selling products at the retail level. In the record industry, a unit called The Musicom was developed by Visual Systems Corporation to enhance record sales and help artists develop a commercial identity. The unit consists of a small console with a self-contained video screen, several sets of headphones and bins which house about 30 albums. The Musicom was recently incorporated into a marketing program by 20th Century Records (see Cash Box, Jan. 24, 1976), but according to Russ Regan, president of the label, the unit was not as effective as he had hoped. Said Regan, "This type of display, which combines video and audio, can be as effective as a promotional device — but only if the artist is already established and you're pushing a product that is, therefore, already in demand. It just doesn't seem to be very effective in breaking the unknown artist at this stage of the game."

Will 20th utilize this type of point-of-purchase promotion in the future? "That's a qualified 'no'," answered Regan, "We aren't planning any employment of this type of sales tool at the present, but I do believe very strongly in the potential of video in this industry — the introduction of software (video-discs) is the key."

No Backing, High Maintenance Primary Drawbacks

Jim Hackett, president of Visual Systems Corporation, expressed a similar feeling when he told Cash Box, "The Musicom was a prototype — strictly experimental, and for now, at least, we've scrapped the idea." Hackett noted that the main problem with the system is that to be effective it must be employed on a large scale, that is, an entire market must be blanketed with the units — and Hackett's company is just too small to produce enough of them without a financial commitment from a record company to cover the initial expense. "Furthermore," Hackett elaborated, "the initial expense of a single unit is not prohibitive, it's the maintenance that's the killer. The units require constant attention, particularly for cleaning, and trained video personnel are a rarity

Caribou Signs Wilson

LOS ANGELES — Beach Boy Dennis Wilson has been signed by Caribou Records, a CBS Records Associated Label, as a solo artist. Wilson will continue to record and perform with the Beach Boys, the first time in the group's fifteen year career that any of its members has pacted to record as a soloist.

Wilson's first recordings for Caribou will be released in the fall of 1976, following the Beach Boy's current summer tour.

at this time."

Video — Monitoring An Artist's Career

Video systems are presently being utilized for artist development within the music industry. Girard Landry, president of Landry Video Systems, is currently working in conjunction with Studio Instrument Rentals (S.I.R.) in the production of video cassettes of the many artists that rehearse their shows at S.I.R. Landry itemized the benefits of video to the recording artist at every level of his career: "The aspiring recording artist can make a black and white video of himself for $35 an hour at this time. Such a tape can then be distributed to the A&R departments of all the major record companies, making the procedure of landing a contract much less painful and time consuming. It is no longer necessary to pry an A&R man away from his duties to catch a show — he can see it in the privacy of his own office."

According to Landry, this is just the beginning. "The newly signed act can now go into the rehearsal studio and improve upon his showmanship and stage presence by video taping his show and reviewing the performance, much the same way a football coach requires his team to review a game and scrutinize its good plays as well as its mistakes. A first-rate color video

NARM Survey Reveals Pop Music Preference

NEW YORK — The National Association of Recording Merchandisers (NARM) has issued an analysis of the pop/contemporary music buyer as part of its expanded Consumer Research Study of the Growing Adult Market. The national survey of 25-45 year old adults, from which the report was derived, indicated that pop/contemporary music was the type most preferred by all respondents (hard rock was included in this category).

According to the study, 44% of all men interviewed stated a primary preference for pop/contemporary music; this was more than twice the corresponding figure for women. The correlation heightened with the inclusion of an age variable; the younger the buyer, the more likely he was to be included in this category. Fifty-five percent of the 25-29 year olds indicated affirmatively; conversely, only 13% of the 40-45 year olds did so. Men who had attended college but did not graduate formed the single largest sub-classification in this study registering 63% of its total membership. As a result of this data, a profile of the typical pop/contemporary music buyer, as constructed from the NARM study is as follows: a male, college educated (no degree) adult, between the ages of 25 and 29, probably unmarried (since 48% of unmarried men responded positively).

6.6 LPs Is Average

The average buyer last year purchased 6.6 LPs, 6.0 tapes, and 5.3 singles. Only age as related to LP buying formed any type of strict correlation among the variables of family income, education and age. The younger the buyer, the more LPs he or she bought: 8.3 for 25-29 year olds; 7.1 for 30-34 year olds; 4.1 for 35-39 year olds; 4.0 for 40-45 year olds. Those people in the 30-39 year old groups purchased the greatest number of tapes, 7.4 each, while 30-34 year olds accounted for 7.4 singles each, the largest group figure.

Males accounted for the greatest per capita purchases of LPs, 8.6 as opposed to 4.1 for women. But women topped both other item categories: 6.4 to 5.8 for tapes, and a substantial 8.2 to 4.2 for singles. Tapes and singles purchases scored highest with respondents who had no more education than some high school (10.2 for tapes and 9.8 for singles) while LPs registered best with those who had some college (9.1). In each case, the second highest total was significantly lower than the front runner's listed figure. For example, those who completed high school bought only 5.7 LPs. Those who had some college bought 7.5 tapes.

Discount Stores Are Preferred

Discount stores were the first choice of places to buy various recordings (36.3%). Record stores and department stores finished second and third with response rates of 31.3% and 20.0% respectively. Mail orders and variety stores accounted for 9.8%, while all other types of outlets posted a 2.6% figure. Men, however, preferred record stores over discount stores by 40.0% to 26.7%; women, on the other hand, overwhelmingly chose discount stores as their favorite place of purchase by more than two to one (48.6% to 20.0%) over record stores. Geographically, 55.6% of those residing in the northeast preferred to shop in discount stores; 63.6% of those residing in the west chose record stores first.

Fifty-five percent of those surveyed indicated that they do, indeed, compare prices before shopping and this fact remained relatively constant through nearly all variables. Men responded affirmatively at a slightly higher rate than

by Eric Rudolph

NEW YORK — Eric Carmen is one of a few current artists who have achieved popularity among AM, FM and MOR audiences. While this type of crossover is becoming more common as of late, with the widespread success of the Jefferson Starship, Fleetwood Mac, Paul Simon and Paul McCartney, there are still only a few artists who are able to relate to such a wide spectrum of musical tastes. Cash Box recently asked Carmen's manager, Stan Poses, if there was any way in which to premeditate or plan for the fusion of those three normally segmented markets. He replied "No, you can't sit down and decide you're going to hit one market to the exclusion of another, because if you do you're going to destroy yourself, the producer and the record company. You go out for the broadest audience you can hit. You try to make the best records you can. I think the various markets are all starting to fuse together anyway."

Letters To The Editor

Mr. William L. Brown, Jr.
President
Record Department Merchandisers, Inc.
746-748 Galloway Avenue
Memphis, Tennessee 38105

Dear Mr. Brown:

First, and foremost, I appreciate you directing your comments in your letter of June 30th to all record manufacturers, as it's to everyone's benefit to better control returns. The ABC Records RAPP program is not sealed in concrete and if other companies have a better plan, then we certainly are willing to listen.

I feel that a major record company such as ABC Records however, is obligated, if not to be number one in the record business, then to lead the industry as much as possible in all aspects of the business. Through trial and error, and thirty years in the record business, I have learned that we cannot be all things to all people no matter how hard we try.

ABC Records "Returns Award Performance Program" is designed toward a specific problem and is not, and was never intended, to answer all record industry problems. It certainly was not designed to insult anyone's intelligence and if you interpret it that way then I apologize. The program was put together as a step toward returns control at our level and our customers' level. The RAPP program is a program that an account can participate in or not. We make no demands for any customer to change his buying or return policies. We do say there is a savings if he does. As to whether he wants to participate, it is entirely up to him.

As far as our sales force is concerned, they are paid on all net sales. Consequently, under the RAPP program if returns are reduced they immediately benefit. In addition, seventy-five percent of the salesman's annual income is salary and only twenty-five percent is earned by commission sales. We want maximum exposure of our new as well as our known artists from all accounts. We ask our salesmen to get us representation on all product possible. We profit from the sales, not the returns.

Bill, I can't answer for the past as far as ABC Records is concerned, only the present. If you are having any serious problems with us regarding return authorizations or advertising, I would like for you to contact Skip Byrd or myself immediately.

In the meantime, I want to take this opportunity to thank you for your letter and also your business with ABC Records, past and present.

Regards,
Don England

Dear Mr. England,

Thank you for your letter of July 7, 1976 in response to my letter of June 30, 1976 concerning your RAPP program and the primary causes of returns.

While I appreciated your letter, I was very disappointed inasmuch as it circumvented the basic issues that I attempted to address, and you simply defended your RAPP program.

The prime issue in my letter was not with your program per se. In fact I stated, and I quote, "Obviously your intentions are well meant," unquote. Then I went on to say, and I quote again, "However, your RAPP program does not in any manner get to the heart of what causes returns. Get off your quota systems, or at least bring them into realistic focus so that they are really just a sampling of distribution. Remove the penalties you place on your sales force when your product is unwanted by the consumer," unquote.

I do take issue with some of the mechanics of your RAPP program. You point out in your reply that you (ABC) make no demands for any customer to change his buying or return policies, and that an account can participate or not. Well, I should

by Eric Rudolph

NEW YORK — A small ad appeared in the July 23 issues of the 3 New York daily papers which featured a photo of Peter Frampton and bore the legend "Frampton — Call Me," followed by a phone number. After 46,885 calls to the taped message by Frampton, during which he announced his first New York area appearances since the release of his platinum-certified album, both Madison Square Garden appearances sold out within a day after tickets went on sale. A third show has since been added.

Airplanes And Stickers Used

The ad was also carried by approximately a dozen area publications in the following week, in addition to airplanes which trailed the message and number over shore areas and "Call Me" stickers which were distributed widely. However, no prior announcement was made of the shows, and the only direct way to learn about their occurrence, the dates, location and ticket outlets was to call the number in the ad.

According to Vince Mauro of Bandana Enterprises, Ltd. the management company headed by Frampton's manager Dee Anthony, the idea arose during a planning session with Frank Barsalona, head of Premier Talent. They wanted to announce the concerts in a "different" way. Finally, said Mauro, he came up with the idea of adapting the "dial-a-joke, dial-a-prayer idea." The phone company reported that there had been approximately 69,262 calls as of July 27 (it takes them several days to count the calls). As of press time, a Bandana spokesman said that the third show was "within hours of selling out."

New CBS Label Signs Joan Baez

RCA Talent Showcases Belie Low Profile

by David Budge

SAN FRANCISCO — If the tenor of RCA's general business sessions was low-keyed and indicative of the company's inexorable march toward the best sales year in its 75 year history, its talent showcases were exercises in company spirit. The enthusiasm on the part of the label's field staff for the performers who paraded their talents was irrepressible. Whereas the seminars were addressed to nitty gritty operational and philosophical problems of day to day record company operation, the talent forums were unbridled romps that reinforced the consistently echoed theme of 'new artist development.'

New Talent

New artists were on parade, but they were not left to carry the talent banner alone. Waylon Jennings, a performer that has alternately been branded a renegade and a hero by the country & western establishments in Nashville, gave one of the most stirring performances of his career, exciting the RCA field staff to a rousing standing ovation which was followed by a mandatory encore. Chet Atkins, one of the deans of country music and an RCA mainstay for over two decades, looked on with what seemed to be considerable pride as Jennings delivered his professional, fast-paced show. Though accompanied by a supporting cast of fine musicians, Jennings stood out as an undeniable star. When his wife Jessi Colter joined him for a rendition of "Suspicious Minds," she was given a rousing ovation that combined respect with awe.

RCA Bows 30 LPs In August Release

SAN FRANCISCO — In an elaborate slide presentation emceed by a young actor in whiteface, RCA and its custom labels bowed a 30 album release ranging from classical to soul and from rock to country.

Product on RCA will include albums from Neil Sedaka (a repackage of "Solitaire"), Noel Redding, Daryl Hall & John Oates' Arizona, The Brothers, Carol Townes and Fifth Avenue (a Sixth Avenue release), D.J. Rogers, Chocolate Milk, and Rhythm.

RCA's country & western contingent will be represented by LPs from Dolly Parton, Eddy Arnold, Jerry Reed and Dave & Sugar.

A Legendary Performer series will feature Perry Como, Henry Mancini, Russ Columbo, Mario Lanza and Enrico Caruso.

While Jennings was busy representing the 'old guard' or established performers (though an argument could be made that he has only broken as a national star in the past year), the new talent wing was highlighted by a raft of artists whom RCA is counting heavily on to establish themselves as tomorrow's crop of superstars.

Coordination Pays Off

Thursday night's entertainment (29), which featured D.J. Rogers, The Tymes, Rhythm and comedian/MC David Banks, underscored RCA's commitment to the development of new talent. Rogers is a good case in point. A year ago, the journeyman singer was still working in relative anonymity though he had built a respectable following through a string of successful personal appearances. When RCA signed him, the label undertook the responsibility of marketing, merchandising and promoting Rogers to properly expose him to a mass market. The acceptance of his single "Say You Love Me" and the subsequent sales of his debut RCA LP are indications that RCA lived up to its commitment. Rogers' show Thursday night was added proof that a concerted effort pays dividends. With the poise of a champion who has worked long and hard to achieve his rewards, Rogers controlled the stage with what appeared to be total confidence. Certainly total confidence was radiated by RCA's key executives and field staff when the company undertook the task of breaking him, and Thursday's show seemed to bring these efforts together.

Breaking new acts involves the total coordination of artist, management, agency representation and, of course, the record company and that coordination again was evident, if indirectly, during the performances of The Tymes and Rhythm. RCA's Bob Harrington had commented informally Wednesday that "... you're only as good as your next record," and the Tymes, veteran hitmakers of the sixties, seemed cognizant of that axiom. The group's show was well staged, professionally paced and geared to a wide audience. Rhythm also displayed a feel for multi-level performance and the undercurrent of coordination was ever-present throughout the evening.

Grand Finale

Friday evening's grand finale presented another side of RCA's roster of new talent. The previous evening had been geared to R&B potential, but Friday's show was

Four Branches Get Awards

SAN FRANCISCO — At a special luncheon where Waylon Jennings performed, Mel Ilberman, John Rosica and Mario DeFilippo presented four RCA branches with awards for having the highest sales performance in the first six months this year. Awards went to the Dallas branch, for the month of January; San Francisco, for February and May; Denver, for March and April; and Minneapolis for June. Presentations were made to the branch managers and the entire sales staff of each branch.

RCA Custom Presentation: Aspirations and Achievements

SAN FRANCISCO — The RCA custom labels presentation was delivered via videotape to an attentive field force who witnessed a study in contrast. Almost all of the executives who spoke to the gathering approached the custom label situation from an A&R as well as a business perspective. Various executives spoke representing the customs and highlighted the achievements as well as the aspirations of each. Optimism pervaded each address. Dashes of humor as well as exhortations to the assembled troops to keep up the good work highlighted the speeches.

Represented at the presentation were Midland International (whose president, Bob Reno deferred to Mort Weiner); Toot Records, the B&B inaugurated label (Weiner spoke for the principals); Utopia Records (president Kevin Eggers addressed the crowd); Windsong Records (president Harold Thau spoke); Gryphon Productions' Norman Schwartz added some pertinent comments concerning Lena Horne's upcoming LP; Bob Thiele from Flying Dutchman addressed the gathering; Weiner spoke up for 6th Avenue

Records; and Soul Train Records principals Don Cornelius and Dick Griffey were present in person to close the session. Pablo's Norman Grantz was not present but was universally acknowledged by those in attendance as a major contributor to the success of the RCA custom label effort.

The session ended in an upbeat manner with RCA president Ken Glancy providing a little humor as well as serious congratulations to the custom labels for their continued success and past achievements. The product presentation followed the custom label show (see separate story).

RCA — 'Best Six Months, Ever'

starts in the field. I want to thank you for the support you've given my artists and my company." Weintraub added that at his first RCA convention he met John Denver; at his next convention, Denver had a number one record. And at this convention, he was coming off a number one record with Starland Vocal Band. In other Windsong news, he stated that the signings announcements of two artists — one new and one established — was imminent, as was "that album" by John Denver.

'Building Artists'

Citing the theme of the convention, building new artists, John Rosica, vice president of promotion, explained that "building new artists means using resource people and we have some for you here today." First was Bill Gavin, publisher of the Gavin Report, who noted that more new artists appeared in Gavin's top 100 of the year in 1974 and 1975, reversing a recent trend. In 1965, for example, 28 new artists appeared on hits top 100 of the year, 28 also in 1968, down to 23 in 1972, and down to a low of 16 in 1973. In 1974, however, 22 new artists appeared and in 1975 the number rose to 24.

Gavin cautioned that "the attitude that you as record company people have toward new artists is different from the attitude of radio. As far as radio programmers are concerned, whether the artist is new or established doesn't matter, as long as the record pleases the audience. But to you it's vital. Yet he felt that "you're having a lot more exposure of new artists than there used to be."

Also appearing on the panel was Janet Gavin, editor of the Gavin report, who handles the country section of the newsletter. She's noticed "a pickup on the introduction of new artists, and the artists have more longevity once they make it. There've been about 10 new artists a year all along; we had 21 new artists in 1975."

Keith Adams, program director of KDIA in San Francisco, explored some of the reasons why stations aren't interested in new talent. "You have to find out the needs

Sales Seminar Focuses On Industry Problems, Solutions

by Gary Cohen

SAN FRANCISCO — In leading off the second day of meetings at the RCA convention here, RCA vice president of marketing Jack Kiernan re-emphasized RCA's commitment to breaking and establishing new artists, and noted that in the last year RCA has been breaking artists at the rate of one every six weeks. "Next year when we meet," he declared, "I hope it is at the rate of one every three weeks." He went on to note that "we've grown in our ability to establish new artists," while he reflected on the familiar theme that "new acts are the lifeblood of the business."

