EDITORIAL

Open Channels

The debut of Ted Turner's Cable Music Channel this week marks a new dimension in the airing of this past year's most explosive music industry medium — video. The influence of music videos on the sales of albums and singles has been established countless times by the success of such groups as Duran Duran, Eurythmics, Huey Lewis and the News and others. Its place in the daily entertainment intake of younger demographic groups is obvious. Yet until now, only MTV has presented a cable channel devoted wholly to music video programming.

With the Cable Music Channel on the air now and various other channels set for airing in the near future, increased competition for viewers and advertising dollars, as well as for exclusivity on videos, will surely become fierce. As has been demonstrated in the marketplace time and time again, such competition will ultimately serve to improve the availability of the product and most likely its quality. Thus, programming will hopefully become more open to include other music formats than pop, heavy metal and "new wave" and the airing of videos from less established artists as was the case during the formative months of MTV.

We call on all the established and newly forming cable channels to heed this opportunity to strengthen the artistic quality and commercial viability of music videos and to help make the medium an adventurous and open-minded creative vehicle for our industry.

ON THE COVER

The beautiful "Prelude" jukebox pictured on this week's cover marks the return of the famous Seeburg name and the tradition of excellence that has been synonymous with it over the past many decades. While the rebirth of Seeburg came to pass only a few months ago, when Seeburg Phonograph Corporation was organized, this world renowned manufacturer goes back to 1902 and carries with it an enviable reputation in the world of coin-operated musical entertainment.

The "Prelude," which was officially unveiled at a gathering of Seeburg distributors in Chicago on October 24, reflects the design and technology of the '80s and is at home in every type of location, from the posh lounge to the neighborhood pub. Infinity lights emit a warm, friendly feeling behind the model's bronze reflector panel and when the music is on the lights pulsate to the bass and treble. When the music is off, this reverts to a steady, continuous light source to call attention to the machine even when it is not being played, which is a very effective merchandising tool on location and something that will help generate increased play.

The Prelude embodies all the optional features to enhance the music operator's business — plus a Portable Printout Totalizer, which is an optional feature that cuts the cost of verifying income information.

RIAA Reports Sharp Rise In Record And Tape Sales

NEW YORK — The dollar volume of U.S. manufacturer net shipments of records and prerecorded tapes rose 15 percent for the first six months of 1984 and unit shipments rose 18 percent over the same period, according to the RIAA. Prerecorded cassettes led the way with a 36 percent rise in dollar volume and a 45 percent rise in unit shipments over the first half of '83. Singles showed a 2 percent increase in units shipped with a steady dollar volume, while albums stayed even in units shipped and dropped off 6 percent in retail dollars.

There were 312.5 million units shipped from January through June, 1984, compared to 265.6 million units through the first half of 1983, according to RIAA figures. Calculated at suggested retail list price, six-month 1984 shipments were valued at $1.9 billion, compared to $1.7 billion for a comparable period last year.

Highlights of the mid-year 1984 shipment data are:

- Prerecorded cassettes were up to 143.5 million units shipped from 99.3 million units shipped, with dollar volume increasing from $736.3 million to over $1 billion at suggested retail list price.

- Singles went from 63.6 million units shipped to 64.8 million units shipped for the first six months of 1984 while dollar volume dipped slightly from $141.6 million to $141.2 million.

- Compact Discs were not tracked for the first six months of 1983, but shipped 1.5 million units at a dollar volume of $30.6 million for the first half of 1984.

- LP/EP shipments amounted to 99.2 million units, valued at $736.6 million, compared to last year's halfway figures of 99.6 million units, representing $784.4 million dollars at suggested retail list price.

A&M Film Division Fosters Film/Soundtrack Association

by Peter Holden

LOS ANGELES — After nearly three years in the works, the A&M Film Division will see its first finished product in December with the release of the film/soundtrack Birdie. This Alan Parker film will be followed by other A&M film releases The Breakfast Club and Better Off Dead early next year and marks the emergence of a cohesive film/music division for the label.

With Gil Friesen as head of both A&M Records and the newly formed film division and Andy Meyers as director of the motion picture development arm, the label's David Anderle will handle the music end of the projects. This sort of close working relationship is another step in the consolidation of films and soundtracks. In speaking with Cash Box,

After Six Weeks, Teachers Project Makes The Grade

by David Adelson

LOS ANGELES — When Cash Box first spoke to Capitol Records' executives (Cash Box, September '15) about the soon-to-be-released soundtrack to the film Teachers, it was apparent that the label was gearing for a strong multi-media promotion. Two singles later Teachers continues to be the number one box office draw in the country, as the album debuts this week at #96 with a bullet on the Cash Box album charts. The promotion of a soundtrack entails a unique marketing strategy that aims at both the movie-going and radio-listening audience. Capitol's senior vice president of marketing and promotion, Walter Lee, reflected on Teachers while both the soundtrack and the film are in "mid-stream."

"At this early stage of the game, two weeks after the movie has been released, it's really too early for the movie to be having any significant impact on record sales." Lee commented. "I think that the movie will now impact album sales as it gets into the third, fourth and fifth week of its run."