In introducing the second panel of speakers, Mario DeFilippo, director of sales, wanted to "reflect on some of the points Ken Glancy made yesterday. We're on our way to having the best sales and profit year in our 75 year history. But none of these successes are possible without the help of those who market these products to the consumer."

This particular panel included representatives from the one stop, rack jobbing and retail sides of the business. In leading off his address, Brad Oseroff, head of Mobile One Stop in Pittsburgh, noted that "prior to the advent of the one stop concept, all customers bought their records from each individual distributor. At that time we had 7 independent distributors and 4 majors in Pittsburgh," noting that a retailer or jukebox operator had to visit all of the different distributors for his product. Hence the advent of the "one stop" distributor, who carried all of the different products from all of the different distributors.

Business is Antiquated

Oseroff's record buyer Harvey Campbell declared that "the record business is antiquated in its thoughts. It relies too much on radio and kowtows to radio." To applause from the audience, he exclaimed, "I think that radio owes the record industry a lot more than we're getting." He advised the industry that "you can sell as much product as you can expose."

RCA Sales Seminar fr 16

Racks Do The Tonnage

Dan Heilicher, vice president of Heilicher Brothers and board chairman of NARM, took a look at "where the industry is, was and where it's going, and what we can do to improve it." He added that he was specifically speaking for the rack jobbers, who he said "are doing 60% of the record industry's volume, although the figure could be 10-15% either way," alluding to a Cash Box article quoting two key industry executives who said the rack jobber share of the business is down to only 40%. Nonetheless, he observed "the rack jobbers are where the manufacturer gets his tonnage. In the discount stores and department stores where the consumer shops, a record purchased there is an impulse item. It's out there and that's where the consumer picks it up."

Historically, rack jobbers came about for the same reasons as one stops. "You had 7 to 10 distributors calling on the shops, and department stores and discount stores did not have the ability to listen to 7-10 salesmen, and did not know what to buy. They had to find another source." Hence the rack jobber.

Racks will always have a place in the business; "there will always be that customer who shops at the department store and discount center who won't shop anywhere else. And the industry doesn't want that to disappear." Heilicher noted that the theme of the convention was breaking new artists, and that J.L. Marsh "was instrumental in breaking a number of new artists. And I contest the statement that rack jobbers don't break new records," yet he agreed that the industry "has lost too many records because some of the people didn't buy it or expose it, and that is a burden on us as well as you." He saw the future of the industry as "great, even though we're losing a little bit of the teeny bopper group to the decline in birth rates." He concluded by warning that the industry "is going to have to fight for the leisure time dollar. We're fighting against cameras, sporting goods, clothing and liquor. Through our merchandising campaigns we hope to increase the business to the levels it should be."

The Superstores

Russ Solomon, who was credited by DeFilippo with inventing the "super store concept," politely declined the honor. "It wasn't my idea. It was Sam Goody's. It was a commitment on the part of a retailer to have every record available in stock, because somebody will want it eventually." Now, he added, "the superstore concept has grown to include Tom Heinman's Peaches operation, Sound Warehouses in Dallas and Houston and others."

Solomon, repeating sentiments he's expressed in the past, declared "in the late 50's and early 60's, a scourge appeared in the record business, namely the rack jobber. And since 1970, when the rack jobbers have dominated the business, there has been no growth in the industry, except for inflation. The result? Thousands of locations carrying hundreds of titles, instead of the other way around. And as time went on, the manufacturers began cutting out more and more of their catalog."

Solomon's answer was to open superstores, "to pick up on an old concept. Give the people the music they want at the right place in an exciting store." He quoted some statistics from an average Tower store to make his point. "The average Tower store has between $400,000-$700,000 worth of records. San Francisco has 32,000 different titles in stock, 215,000 different LP and tape units. They have 6,000 oldie titles and a couple of hundred singles titles. The commitment is super."

Breakdown By Category

He also broke down the titles by category. "There are 3400 rack and r&b titles, 3300 modern jazz, 1400 traditional jazz and nostalgia, 1400 country, 1200 ethnic and folk and blues, 750 movies and shows"

picks of the week

DERRINGER (Blue Sky/CBS ZS8 2765)

Let Me In (3:27) (Derringer/Screen Gems-Columbia/Summerhill Songs — BMI) (R. Derringer, C. Weil)

Some great rock lines in here, like "I had my taste of freedom and it tasted pretty bad." Derringer has abandoned any artifice he might once have had, and seems interested only in getting the point across. This cut works, and should be played on virtually every FM progressive outlet. Great guitar playing, as usual.

FIREFALL (Atlantic 3335)

You Are The Woman (2:42) (Stephen Stills — BMI) (R. Roberts)

This cut, when played on FM progressives, will strike deep into the listener's heart, because it is already getting play as an album cut. It's a terrific pop melody, and the Burrito-like harmonies are strikingly evident. The production is clear, the arrangement pleasing. Should get a lot of AM play as well.

JOHNNY AND EDGAR WINTER (Blue Sky/CBS ZS8 2764)

Let The Good Times Roll (3:14) (Travis/Atlantic Music — BMI) (L. Lee)

From the recent live LP, this is a powerful cut teaming the talents of the two unique brothers from Texas. The classic is done up in fine style, with a good chug-along rhythm. The two voices work well together, as do the guitars. Should pick up some fast FM and AM adds, in part because of the dynamic trades between guitar and sax.

ATTITUDES (Dark Horse/A&M DH-10011)

Sweet Summer Music (3:36) (Ganga Pub. B.V./Jungle City — ASCAP) (P. Stallworth, C. Higgins Jr., G. Bottigliar)

This new single kicks off to a great start, with a blues harmonica used for punctuation, a la Stevie Wonder. The vocal is polished and effective. The entire cut has got a chunky, full sound and should hit the airwaves with strength. This is perfect for R&B and pop outlets — it's got a refreshing feel to it.

BRYAN FERRY (Atlantic 45-3351)

Let's Stick Together (Let's Work Together) (2:58) (Frost — BMI) (Harrison)

"Style" has always been Bryan Ferry's middle name. Now on his own (apart from Roxy Music), he has turned in a high-fashion blues rock number. The beat is driving, and Ferry slips the lyric in with class. Should be an immediate add at all FM progressive outlets. People will listen because of Roxy Music, and they'll keep listening because of Bryan Ferry.

TYRONE DAVIS (Columbia 3-10388)

Give It Up (Turn It Loose) (3:25) (New York Times/Content/Little Bear's — BMI) (L. Graham)

Tyrone's smooth vocals are in full force on this single. The bass pushes the tune along, and everything flows. Listen closely to the harmonies on the chorus — they're really beautiful. The tune will be grabbed by every R&B programmer. The horns are almost used like backing voices, providing a certain pleasing emphasis.

NATURAL GAS (Private Stock 45, 100)

The Right Time (3:47) (Pepper Music — ASCAP) (M. Clarke)

Good rock and roll from Natural Gas. This group exhibits a lot of class and potential here, especially with the tight playing throughout. The piano pounds away, establishing a lot of the rhythm, and the vocals are full of energy. This is a natural add at FM stations, and could break through to the Top 40 side.

THE BECKIES (Sire/ABC SAA-726)

River Bayou (2:52) (Spricot/Doraflo — BMI) (M. Brown, G. Hogden)

The Beckies, with this first single, prove that they have the potential to be a powerful singles group. The hard rock foundation is slightly muted during the verses to let the full qualities of the vocals shine through. It's an attractive melody, falsetto is used well. The strings are by no means overdone; rather, they bring out the nuances of an intricate arrangement. For FM progressives.

MARSHALL TUCKER BAND (Capricorn/WB CPS 0258)

Long Hard Ride (2:49) (No Exit — BMI) (T. Caldwell)

A fine rock and country instrumental from the Marshall Tucker Band. It's got a wonderful melody, and the playing is professional — steel, fiddle, and guitar really get a chance to shine. This would be a natural add for FM progressives, and will get a large share of country play.

FLYING BURRITO BROTHERS (Columbia 3-10389)

Waitin' For Love To Begin (2:47) (Fox Box — BMI) (P. Kleinow, G. Guilbeau)

A nice country rocker here. The lyrics are poignant: "A bottle of brandy, and music we both understood." The pedal steel playing by co-writer Pete Kleinow is stellar. This should get some heavy country play, as well as FM progressive. Top 40 programmers should give it a listen — it's right on the mark.

JIMMY BUFFETT (ABC-12200)

Woman Goin' Crazy On Caroline Street (2:58) (ABC/Dunhill — ASCAP) (Red Pajamas — BMI) (J. Buffett, S. Goodman)

A story song in the best folk tradition, this has a good melody and a great lyric. The song is appropriate for both pop and country airplay. The instrumentation is excellent, and Buffett's voice is ultimately expressive. Should fine some immediate FM progressive spins. OK production.

BLACKMORE'S RAINBOW (Oyster/Polydor OY 701)

Starstruck (3:19) (Eule/Armchair — BMI) (R. Blackmore, R. Dio)

Blackmore has come up with an excellent single with his new cohorts. The genre, of course, is hard rock, but Blackmore and the band put a lot into it. The guitar fills are fluid, and there's a couple of catchy chord progressions in the bridge. FM programmers will want to pick up on this.

FINGERTIPS (MCA 40545)

Shelter Me (3:08) (Colgems — ASCAP) (D. Paul, D. McKellar)

This is a nice disco track. The vocals, however, are real good, and this might get some pop airplay. The harmonies and the phrasing are just as important as the rhythm. It's got an OK, upbeat lyric that is an additional hook. Look for this one to break in the dance-clubs and then move over to radio.

SPIN (Ariola America P-7632)

Grasshopper (3:20) (U.S. Arabella — BMI) (Jansen, Vennik)

This is good progressive music, in the style of a few fusion jazz groups like L.A. Express. The horns are polished, and there's a little disco thrown in. This instrumental should get a lot of FM play, maybe even on some jazz outlets. Spin is an accomplished group from the sound of this cut. There are some excellent solos.

ESTHER SATTERFIELD (A&M 1848)

Chase The Clouds Away (3:20) (Gates — BMI) (C. Mangione)

Satterfield has a wonderful jazz voice, just like another instrument in a good band. She takes this Mangione song and makes it her own, providing the listener with new insights into the possible uses of melody. Nice interplay with the electric bass. Should be programmed on jazz outlets. FM progressive p.d.'s should give this a listen.

CHICAGO (Columbia 3-10390)

If You Leave Me Now (3:53) (Big Elk/Polish Prince — ASCAP) (P. Cetera)

This is an excellent ballad, and a smart follow-up to the reggae tinged "Another Rainy Day In New York City." Instrumentally, this is lushly colored, and the vocals have obviously been carefully constructed. The whole thing flows, especially the guitar solo (acoustic). Should find a quick home on all FM progressive outlets, and will cross to the AM waves in short order.

OLIVIA NEWTON-JOHN (MCA 40600)

Don't Stop Believin' (3:24) (John Farrar — BMI) (J. Farrar)

This is an up-tempo cut that has a great shot at the higher reaches of the pop charts. Olivia's vocal, as always, has a great deal of presence, and mixes well with the full orchestral backing. The chorus is infectious, particularly the harmonies involved. The tune should hit pop radio outlets across the board.

ERIC CARMEN (Arista AS 0200)

Sunrise (3:29) (C.A.M. — U.S.A.) (E. Carmen)

The third single from the successful "Eric Carmen" LP, we think this one is really going to break big. There's a beautiful introduction, with horns and everything, and then the music breaks into some serious rock 'n' roll. Carmen's voice is in top form, and he makes the melody soar. Should be a big pop charter very soon.

GRAND FUNK RAILROAD (MCA-40590)

Can You Do It (2:46) (Jobete/Stone Agate — ASCAP/BMI) (R. Street, T. Gordy)

This has the kind of straight ahead rock rhythms of, say, "We're An American Band." The production is slick, though, and shows off the best aspects of GFR — hard-edged vocals and a certain rhythmic spirit. Frank Zappa supervised this recording, and there's a great piano part that lends credence to the entire cut. Should get some fast adds at pop AM stations.

THE BAR-KAYS (Mercury 462)

Shake Your Rump To The Funk (3:28) (Barkay — BMI) (L. Dodson, J. Alexander, M. Beard, W. Stewart, L. Smith, C. Allen, H. Henderson, F. Thompson)

The Bar-Kays have delivered a terrific funk tune — you can dance to it, and the music can stand on its own. The production values are obviously high, the horns have been charted to build the tension of the tune. The bass line is consistently inventive, and the vocals, particularly on the bridge, are certainly attractive. A must for R&B programming.

MARK LINDSAY (Greedy G-106-AS)

Sing Your Own Song (2:30) (Anheuser — ASCAP) (P. Botkin, Jr., M. Lindsay)

Mark Lindsay, when he was with Paul Revere and The Raiders, was good at making up nifty little pop tunes that stayed in your head. Well, he's still doing it. This has a bicentennial flavor to it, and a really strong chorus. Should get some AM pop adds with no trouble.

LIVERPOOL EXPRESS (Atco 45-7058)

You Are My Love (3:16) (WB Music Corp. — ASCAP) (Craig, Kinsley)

A haunting keyboard introduction builds this song, laying a good foundation. The vocal is handled in the higher registers, and has some compelling qualities. The first single from a new group, this is certainly an auspicious beginning. The lyric is intelligent, and this should get more than a few spins on FM progressive radio.

KIDD MOON (Blue Unicorn KI-003)

Steal Away (3:55) (Blue Unicorn — BMI) (D. Marchesi)

A joyous little rocker, with a lot of charm. Kidd Moon sings well, although the vocals are a little lost in a mix dominated by the rhythm tracks. The overall effect is good, particularly in the chorus. Pop programmers should check this one out. There's a great break where the rhythm shifts and makes you pay attention.

PEABO BRYSON (Bullet BT-01)

Underground Music (3:23) (Web IV — BMI) (P. Bryson)

This song has an almost hypnotic rhythm. This will break big in the R&B markets, for the vocal is really down and dirty. Peabo Bryson packs a wallop in this tune, really belts it out. But his phrasing is always careful, and he does some interesting things with counterpoint. Pop and disco outlets will play this heavy.

CRYSTAL IMAGE (IX Chains NCS 7020)

Gonna Have A Good Time (2:45) (Diamond In The Rough/Brent — BMI) (W. Lester, R. Brown)

A decent disco cut. Its best aspects are the vocals, which are heavily textured. The rhythm tracks, if a trifle overbearing, are artfully constructed. This would be a good add for R&B programmers; the cut establishes a groove and sticks to it.

THE TREMELOES (DJM/Amherst DJUS 1016)

September, November, December (3:16) (Dick James — BMI) (A. Blakley, L. Hawkins)

An uptempo love ballad that is centered around acoustic guitars, this tune has a good pop arrangement that should bring it to virtually every pop market. The melody, particularly in the chorus, is catchy, and the backing vocals, with professional harmonies, are an added bonus. The horn fills are a little gratuitous, but have a nice sound all the same. Pop and MOR.

Henry Gross Don Harrison Band

BOTTOM LINE, NYC — Having proven himself a Top 40 contender with the melodic "Shannon," Henry Gross has emerged on stage as a performer who does not fear to cross from the smooth, slick plains of pop music to the rougher terrain of rock's distorted amplification. Gross' high vocal range has a rare presence, but his safer notes and guitar playing have a solidity that blends with the classy sound of his touring ensemble. "Juke Box Song" from his first album kicked off a set including "Dixie Spider Man," during which Gross accomplished the singular feat of sliding into the high part when the group harmonized the chorus. On acoustical guitar, he performed a cover of Lindisfarne's "Meet Me On The Corner" before arriving upon the inevitable "Shannon," which worked very well in a small room, considering the cathedral ambience of the Cashman and West-produced studio version on Lifesong Records. "Southern Band" and "One More Tomorrow" took the band into some heavy rock jamming, and while Gross and his guitarist complemented each other with some fancy licks, the instrumental segments might have been shortened for better overall timing. The group was called back for one well-deserved encore, and Gross' personable and relaxed onstage manner was augmented this evening by his obvious enthusiasm at headlining in his hometown.

The Don Harrison Band pairs its leader's gutsy voice with the rhythm section that propelled Creedence Clearwater Revival: drummer Doug Clifford and bassist Stu Cook. With uncluttered instrumentation and soulful, low pitched vocals, the group reminded one observer of an American record, playing a type of blues-rock that works best in a live setting, where concentrated energy pulls the players and the pulse close together. The set included "Rock 'n' Roll Records," the latest single from their first album on Atlantic, as well as one standout number with a memorable chorus tag, "Who I Really Am." Commenting on the room's stifling atmosphere, Harrison made Bottom Line history with the quote, "I feel like a french fry in here."

Vicki Carr Chuck Woolery

MILL RUN, CHICAGO — Her loyal following of Chicago fans turned out in full force for the Vicki Carr concert at the Mill Run Theatre to warmly and affectionately enjoy her performance. There was the added enhancement of a very personable, entertaining singer-composer (and TV game show host) named Chuck Woolery, whose attributes as a warmup act were exceeded only by his own personal talent.

Vicki Carr's repertoire was dominated by a very ample helping of ballads, which she delivers with much drama and much feeling. "It's Impossible," in Spanish lyrics, was beautifully done. She belted out the likes of "Can't Take My Eyes Off Of You," "I Can't Stop Loving You" and similar material and then brought tears to the eyes with "It Must Be Him" and "Pen In Hand." Her noted Spanish language songs, which weave a sometimes sad, sometimes happy love story, were an expected and warmly received part of her performance. In closing she did an outstanding vocal tribute to Frank Sinatra, very effectively lending the Vicki Carr style to an assortment of tunes closely associated with him through the years.

Chuck Woolery has a great deal going for him — good looks, an exuberance which has an immediate impact on an audience, and a vocal flexibility which runs the gamut from country to pop to blues (with enough range for an aria, if the occasion called for it). He is a familiar figure to daytime television viewers as host of the NBC-TV show "Wheel Of Fortune" and, in the musical world, has gained recognition as a composer and singer of country origins. On stage he works with a guitar and a stool but most importantly with a personal charm which captivates an audience. He performs from the catalogs of Manilow, Gates, Kristofferson, Woolery, et al. His set was brief but memorable.

Benny Carter

MICHAEL'S PUB, NYC — As a prolific Hollywood composer and a recent director of Maria Muldaur's big band sound, Benny Carter hasn't found the time to play a simple New York jazz gig in years. This appearance therefore stands as an unusual event, and the players accompanying Carter were more than equal to the occasion. Milt Hinton's bass is an inexhaustible fountain of energy, combining sharp-edged rhythms with an uncanny sense of harmonic resolution. Ray Bryant is a masterful keyboardist, putting the piano's entire range through thematic inventions, and Grady Tate's versatility at the drums did not prevent him from making the right rhythmic choices every time.

Carter's alto playing shows the composer's melodic insight, with the control of phrasing, speed and dynamics of an accomplished improviser who is always thinking a few moves ahead. The set included originals, many of which can be heard on the first jazz record date he has done in ten years, "The King" on Pablo, as well as standard numbers including "All The Things You Are," "I Can't Get Started With You," with Tate leaving the drum kit for a vocal rendition of "Body And Soul." For all the delicacy of tone he displays on sax, Carter's embouchure is elastic enough to allow him to play a fine trumpet.

Dr. Hook Pousette-Dart Band

ROXY, L.A. — The first thing I noticed as I approached the Roxy to attend the Dr. Hook show was that two pickets were parading up and down Sunset Blvd. in front of the club carrying signs saying "Unfair to Sylvia's mother," and "Ray did it to me (or was it Dennis?)." When I got to my seat, there was someone in a gorilla suit sitting a few rows away. That pretty much set the tone for the entire evening.

The group's stage act is based on their slightly risqué zaniness. Indeed, some of their antics and song titles can't be printed here. Dr. Hook is best known for musical insanities such as "Cover Of The 'Rolling Stone,'" "Freaker's Ball" and "Sylvia's Mother," and most of their material has come from the feverishly fertile mind of Shel Silverstein. Recently, however, the band seems to be moving into a much mellower vein with the material on their new Capitol album, such as Sam Cooke's "Only 16," and the Silverstein/Dennis Locorriere composition "A Couple More Years." The group's onstage lunacy, while hilariously entertaining and enjoyable, probably distracts many listeners from the excellent musical ability of the group. Ray Sawyer and Dennis Locorriere have a special way with tender ballads, shown off to best advantage on "The Soup Stone." While not devoted to proving that the musical kingdom that John Denver pioneered and developed is still wide open and capable of supporting popular new groups that straddle the line of pop/rock/MOR. In fact, the emphasis on coordination was realistically highlighted by the headliners, Windsong Records' Starland Vocal Band. The group, discovered by Denver and managed by Jerry Weintraub and Management III, has come from obscurity to a smash number one record and top selling album through the coordination of efforts on the part of label, management, agency and the group itself. The selection of Starland Vocal Band to headline the show was quite apropos, for they, perhaps as much as any other act, represent the quintessence of cooperation.

Though she didn't perform at the convention, Tatoo Records' Becky Hobbs was in town at the Savoy Club and large numbers of the RCA force turned out to see the young lady who is the beneficiary of a fairly intense campaign aimed at breaking her. She appeared to be aware of the extra attention focused on her and responded with self assurance and charm. She certainly seemed to win over the Savoy audience and gave indication that she is about to happen.

Free Beer and Rosie played to the same kind of appreciative audience that greeted Jennings and displayed enough polished talent to give the RCA field staff reason to be optimistic about their future. And the future is the primary area of concentration as far as RCA is concerned. The past 75 years have been good ones for RCA, but as far as the company is concerned, the next 75 will be even better. Just ask the artists who performed at the convention. They intend to become as successful as any that have gone before them.

1650 pop and easy listening vocals. In classical there are 11,000 first line classics, 2400 operas and opera highlights and 3000 budget classics, for 15,000 total classics. And there are 5000 cassette titles and 6500 8 track titles. The cassette business," he added "is coming on like mad and almost equals the 8 track business." Realistically, though, he does not expect every store to be able to maintain that type of inventory.

In addition to the superstore, the recent business is seeing more and more full line retail stores like Licorice Pizza, Record Factory and Eucalyptus. These stores are serious, freestanding, carefully located stores. They carry 3000-7000 titles, $35,000-$50,000, maybe even $75,000 in inventory. And they can use most of the advertising and promotional methods of the superstores. Solomon emphatically stated that the two types of stores can co-exist and grow together, provided the little store doesn't open up next to the superstore." With their growth, "the 70's and 80's will eclipse the plastic growth of the 60's and the rack jobber."

Solomon added there were perhaps 50 million potential buyers now, with 75 million possible in a few years. He pinpointed a number of things the industry was doing wrong: 1) record prices are too high. 2) "Our industry suffers from content-itis," noting that an informal study (possibly inaccurate) of his stock found that 32,000 titles represent only 10% of all the LPs ever issued. He suggested the industry "leave everything in their catalog for a long time." 3) Urged consideration of the small hoe, punch out single. 4) Suggested continuation of the long version disco singles, and 5) urged manufacturers to supply managers and clerks with more promo copies and tickets to artist performances.

the book business receives a great deal of media coverage, both in print and on TV shows like Today. "We're supplying the media with lots of dollars in advertising. Yet there isn't a week that goes by that Today doesn't have 1, 2 or 3 writers on discussing their latest book. The only time our artists make the news is when something is wrong, when they're arrested on lewd conduct or drug charges. We need more positive news coverage of the industry."

An RCA custom label, Utopia Records, will bow LPs from Albert King, The Buckeye Politicians and Kevin Westlake.

Carol Douglas will represent Midland International's August contribution while The Deadly Nightshade is the Phantom Records sole release for the month.

RCA's classic Red Seal Label offers LPs by Eugene Ormandy, Leopold Stokowski, Jean-Pierre Rampal (2 different LPs) and the Guarneri Quartet.

Fall Preview

Other albums mentioned at the presentations included releases featuring Toscanini, Vladimir Horowitz, Maurice Andre, Julian Bream and a treatment of the classic "Lost Horizon," all on Red Seal.

Bluebird Records' Phil Woods will have a new LP out in the fall and Lonnie Liston Smith will be one of two artists Flying Dutchman will release at that time.

RCA will spotlight comedian David Banks, Ralph Graham and Vicki Sue Robinson this fall as well as Chet Atkins, Rob Galbraith, Tennessee Pullerbyne and Waylon Jennings.

In addition, Lena Horne will bow a new disc, Cleo Laine and Ray Charles will team to record "Porgy & Bess" and Hali & Oates' discovery, Ruth Copeland, will make her RCA debut.

Rounding out the presentation were previews of product by Clifton Schenier on Utopia, Buster Rhio Kawasaki, David Cassidy, Juice Newton and Aztec Two-Step.

At the conclusion of the presentation, copies of the new John Denver Windsong album, "Spirit," were distributed to everyone in attendance. Obviously, the new product stimulated the enthusiasm of the entire field force, with the Denver LP the highpoint of the afternoon.

women did, 57.7% to 51.4%, but both figures were consistent with the total average. Only those aged 30-34 registered less than a 50% positive rate (46.2%), with the others ranging from 55.6% (35-39) to a whopping 87.5% (40-45). By family income, those groups indicating a less than 50% affirmative response were $10,000-$14,999 (43.0%) and $25,000 or more (41.4%). Respondents who completed high school also did not tend to compare prices (46.8% do).

The Impulse Factor

Record and tape buying is certainly not an impulse function. Seventy-seven point five percent of those surveyed responded that what to buy is a decision made before entering a store. Females were even more emphatic, with an 80.0% response. Only the figure for the 30-34 age group dipped as low as 68.4%, and the rate climbed as high the neighborhood of $47 to $100 million, will result from an increase in the mechanical royalty. This royalty, which record companies pay to composers and music publishers to use their songs, was set at 2¢ per tune in 1909. It has remained 2¢ during the 67 years since.

Bowing to publishers' arguments of inflation and increased record company profits, despite counter-arguments that publishers' income has doubled in the past 10 years, the subcommittee raised the 2¢ rate to 2½¢ per song. This ups the current 20¢ average per each 10-cut album to 27.5¢ and may be reflected in higher consumer prices.

Compromise

Since the Senate raised mechanicals only to 2½¢, a compromise must be worked out in House-Senate conference once the House passes the bill. Differences in cable TV and public TV provisions will also have to be worked out in conference.

The cable, jukebox, and mechanical royalties spelled out in the statute will be up for review by the Copyright Royalty Commission in 1980. The permanent three-member Commission will review, and revise, rates every five years for cable, and every ten years for both mechanical royalties and the $8 jukebox fee. The com-as 87.5% for the 40-45 age group and 88.9% for the 35-39 group. For single respondents the number soared to 93.3%.

Once in the store, 41.2% said they do buy a record or tape on the spur of the moment, though. This is more nearly the case with men (44.4%) than women (37.1%). By age, the number exceeds 44% only with those aged 35-39 (55.6%). Oddly enough, those with an income less than $9,999 were more likely to buy something impulsively (50.0%) by a 3½:1 margin over those with an income of more than $25,000 (14.3%). Single people indicated at a 53.3% rate that they would buy something in this manner, which was at a 17% greater rate than that indicated for married respondents.

The most important vehicle for reaching potential customers is radio, according to the survey. Approximately 70% gave this answer as the primary advertising tool. This is 13% higher than radio's influence on buyers of all music categories. The group most influenced by radio consists of men (71.1%) who are married, aged 35-39, with a family income of over $25,000.

Slightly more than 21% indicated that they relied on other people to find out about new releases. Television accounted for 11.3%; newspapers for 8.7%; magazines for 7.5%; concerts for 3.8% (respondents were permitted to give multiple answers). It is interesting to note that radio elicited more than six times the number of responses that television did: first, because the 11.3% is 39% below the impact of television on buyers of all types of music; second, because these same people who participated in the survey spend more time, statistically, watching television (20 hours per week) than they do listening to radio (19 hours per week).

Buying Habits Five Years Ago

Those surveyed indicated that they were buying slightly less or the same amount now as compared to five years ago. Only 42.2% of the men and 40.0% of the women indicated that they are buying more. No age group registered more than 44.2% in the affirmative; that group was aged 25-29.

Statistics for the survey were compiled from responses only from people who indicated that they preferred pop/contemporary music above all other categories. NARM will release studies concerning other distinct categories as part of a continuing series examining the adult market (aged 25-45). An examination of the country music buyer, released from NARM, was reported in a previous issue of Cash Box, dated July 10.

mission's decisions on rates, as well as its apportionment of royalties, can be challenged in the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Since public TV rates won't be set until 1978, their review was moved up to 1982 and every five years thereafter. The first mechanical royalty review after 1980 will be in 1987 and every ten years thereafter.

First Offense

Federal criminal penalties for pirates who make unauthorized duplications of sound recordings will remain the same under the House bill: one year in prison maximum for the first offense, two years maximum for subsequent offenses; and $25,000 maximum fine for the first offense, and $50,000 maximum for subsequent offenses. The Senate raised the penalties, but Justice Department success with the lesser penalties inspired the House subcommittee to retain present federal law.

One new source of income that didn't make it into this year's copyright bill was the performance royalty. Recognizing the fact that record companies' and musicians' contributions on a record are unique, this royalty would provide them with their own royalty fee. In other words, if musicians and record companies make a song a hit, they would be rewarded by more royalties as well as more sales. Currently there is no performance royalty.

MUSIC, MUSIC — Helen Reddy — Capitol ST 11547 — Producer: Joe Wissert — List: 6.98

Helen Reddy has proven her versatility time and again — this album serves as solid reinforcement of the fact. Reddy can be smooth and direct, as is witnessed on "Music Is My Life," or downright sultry with a tune like "Gladiola." Her distinctive vocals are dramatically highlighted on this outing by a strong backup unit that features some of the industry's best sidemen and some very tasty arranging by Nick DeCaro. Her country-flavored rendition of Harriet Schock's "Mama" is bound to be a favorite cut. Programmers of the pop and contemporary MOR markets will reach for this one time and time again — retailers, display it proudly!

THIS ONE'S FOR YOU — Barry Manilow — Arista 4090 — Producers: Ron Dante, Barry Manilow — List: 6.98

Every time you think Barry Manilow has reached his highest possible level, he bounces right back with a collection of hits like "This One's For You" and leaves you thinking that there just might be no end to the man's potential as a hitmaker. In this offering, Manilow lays out a melody or two that are destined to become as big as "Mandy" and "I Write The Songs." Just take a listen to "Weekend In New England" and "Looks Like We Made It." The tunes on this LP will make waves in several markets, as will Manilow's style — AM and MOR programmers take note of "This One's For You."

THE BIRTH OF A LEGEND — Bob Marley & The Wailers — Calla CAS 1240 — Producer: C.S. Dodd — List: 7.98

A few years ago a new musical form hit the States with the force of a hurricane — it sported infectious rhythms, melodic instrumental tracks and joyous collective vocals — we called it bluebeat, rocksteady and, finally, reggae. As reggae music became more prevalent in this country, leaders in this unique musical genre began to emerge and at the top of the list was Bob Marley & The Wailers. This two-record set is a collector's item — it represents the earliest recorded work of Marley's Wailers at a time when Peter Tosh, now a solo artist, was still accompanying the group. The sounds are crude, but delightful in their blatant honesty. A great sales item, this collection is a godsend to programmers interested in the reggae beat.

A BANQUET IN BLUES — John Mayall — ABC ADBP 958 — Producer: John Mayall — List: 6.98

This LP marks a new direction for legendary bluesman John Mayall. Its roots are well grounded in the funk and jazz idioms featuring a wide variety of players that includes Jon Mark, Johnny Almond and John McVie. Mayall's production work on this outing deserves an honorable mention — it's very clean and tasty. Mayall's vocals and those of his background singers augur well with the precise instrumentation in a collection of tunes that will intrigue the FM progressive and jazz markets while the album also has a chance at the pop market. "You Can't Put Me Down" is a nice cut that well represents the confident feel of the entire effort.

LEWIS FUREY: THE HUMOURS OF — Lewis Furey — A&M SP 4594 — Producer: Roy Thomas Baker — List: 6.98

Lewis Furey is an artist whose off-the-wall approach to life, love and poetry reveals the same raw cynicism-turned-art form popularized by such notable eccentrics as John Cale and Steve Harley. The production work is devastatingly clean, the arrangements wisely simple — the songs a strange sort of commentary. Though this album will probably receive a considerable amount of attention in the progressive FM quarter, it may be wise for AM programmers to read the note on the cover that warns them to use discretion in determining airplay suitability.

VALDY AND THE HOMETOWN BAND — Valdy — A&M SP 4592 — Producer: Claire Lawrence — List: 6.98

Valdy displays an uncanny understanding of the Canadian folk idiom that goes far deeper than simply fine musicianship. With some songs bearing a Lightfoot feel (witness "Me And Martin Growing Old") and others a progressive country stance ("Old Home Place"), Valdy is bound to appeal to a wide-ranging audience that will blanket the AM, FM and progressive C&W markets equally. "Weather'd Hands" is one of our favorites and "Yes I Can (Anyway You Want Me)" is also worthy of a close listen.

BEST OF B.T.O. (SO FAR) — Bachman-Turner Overdrive — Mercury SRM 1-1101 — Producer: Randy Bachman — List: 6.98

A strong collection of rockers from the boys from the north country. This LP will be a great marketing device. It features eye-catching graphics that emphasize the well-known B.T.O. logo and a collection of tunes that have already become standards. B.T.O.'s hits "Let It Ride," "Takin' Care Of Business," "Hey You" and "You Ain't Seen Nothing Yet" take leading spots on the bill and as the title wisely suggests, there's going to be a lot more of the same coming in the future. AM and FM programmers alike will find this to be a useful reference copy.

THE GIST OF GEMINI — Gino Vannelli — A&M AP 4596 — Producers: Gino Vannelli, Joe Vannelli — List: 6.98

A fine contribution to an already impressive list of musical offerings, "The Gist Of Gemini" explores more of the creative genius of Gino Vannelli via lyrical and vocal brilliance. Teaming up with his brother Joe on production, Vannelli has created a clean and sparkling gem that will be well received on the FM progressive airwaves. Several tunes bear a subtle beauty that will make them welcome additions to MOR playlists as well. Not to be left out, the pop programmer might show some interest in the rhythmic sophistication of "Fly Into This Night," a gorgeous selection.

GET UP OFFA THAT THING — James Brown — Polydor PD 1-6071 — Producer: James Brown — List: 6.98

The godfather of soul is back! This record is definitely a departure for J.B. — he slips into a tasty disco bag with no problem at all, it feels like he's been doing it since day one. His radio active single "Get Up Offa That Thing" has left no doubt in anyone's mind that James Brown is still capable of cookin'. R&B listeners will shake to this one and pop programmers would be well-advised to give it a shot. Listen close — we want ya to check out "I Refuse To Lose."