As of October 21, Teachers had grossed $17,423,002 after 17 days of release. For the weekend of 10/19-10/21 it grossed $3,448,610 at 1,721 screens. It was a 25 percent drop from the weekend before. In Los Angeles (weekend of 10/19-10/21), the film grossed $106,000 at 16 theatres while in New York it grossed $330,000 in 82 screens.

Subsequent success has met both singles at this early date. .38 Special's

Anatomy Of a Video Pt. 1

Film/Video Producers Find Silvercup At Bridge's End

by Rusty Cutchin

This is the first of a series of articles on the production of Billy Joel's new video, Keeping the Faith, and on video production in general.

NEW YORK — It looms over the horizon as a beacon of bygone days, when the fresh smell of baking bread ruled its corridors. These days another kind of bread is being made under the giant Silvercup sign, and it is fast reaching the kind of abundance of its predecessor. There's a reason for this, but Manhattanites, who seem to have an inordinate amount of suspicion concerning life outside their borough, have to look for it. It doesn't take a lot of effort. The first sight that greets a traveler on the downside of the Queensboro Bridge's upper roadway is the immense Silvercup scaffolding. Beneath the letters, the word "studios" has been inserted. Soon four projection video screens will be installed below that, providing outbound New Yorkers with a futuristic view of the fantasy worlds created within the structure's walls. It's an imposing sight over the Queens skyline.

Of course, New Yorkers have to look for it. One who has is Billy Joel.

Inside the ex-bakery, carpenters now do the cooking. In a week, Billy Joel and video entourage will settle into Silvercup for a month-long project, the video to Joel's sixth single from his "An Innocent Man" album. The tune is "Keeping the Faith" and it's Joel's most ambitious video project to date. Inside Silvercup, workers are busy constructing one of four sets that Joel will use in the eight-minute video. A complete courtroom reconstruction is underway. The studio people hint that surprises may be in store. Everyone is busy.

Duets Gain Popularity, Hold Strong On Country Charts

By Brenna Davenport-Leigh

NASHVILLE — It's not just Willie Nelson who appears to be on a duet tangent these days; one careful study of the country charts should show the apparent popularity of duets, not only over the country airwaves, but in sales as well. Every major label has one, often two, and the total of duets on the country singles charts is now up to 14, making that approximately one out of seven charted records. The rise in the number of duets to appear on the charts has not come so much, however, from established duos or partners. There has been an increasing amount of teaming two notable country artists together for a single, and lately even album product, creating a ready-made appeal factor for the public as well as for the radio stations.

Over the past year this success has been seen from such pairings as Merle Haggard and Willie Nelson's "Pancho and Lefty," Kenny Rogers and Dolly Parton's "Islands In The Stream," and Nelson and Julio Iglesias with "To All The Girls I've Loved Before." Notably, the latter two were also successful singles on the pop charts, giving, perhaps, a better idea of the public response to the duet idea. Even with the crossover success, though, country music has always seemed to have fondness for duets from Mary Ford and Les Paul to Loretta and Conway and Tammy and George. Last week Barbara Mandrell and Lee Greenwood took "To Me" to the number one position on the Cash Box country singles chart, and there are many other country twosomes which have recently charted and are quickly making their way toward the top. "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do," by Capitol's Anne Murray and singer/composer Dave Loggins is currently at #18 bullet on the Cash Box country singles chart, and just recently Ray Charles and B.J. Thomas had a Top 20 hit with "Rock And Roll Shoes" on Columbia. "It's A Be Together Night," by Viva's successful duo of Frizzell and West is at #33 bullet, while Moe Bandy and Joe Stampley are at #46 bullet with "The Boys' Night Out" on Columbia. Also coming up the chart is "Slow Nights" by

OUT OF THE BOX

GIVE MY REGARDS TO BROAD STREET—Soundtrack—Paul McCartney — MPL SC 39613 — Producer: George Martin — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Before the needle falls or the tape rolls, a simple glance at the titles on this album will tell you that you're about to hear some great music, whether the new versions of classic McCartney songs, or the three tunes he's written for the film fully succeed or not. Over all, the results are effective, and though these new arrangements by McCartney and Martin will never supplant the originals they are done with an elegant simplicity, utilizing rich string and horn parts under top-notch vocals.

NEW AND DEVELOPING

MAKE IT BIG — Wham! — Columbia 39595 — Producer: Wham! — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

This second LP from Britain's "Bad Boys" marks a complete departure from its former musical statement. "Make It Big" is an LP of melodic pop with an R&B feel, fresh for CHR. George Michaels' fully rounded vocal tones are rich with a musical element not heard on the band's previous LP, a new sound that is less tense, more tuneful. Dance rhythms are played down in comparison, though "Credit Card Baby" and the already immensely popular "Wake Me Up Before You Go-Go" are thoroughly danceable cuts.

OUT OF THE BOX

LAURA BRANIGAN (Atlantic 7-89608) Ti Amo (4:18) (Sugar Melodi Inc., MCA Music/ASCAP) (Bigazzi-Tozzi-Warren) (Producers: Jack White-Robbie Buchanan)

With this latest single off her "Self Control" LP, Laura Branigan once again lends her strong and commanding vocal technique to a moody, melodic European song. The lyrics, rewritten to English from the original, powerfully speak of lost love and add to the definite emotional impact the song has. Although "Ti Amo" seems somewhat constrained as a result of chordal repetition, it's nonetheless a memorable piece, and offers a highly danceable rock tempo, all of which points to likely multi-format success.