TEXAS ROCK FOR COUNTRY ROLLERS — Sir Doug & The Texas Tornados — Producer: Huey P. Meaux — List: 6.98

It's been awhile since we've heard from Doug Sahm — and though The Texas Tornados aren't quite as pop-oriented as was the Sir Douglas Quintet, Doug's new group definitely shows potential for that market. The album will also be a favorite in the progressive country market. Pop programmers will enjoy the laid-back feel of "I'm Missing You" and the chunka-chunka rhythm of "Floatway," while country favorites might well be the tasty "I Love The Way You Love (The Way I Love You)" and The Tornados' cover of the somewhat dusty hit "Wolverton Mountain."

HOMETOWN FROLICS — Tommy West — Lifesong LS 6003 — Producers: Terry Cashman, Tommy West — List: 6.98

A warm and simple initial solo offering from Tommy West, an artist who has established himself as a fine singer-songwriter while a part of the Cashman/West team. "Hometown Frolics" represents Tommy West's early influences while performing with leading country artists on the early forties radio program of the same name. The feel is soft and mellow, yet the tunes bear an unmistakable intensity that makes them more than just songs — they're emotional statements. The AM and progressive country markets will share the joy of programming many melodies from this LP.

LOVE IS A FIRE — Country Joe McDonald — Fantasy F-9511 — Producer: Jim Stern — List: 6.98

Country Joe has a voice that's immediately distinguishable and a knack for writing tunes that you can't help but fall in love with. The melodies are simple, the spotlight is definitely on Country Joe's vocals. The arrangements are clean and uncluttered, but everything is there — there're no holes. This offering will be warmly welcomed by the Country Joe fans that are scattered throughout the AM, FM and progressive country markets. "It Won't Burn" and "In Love Naturally" stand out as prime examples of the toe-tappin' feel that this LP generates.

Copyright Bill fr 22

While rejecting an amendment to provide such a royalty, the House subcommittee did adopt a provision requiring the Register of Copyrights to report to Congress on performance royalties by January 3, 1978.

The least controversial, yet most far-reaching measure of the bill, will be the extension of the term of copyright ownership to life-plus-fifty-years. The copyright term now in effect is two 28-year periods, and all but 15% of copyrights lapse after the first term. Life-plus-fifty means that works will be under copyright for a much longer time. The copyright office estimates an average of 75 years.

The copyright term extension brings the U.S. in line with international copyright standards. With passage of the copyright revision bill, the U.S. has a good chance of belonging to the Berne Copyright Convention, and joining over 100 other nations in its copyright protections.

Major Work Done

All these provisions are tentative, however, and could be changed by the full House Judiciary Committee, on the House floor, or by the House-Senate Conference Committee. But the Judiciary subcommittee has finished the major work, and it is unlikely that anyone will tamper much with the complicated revision bill.

Some participants wonder if the bill may again die this Congress, since both the House and the Senate must pass a bill before it is sent to the President for signature. One Washington music industry spokesman was pessimistic. "The House is moving slower than anticipated, and what with recesses, campaigning, and the November election, it might not make it." However, both subcommittee chairman Kastenmeier and full judiciary chairman Rodino (D-N.J.) seem determined to push the bill through this session. Said one observer, "They swear up and down they will make it."

NYC Price War fr 7

mer, Esther Satterfield, The Richie Family, Parliament, and Van McCoy advertised at that price, Jimmy's offered (in the July 29 edition of the Daily News) a "Super Special" of any three $6.98 LP's in stock for $10.

It's Spreading

The dilemma doesn't seem to be exclusive to the New York metropolitan area, either. "It's up in Syracuse and Rochester," Levy confirmed. "And I've just received reports that retailers in Buffalo are selling records for $2.99. Even in Philadelphia we're facing competition on the pricing level from places like Record Museum and Wee Three. Its not just from Korvettes." So far, Korvettes has not altered its pricing structure in Philadelphia, choosing to maintain the recently established $3.97 sale price that was apparent in its ads appearing in Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, and Washington, D.C. this week.

However, how long this situation will remain constant is anyone's guess. Cash Box reported in its July 17 edition that the New York "price war" was spreading to Philadelphia; Levy thinks it's there already. "There's a similar situation (to New York) in Philadelphia, which is why our prices have remained the same in both markets through this recent development."

The future is not bright for record retailers either. It is expected that this week's lower-than-wholesale prices at Korvettes will not be the chain's last such venture. And Levy has hinted that the $3.99 price at Goody stores may drop even lower. "Next week's advertising will contain some interesting items," he suggested.

Interestingly enough, Disc-O-Mat, another of the retail operations cited as a major cause for the "Price war," has not advertised in major New York daily newspapers for several weeks. The three-store chain has been blamed by numerous retailers, including Korvettes and Goody, for a reduction in record traffic at their midtown outlets due to Disc-O-Mat's existing locations at 38th Street on the west side of Manhattan and 58th Street on the east side. Recently, Disc-O-Mat sold its downtown outlet, leaving the operation with two stores.

RCA's 'Best 6 Mos.' fr 16

of each station," he argued. "The tightness of playlists is one of the problems record companies are going to have to look at. How you begin a new artist is a problem." He added that at KDIS they were experimenting with on-air artist interviews conducted by a psychologist on the station's staff. They were also beginning to get more involved with album cuts. Adams stated that "90% of what we play is singles, but 10% is LP cuts. Albums outsell singles by a ratio of 10-20 to one. We're trying to reflect the massive unit sale of LPs and reflect the older audience demographic."

Comments from the audience explored the value of secondary markets, record company promotion, and the difficulties some stations around the country are having holding on to the younger audiences when they try to gain an older audience. It was noted that younger listeners do not seem to mind hearing the same 15 or 20 records played over and over again every hour and a half. While this was detrimental to the record industry, it was what the radio station was successful with and was able to sell to its advertisers. Radio stations have their own selling job, too, in having to sell advertisers contracts for time buys on their radio stations," added Adams. And sometimes the needs of the radio station and record company do not coincide.

Has Video Revolution Really Come Of Age? fr 10

cassette can then be produced for a myriad of uses."

Elaborating on the potential of this color video tape, Landry commented, "This type of presentation can be instrumental in familiarizing the record company's regional distributors and promotion staff with the artists that they are representing. Such a tape can also eliminate time-consuming steps in the booking of concert dates. "The booking agents," Landry explained, "can also put together much more effective concerts by lining up acts with compatible shows, both aurally and visually."

Landry continued in pointing out the uses of the video cassette in the development of a successful artist, "Video cassettes are an excellent means of advance tour publicity — via preview showings to key radio and retail personnel, and they eliminate much traveling to showcase an act or introduce the act to key radio programmers."

Putting It All On A Disk

All of these applications of video seem to lead to the next logical step in the progression of the development of video technology — the video-disc.

The video-disc, which is also referred to technically as "video software," is a concept which intrigues the record industry. However, at this time only two major companies are working toward consumer applications of the video-disc — MCA and RCA.

MCA Disco-Vision, Inc., a subsidiary of MCA, has developed a video-disc which can be played on a turntable that utilizes a laser beam rather than a conventional stylus. The turntable, or "hardware," will be marketed worldwide by Magnavox, a division of Phillips, through an agreement made with MCA (See Cash Box, Jan. 31, 1976).

David Lipton, head of public relations for MCA Disco-Vision, reported that MCA has no present plans to market any music-related product on the video-disc. Said Lipton, "Our research shows that the most effective application of the video-disc at the present is in feature films. Therefore, we intend to test market the product aimed at that market initially — which will be by the end of next year."

Lipton cited enormous logistical problems as the main obstacle in the way of musical development. "To begin with, companies wishing to market musical artists on video-discs will have to re-negotiate all of their contracts, and this alone will take an incredible amount of time."

Along with the use of feature films, MCA Disco-Vision has plans to market children's shows and "how-to" programs for everything from golf to cooking. "Yes, I can see the video-disc playing a very important role in the music industry," speculated Lipton, "but that's a way off down the road and I think the applications of the video-disc in the music industry are only limited by the imaginations of the record companies themselves — they're the ones who are going to have to decide whether or not certain products are commercially viable."

MCA, RCA See Eye-To-Eye

A spokesman for RCA told CB that they too are going to concentrate their initial video-disc efforts on the production of feature films. The source commented that educational and "how-to" shows were also on the top of their list of priorities, noting that any musical applications are still speculative. The RCA effort is also scheduled for test marketing on a consumer level sometime over a year from now.

Both companies said that the legal problems of royalties and copyright infringement are nil, as the projected usage will be via a direct tie-in to home TV sets, thereby making the video techniques subject to the same regulations as television. Piracy was also termed a "nonexistent problem" by both companies, as the reproduction and pressing equipment would be prohibitively expensive to the potential pirate. However, this is not the case with the present video-cassette. It is presently very simple to produce duplicates of the video-cassettes and several major manufacturers of the video hardware are presently experimenting with methods of scrambling the information on the tape so an attempted duplication without the appropriate decoder would prove fruitless.

Although it appears as though it's going to be quite awhile before we're able to slap a video-disc of Elton John on our home sets, certain applications of video which involve both music and visuals have been investigated. The film, "Jonathan Livingston Seagull," which was scored by Neil Diamond, was done entirely from viewings of video cassettes while Diamond toyed with musical ideas and tailored them to fit the various sequences.

Also in the film arena, a full-length feature film, "Norman, Is That You?," was recently filmed entirely on video equipment and then transferred to film for distribution. This method of filming consolidates several steps in the conventional filming process and therefore keeps production costs down.

Video Discos — Seeing Is Believing

With the increasing interest in disco type entertainment in this country, another avenue for video application is revealed. There are presently somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,000 discos in the country that are wired for video with many others in the process. Discos are not primarily interested in static films of artists performing their material, as this would encourage the audience to simply sit and watch the video show. Rather, the tapings are generally comprised of one or more video techniques which include cartoon animation, computer animation, light shows (which, unlike the "color organ" types, have a virtually unlimited combination of color shades and patterns), documentary footage (the artist doing something other than performing) and footage of the artist performing his material.

Several companies are presently in business supplying the discos with hardware. The companies install the video hardware, which is leased by the disco who then obtains video cassettes on a subscription basis.

Some of the companies presently manufacturing and distributing the video equipment aren't quite as pleased with the growing market for their equipment in the discos. The president of one such company suggested that many of the disco clients are picking up the hardware and producing their own tape cassettes, which are of a very low quality. "This is merely a poor way for video to earn a reputation for credibility," he commented. He also called many of the disco clients "fly-by-nights" and said that they frequently order the equipment installed and go bankrupt before it can be paid for.

Video As A Technological Advancement — Commercially

Larry Silverman, president of Digital Lighting Company, referred to the incorporation of video into the music industry as a "technological advancement that's basically aimed at commercial applications at this time." Silverman said that he feels that such advancement, when attempted on a consumer level, often paradoxically fails due to the incredible demand for the item that's generated once it has been successfully introduced. Citing the recent introduction of quadraphonic music systems as an example, he elaborated, "The reason quad didn't last was because the demand that was generated by its immediate introduction on the consumer level just couldn't be met by manufacturers who weren't set up for this type of mass production. Consequently, while the industry tried to catch up to the demand, the public lost interest. That doesn't mean that quad wasn't a commercially viable innovation, it just means that it was marketed in the wrong way." Returning his thoughts to video, Silverman added, "Since video is starting out as a commercial innovation, the demand won't be as great initially and by the time it goes consumer, plenty of commercial outlets will have been established to handle the demand — this will eliminate the problem of consumer supply."

Just The Tip Of The Iceberg

In relating the significance of the developments in video to the music industry, one source told CB, "We're barely seeing the tip of the iceberg — in a couple of years we'll be able to delineate the tip that we're now trying to make out in a dense fog. In five years we may be able to determine just how big this iceberg really is!"

To what degree the implementation of video techniques will affect the recording industry remains to be seen — and as the old axiom says, "One picture is worth a thousand words!"

Next week CB will explore video and the world market in the International section.

NIGHTS ARE FOREVER — England Dan & John Ford Coley — Big Tree BT 89517 — Producer: Kyle Lehning — List: 6.98

A pleasant offering of smooth movers that leans in the direction of a Seals & Crofts feel. Clean instrumentation and finely-honed string arrangements perfectly complement the vocals of England Dan and John Ford Coley. Several cuts will make their mark on the FM market, particularly the Eagles-flavored "Westward Wind." The entire album is well thought out with respect to the pop market; all of the tunes are short and sweet — well suited for AM play and they'll surely grace those airwaves.

CROSS WORDS — Larry Hosford — Shelter SRL 52003 — Producers: Dino Airali, Larry Hosford — List: 6.98

Larry Hosford is bound to join the swelling ranks of C&W artists who are finding eager audiences in the pop market. This collection of straightforward tunes presents a pleasantly palatable introduction to this talented singer-songwriter, who is joined on this outing by such heavies as George Harrison and Tom Scott. Hosford's "jes' folks" stance is uncomplicated and believable — the kind of music you can kick back and unwind to. "Direct Me" and "Nobody Remembers The Losers" are choice cuts.

SHAKE SOME ACTION — Flamin' Groovies — Sire/ABC SASD 7521 — Producer: Dave Edmunds — List: 6.98

The Flamin' Groovies have been around for some time, taking their individualized brand of music from San Francisco to England — which is where you'll find them now. With many groups presently drawing heavily on the music of the early sixties, it's no surprise that a group has surfaced that does with the British pop sound what Sha Na Na did with fifties rock 'n' roll. The Groovies have the look, the sound and the material to flawlessly recreate the excitement that reigned in the earliest days of the British invasion. Pop programmers will delight at the thought of spinnin' this disk and we wouldn't be surprised if the FM programmers have some fun with it as well — the entire album is well done!

LIFE GOES ON — Faith, Hope & Charity — RCA APL 1-1821 — Producer: Van McCoy — List: 6.98

A slick offering from Faith, Hope & Charity that represents a fine blending of funky soul and disco. F.H&C always show off a finely-honed vocal expertise, but this time they have outdone themselves. All of the elements are here: great arrangements by Van McCoy that feature his velvety touch with a string section, a forceful rhythm section and pure lead and backup vocals. The R&B market will flip for this one and the chances of it hitting the pop airwaves are also quite good. Give a listen to "Gradually" and "Positive Thinking."

BEGINNING OF THE END — Beginning Of The End — Alston 4403 — Producer: Teddy Randazzo — List: 6.98

Tight funk is what Beginning Of The End is all about. Judging by the super-tight horns, funky percussion and upfront R&B vocals, we'd say that this group should have been called Beginning Of The Beginning, 'cause they're going nowhere but up! The overall instrumental quality is good, but the solos really cook. This offering will be heartily accepted in the R&B market and the reception in the pop market should also be a very warm one. "Super Woman" and "Jamaica" are outstanding examples of this group's no-holds-barred approach to the big brass sound.

IF I WERE BRITANNIA I'D WAIVE THE RULES — Budgie — A&M SP 4593 — Producers: Budgie — List: 6.98

A tasty combination of straight-ahead R&R and progressive rock, Budgie has come up with an offering that will please devotees of both of those musical forms. Lead vocals soar high atop a lofty mountain of clean trio instrumentals. We have no doubt that Budgie will be receiving much well-deserved attention in the FM progressive market while pop programmers may pick up on the possibilities of "Quacktors And Bureaucats."

POINTS WEST — Dick Clark is finally getting his own star on Hollywood's Walk of Fame, adjacent to the corner entrance of Home Savings and Loan Association on the northeast corner of Sunset & Vine. Dedication ceremony will be conducted Wednesday, Aug. 4 at 11:30 a.m. . . . Money magazine enhanced its July issue story, "The Economics of Being Single," with a full-color photo of the lovely MCA visage Joan Bullard. . . . Shields & Yarnell, a mime duo spotlighted on Mac Davis' recent TV series have been signed as regulars on Sonny & Cher. Of course, that's not record news, but apparently the two sing as well, as Lambert & Potter are at least one record interest who have met with the team about a possible recording. . . . Stan Findelle has resigned his position as advisor to Sound Promotions of Santa Monica.

SUMMER VACATION DEPT.: John Oates is going to school, studying piano and music writing. Oates, a fast learner, just wrote a song for the next Peter Fonda movie, "Outlaw Blues" . . . Meanwhile, partner Darryl Hall is producing Ruth Copeland and Steven Dee (both RCA artists) before skipping town on an "archaeological expedition" of some undisclosed sort. . . . Chappell Music is releasing a comprehensive 88-page Janis Joplin songbook featuring songs and photographs spanning the career of the artist. Soft cover, $6.95 retail. . . . Almo Music has negotiated a deal for the use of the Paul Williams/Roger Nichols composition "Let Me Be The One" by ABC-TV. Tune will be changed to "Let Us Be The One," to be used as the flagship theme for the ABC fall season promotion. Spots have already begun and will continue through the fall season. . . . Barbara Gosa of The Management Company (a division of Steve Binder Productions) has announced the completion of the first live Tim Weisberg LP recorded at the Troubadour in L.A. "Live At Last!" will be released through A&M this month.

Dolenz, Jones, Boyce & Hart have also recorded a live "in-concert" LP during their tour of the Orient. Performance taped at Tokyo's Yobin Chokin Hall. . . . Jimmy Dean will follow up his Mother's Day smash, "I.O.U.," with a single called "Angel With An Apron." Dean will visit L.A. early in September to tape a TV commercial for Capitol Records' Firestone Christmas Album on which he is to be featured. While in town the sausage mogul will also do a "Dinah!" show on CBS. . . . Mark Lindsay, lead singer of Paul Revere and the Raiders, is attempting a comeback with "Sing Your Own Song," a solo effort via Greedy Records.

REEL TO REEL: Ken Mansfield (producer) and Barry Rudolph (engineer) are in Sound Labs for Laguna Productions' Robb Strandlund LP to be released via Polydor. . . . Also, a few names through Village Recorder: The Band, Neil Diamond, Ta Ta Vega, Average White Band, Eddie Harris, Donovan, Olivia Newton-John, Eric Clapton, Arit Mardin and Robbie Robertson (all on separate projects). . . . Finally, Angel is back on the touring track after being put out of commission when their equipment was stolen. The Casablanca group had parked their truck in front of a St. Louis hotel where they were staying and during the night bandits hijacked the vehicle along with some $60,000 worth of electronic goods. Tour manager Bill Schreck went on KMOX-TV news to ask viewers for help and shortly thereafter the truck re-appeared, cargo intact. Two suspects have been arrested.

EAST COASTINGS — John Lennon is finally safe at home, here in New York, that is, after fighting four and one-half years of court battles to establish permanent residence in the United States. The turning point in that legal dispute came last October, when the deportation order resultant from Lennon's 1968 British conviction for possession of marijuana was overturned. At that time, the Court of Appeals saw Lennon's long struggle as a "testimony to his faith in the American dream." The hearing for final permanent resident status included a list of celebrated character witnesses, including Gloria Swanson, who testified to Lennon's importance in the lives of American youth, and Norman Mailer, who called the former Beatle "one of the great artists of the western world." As to why he was so dead-set upon residing in the states, Lennon said the U.S.A. is the modern-day center of culture: "This is where the action is."

CRIMESTOPPERS' TEXTBOOK — One of America's most famous hard-line law and order comic strips, Dick Tracy, has begun fighting evil and corruption in the record industry. The singing group is the Gallstones, a scrubbed, crew-cutted trio of collegiates that far surpasses the conservatism of any examples of today's moral resurgence (we don't think Dick Tracy recognizes that the Lettermen haven't had many hit singles lately). Their pirating, exploitive manager is a pony-tailed sharpie named Bolo, and the undercover Tracy affects tousled hair and a scruffy beard. Tune in next week. . . . Gene Palma, the slick-haired street drummer who appears in the film "Taxi Driver," was playing out on the sidewalk opposite to Cash Box's New York offices last week, as he has many times this summer. Checking his collection box for coins deposited while he was executing a grand finale in the style of Gene Krupa, Palma found an envelope, the contents of which tuned out to be five crisp twenty dollar bills in a wrapper. . . . Those who remember at the Melody Maker say that Peter Frampton's recent trouser-tearing incident in Connecticut was a repetition of a similar embarrassing moment that occurred on U.K. national television when he was a member of the Herd. . . . Meanwhile, Rick Derringer wore his old "good-luck pants" on stage in Chicago, not at all troubled that they offered more than ample ventilation in the rear. . . . The producers of "The Night That Made America Famous," a Broadway show featuring Harry Chapin which closed after running only a few weeks, may be called upon to return nearly $400,000 in investments, due to failure to comply with laws regarding transferral of shares under New York State law.

ON THE SOAP-BOX — "Reissues are a rip-off," exclaimed master alto saxophonist Phil Woods who is currently represented on repackages of albums he recorded on several labels, some in his late teens and early twenties. Woods explained that record companies rarely make the efforts to pay reissue royalties voluntarily, and that the legal expenses involved in collecting the normally small sums make the pursuit financially futile. Woods, currently signed to RCA Records through Gryphon Productions, said he did not feel that the proliferation of reissued material hindered sales of his current product.

HAPPENINGS — Last week saw Skitch Henderson leading the "Million Dollar Chorus" recording a love song to New York City, "Mad About You Manhattan." Aside from people who could make their living singing, including Polly Bergen, Linda Hopkins and Robert Merrill, the chorus includes Jimmy Breslin, Osborn Elliot (editor of Newsweek), Bess Myerson, Otto Preminger and Gloria Steinem. . . . Twiggy's first album due in August. . . . Deep Purple has finally published formal statements of the band's dissolution, with John Lord and Ian Paice staying together to form a new group. . . . The next concert for the 100,000 seat JFK Stadium in Philadelphia will feature Jefferson Starship, Robin Trower and The Band. . . . The Ellen Kole Alliance, a contemporary rock band with female vocalist and lead guitarist Ellen Kole front and center, appeared at Max's Kansas City last week with a number of record company brass on the scene to evaluate. . . . The Sound Suite, a new Westlake-designed studio owned and operated by two ex-Motown engineers, opened in Detroit last week. . . . The Bay City Rollers have set their first American tour to coincide with the release of their next Arista album, "Dedication." The tour begins in Toronto August 11 and ends in Atlanta September 3, hitting Chicago, Philadelphia and other major markets.

The CBS Records convention held at the Century Plaza Hotel July 20-25 was as much a celebration as it was an opportunity for the CBS Records group field force and executives to meet and discuss topics of importance to the company. Certainly the jazz success story of 1976 is George Benson. His initial Warner Brothers LP "Breezin'" continues at the top of the Cash Box jazz chart while his most recent CTI effort "Good King Bad" moves up to number four. The beauty of Benson is that all this acclaim has not gone to his head. He is still the basic warm guy who burned up the world with Jack McDuff's group in the middle 60's. And he hasn't forgotten his compadres either. When Grant Green made his first Eastern appearance in several years at Newark's Key Club, Benson was there to renew acquaintances. Considering his amazing sales streak, could it be possible that reissues from Verve, A&M or Prestige might appear?

Speaking of reissues Roulette is continuing to march with their Echoes Of An Era series which will soon have new additions by Jackie McLean, Randy Weston, John Handy and others. Betty Carter's first album under her Roulette pact will ship September fifteen. Her own trio will provide the backing.

New LPs from Jan Garbarek and Pat Metheny in the current ECM release via Polydor. Also from Polydor are the Verve reissues which have an interesting recurring motif in the art covers. The complete mural is shown on the back of each LP while an excerpt makes up the cover for each album.

Bob Koester's Delmark label out of Chicago promises the first LPs from the United masters in the fall. Kicking off the series will be sets from Tab Smith, Paul Bascomb, and Chris Woods.

Muse will release five LPs late this month headlined by Pat Martino and Sonny Criss. Also appearing will be the latest from pianist Joe Bonner, vocalist Eddie Jefferson and keyboard stylist Cedar Walton.

Jazz has rarely been well captured on film but if Bruce Ricker has anything to say about it all that may change quickly. Cash Box had the opportunity to see some footage from Ricker's unfinished film on Kansas City jazz. Among the featured performers are Count Basie and his Orchestra, Jay McShann with big band and small group and the great bluesman, Big Joe Turner. While the style for the full color film will be documentary, the relaxed atmosphere allows the musicians to be loose and natural. The music is dynamite also and Ricker has already sold some Joe Turner soundtrack material to Norman Granz.

One of the most interesting LPs of recent vintage is Sandcastle 1030 "New Orleans Jazz Brunch." The music is by the Alvin Alcorn Trio and is very nice indeed, but the kicker is the inclusion of some fabulous N.O. recipes inside the double-fold jacket. It seems that the Alcorn trio is regularly featured at the jazz brunch at Commanders Palace and the LP serves to promote some fine music and also the fine cuisine at the restaurant.

The Smithsonian Institute will issue retrospective sets on Duke Ellington and Dizzy Gillespie this fall. The Ellington is 1938 vintage while the Gillespie set will focus on Dizzy away from Charlie Parker. Also in the works from Smithsonian is a multi-record Fletcher Henderson package.

Jazz Album Picks

DEE GEE DAYS — Dizzy Gillespie — Savoy/Arista SJL 2209 — List: 7.98

John Birks Gillespie founded the Dee Gee label with Dave Usher in 1951, and until the company's masters were picked by Savoy some years later, he was able to exercise a degree of creative control previously unrealized working with other companies, during a time when bebop was often exploited for its commercial potential alone. This double set includes vocal blues, some early examples of Dizzy's experimentation with Afro-Cuban motifs, and some exciting all-out blowing featuring the likes of tenorman Budd Johnson, Art Blakey at the drums, Milt Jackson on vibes, and John Coltrane, alto sax.

NORMAN GRANZ JAM SESSION/THE CHARLIE PARKER SIDES — Verve VE-2-2508 — List: 7.98 (Dist: Polydor)

Here is one of the great jam sessions of all time. The roster of artists was picked from the cast of Granz's touring troupe Jazz at The Philharmonic and includes Charlie Shavers, Flip Phillips and Oscar Peterson. But the key ingredient is the inclusion of the three most important alto saxophones of the time: Charlie Parker, Johnny Hodges and Benny Carter. The music is basic fare: two long blues, a medley of ballads and an uptempo outing on "What Is This Thing Called Love." There is scarcely a moment of less than great music and in his "Funky Blues" solo, Parker has left a masterpiece for all time.

SOPRANO SAX — Zoot Sims — Pablo 2310-770 — Producer: Norman Granz — List: 7.98

This is Zoot's first all-soprano LP and it is a major event for jazz. Unlike other musicians who may take up another horn for the purposes of picking up an occasional double, Zoot has mastered the straight saxophone more completely than anyone since Sidney Bechet. The eight-tune set is heavy on standards with "Ghost Of A Chance" and "Someday Sweetheart" being especially appealing. Solid support is rendered by Ray Bryant, George Mraz and Grady Tate. A beautiful album.

LOVE DANCE — Woody Shaw — Muse MR 5074 — Producer: Michael Cuscuna — List: 6.98

Woody Shaw is the natural heir to the trumpet tradition that extends from Dizzy Gillespie to Freddie Hubbard. Fronting a nine piece band here, he struts with bold assurance through a program of five original melodies. Among those lending support are Rene McLean and Billy Harper but it is the leader who impresses most with his bright as a diamond tone and bristling execution. The title track at twelve and a half minutes contains a striking example of this great musician at his best.

DREAMS SO REAL — Gary Burton Quintet — ECM-1-1072 — Producer: Manfred Eicher — List: 6.98

Gary Burton seems to be coming alive in his ECM recordings. There is a much more natural flow to his music now and this program of six Carla Bley originals brings out his creative best. His current band has two guitars, bass and drums and it serves to showcase his talents as well as any of his previous groups. The music alternates between laid-back ballads and highly charged energy music. Packaging is very classy with plastic-lined inner sleeves and, of course, there is extraordinarily rich recorded sound that is a hallmark of this label.

KEEL — Fewer Records And No 'Automatic Adds'

by J.B. Carmicle

LOS ANGELES — "We're trying to get our credibility back," reflected Charlie Ross, music director at KEEL, a Shreveport rocker. "The whole purpose of a short playlist is to play the hits, develop a familiar sound, and move 'em off the survey fast."

Compete

The station beams a powerful 50,000 watt signal heavily into Texas, but it has to compete primarily with two other rock-oriented stations in the city, K-ROCK and KOKA, according to Ross. In order to successfully compete in the ratings, Ross's objectives are to lower the number of records being played and to expose new product.

"We're down from 45 to 33 numbered records and three hitbounds now," he continued, "and future plans call for only 30 numbered records with four or five extras maximum. When I first got here, some records had been on the playlist for sixteen weeks, and that's entirely too long. Steve Kelly (station pd) and I knew this was a great breakout market . . . we could tell in two weeks if a record was going to go . . . so exposing new product was a must."

One New Record

Ross said he spent one Saturday on the air and played only one new record in four hours. "All new records are played every two and a half to three hours now, and that's the way it's going to be in the future. We add new records every week and I feel that the new product should be surrounded by recognizable hits." He expressed that taking a shot with a new record requires exposing it in a familiar atmosphere. "It has to sound like another smash record on the air," commented Ross.

Harder

The argument against a tight playlist traditionally has been that new product will be harder and harder to get on the air. And fewer records being played is usually a indication to record promotion people that a familiar artist like Olivia Newton-John will be an automatic add, and any new artist may not get a chance. "We don't do things that way," Ross replied. "Olivia Newton-John is no longer a 'cinch add' . . . we're programming by sound and if it's not there, she may not get on the list. It's been so easy here in the past to get a record played . . . anything and everything was getting into the control room, but we've improved that with this new rotation."

Familiar Sound

KEEL's decision to rotate fewer records more often and establish a more familiar sound for the station are moves that Charlie Ross feels will "get the credibility back after finding records on the station's survey for too long." Although record promotion people might feel that an attempt to get their new artist played on KEEL will be harder, Ross's statement that no artist is a 'cinch add' may prove to be "fighting ground" for record promotion people who feel their new product outdoes a superstar's latest single.

COUNTRY ARTIST OF THE WEEK

Sheila Tilton

"Heavenly Voice" — When Sheila Tilton was born on the island of Oahu, Hawaii, her mother and father christened her Sheila Leolani Tilton. In Hawaiian Leolani means "heavenly voice."

Sheila began her musical career at the age of twelve when she and her two sisters, Gwen and Muriel, formed a trio called The Tilton Sisters. They began performing for the local rodeos, Oahu's military clubs and were featured on the now defunct Hawaiian Hayride. Then, at the age of sixteen, Sheila was voted "Queen of the Rodeo" at Barbers Point, sponsored by Hawaii's only full time country music station.

When Gwen and Muriel dropped out of performing, Sheila formed her own group, The Suburbans, and continued playing throughout the islands.

It was then that Jack Cione (known worldwide as the originator of the "naked waiters") offered Sheila a chance to perform in his well-known Honolulu nightclub The Dunes. Sheila was there for over a year, performing six nights a week. After The Dunes it was to downtown Waikiki and the New Frontier nightclub for another extended period of time. Then to the Anchor Club with Bill Spilliard and the Nite Lites, and on up to the present, the military club circuit on Oahu with The Country Classics, one of Hawaii's top country bands.

Considered Hawaii's top female country vocalist, she has appeared with many of country music's superstars who have traveled to Hawaii to perform. She has shared billing with such artists as Buck Owens, Nat Stuckey, Roy Orbison, Tommy Overstreet, Tennessee Ernie Ford and many others.

Last year when Sheila appeared in the Times Opryland TV special with such names as Dennis Weaver, Sandy Duncan, Johnny Rodriguez, Billy Thundercloud and Jim Stafford, Billy Walker, Sheila's producer, was the musical director of the show. During the early part of this year she toured with the George Jones road show.

Sheila Tilton is now on the Con Brio label where she has had such releases as "Brass Buckles," "Let Your Lovin' Do The Talkin'," "I'm Beginning To See The Light" and her current hot charting "Half As Much" (#47 bullet in Cash Box).

Playboy Hosts Meet Of So. Distributors

NASHVILLE — Playboy Records' first southern distributors meeting took place recently at the downtown Hilton in Atlanta. The label presented an in-depth preview of the firm's future product, as well as reviewing all of its current material.

Highlight of the event included a film presentation, which featured Playboy artists in various surroundings, while introducing the label's roster of entertainers.

Playboy's national promotion manager Eli Bird plans to take this same presentation on a tour of other major cities throughout the United States.

Among those present at the Atlanta affair were regional distributors and their key people from the southern cities of Nashville, Atlanta, Memphis, Charlotte, Miami, Houston, Dallas, New Orleans and Shreveport. Also attending were Playboy Records' general manager (Nashville division) Eddie Kilroy and national promotion director Nick Hunter, as representatives of the label's office in Music City.

Artists currently recording under the Playboy banner include Hamilton, Joe Frank & Dennison, Al Wilson, Weapons of Peace, Barbi Benton, Wynn Stewart, Chuck Price, Bobby Borchers, Lang Martine, Jr., Brenda Pepper, Sunday Sharpe and Mickey Gilley.

Another Duo Tops CB Singles Chart

by Linda F. Cauthen

LOS ANGELES — "Golden Ring," the Epic single by George Jones and Tammy Wynette, is the fourth single by a duo to reach the top of the CB country singles chart this year. The others were: "Sometimes" by Bill Anderson and Mary Lou Turner on MCA (Jan. 31), "Good Hearted Woman" by Waylon Jennings and Willie Nelson on RCA (Feb. 28), and "Suspicious Minds" by Waylon Jennings and Jessi Colter on RCA (July 24). In addition, "The Letter" by Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn on MCA is number three bullet this week. Other duos with singles currently on the charts include Porter Wagoner and Dolly Parton, Jim Ed Brown and Helen Cornelius, and Del Reeves and Billie Jo Spears.

Second Twitty LP Reaches Number One

by Linda F. Cauthen

LOS ANGELES — "Conway Twitty Now And Then" on MCA Records holds the number one spot on the CB country LP charts, and is the second Twitty album to do so this year. "Twitty" held that spot the week of March 6. Twitty joins Ronnie Milsap, Elvis Presley and Willie Nelson, the other artists who have had two albums top the charts this year. Also, Twitty's duet LP with Loretta Lynn, "United Talent," is currently number four with a bullet.

COUNTRY ROUNDUP

Due for August release is the debut album on MCA Records by Byron Berline and Sundance, who recently signed a recording contract with the label. Byron, three times national fiddle champion, is well-known to bluegrass music lovers. With his new band, Sundance, he not only plays traditional bluegrass, but mixes in country-rock and country blues. Each band member plays an integral part in this unique musical direction. Joining Byron are Dan Cravy, acoustic guitar and vocals; Jack Skinner, lead vocals and bass; John Hickman banjo; and Allen Wald, acoustic guitar and lead electric guitar.

The New Riders Of The Purple Sage have scheduled a European tour with the Grateful Dead in August. The kickoff will be at Wembley Stadium, August 7, in England. Other dates on the tour include two in France and two in Germany. This is the second European tour for NRPS and marks the first time they have played with the Dead in recent years. The NRPS were a spinoff from the Dead. The newest release on MCA Records for the New Riders is "She's Looking Better Every Beer."

Following on the heels of her highly successful recording of "You've Got Me To Hold On To," which won the bronze award at the Tokyo Music Festival, Tanya Tucker's latest release on MCA Records is entitled "Here's Some Love." The song was written by Richard Mainegra and Jack Roberts and produced by Jerry Crutchfield. According to sources in Japan, Tanya is well on her way to becoming a major recording artist there.