OUT OF THE BOX

BOB SEGER & THE SILVER BULLET BAND (Capitol P-B-5413) Understanding (3:42) (Gear Publishing Co./ASCAP) (Seger) (Producers: Bob Seger and Punch)

From the film Teachers, this latest Bob Seger offering is by and large successful in bringing together a good, singable melody, meaningful lyrics, and superb performances. Despite a chorus that remains on one plateau and never fully takes hold, the song clearly captures the power inherent in its words, which deal with the personal quest for growth and knowledge, and allows Seger's rich, honest and touching vocals to shine through.

FEATURE PICKS

NEW EDITION — New Edition — MCA 5515 — Producers: various — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

With the album's first single "Cool It Now" vying for the top spot on the B/C singles chart and breaking into the pop Top 40, this disc should do very good crossover business. While the young vocal group has help from Ray Parker, Jr, Michael Sembello and Richard James Burgess on various cuts, it also has an innate charm which appeals to a wide audience. Recalling the heyday of Michael Jackson's youth with the Jackson Five, "New Edition" is sure to find a strong B/C and pop audience.

CONTACT — DreamBoy — Qwest 1-25163 — Producer: Dreamboy — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

This long-awaited first LP from B/C chart toppers Dreamboy is every bit the prime follow-up album listeners have been waiting for since the band's top selling mini-LP was released last year. Continuing its special brand of fine melodic funk, Dreamboy firmly establishes its unique blending of jazz and pop influences with this LP, proving to its growing number of fans that Dreamboy is no chart fluke. Certain B/C fare, "Contact" is an LP ripe for the Christmas market.

NO REMORSE — Motorhead — Bronze Records 7 90233-1-H — Producers: Various — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

If you like honest, unrelenting heavy metal, then warn your neighbors, close the door and blast this two record collection from England's Motorhead. Four new songs accompany past efforts, and despite several personnel changes since composer/bassist/singer Lemmy Kilmister founded the band in 1975, there is a consistency in the intensity, energy and the quality throughout. Kilmister's gruff vocals stand out, but the songs themselves have clear, well-formed melodies and are played with an effectively straightforward style. Of the new songs, "Steal Your Face" is the strongest, though the single "Killed By Death" works well also. A definite contender for AOR action.

SCATTERED LIGHTS — The Skatalites — Alligator 8309 — Producers: Justin Yap, Geoffrey Chung, Clive Davidson — List: 8.98

This 12-song collection from the band that essentially defined "Ska," contains six songs released on Top Deck Records in 1964 and six others from that era that have never before been released. It is the Skatalites' brand of shuffling instrumental tunes that continue to influence a wide variety of modern bands. From such standards as "The Reburial" and "Confucious," to the cuts that Alligator has rescued from eternal obscurity, this LP unquestionably stands as a missing chapter from Jamaica's musical history book.

LET IT BE — The Replacements — Twin Tone 8441 — Producers: Steve Fielstad, Paul Westerberg, Peter Jespersion — List: 6.98

Not a remake of the Beatles' classic disc of the same name, "Let It Be" is a celebration in youth, anguish and energy in which Minnesota's Replacements shine with intensity on nearly every cut. Aligning themselves with REM on some cuts (the first single "I Will Dare") and with the biting sound of X on others ("Unsatisfied" and "Seen Your Video") the Replacements are a young and rough-hewn band which captures the core of essential rock music — with no apologies.

FEATURE PICKS

THE J. GEILS BAND (EMI America B-8242) Concealed Weapons (3:30) (Center City Music/Last Licks Music—ASCAP) (Justman-Justman) (Producer: Seth Justman)

This first J. Geils single sans ex-lead vocalist Peter Wolf is thick with both R&B soul and pop veneer. Utilizing the rambunctious elements that have long made this band a mainstay on the music scene, J. Geils here rocks hard and with a contemporary feeling on a track that makes a statement of sorts against its title "Concealed Weapons." A partying guitar/bass riff and accenting horns highlight this piece which was made to dance to. Expect immediate pop adds.

HUEY LEWIS AND THE NEWS (Chrysalis VS4 42825) Walking On A Thin Line (3:58) (Endless Frogs Music/ASCAP/admin. by Bug Music/Slimey Limey Music/McNoodle Music/BMI) (Pessis-Wells) (Producers: Huey Lewis and the News)

The powerful, driving, rhythmic sounds of Huey Lewis and the News are evidenced once again in another successful effort off the "Sports" album. As usual, the vocals are powerful, and especially fine guitar playing also compliments this single, the fifth from the LP. In the best tradition of Huey Lewis, this song offers a good melodic flair and imaginative lyrics, this time dealing with growth and survival. The CHR charts can certainly make way for this latest effort from Lewis.