Nat Stuckey's first MCA album, entitled "Independence," is due for release in the very near future in Australia. "I've never been to Australia," said Nat, "however, I have some good friends there and would welcome the opportunity to tour that country."

A real treat for Loretta Lynn fans is the annual "Loretta's Road Book," which was just published for sale at her personal appearances. The book contains plenty of photos and is written in Loretta's own words. Loretta has just completed recording material for an upcoming release on MCA Records at Bradley's Barn in Mt. Juliet, Tennessee.

The paperback rights to Jerry Clower's book "Ain't God Good" have been sold to Simon & Schuster, and it will be released in January of 1977. Jerry's current MCA album is titled "Ambassador Of Goodwill."

SIR DOUG EXITS-IN — Flanked by well-wishers, ABC/Dot Records recording artist Doug Sahn of Sir Doug and the Texas Tornados relaxes after his Friday night (July 23) set at Nashville's Exit/In. Left to right: Don Cohen (WCAS, Cambridge, Mass.), Moe Shore, kneeling (WCAS), Kenny Greenblatt (WBCN, Boston), Doug, Huey Meaux (Doug's producer), Bob Pittman (WMAQ, Chicago) and ABC/Dot vice president Larry Baunach.

David Allan Coe and Debra Lynn Cole were married July 4th following the Willie Nelson Day performance. The wedding took place in Dallas at the Electric Ballroom.

Roy Clark has been signed to co-host the Country Music Association's Awards Show on CBS, October 11. The show this year will be expanded to 90 minutes from the current one-hour format. Johnny Cash will share the hosting honors with Roy.

Don Williams has accomplished the astounding feat of landing all six of his ABC/Dot albums in the Top 20 of the country charts of the British trade magazine Music Week. Even more impressive is the fact that four of the albums hold down the first four spots on the chart. "Harmony" leads the sweep at number one, followed by "Don Williams' Greatest Hits," "Don Williams Volume One" and "You're My Best Friend." The other two albums in the top 20, "Don Williams, Volume Three" and "Don Williams, Volume Two" are locked solidly into the number 15 and 19 slots.

Epic recording artist, Joe Stampley, has signed an exclusive booking agreement with the Lavender-Black Agency. Stampley's single, "All These Things", recently went to #1 position in all the country charts.

Parker, Doherty To New Posts At MCA

NASHVILLE — MCA Records, Inc. has announced the appointments and promotions of Jack Parker to vice president, A&R Nashville, and Chic Doherty, to vice president, operations, Nashville.

Prior to the appointment, Parker was the director of artist development and formerly district manager for MCA in the midwest.

Doherty will coordinate relations between the label and artists located in Nashville while acting as liaison and administrator for company activities in the Nashville area. Doherty's career with the company began thirty years ago, working for the Decca label in New Orleans. He was district manager in Dallas before moving to the Nashville office in 1970.

Jack Parker will continue to report to Bob Davis, MCA vice president of artist acquisition, with Doherty reporting to Parker in Nashville.

GMA RECEIVES ASCAP CONTRIBUTION — Ed Shea (r), southern region executive director of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) in Nashville, presents Don Butler, chairman of the fund raising committee of the Gospel Music Association and member of GMA board of trustees, with a $10,000 leadership contribution to the proposed GMA Hall of Fame. COUNTRY SINGLES REVIEWS/ALBUM REVIEWS

CRYSTAL GAYLE (United Artists UA XW 838Y)

One More Time (3:27) (Morning (USA) — ASCAP) (J. Heilder, C. Heilburg, B. Blackburn)
Moving from a nostalgic tender love ballad into the swinging honky tonk piano era and back again, this Allen Reynolds production has the sound of another top crossover for Crystal.

BARBARA MANDRELL (ABC/Dot DOA 17644)

Love Is Thin Ice (2:45) (Pi-Gem/Cumberland — BMI) (G. Morgan)

With the sound of top charting, Barbara gives good advice on an infectious uptempo cross country single pulled from the LP "This Is Barbara Mandrell." Excellent production by Tom Collins.

DAVID WILLS (Epic 8-50260)

(I'm Just Pouring Out) What She Bottled Up In Me (2:37) (Belinda — BMI) (D. Owens, J. Vowell)

Honest true country ballad complete with "story" lyric. Produced by Henry Strezelecki, a top bet for heavy box and chart action.

EDDY RAVEN (ABC/Dot DOA 17646)

The Curse Of A Woman (3:05) (Tree Pub. Co. — BMI) (S. Whipple)

A strong lyric given excellent interpretation by Eddy Raven. An uptempo best bet for top action, produced by Don Gant.

FLYING BURRITO BROTHERS (Columbia 3-10389)

Waitin' For Love To Begin (2:47) (Fox Box — BMI) (P. Kleinow, G. Guilbeau)

Rockin' disco country beamed directly to the boxes, will also capture airplay. Produced by John Fischback.

HARLAN SANDERS (Epic 8-50261)

Honky Tonker (2:45) (Warner Tamerlane — BMI) (H. Sanders, R.C. O'Leary)

Many quarters will make many spins on the boxes with this pure country story of the life of a little boy.

THE OZARK MOUNTAIN DAREDEVILS (A&M 1842)

Chicken Stomp (2:28) (Lost Cabin — BMI) (S. Cash)

Heavy bluegrass. The incredible title is exceeded only by the incredible sound of the instrumentation. Hearing is believing! From the LP "Ozark Mountain Daredevils," produced by David Anderle.

JIMMY BUFFET (ABC 12200)

Woman Going Crazy On Caroline Street (2:58) (ABC/Dunhill — BMI/Pajamas Inc. — ASCAP) (J. Buffett, S. Goodman)

Rock flavored country with a story about a woman that's usually "whispered" about. Production by Don Gant.

LARRY BALLARD (Capitol P4309)

Silver Eagle (2:29) (Beechwood/Window — BMI) (Larry Ballard)

Snappy cajun truckin' produced by Pete Drake, placing heavy emphasis on the instrumental.

MACK WHITE (Commercial COM 1319)

THE CATES SISTERS (Caprice CA 2024)

Mr. Guitar (2:33) (Sound Corp. — ASCAP) (J. Hunter, Roger LeBlanc)

Smooth uptempo country making full use of banjo and dobro. The Four Guys are Sam, Brent, Rick and Gary.

TOM DESTRY (Phoenix PXR 129)

Deputy Dog Of Hurricane Holler (3:20) (Four Seasons/Botink — ASCAP) (T. Destry)

Straight from Hurricane Mills comes this novelty about the dog that keeps an eagle eye on Loretta Lynn's dude ranch. Good bet for plays.

JAMES HENDRICKS (GRT 060)

Long Lonesome Highway (1:45) (ENP Co. — BMI) (J. Hendricks)

An excellent marriage between artist, producer and material giving a sure bet for good charting. Country bluegrass produced by Scott Turner.

NATE HARVELL (Republic IRDA R-265)

Wine And Weakness (3:01) (Bocephus — BMI) (Steven Story)

Wine, weakness and stolen love makes for good country listening. Produced by Dave Burgess, with dobro licks produced by Hank Williams, Jr.

BOBBY WARREN (Trucking TR 7461)

The only missing item is the CB radio in this great novelty that could go all the way.

VIVAN BELL (GRT 055)

What In The Name Of Love (2:28) (Blue Moon — ASCAP) (E. Conley)

Uptempo country about a lost love, produced by Nelson Larkin.

BOXCAR WILLIE (Column One SC 1004)

CHERI JOHNSON (Woodsmoke WS 111)

A Little Bit Of Love (2:16) (MCA — BMI) (Helen Cornelius)

A happy uptempo toe-tapper penned by Helen Cornelius has the sound of good charting. Production by G. Rienfand and W. Myrick.

R&B Ingredients

More signings are in the works. Columbia/Epic has signed Bobbi Humphrey, Odia Coates and "Wah Wah" Watson, the fine guitarist who has played on many of Motown's LPs. Also learned that one of the fine vocal groups of the past may be dropped from one of the heavier labels, but will be signed by another hot company... Congratulations to Barbara Harris on her appointment at ABC. Ms. Harris was formerly associated with Atlantic Records. Remember the name Weapons of Peace. Maria Tynes, president of R&R Records, has appointed Ms. Ruby Stoner to the position of general manager and controller of R&R. Ms. Stoner is a well-known industry veteran... "If You Leave Me Now" by Chicago is crossing over... Wesley Jackson is the newest member of the Blackbyrds. One of the heaviest soul/pop groups may be exiting their label for a new upcoming big label. More details later.

There's two Tyrone Davis singles out. Both are hot: "Give It Up (Turn It Loose)" on side A and "You're Too Much" on the flip on Columbia. "Saving My Love For You," also by Tyrone, has been released by Dakar. Remember the name Weapons of Peace.

Windy O'Grady called in from Chicago saying that he heard a great master. It's by a group called Radiation, an eight-piece rock-funk group produced by Benny Colvin. Dobie Gray will be releasing a very hot new single on Capricorn in two weeks. It is entitled "Find 'Em, Fool 'Em, Forget 'Em." It's a killer... The Bar Kays are back and they're with Mercury. Check out "Shake Your Rump To The Fump." It's hot... The Miracles really smoked the Universal Amphitheatre last week along with Al Green. Bill Griffin has come into his own as a very fine and talented lead singer. Pete Moore, Ron White and Bobby Roberts are as bad as ever... Al was also hot as he got into the spirit. As usual when he leaped from the stage into the audience dozens of very friendly females surrounded him... Jeff Lane is taking Brass Construction into the studios next month to begin work on their second LP for UA. Stanley Turrentine's new single "There Is A Place" was written by his 13-year-old daughter Pamela.

Capitol Records has announced that it is launching a massive marketing and merchandising campaign with their soul groups. The campaign is called "Soulful Summer" and it will include Natalie Cole, Bill Cosby, Sun, Sylvers, Tavares and Nancy Wilson. Writer/producers Chuck Jackson and Marvin Yancy have signed a new long-term exclusive worldwide co-publishing and publication agreement with Chappell Music. Their company is called Jay's Enterprises. The Supremes are back in the studios recording a new LP for Motown which will be produced by Holland and Holland. Harry Belafonte will headline the Greek Theatre on August 17 in a special concert for the Sickle Cell Disease Research Foundation. This concert marks the 20th year the organization has been in existence and opens its first fund raising campaign. Tickets are available by calling (213) 299-3600. The Tavares brothers may get into the Guinness Book of Records, but not for having the most gold records yet. That's coming. What they did do was help the Tavares family to consume 4,000 clams at a farewell clambake before the group left New Bedford, Mass. on their national tour. There are 356 members in the Tavares clan... Chi-Town Records has announced that they have changed the name of their company to Chi-Sound Records. UA manufactures and distributes the label. Their first LP release will be out very soon.

... Stephen Schaffer dropped by the Cash Box offices last week with some exciting tapes. First off, Steve's label is Wing And A Prayer and should be remembered for putting together the Consumer Rapport. They had a monster with "Ease On Down The Road" from the "Wiz." That group now has a new single out that is also hot entitled "Everybody Join Hands." Steve also produced the new Dee Dee Bridgewater LP for Atlantic. He played four sides which were sensational. The LP will be released very shortly. Steve is also working with Gene Page on the new Fife & Drum Corp. "Babyface" LP. This also should be released shortly... Remember the name Weapons of Peace. Bob Jones, publicity manager for Motown Records, has been selected to be included in the fourth (1977) edition of Men of Achievement. Men of Achievement is an international publication that recognizes the achievements of men of different nations, whether at the international, national, regional or even local level... LTD is taking off and so is David T. Walker. Heard from a reliable source that Leon Haywood has delivered his new LP to Columbia. That's soul.

Jim Maddox: Maverick Or Innovator

by Jess Levitt

LOS ANGELES — Jim Maddox, program director at KDAY in Los Angeles, is one of the new breed of young black programmers that is creating a new era in black radio. Maddox has taken KDAY, a former AM rocker, and turned it into one of the most progressive black AM stations in the country. Last week Cash Box interviewed Maddox about black radio in 1976.

Black Radio

Black radio has gone through some interesting changes lately. Black stations around the country are playing more LP cuts, more jazz and are quicker to pick up on crossover records. Maddox said the reason this is happening is that more and more black radio stations are becoming aware of their own needs rather than the needs of the record companies. "Radio stations are realizing that it is their purpose to serve the community. Our primary concern is not to make the record companies happy; just because their A&R departments choose a certain single release doesn't necessarily mean that I have to play it. I think the time has come in black radio where programmers are not afraid of being badgered by record companies. We won't be made guilty if we don't cooperate with them. They can't wave the time buys in our faces. We are not being paid by the record companies and they know it."

A New Day

Maddox also pointed out that black radio is not the same type of entertainment vehicle as it was in the fifties and sixties. "In the fifties and sixties black radio was into public affairs and gospel hours on Sunday. Now in the seventies the mood of the public has changed to where they want to hear more music. I need time to play music and do it consistently all week. Public affairs and news are still important, but we make these spots short and they have a lot of impact when they are on."

Progressive

On the subject of being progressive, Maddox said that really depends on your market and how far you can open up your audience. "You have to be very careful of what you play, because you may do too much too soon and turn a portion of your listeners away. We're into formula radio to a degree, more music, a personality-oriented jock, not a wailer or screamer, but a guy that can relate to his audience. However, even if you want to call it formula radio, we try to disguise it. We like to bring familiarity to the air; however, it is important to keep the people guessing, so that they don't know that an O'Jays record is coming up. Free-form radio is not where I am at. I like a system and organization."

LP Research

Lately the trend around the country in black radio has been to add more LPs and LP cuts. KDAY was one of the first to make this move. "After a year's research in our market, I was finding that most of our listeners were more and more affluent, had a higher level of education and were buying more LPs than singles. They had the money to buy LPs, and were doing it because the LPs are better bargains in comparison to singles. Our audience is primarily 18 to 24 and 25 to 34. We're low in teens. These older listeners usually are more loyal in buying their favorite artists. So what I've done is not to do anything too drastic in programming; however, what I think I have done is refine and polish what we were doing in the beginning. We will still play singles, but stay away from the marginal ones. I only want to play records that benefit KDAY. I'm not interested in helping out A&R departments that are telling me what to play. If it is right for us then we'll play it," Maddox said.

Maddox also feels that it is inevitable that more white artists will be crossing over. "Right now the general market is better able to accept both black and white artists. Both artists are producing good product that really doesn't fit any category. It's just good music. I see more and more black AMs getting into more white pop records, but not to the point where their stations will lose their black identity. Black stations like ourselves will keep our identity because our news and public affairs still primarily address themselves to black people. A lot of the racism, though, will be erased through this easier crossover situation. I think it's kind of criminal that I don't receive every LP that comes out — white, black, jazz, classical or whatever. Plus I also think that our biggest competitor, KHJ, should get every black LP that is released."

NATRA

While Maddox feels that people in black broadcasting need their own professional organization, he doesn't feel that is NATRA. "I like the concept of the organization; however, I understand why they have little support and low attendance. They don't have any seminars and they never seem to get anything accomplished. I personally like less talk and more action. I would like to go to a convention and share ideas with the rest of my colleagues in the field, but NATRA doesn't feel the same way I do. I think they need to clean up their act. I'm not going because I'm in the last part of my ARB period. I don't have time to go down and party. The only way to stay on top and be consistent is to add the hottest records week in and week out. The people that control NATRA are the old line of broadcasters, and they fail to realize that there is a whole new breed of young programmers who are very dedicated and very professional. These people have not kept up with the times. I personally have too much work to go down to Antigua and play games. Being a programmer is not a 9 to 5 job. It's a project by project job. I will gladly get behind any black organization that is serious about getting things done. I think it's a little sad that most of the jocks at our competitor KGFJ are not closer to us. I'm not into any diabolical plots; however, I wouldn't mind discussing improvements for the betterment of black radio with them. I think a NATRA could be a great organization if they restructured it so that we as communicators could come together to improve and enhance our industry."

CASH BOX COIN MACHINE

New Service Pkg. From PSE

SUNNYVALE, CA. — Project Support Engineering, producers of arcade games, video games and logic board test equipment, recently introduced a special service package which is designed to provide operators with complete repair capability for video games.

The package consists of a PTF-1 fixture to provide the necessary controls and power to operate the games, with a PSI-1 necessary to play the game. The UPC enables operators to program the cards for the games requiring repair at the time the repair work is needed, thus eliminating the necessity of making contact with the specific factory for delivery of the cards.

Another feature of the service package is an extender board which an operator can harness to a specific edge connector, to correct the problem of incompatible edge portion to handle the necessary diagnostics for isolating and repairing problematic phase I and phase II boards. The PSI-1 contains a built-in pulsar, probe and logic comparator.

In addition, so that the test fixture may be programmed for the various different games, PSE provides a Universal Program Card (UPC) with pin assignment sheets which list all of the control functions connectors.

Also included is an extender harness, wired in the same manner as the connector in the future so that games with compatible connectors (dual 22) may be turned over and worked on while under test conditions.

Further information about the package may be obtained by contacting Project Support Engineering, 750 N. Mary, Sunnyvale, California.

Tyrrell To Eastern Players Association

SYRACUSE — Jim Tyrrell, who has served as Tournament Director for the Irving Kaye Company's "Hurricane" table soccer tournament promotions, has departed his post with Kaye to join the Eastern Players Table Soccer Association as vice president.

Tyrrell is at present a director for the World Table Soccer Association, which is the national players organization. In his position with the Eastern Players group he will concentrate on a program of expanding the organization's membership base throughout the Northeast and encouraging more tournament play, as well as expanding the coverage of the Players Assn. newspaper "Games News and Tournaments" to include table soccer activities on a national scale and to ultimately establish city table soccer leagues across the Northeast.