FIONA (Atlantic 7-89610) Love Makes You Blind (Love Theme From No Small Affair) (4:54) (Bioya Music/Gold Horizon Music Corp./BMI) (Marchello) (Producer: Peppi Marchello)

Bringing a style that sounds part Benatar and part Kim Carnes, but with her own emotional input and technique, Fiona strongly sings this first single from the film, No Small Affair (with all its other tunes written by Rupert Holmes). Though occasionally a bit too whiney, Fiona clearly demonstrates a commanding vocal ability which can range between harder rock and softer ballads. This particular ballad offers her the opportunity to display her talent, while the song itself is a very good piece which should do well on CHR stations.

JAKATA (Morocco 1750 CF) Hell Is On The Run (3:38) (Stone Diamond Music/BMI) (Felber) (Producers: Pat Sherlock-Jimmy Felber)

One of Motown/Morocco's latest finds, Jakata is a well-schooled pop-rock band along the lines of Toto and Survivor and with the cut "Hell Is On The Run," the band shows it has the right blend to be successful on many fronts. Hard enough to please many of the younger crowd. Jakata is also textured enough to potentially cross to the dance and A/C formats. Tight but uneventful debut.

THE S.O.S. BAND (Tabu ZS4 04665) No One's Gonna Love You (3:18) (Flyte Tyme Tunes—Avant Garde Music/ASCAP) (Lewis-Harris) (Producer: Jimmy Jam-Terry Lewis)

A longtime club and B/C favorite, "No One's Gonna Love You" is now breaking out and its soothing groove and sensual vocals should help re-establish The S.O.S. Band as a major B/C force. With Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis behind the board, the sound on this track is exquisite, airy and full. An excellent slice of slow funk which should capture a broad audience.

POINTS WEST

COMING OF AGE — Well, this may or may not be the "golden age" of film soundtracks, but with the summer's Prince premiere of Purple Rain leading the way, it is certainly the high point in film soundtrack premiere parties. This last week has seen two such parties sweep through Hollywood and Beverly Hills, the most illustrious of which was the premiere of Paul McCartney's Give My Regards To Broad Street. The ex-Beatle has not made an extensive publicity tour in over a decade and has not appeared in a major film since the Beatles Let It Be. As you guessed, the gathering which McCartney and wife Linda hosted at the Bistrot in B.H. was the most la-dee-da affair to celebrate music and film since the Purple Rain gala. While the film got less than rave reviews, the pre-film party was hailed as an industry event. In the same vein, and making about as much sense, was the Talking Heads' debut feature length film premiere. Stop Making Sense was played to a packed house at the Palace and this gathering also brought out many Hollywood stars. A bit more music-oriented than the McCartney "event," the crowd at the Palace included Mo Ostin, all the Heads, Belinda Carlisle, Drew Barrymore, Buck Henry, Mark Mothersbaugh, John Doe and Billy Zoom from X and Irving Azoff. While the box office and record sales receipts have yet to establish either project as successful, it is obvious by the turnouts at both premieres that Hollywood appreciates this renaissance in gala events.

ICE HOUSE REUNION — That's right, the famed comedy-folk club The Ice House is having a big get-together in early November to try to bring back many of the artists who got their start at the Pasadena club. Former owner Bob Stane, who sold the venue to Bob Fisher after 20 years, as its head and Robin Savage are putting the show together and are looking for any performers who played the Ice House and would like to participate. Savage can be reached at (818) 289-2062. Performers who started at the Ice House include comedians Bob Newhart, Lily Tomlin, George Carlin, The Smothers Brothers, Cheechee & Chong and recording artists Dan Hicks, Glen Campbell, Captain Beefheart, the Dillards, Hoyt Axton, The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band and many others.

THE BOSS IS BACK IN TOWN — In the midst of an explosive year-long tour and just back from two rave concerts in the Bay Area, Bruce Springsteen has (finally!) brought his show to L.A. After selling out the seven performances at the Los Angeles Sports Arena in just hours, you can bet this city is ready for Springsteen and his illustrious band, which includes Clarence Clemons on sax and guitarist Nils Lofgren. The seven shows include a Halloween night concert which should blow the roof off of the Arena.

JAZZ GETS LOUDER — The FCC recently granted KKGO (our all-jazz station) permission to install a powerful two-bay, circular antenna on Mt. Wilson. KKGO president/general manager Saul Levine noted that the antenna, along with a new 30,000-watt broadcast transmitter, will allow the station's signal to reach southern California's listeners more effectively by correcting the overshoot problem encountered by stations with antennas on Mt. Wilson. The new system will be in operation before the end of the year.

SONNY RETURNS — Nigeria's dynamic afro-pop star Sonny Okosun is returning to the U.S. for a coast-to-coast tour which will begin in late October in New York. The 18-city tour will be highlighted by Shanachie Records' release of Okosun's 12-inch remix of the cut "Highlife" taken from the "Liberation" LP. Okosun will again be accompanied by his 15-member Ozzidi band and should provide more of the electrifying shows that have spearheaded the recent African invasion.

NEW RELEASES — A lot of new material from some local bands includes Los Lobos latest "How Will The Wolf Survive" which will also have the title track video debuting on MTV this week from Slash/Warner's. From Enigma, new LPs include the debut from the acclaimed Leaving Trains entitled "Well Down Blue Highway," the Suburbia soundtrack with cuts from TSOL, The Vandals and Alex Gibson, and a four-song LP from Kendra Smith, David Roback and Keith Mitchell. Formerly called Clay Allision, the group's Smith was with Dream Syndicate and Roback formerly with Rain Parade. On the Taishita label, the Southern All Stars (Japan's #1 rock band) has just released its first English language single "Tarako" backed by "Japaneggae." Exquisite production makes the band's musicianship jump out on both cuts, and look for remixes. The hottest album of the week is The Replacements' "Let It Be." Look for them at the Lingerie soon. As for old releases, the Cash Box staff has unearthed a double-edged single from The Jesters Of Newport recorded in the mid-'60s. Sounding like the Lyres (cheesy Farfisa organ) and the Animals (rough), Ed Cusby and The Jesters have fallen into ill begotten obscurity. Rhino has cool yule LPs for Christmas as well as a Texas-shaped disc featuring Bob Wills. Mobile Fidelity has master recordings of the Allman Bros.' classic "Eat A Peach," Linda Ronstadt's "What's New?" and "A Jolly Christmas From Frank Sinatra."

NEW SIGNING — Total Experience Records president Lonnie Simmons has announced the signing of a new all-male, four-member band called Majick.

HER BOYFRIEND'S BACK — ... and together they run Independent Sound. You may know Mary Buffett's name for her rousing 12" remake of the classic Shangrilas' cut "My Boyfriend's Back" released earlier this year, but Buffett and her husband Peter Buffett are also busy making a name for themselves in the recording studio business. While Mary's own music has a high priority at the couple's Independent Sound Studio located in San Francisco, the couple has been awfully busy with other clients such as MTV. The studio has been used for numerous national television spots as well as doing the sound for MTV's own spots. With clients like this, who needs a hit! Well, the set up is such that the Buffetts can do both and soon the hits may overtake the business end of things. Independent Sound can be reached at (415) 929-8085.

NEW FACES TO WATCH

Andrew Ridgeley and George Michaels, otherwise known as Columbia recording artist Wham!, met almost 10 years ago when they were at school together in the North London suburb of Watford. "George was a late arrival at school and he was sort of put in my charge, and one of the immediate similarities was that we both enjoyed music — specifically Elton John," said Ridgeley. They had both just purchased copies of "Goodbye Yellow Brick Road" at the time, which they went through together, track by track, they said, during geography class. Music became a bond between them. It was only fitting that they should one day write and record their own music together. Ten years down the line, the two have made music their lives and their livelihood, their most recent single "Freedom" for Columbia Records having gone #1 on the British pop charts and "Wake Me Up Before You Go-Go" positioned at #6 this week on the Cash Box Top 100 singles. The success is growing, and 1984 marks a landmark year for the duo. Wham! is only just beginning to experience the kind of success in America that it's enjoyed in the U.K. since the 1982 splash with "Wham Rap," a hard-edged rap funk tune and its accompanying video that gave Michaels and Ridgeley a tough, streetwise image with the British teens, an image that crossed the Atlantic as well. Next came tunes called "Young Guns" and "Bad Boys," which did nothing if not cement that street punk mystique. But the tough image was not what either Ridgeley or Michaels had originally intended for themselves, in either their looks or their music, though it had become their public identity. "I really don't like "Bad

Wham!

Boys" in retrospect," said George, "I wasn't that keen on it at the time, but in retrospect I really don't like it at all and I think that was the point at which I realized I was writing for the public in the sense that I was letting the image influence the writing, in other words I had to write a song to match up with some kind of rebellious aspect which detracted from the music, I thought." After some serious consideration, Wham! decided to chuck its "Bad Boy" image altogether and concentrate on the music, which has always been its integral focus. With that concentration came both a change in music and an absolute break with the tough-guy mode which they describe as a definite image, whereas now they are more relaxed. The music has become more melodic — less rhythmic, more musical, with a rich vocal style and a light pop sound. It is the music that Michaels and Ridgeley enjoy, and it is the music that new audiences are catching onto, with an accent on America.

Management Co. Expands To Films

Frankie Leigh Management of Los Angeles has long been associated with various facets of the music industry. Besides being responsible for booking music at San Francisco's Hard Rock Cafe, Leigh also provides exclusive representation to British photographer Brian Aris. According to Leigh, "Brian is one of England's top photographers. Among his clients are Linda Ronstadt (the "What's New" LP cover), Tina Turner (the "Private Dancer" LP cover), Mick Jagger, Madonna, Sting, Rod Stewart and many more.

Aris is the exclusive photographer for Sheena Easton. "Any picture of Sheena you've ever seen, he's done," remarked Leigh. Aris was responsible for the multitude of pictures in Cash Box's salute to Sheena Easton (September 29) and continues to trace her career through the eye of his camera.

Automatt Studios Close In Bay Area

LOS ANGELES — San Francisco's Automatt recording studio owned by longtime music industry force David Rubinson will close its doors approximately November 1 after more than a decade of existence. In speaking with Cash Box, Rubinson explained that after a heart attack two and a half years ago he has been unable to produce records, his first love, or to make the best use of the studio. As a result, the equipment will probably be sold and the 827 Folsom studio shut down.