"I think my association with the Irving Kaye Company was beneficial to both the company and the sport of table soccer," Tyrrell said. "Kaye is one of the few manufacturers who have shown they believe in the potential of table soccer as a national sport and, in this belief, have sponsored a very successful series of player-oriented promotions in the form of tournaments. I will continue to work closely with the Irving Kaye Company, and their distributors, in the tournament promotion of table soccer.

"I feel, however, that I can benefit the sport of table soccer more effectively if I am not associated exclusively with one manufacturer.

"It is my hope that an independent players association will eventually become to table soccer what the PGA or PBA is to golf or bowling."

R.H. Belam Appointed Seeburg's Fla. Dist.

CHICAGO — R.H. Belam Company, Inc. has been appointed distributor of Seeburg phonograph, vending and Williams electronic products in the state of Florida, it was announced by William F. Adair, vice president marketing and sales, Seeburg Products Division.

The Belam office, to be known as Belam-Florida, a division of R.H. Belam Company, Inc., is located at 1541 Northwest 165th St., Miami, Florida. The division is headed by Marc Haim, and the day-to-day operational responsibilities will be handled by general manager Murray Kaye, formerly of Atlantic New York Corporation, a long time associate of Seeburg.

Upon conclusion of the negotiations, Adair stated, "The R.H. Belam Company brings thirty years of experience and success in the coin industry to the family of Seeburg. Their knowledge of industry and operating needs in equipment, service and parts will enhance operating conditions in the state of Florida which is one of the more rapidly growing areas in the country.

"It is extremely gratifying," Adair continued, "that Victor Haim, president of the R.H. Belam Company, selected the products of Seeburg to launch the firm's expansion program into domestic distribution."

3 Exh. Halls Booked For MOA Expo '76

CHICAGO — Due to an unprecedented demand for space at the 1976 MOA Exposition, the association has booked an additional exhibit hall at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. The space addition is the North Hall, located adjacent to the registration area, and on the same level. Exhibitors, expected to attend in record numbers this year, will occupy a total of three exhibit halls, the East and West which were almost completely sold out by the end of June, and now the North.

The dates of Expo '76 are November 12, 13 and 14 and the convention's theme will reflect our nation's bicentennial.

As MOA's executive vice president Fred Granger indicated, not only will the show be the association's "biggest yet" but very likely one of its most spectacular in decor, since many exhibitors have expressed intentions of having newly designed and refurbished exhibits.

Foreign attendance is expected to reach an all time high this year, as Granger further noted, based on the number of inquiries received from abroad and the various overseas tours being planned expressly to coincide with Expo.

Atari Appts. Kantor Mktg. Research Mgr.

LOS GATOS, CA. — Carol Kantor has been named manager of the newly expanded market research department of Atari's coin-op products division. Kantor's responsibilities include the implementation of pre-market testing and evaluation, product analysis, forecasting and planning. Additionally, Kantor will conduct programs in consumer attitude research and target market analysis related to coin operated video game sales. Kantor has held marketing research positions with the Clorox Company and Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corporation.

Frank Ballouz, Atari national sales manager for the coin-op division, commented, "We believe that increased in-depth research in all phases of our business will help us gather the input we need to continue our leadership in the manufacturing of video games people will want to play, and that will be more profitable for our distributors and operators."

Wis. Senate Seeks To Aid Small Businesses

WISCONSIN — The Senate Small Business Committee for the state of Wisconsin held an organizational meeting recently to determine the nature and scope of the various problems relating to small businesses and to encourage the proprietors of such businesses to submit testimony and general comments that will aid the committee in determining concrete solutions.

Heartened by the effort, Leonard Roulier, executive director of the Wisconsin Music Merchants Assn., issued a special bulletin for distribution to the entire WMMA membership soliciting their cooperation in the project. He outlined the broad areas of testimony being sought: i.e., the problems encountered by the small businesses in raising and retaining capital; aspects of state tax policy which would be most beneficial in developing and fostering small businesses; changes in regulation and excessive licensing to help reduce the burdens of the small business and improve competition; and any other specific problems confronting small businesses in Wisconsin.

Individual testimony on these and related issues will provide a comprehensive view for the committee to study, as Roulier pointed out. Public hearings were scheduled in various areas of the state during the period of July 14 through September 22 and WMMA members were encouraged to participate in these hearings.

Atari Hosts Service Seminar

LOS GATOS, CA. — Atari, Inc. will hold a special seminar to further acquaint operators and distributors with techniques designed to troubleshoot problems associated with Atari's new microprocessor-based games.

The seminar, to be conducted primarily by Dan Van Elderen from Atari's engineering department, will be held at Atari headquarters Aug. 23-24.

Cash Box spoke with Don Smith, manager of customer services for Atari, who explained the importance of these sessions. "Video games until recently were using just straight digital processing. Now, microprocessors are being used more and more and about 90% of the people don't understand this process or have the equipment to deal with it. We intend to fully introduce them to this process and give them the confidence they need to work with this equipment and ultimately save themselves a lot of time and money."

Plans are also being formulated for a similar service seminar to be held at a later date in the Chicago area for Atari's eastern distributors. Those wishing to attend or receive additional information should contact Don Smith at Atari, Inc., 2175 Martin Ave., Santa Clara, Ca. 95050.

Mac Brier, a well-known coinbiz figure for some thirty-odd years, has joined the staff of National Coin here in town. "We're very pleased to have someone of Mac's knowledge and experience working along with us at National," was Mort Levinson's comment, speaking for himself and National owner Elmer Schmitt. In addition to his lengthy tenure on the distributing level, Brier was also an operator for a number of years.

A REMINDER for MOA members: August 5 is the deadline for submitting recommendations to fill the ten vacancies on the MOA board of directors. The nominating committee suggests that candidates be consulted before their names are submitted.

CAPSULE COMMENT from Stan Jarocki of Electra Games — "Initial reports on the new 'Wings' cocktail table are beyond our expectations!"

FROM THE LOCAL NAMA OFFICE comes word that, as of mid-July, 153 exhibitors had reserved booth space for the association's 1976 Convention-Exhibit in Philly. Included in the figure are 14 new exhibitors and 8 firms which had not participated in the '75 show. Thus far, the number of exhibitors has actually surpassed the exhibit footage of last year — indicating, according to NAMA's director of sales Jack Rielley, that the '76 event will be the largest ever staged by the association. Attendance is expected to top 8,000! Show dates are October 7-10 at the Civic Center in Philadelphia.

RUTHI ROSENSON of Allied Leisure Ind. will be motoring to the north come August 2, for a well earned vacation. Have fun!

RECEIVED A CALL FROM Evelyn Dalrymple of Lieberman One Stop in Omaha with a follow-up report on the single "Pillies Fever" by Cash-Bowa-Schmidt-Luzinski & Maddox (Grand Prix), indicating that the record has been making much progress with operators. Ev's personal promotion of it has resulted in heavy newspaper exposure, especially on the sports pages since the artists are all members of the Philadelphia Phillies ball team, and increased sales, of course! Ev's husband Hank called her attention to the record in the first place, simply because he heard it and thought it would be a good side for jukeboxes. She took it from there and has been enthusiastically pluggin' it ever since!

DATeline SAN DIEGO — home of Gremlin Ind. and its fast selling line of wallgames, including the exciting new Fooswall. Our conversation with the firm's marketing director John Myers centered largely on Gremlin's activities in the area of service schools. John said that field training manager Leonard DeGroot had recently conducted a series of training schools in various parts of Ohio and had planned subsequent sessions in Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Chicago. As a further customer service, of course, Gremlin also includes a comprehensive service manual with every game shipped!

AS OF THIS MORNING (2) production resumed at the Chicago Dynamic Ind. plant, following the annual summer vacation shutdown.

ALL IS IN READINESS at the World Wide Dist. showrooms for an August 4 Gremlin service school, to be held between the hours of 2:00 and 5:00 p.m., and conducted by Gremlin's Leonard DeGroot. A full house attendance is expected, as Howie Freer indicated, and he also had some fine comments to make about the firm's exceptional line of wallgames. "In the three years that we have been handling Gremlin's product line we have not as yet had one single trade-in on any of their models," he said, adding that "Play Ball," "Trapshoot" and "Fooswall" have been selling extremely well!

EASTERN FLASHES

At press time last week samples of the newly premiered bicentennial pinball models (New World 4-player and Conquest 200 1-player) from Playmatic were expected to arrive at Universe Affiliate Int'l. Firm's Barry Feinblatt hinted at an exciting followup to the bicentennial series, a 4-player called "Hangers," which is tentatively scheduled for release in late fall. The new piece is patterned after the popular sport of hang gliding. Barry also said the distrib's been doing excellent business with the Sega "Road Race" and the Nintendo arcade pieces "Wild Gunman" and "Shooting Trainer". . . Happy to report that business is good at Albert Simon Inc. — and that's the word from Murry Sandow. With the lifting of the pinball ban (though some regulations are still pending) there's been a surge in sales of pinball machines. Murry said the entire U.S. Billiards line is selling just great, with emphasis on pool tables, "Shark," "Air Jai Alai," "Pro Soccer," et al. He also mentioned that the distrib will be planning on some more service schools this fall Ron Gold of Cleveland Coin International is enjoying the expected breather following a most hectic and lucrative selling period. A short breather, however, but a welcome one. He had some excellent comments to make about the Williams "Space Mission" pingame which ranked as his "biggest seller to date" and the very outstanding Seeburg "Entertainer" phonograph; in his experience the "most well received Seeburg model since the introduction of the historic LPC-1!" In elaborating a bit further on the Entertainer, Ron noted that "the cosmetics of the model" has opened the door for its installation in many new locations which had previously been skeptical about utilizing phonograph equipment.

HOUSTON HAPPENINGS

Larry L. Gast is the new sales manager for Rowe International, Inc. distributor operations, Houston office. R.A. (Bob) Helphenstine is new sales representative for the same office. More about past connections and records of these gentlemen when space permits. . . Houston distributors enjoyed customary booming business on Monday (19) on sales to out of town operators. Managed to contact at a major distributorship these three: Richard Irvin, Richard's Music Co., La Grange, TX; Richard Becerra Music Co., Richard and Lois Becerra, Rosenberg, TX; Melvin J. Blum and Robert Allison, Blum Music Co., Bay City, TX. . . Semi-retired Joe Baine, owner, long established Baine Amusement Co., Beaumont, TX does his coinmatic buying on Friday rather than Monday of each week. Joe's son Don performs practically all other duties pertaining to operation of the firm. . . Ben Wells, mgr. parts dept., Gulf Coast Distribution Co., Houston (Wurlitzer) back from annual vacation. He now has nothing to look forward to but payday and Christmas. . . Around middle of July 1976, H.A. Franz & Co. added Candyshop, Pastryshop, Snackshop, Smokeshop to its extensive line of Seeburg vending machines. Candyshop, Pastryshop, Snackshop, Smokeshop vendors are manufactured by Automatic Products Company, St. Paul, Minn. . . Don Siegel, sole owner of LE Corporation (2700 Milan St. at Dennis), has covered the entire front of one of his three buildings with the latest type of venetian blinds. It adds plenty to the outside appearance and inside comfort. LE Corporation is a Rock-Ola phonograph distributor in Houston. . . On account of the vacation period, no service schools are planned here until the fall months. . . Outside improvements and landscaping are now finished on the Franz Bldg. Interior work was completed several weeks ago. . . Hear ye and heed, all distributing companies. Cash Box is especially interested in reports of service schools. Will publish pictures if prints are glossy, black and white kind. No colored photos, please.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

A very exciting event, and the first of its kind that we know of, took place last weekend on the backlot premises of Pico Indoor Sports. Bill Haun and Phil Gianone of Bill & Phil's Coin Machine, together with Chris Loumakis of Pico Indoor Sports held an antique games and jukebox auction which attracted just under 200 buyers who came with their families and friends. According to Bill and Chris, the auction was an out and out smashing success. News of the event was broadcast over KNBC TV Saturday Evening News. Old 78 Seeburgs, 1015 Wurlitzers, and surplus video equipment were among the many items up for grabs. . . Chris told us that Len Schmeller, marketing director for U.S. Billiards was in town visiting last week. Sales on the whole U.S. line are good with the "Parquet" model doing extremely well in this area.

Pleasant chatting with Harry Kane, president of Sega of America who returned from his east coast visit with distributors. Harry said it was nice seeing everybody, but more than that, it's wonderful for business. Distributors and operators can see business trends taking form and "manufacturers should not ignore them. A sales cycle just isn't complete unless there is full contact with everyone." As for Sega's two new games, "Road Race" was well received despite a rather slow summer season and saturated market for driving games. "Tracer," a shooting game with new configurations was also well received.

Atari field service engineer, Fred McCord, will conduct operator training seminars as follows: August 12-13 at Rowe Int'l. in New Orleans; August 16-17 at Rowe Int'l. in Columbia, S.C.; August 19-20 at Brady Dist. in Charlotte, N.C.; Sept. 13-14 at Cleveland Coin in Columbus, Ohio; Sept. 16-17 at Cleveland Coin in Cleveland, Ohio; and Sept. 23-24 at Rowe Int'l. in Montreal, Canada.

Thanks to Harvey Curry from Disco Records in Seattle for these hot items in his area: "Play That Funky Music" by Wild Cherry; "Hot Stuff" by the Rolling Stones; "Who'd She Coo" by the Ohio Players; "Strokin'" by Leon Haywood; and "Something He Can Feel" by Aretha Franklin.

Earnings Report fr 46

The firm's Recreation Products Group experienced an improved operating level domestically. Demand for golf balls and equipment continued strong, but was partially offset by slower tennis and related equipment sales. For the first six months, earnings of the domestic operations are improved from last year. European operations, however, experienced seasonal losses and reduced demand for tennis products which adversely affected the group's overall results.

Eric Carmen Ir 10

touring was one of the most important things for an emerging artist to do. "Every time you go out you make more fans. Eric's first tour as a solo artist lasted seven months, during which he had three days off at home in Cleveland. The second day he was home I called him and told him that he would have to fly off to a meeting of the Arista distributors to meet them and see how they work. He went; those things are important." Poses added that while on the road, Carmen visited radio stations and met the local Arista promotion and distribution people and did press interviews. He added that if there are important dates available which are less rewarding monetarily than others they will do them. "The money at this point is not what's important; we're building for long range growth. Some managers try to grab it all while they can, but I expect to be working with Eric in eight, ten years." Poses said that at the end of the next tour, which will begin in October, Carmen will have established his base. The tour will follow the release of his second LP in September.

Lou Boorstein Dies

MIAMI, FLA. — Lou Boorstein, who at one time some 15 years ago had one of the hottest one-stop operations in New York, Leslie Distributors, died last week. He was 61 years old and collapsed in his doctor's office. He is survived by his wife Eleanor and four sons.

Bernie Boorstein, who owns Double B Records, the Freeport, Long Island one-stop, got his training at Leslie from his uncle, Lou.

In light of Carmen's success in three different areas of music, Poses was asked which of those directions he would pursue with the new album. "He's maturing musically, he's grown up like everybody else. If I had to put a label on it, I would say that he's heading towards FM, though we're not looking to lose the MOR audience. The direction comes by itself, and the people who listen to the various kinds of stations will pick what they like."

No Demo Tape Made

Poses managed the Raspberries during their last year and a half together, when he said there was conflict in the group. This was partly because when the band put together the "best possible set," according to Poses, Carmen ended up singing eight out of ten of the songs. According to Poses, Jimmy Ienner (producer of the Raspberries and Carmen) and he always had in the back of their minds that Carmen would become a solo artist. When the time came to sign Carmen, his availability was made known but no demo tape was made. Poses feels that it is not fair to "peddle a tape." He was offering a package of artist, producer and manager, and he had the interested company representatives fly into Cleveland to listen to Carmen play some songs on his piano. "Clive Davis showed more interest than anyone, and within 24 hours his business people were back to me. The other thing was that Clive was building a new company; he had no superstars, and I knew I would get a shot." Poses said that Davis heard Carmen perform four songs, among which were part of "All By Myself" and "Never Gonna Fall In Love Again," Carmen's first and second singles respectively.

Poses was asked how important hit singles have been to Carmen's career. "Few artists will break, even strongly on FM, without a hit single. However, as far as Eric is concerned, I think the most important thing has been concert appearances. The promoters gamble on building the acts of the future. We in the industry tend to pre-hype ourselves, and not wait for the reaction from the public." Poses feels that concerts are one place where the public reaction to an act can be accurately sensed.

'A Manager Is Like A Father'

Poses feels that the most important thing about managing is to understand the nature of the job. "Personal management is just that: personal management. A manager is looked on almost as a father, and you have to be as available as a father is. And that is seven nights and seven days a week." Poses also thinks that too many business people and lawyers assume that there is no real definition of management, that it only involves managing business affairs. "A manager has to be as comfortable handling the creative and personal ends of the job, as the business." He added that a manager must also be concerned with an artist's future, which for Carmen will involve production in addition to songwriting. "Basically," he emphasized, "a manager has to watch over every facet of an artist's career."