Rubinson's management company, which has just signed Romeo Void lead vocalist Deborah Lyall, also has under its wing Narada Michael Walden and Herbie Hancock among other artists. David Rubinson and Friends will still be located upstairs from the studio.

Rubinson has long been a mainstay in the San Francisco and national music scene through his production and management projects. Rubinson started at a young age as a staff producer for Columbia and later worked with Bill Graham, then going on to establish his own stable of artists and open up the Automatt studios.

In addition to the company's music interests, Leigh has branched out into films. She was recently appointed vice president of the newly-formed Small Giant Media Films Limited. The company is preparing to start shooting a feature film entitled '67, a tale about life in the late '60s, in early 1985. Leigh is enthusiastic about the company's future, citing the ever-increasing interaction between music and film, a trend she sees likely to continue. "Frankie Leigh Management will continue to work in the field of music videos as well," she commented. Lee is currently in collaboration with fellow Small Giant executives Tony Klinger (director, The Kids Are Alright) and David Courtney (producer, Leo Sayer and Roger Daltrey) on developing a number of music video projects as well as the new feature film.

STUDIO PROFILE

Planet Sound Studios

Planet Sound converted to a 24/48-track facility two years ago after being known for over eight years as a top rehearsal studio in Manhattan. A group of experienced producers/musicians, John Grossbard, Michael Theodore and Bob Babbitt, developed the new facility with the idea of providing 57th Street services and equipment as Chelsea prices. The studio is located at 251 W. 30th St.

The studio's reputation has spread quickly. The bulk of tracks for Chaka Khan's latest, "I Feel For You," were recorded at Planet. Other artists who have used the facility include John Cale, Kid Creole and the Coconuts, Manhattans, Kool and the Gang, Gato Barbieri, Michael Brecker and the Ramones. Jane Fonda's new exercise record, "Prime Time" was also recorded there.

Planet occupies three floors in its building. Its upper floor was previously used for stage set construction and is being converted to house sound-stages for video.

EAST COASTINGS

JETT SET — Joan Jett and the Blackhearts are back with their intriguingly titled album "Glorious Results of a Misspent Youth." But there's nothing intriguing about the album apart from Jett's thunderously raw brand of rock and roll. A slight departure is found, however, in the '60s-ish "I Need Someone," which has a ballad intro and then triumphantly powers its way to a typically Blackheart-felt finish. The album is a reflection of what the fans think, according to Jett. "We get a lot of mail and we try our best to read it all," she says. "A lot of the inspiration for the songs on this record came out of reading what people had to say in their letters and how it made me feel."

Besides "I Need Someone," the album features the single "Cherry Bomb," a song originally done by Jett when she was with the Runaways. The rock standard "New Orleans" is also featured, with Gary U.S. Bonds adding vocals on the tune's choruses.

Jett formed the Runaways at 15 and guided the first all-girl rock and roll band through four tumultuous years. When the group finally broke up, Jett formed the Blackhearts with bassist Gary Ryan, drummer Lee Crystal and guitarist Ricky Byrd. When no record company wanted to sign them, Jett formed her own Blackheart label, and they put the record out themselves. That first album, "Bad Reputation," sold 22,000 copies in four weeks as an import. The band amassed a large following through the record and non-stop touring, but major label execs were still not impressed until Neil Bogart and Irv Biegel signed them to their new Boardwalk Records. In the next several years the Blackhearts produced several hits, including "Bad Reputation," "Do You Wanna Touch Me," "I Love Rock and Roll," "Fake Friends" and "Crimson and Clover." More touring and the band's now-international reputation resulted in their third LP "Album" (their first for MCA) going gold upon release. With the new album, Jett again proves she's cruising at high altitude toward that sonic barrier which, in female rock and roll, separates the men from the boys.

QUEEN-LY GESTURE — Queen announced in South Africa two weeks ago that it is donating all of its artist and publishing royalties from sales there of its gold-selling album "Queen Live" to a school for deaf and deaf/blind children in Bophuthatswanaland. The Kutlwamong school in Rustenberg cares for nearly 300 deaf and deaf/blind children of Tswana nationality between the ages of 3 and 19 years and through its work enables these handicapped youths to lead an active adult life. The gesture by the group comes toward the end of a sold-out season by the group at Sun City in the Republic of Bophuthatswanaland, an independent homeland of South Africa. It was made as the group's way of commemorating its first visit to South Africa with a positive contribution to the host country. According to business manager Jim Beach, "The Kutlawong School is a wonderful venture enabling some handicapped Tswanas to lead a more normal life, and we hope this gift will help the school to continue to thrive."

DURAN DURAN ON THE TUBE — MTV will present the world premiere of Duran Duran's Blue Silver Tuesday, November 6, at 10 p.m. The 57-minute documentary chronicles the group's 1984 U.S. tour. The film takes a personal look at each band member, both on stage and off and integrates live performance footage of the band with interviews, scenes of the group rehearsing and footage of "comical situations" they experienced on the road. Statistical data and information pertaining to specific events documented are shown on screen with corresponding footage, thus lending additional insight into the event, according to MTV. Songs included are "Is There Something I Should Know," "The Reflex," "Hungry Like The Wolf," "Rio" and others.

MADAM MALCOLM — If disco versions of opera classics are your thing (and aren't they everybody's), then Malcolm McLaren's new 12-inch from Island is for you. Even if this doesn't sound appealing you might find it a surprisingly listenable experiment. McLaren's new record is an adaptation of the aria from Puccini's opera Madam Butterfly. In the artist's own words, he is marrying R&B and Puccini. (I didn't even know they were engaged.) "Madam Butterfly," it says here, is not the first dialectic musical marriage McLaren has created. On his "Duck Rock" (ahem) LP, the dance hit "Buffalo Gals" merged hip-hop rapping with square dance chanting for a "unique blend." McLaren feels that "rock, per se, is a worn cliché and that opera embodies passion and emotion" (no argument). "Madam Butterfly" is romantic and dreamy," he says, "as opposed to the harsh flash and chrome that has dominated up until now. When listening to 'Madam Butterfly' I envision women sitting around with velvet robes of old draperies wrapped around them as opposed to the current austere styles of clothing." The image of women in old draperies is of course a serious temptation, but McLaren's production techniques are the real sell. For the recording of 'Madam Butterfly' McLaren utilized, in addition to featured opera singers Betty Ann White and Deborah Cole, the vocal talents of the engineers, the cleaners from the studio and the kids off the street. "By fusing the world's most popular operas with rhythm and blues and rock," quoth Malcolm, "I believe this helps close the generation gap." Puccini would have been proud.

ROD TOOTS UP — Rod Stewart has something to blow his own horn about after completing his second of two sold-out concerts at Madison Square Garden. Stewart (left) was joined backstage by model/girlfriend Kelly Emberg and his father, Bob, who flew in from Europe to catch the shows.

NARM NEWS — The increasingly important role mass merchandisers are playing in home computer software distribution will be discussed at the NARM Rack Jobbers Conference by Dr. Egil Juliussen, Ph.D., chairman of Future Computing. The conference will be held at La Posada, in Scottsdale, AZ from Oct. 29 to 31, and will be followed immediately by the One Stop Conference on Oct. 31 to Nov. 2. "Mass merchants are certainly playing a major role, particularly through rack jobbers," according to Dr. Juliussen. "Rack jobbers have risen dramatically in less than two years to become a major force in home computer distribution." During his presentation, entitled "Selling Home Computer Software: The Role of the Mass Merchants," Dr. Juliussen will point out that during the next few years the biggest challenge to mass merchandisers of home computer software will be the shift away from games toward home productivity and educational software. But while consumers may need more support, they have already become more sophisticated, and the software itself is becoming easier to use. Dr. Juliussen will also provide an overview of the home computer industry and its future, based on interviews of 8,000 consumers. "We found that 10 percent of households owned a personal computer, and six percent are planning to buy one next year. And, without question, they are planning to buy software." A former senior member of the Texas Instruments technical staff, Dr. Juliussen co-founded Future Computing in 1980. Today, the firm is said

NEW FROM YAMAHA — Set for a January, 1985 release date is the new Yamaha C200 Professional Cassette Deck. Some of its many features are automatic bias tuning for any tape, dbx II and Dolby B noise reduction systems, and automatic memory, replay and timer functions. Suggested list will be $895.

JEITO PLANS LP RELEASES — Along with the announcement of the fourth quarter schedule, Jeito Concepts Inc., which produces, markets, and distributes disks and video products, recently announced its move into front line, full-priced albums, expanding beyond their original mid-line base. Citing the phenomenal rise of the 12-inch single, the Agoura-based company has released four new compilation albums offering the newest extended dance versions of today's hits. "For the first time, JCI will offer the buyer a sampler of the newest music in a selective, longer playing album, creating an awareness of each artist in the mass merchandising marketplace," announced David Catlin, president of JCI. With shipment beginning in October, a promotional campaign will begin late that same month. JCI plans a seven-figure media campaign using national television targeted toward the ultimate consumer of the product. Their plans also include utilization of cable buys, selective network programming and local spots on radio in dance and music-oriented programming. The four new sampler albums are: "Heat," a compilation of "hot mix" dance hits; "Number One On The Streets," a two-record set featuring 16 extended mix versions of the biggest pop dance hits of the past year; "Street Sounds," the most popular 12-inch versions of the New York phenomenon of "hip hop" music, master-mixed by Dave Storrs, who mixed Sheila E's and Evelyn Thomas' current smash hits; and "Foreign Affaire," the cutting edge of Europe's new dance music which now has America dancing. All JCI music products will be marketed and distributed primarily through rack jobbers and music retailers. The other principals of JCI along with Catlin, all of whom have former executive experience at K-tel International or Pickwick, are executive vice president Alan Cordover, senior sales and marketing vice president Jack Bernstein, product development vice president Jerome Bowie and international licensing vice president George Lukan.

PAUL McCARTNEY (Columbia 44-05077)
No More Lonely Nights (8:10) (McCartney) (Communications Ltd.) (Producers: George Martin)

While the original version of this track is a silky ballad, the remix turns McCartney's "No More Lonely Nights" into full-bore dance cut. Upping the tempo a few notches, McCartney employs all the most popular sonic gimmicks to turn the track into a very melodic and beat-heavy number. Excellent drum sound and vocal effects add to the overall ambience of this eight-minute-plus version which is gaining immediate play in clubs.