Letters To The Editor fr 12

hope that we are still running our own business at RDM, Inc., and I do not see where my letter implied in any way that we or anyone else was being forced to participate. However, here are the three "faults" I find in the ABC Records RAPP program:

- 1) You include 45 rpm singles in the percentage figures. I believe this to be very unrealistic, and in fact to be very unfair to a rack jobber like ourselves that merchandises an average of 140 singles titles. Furthermore, I believe it to be unfair inasmuch as geographically, some areas of the country are necessarily more involved with 45 rpm singles sales than other areas. This also holds true for one type of outlet versus another.
- 2) I do not agree with your stipulation that a six (6) month period must first be served in order to see if one qualifies for a membership, be it class "A," "B" or "C"; and then during the course of the next six (6) months you may, or may not, prove yourself deserving of the appropriate award. I feel that the deserving award should be given at the end of each six (6) month period, beginning with the very first period.
- 3) Your ABC Records RAPP program would better serve to reduce returns if it were programmed in such a manner as to reward your sales forces. There has to be direct and immediate compensation given to them, or else it will be very ineffective in its whole purpose. Sure, sales people are paid on net sales. However, they must be given an incentive from release to release to minimize the returns factor. And certainly the answer is not the old and usual quota system that is placed on them.

You state in your letter that, and I quote, "The ABC Records RAPP program is not sealed in concrete and if other companies have a better plan, then we certainly are willing to listen," unquote. First let me say, my letter was addressing all major manufacturers regarding the evil of their quota and allocation systems, and that this was the prime cause of the return factor in this industry. Secondly however, the foregoing issues I take with RAPP I believe should be given serious considerations for implementation.

My letter to you of June 30, 1976 concerning this subject was published in full and verbatim in this week's Cash Box magazine. There is one statement which I made in the letter that I wish to retract. The statement was "Frankly, you insult my intelligence." Please accept my apology, as I know your intentions for the RAPP program are well meant.

In conclusion, it is my sincere belief that your RAPP program or anybody else's similar program will never be effective until ABC and all other major manufacturers see fit to either do away with or minimize the quota and allocation systems. I am not naive enough to believe that this will ever happen.

However, I do believe that the effectiveness of any "RAPP" programs lies therein.

Yours sincerely,
Record Department Merchandisers, Inc.
President

P.S. — I am taking the liberty of forwarding a photocopy of your letter of July 7, 1976 and a copy of this letter to Cash Box magazine and the same manufacturers or suppliers as carbon copied on my letter of June 30, 1976.

Dr. Hook fr 20

foretelling a complete turnabout, Dr. Hook's newer material definitely shows a different side of this multi-talented group.

The Pousette-Dart Band provided an interesting contrast to the casual lunacy of Dr. Hook with their tight, professional playing. The Capitol recording group has a pronounced reggae feel to their music, especially on "Halo." Standout of their set was the banjo-tinged "Smile On Me."

BMI Canada Ltd. Owned, Operated North Of Border

Music Promo Foundation, Royal Trust Co.
Hold Stock To Former American Subsidiary

TORONTO — As of July 1 of this year, BMI Canada has become a totally owned and operated Canadian non-profit corporation.

Formerly a subsidiary of Broadcast Music Inc. of the U.S., an agreement has been made whereby all shares issued to BMI Canada are now held by Music Promotion Foundation, a non-profit company with the Royal Trust Company acting as trustees.

In an announcement issued July 12 by BMI Canada the new board of directors are: Harold Moon, a long time BMI executive now becomes chairman of the board; Gordon F. Henderson, Q.C., long time legal counsel for the music licensing company, is named president; and S. Campbell Ritchie continues as managing director and is now vice president of the board of BMI Canada Ltd.

The first announcement of BMI Canada's autonomy came at the BMI Canada award dinner held in May of this year. At the time the announcement was made Henderson gave recognition to the leadership and assistance provided by BMI Inc., both on its own part and through BMI Canada Ltd. to Canadian composers, writers and publishers. "From its inception, it has encouraged an open-door policy which will continue to exist," said Henderson at that time.

Four new appointments to the board will be made in the fall and shortly after this a full board meeting is to be held, the first under the new autonomous BMI Canada Ltd.

20th To Phonogram Argentina

BUENOS AIRES — As of August 1, 20th Century Fox Records is being represented by Phonogram in Argentina. The label was previously marketed by Microfon which obtained strong results for artists like Barry White and Maureen McGovern. Phonogram's general manager John Lear told Cash Box that his company is preparing a strong promo campaign in behalf of its new label.

Phonogram, with the Brazilian Embassy in Buenos Aires, arranged a party at the Sheraton Hotel to present a new series of Brazilian records, by artists like Baden Powell, Elis Regina, Vinicius de Moraes and Toquinho. Enlightening the event, Toquinho was present in Buenos Aires — he came for appearances in several cities, with singer Simone — and drew strong applause with his show.

Trova's Dr. Carlos Garber reports very good sales for the new Susana Rinaldi LP, "A Un Semejante," which contains a selection of tango music and some tunes from the show Susana is playing at the Embassy Theater. Trova is also releasing an LP recorded by Jose Angel Trelles with the Astor Piazzolla orchestra; Trelles is being managed now by Fernando Iborra, one of the most powerful local impresarios, and has started a strong career as a soloist.

CBS' Raul Abramzon is having good success in Panama, and plans to return to Buenos Aires next September. The singer has recorded an LP recently and will present it with a TV show next month.

Som Livre and RCA have just signed an agreement by which all Som Livre owned by the Globo TV network original masters will be distributed and licensed all around the world by RCA companies. Contract calls for a first option in 40 days.

Roberto Carlos is now in Europe for a few shows in Spain and studying the English lyrics of his next recordings, which will be done in New York, probably this coming September.

"Sinal Fechado," a song written by Paulinho Da Viola and published by Intersong, was recorded in Italy by Ornella Valloni.

Mocedades, a group from Spain, just finished recording another Brazilian song, "Eu So Quero Um Xodo" by Dominginhos.

Canadian Notes

SASKATOON — Bachman-Turner Overdrive broke attendance records in Saskatoon on their first date of an expected 20 city concert tour of Canada. Having turned in order to do this second national tour of Canada, the group drew in excess of 7,000 fans at the Saskachimo Expo Grandstand with drummer Robbie Bachmas performing against doctor's orders with the help of an anesthetic. Shortly before the July 16 date in Saskatoon, the younger Bachman had flipped in a go-kart and pulled a joint in his arm. As it stands presently, BTO have cancelled three Maritime dates in order to get Rob Bachman's arm back in shape.

Gino Vannelli has cancelled all July concert dates in Canada, including an Olympic date, due to personal fatigue and changes in the band. Organist Richard Baker and drummer Graham Lear have formally declared resignation and speculation has it that they will be joining Gary Wright's touring band. Vannelli, meantime, is resting up in his Los Angeles home for a short while, then starting rehearsals for a major North American tour which is scheduled to start in Toronto, Sept. 16. Replacement musicians will be announced shortly, and A&M Records is going ahead with a July release schedule for his fourth album, "Gist Of The Gemini," a priority LP for the label.

A&M Records has announced the signing of The Hometown Band, a group currently backing Vancouver A&M artist Valdy.

Contrary to expectation, the Canadian Radio and Television Commission has issued an FM license to Global TV president Allen Slaight. The station is to be operational by spring of 1977 and is to be a progressive format station. Another license issued went to record-store owner and promoter Harvey Glatt in Ottawa. The Ottawa license is to be operational by fall of this year.

After 25 years of booking Nashville and Maritime country music acts, the Horse-shoe Tavern in Toronto is switching entertainment policy in favour of progressive and bluegrass acts. To advertise the switch, Roy Buchanan was brought in for a three night stand, an artist who normally plays concert halls in this city.

A Canadian tour by ABC recording artist Freddy Fender was cut short following a Halifax appearance, no reason being given as yet.

Polydor Ltd. has announced a decision to reissue a classic Rompin' Ronnie Hawkins album. Entitled "The Return Of The Hawk," and scheduled to ship immediately, this Collector's Edition was previously released on the Yorkville label.

ABC, Disques Carrere Enter French Distribution

LOS ANGELES — ABC Records has signed a distribution agreement with Disques Carrere for France and several of its overseas territories.

Commenting on the new association, Steve Diener, president of ABC International, noted, "Disques Carrere is an extremely aggressive French company which has enjoyed a consistent history of success in creating and marketing top artists in their own market. During the past few years, at any given time, artists from Disques Carrere's roster have dominated both the French singles and album charts."

"Our objective in the French market," Diener continued, "was to find the proper associate who was strong in the area of promotion and who also understood the special nature of selling American repertoire to the French public, whose tastes can be quite specialized."

The agreement between ABC and Carrere was recently signed in Carrere's French headquarters with Diener, Claude Carrere, the French company's president, and Jean Marc Bel, Carrere's representative, attending.

Disques Carrere will distribute all of the ABC family of labels in the French market.

New Carlin, Heath Levy Catalogs; Shelley Resigns Magnet Position

LONDON — Paul Rich of Carlin Music has returned from the states with a number of important catalogs acquired while there. The Jacksons, formerly the Jackson Five, are able to have their publishing interests Peacock Music and Stone Gold Music represented by Carlin. The Jacksons now record for CBS and an album and single are expected from them in September plus solo albums from Michael Jackson. Rich also acquired the important Light Music and Micache Music catalogs, which contain all songs written by Santana. This deal also gives Carlin the chart topping Omigus album. Santana will be touring Europe in August. Elvin Bishop's Crabshaw Music and John Sebastian's Sebastian Music were also secured by Rich and Carlin president Freddy Bienstock.

Eddie Levy has returned from America where he acquired numerous copyrights for representation by HeathLevy Music in the U.K. HeathLevy will be administering all works from Boz Scaggs, Dan Fogelberg and Donald Byrd. Scaggs, currently riding high on the Cash Box charts in his own right, has written the Franki Valli single "We're All Alone" which will be released by Private Stock. Fogelberg will be releasing a new album and single on CBS this fall. Levy also met with the president of MCA Music; an announcement is expected shortly in connection with the appointment of a manager for HeathLevy's U.S. operation.

Peter Shelley, writer, producer, songwriter and executive, has resigned his position from the board of directors of Magnet Records and relinquished all interests in the firm. Shelley was with Magnet in its formation over two years ago.

CBS Sugar Releases Eleven ABC Singles

During their first four months of work for the label, CBS Sugar has released 21 ABC albums and 24 singles.

More TV, LPs For Les Reed

LONDON — Les Reed will conduct the Swedish State Radio Orchestra augmented by British musicians for a TV presentation "The Musical World of Les Reed" to be screened on Swedish TV next New Year's Eve.

The arranger/songwriter/musical director will go to Stockholm at the end of November accompanied by key British musicians to lead sections of the Swedish Orchestra and the Chanter Sisters. The show will be recorded in the Swedish capital, and produced by Barbro Francke.

On July 20th Reed began an eleven-week series for BBC Radio 2 entitled "Les Reed and His Musical World" conducting the sixty piece BBC Radio Orchestra with Tony Mansell singers and Vince Hill who is also scripting and introducing the shows.

Decca is releasing a 25-track double album called "Focus On Les Reed" in September, and he is also planning a single coupling his arrangement of Elgar's "Nimrod" and his own "Lest We Forget" for Remembrance Day release this fall.

'Dragons Dream' Sets Fall Publishing For Album Sleeve Art Book

LONDON — Dragons Dream, publishers of the highly acclaimed book 'Views' are producing and publishing this fall a new book 'The Album Cover Album.' When issued, this book will be the first highly comprehensive study of the history of the record sleeve. Recognizing the album sleeve as an art form, the publishers intend this book to be the first of a series of annuals on the subject of best in sleeve art.

U.S.-Australian Broadcasts 19

"Although their population is smaller and there are fewer signals" (only about twelve stations in Melbourne as opposed to 76 in the greater Los Angeles area) "they're going after the same age groups," related Van Dyke.

Playlists

When asked how playlist sizes compare with a KHJ, Van Dyke pointed out that a similar rotation of some thirty to forty records is used (KHJ revolves around thirty), but "they seem to play a lot more older records. Their golden library goes back a lot further in time than ours."

Van Dyke, whose performance on a local drive-time show was taped for "Current Affair," a national Australian program, also noted that during the time he was in Melbourne, 3XY aired no less than five specials.

"A regular thing down there," commented Charlie, "is to play an album, start to finish, with the artists commenting. One of the guys at 3XY did this with a Kiss album before it was ever released in Australia and it went over very well."

More Input

Earlier in the week, Cash Box conducted a similar dialogue with Digamae consultant and 2SM (Sydney) jock David White and Peter Harrison of Van Dyke's home-away-from-home, 3XY, Melbourne. The two were, of course, involved in the "Friends" exchange and broadcast, for their part, shows over KHJ here in Los Angeles.

CB asked White and Harrison who the American Research Bureau counterpart would be in Australia; who conducts the ratings?

Surveys

"Anderson-McNair," answered White, leading things off. "They used to be separate companies but they merged and they now do the surveying in Australia."

"Each year we have four separate eight-week surveys," added Harrison. "There's one on at the moment. The books aren't anywhere near as detailed as yours because the population isn't as wide. It would freak most Americans to read our book because the figures are so high."

"We've got seven stations in Sydney plus a couple of experimental FM," countered White. "We're the top rating at the moment at something like 19% of the market. That's unheard of, I guess, in L.A. At breakfast, the number one station during peak time has 300,000 people listening. But it's only a matter of time before the FMers get in there and really start specializing. Then they'll cut that pie back until the number one station may only pull ten percent of the market. FM will come, but it's going to take awhile."

Censorship

How about censorship? The example was made of many American stations bleeping certain phrases out of Bob Dylan's recent "Hurricane" single.

White said his station did bleep words from that record; Harrison's did not.

"We've got an organization similar to the FCC which is called the FACB (Federation of Australian Commercial Broadcasters)," White explained. "They run a pretty tight operation. They check on all records that come into the country and issue a set of standards that are sent out to radio stations. FACB suggests a classification similar to 'PG' or 'X' which the station manager talks over with his music director."

Non-Rock Music

Aside from the "standard" classifications of pop, MOR, rock, "easy listening" . . . how does other music fit into the Australian picture? Is there such a thing as country? Latin? Jazz?

Harrison picked up the ball: "Country music has quite a big foothold, but mainly by Australian artists. Slim Dusty, for instance, has sold more records than anyone else — Beatles, Elvis included. Yet he never gets played on big city radio. Country radio is behind him, though, and there is a very big country market."

"Until the disco craze," segued White, "there were very few black hits. The disco seemed to break the market wide open for blacks. The commercial material has broken through. But I don't think a lot of people can relate to in-depth funk music yet in Australia."

How about domestic black music out of Australia?

"Only gimmick records," answered White. "Like Lionel Rose, who was a world-champion boxer. After he retired, he made a novelty record which was bought because he was a hero for awhile. You go back and Jimmy Little, who is an Aborigine, had a record about ten years ago that was played and bought on its merit but there isn't a domestic black population to support a music trend."

Lack Of Latin

Likewise, apparently, there is no Latin population to speak of in the land down under, as White related:

"If you said 'salsoul' a lot of people would shake their heads and say 'what?' It'll get played and it will sell, but not in massive quantities. You'll get an occasional breakthrough hit but not a swamping monster. Again, the commercial stuff like Santana. Neither is reggae very big yet. Marley and the Wailers are just starting to get through."

Harrison, the jazz buff, spoke of an ABC late-night jazz show from ten to midnight. "That's about the only national jazz show, however. As a programming format, it doesn't exist. An enthusiast would have to look up the ABC radio guide and find out when it's on. It's not a part of commercial stations at all."

Sample Market

Despite its seeming lack of wide-range programming versatility (although in one sense programming "potential" is enormous), White contends that "Australia is a very interesting sample market for the U.S., as some records do very well and then America follows. Maxine Nightingale is a case in point. 'Right Back To Where We Started From' was 99 on the Cash Box charts as the single was number 10 in Sydney."

If Australia is a potential sample market, we wondered which domestic groups looked to be most prime to cross borders and break the U.S.

"I would think Skyhooks," (Phonogram/Mercury), offered Harrison. "They recently toured the U.S. and really just laid the groundwork. They've got a foot in the door — a small toe, actually — but now they know what they're chasing, and they'll definitely be back."

"There was another record recently," added White, "called 'Yesterday's Hero' by John Paul Young (Ariola America), that got into the top half of the CB charts. The only reason it didn't do better is because John Paul Young wasn't here in the U.S. to follow up with personal appearances and television. That's the difference. We're so far away. If a record gets picked up by a top forty station here and starts to break, you either have to be there in person or get some videotape out there fast."

Competition

It's true, a body cannot be in two places at once, although one voice can certainly occupy two continents at one time. Cash Box wrapped up the interview with the two wandering Aussies by posing the same, inevitable question that we'd put to Charlie Van Dyke earlier: how does Australian radio stack up against the U.S. brand?

White and Harrison pondered, but not for long. Armed to the teeth with some seventy interviews with local L.A. personalities ranging from Mel Blanc to Cal Worthington, the duo knows they'll be pulling the ratings when they get back home. Their reply:

"We're right up to date with what the American radio stations are doing. I don't think we're in any way behind you guys. We follow American radio very closely. Because if you followed England, you'd be back in the Dark Ages. English radio is the worst radio in the world."

Randy Cornor/My First Album DOSD 2048

At 22 he's Houston's hottest session guitarist and lately he's become a singer, with two big hits already under his belt—"Sometimes I Talk In My Sleep" and "Heart Don't Fail Me Now"—both on his ABC/Dot debut album.

abc Dot Records

Buck Trent/Bionic Banjo DOSD 2058

He's one of the Hee Haw regulars and Roy Clark's chief sidekick. He's also a bonafide, down-with-it, can't-quit-it, sweet-talking super-picker. His new album features his hit single, "The Wrestling Matches."

Christine McVie/The Legendary Christine Perfect Album SASD 7522

Before joining Fleetwood Mac, Christine McVie recorded a solo album under her maiden name, Christine Perfect. It featured some very popular friends and contained her English classic, "I'd Rather Go Blind." A collector's item for the past couple years, it's now being released in this country for the first time.

Larry Hosford/Crosswords SRL 52003