TEENA MARIE (Epic 49-05100)
Lovergirl (5:53) (Marie) (CBS Inc.) (Producer: Teena Marie)
Taken from the long awaited "Star Child" LP, "Lovergirl" is a slickly-produced dance-pop track that is a showcase for Teena Marie's soaring voice and lyric inflection. From the cut's short intro, an easily mixable dance beat is laid down and while the mix adheres fundamentally to the structure of the song, there are some excellent harmonies and flavoring of Sembello-istic guitar.

Silvercup, though it stands in ... another borough ... is a logical and convenient choice. The four-and-a-half acre complex is literally wrapped in the 59th St. Bridge in Long Island City, just the other side of the East River. They offer — on site — a lumber yard, a paint store and a lighting and grip equipment department. No waiting for deliveries. In-house production and marketing staffs are available for consultation on any type of job. The facility has ample parking, as well as drive-on capability for trucks, tech-vans and autos. Each sound stage (there are nine of them) is on street level. Suites of deluxe dressing and makeup rooms are offered. The complex is accessible via subway, car, bus or tram. But you have to look for it.

Many have. With a list of music video credentials to keep MTV busy around the clock, Silvercup's giant stages have housed the productions of Scandal's "The Warrior," Missing Persons' "Right Now," Hall & Oates' "Adult Education" and Bon Jovi's "Runaway." "Saturday Night Live" produced one of its famed filmed segments, "Needleman" there. The studio's production arm, Silvercup Entertainment Ltd., produced and funded a dance trilogy, "Alibi" there.

The studio had already made a name for itself in film production before actively seeking the video market. It had made history by simultaneously housing the interior shoots for both Sidney Lumet's "Garbo Talks" and "Catholic Boys," starring Donald Sutherland, before duplicating the feat with "The Warrior" and "Right Now." The interiors for Woody Allen's most recent movies, "Broadway Danny Rose" and "The Purple Rose Of Cairo" were shot at Silvercup. But you have to look for it.

Back inside, the carpenters are pounding away. A set for the Isley Brothers' new video is also being constructed. They will be in and out before Joel arrives. When he does, Silvercup will be ready for him.

Next week, the making of "Keeping the Faith."

AUDIO/VIDEO

COMEDY CLIP — Is there a law or something that says good acting and video music don't mix? Is that why it's so scarce? The era of the "video act" has arrived, but where are they? Well, one such performer is Julie Brown, a pint-sized singer/writer/actress who also plays and writes her own music. The emphasis is on comedy, and with such classic tunes as "I Like 'Em Big and Stupid" and "The Homecoming Queen's Got A Gun" under her belt, Julie Brown and producer/cowriter/fellow actor and husband Terrence McNally have shaken the music video medium with a wrenching belly laugh. The big surprise is that the combination of quality acting, rock'n'roll and video is not only possible, it's important (we were beginning to wonder) and that these performances don't have to be so serious (acting in music videos, you may have noticed, tends to be very serious, when and if it occurs at all), they can also be fun. But there is nothing funny about rock'n'roll! Well, one look at Julie Brown's The Homecoming Queen's Got A Gun video will prove that wrong. "I called up my actor friends," said Brown, "and I asked them to come down and just do this one thing and they said 'sure great.' One of the things that has always bothered me about rock videos are these idiotic performances by people who don't have any right to be up there! I mean, the girlfriends of the band are up there and it's so obvious." The performance element in Brown's video is the key to its visual success — there is nothing electronic about its appeal. Beyond the glib lyrics of a song that is funny enough without a video, it is the individual performances that gave the tune a successful carryover. Brown's intention, having taken a large part in casting the clip, was to fill the most minute roles with experienced actors. "I wanted to get wonderful people in there to do even the small things because even the way they react, actors will do it better than nonperformers. Every time I've used a nonperformer for something I've always regretted it. It's never what it's supposed to be — the commitment isn't quite there." Brown and McNally estimate that 20 or so of the faces that appear in the video belong to SAG and AFTRA actors. The main face is Brown's, who plays both the pistol-wielding homecoming queen and the narrator of the clip. Both roles are exceptionally well acted, especially for a rock vocalist, but given Brown's American Conservatory Theatre training and the two years she spent as the only regular on Evening at the Improv, this comes as no surprise. After writing and performing her own comedy material with her then partner (and current cowriter) Charlie Coffey, in the team of Coffey and Brown, Brown returned to her native Los Angeles to continue her comedy career. In L.A. she found that most of the venues were heavily wrapped up in The Tonight Show constraints of line after line stand-up deliveries, a format Brown found very confining. "I was always frustrated doing straight stand-up," said Brown, "until one day I thought 'I can't do this anymore — I hate this so much.' " It was then that "Valley Girls" was breaking, a song which involved most of the elements that Brown relates to best — comedy, acting and music. "When 'Valley Girls' came out people kept saying 'Oh, you should have done that song!,' and I thought, 'Yeah, I should have done something like that,' and then I realized, well, why not? I can still do it." That was also around the time Brown met McNally (also an ACT alumnus), who was then toying with the idea of producing. Before long, the two had set up their own small record company, Bullets Records, and had a thousand records sitting in their closet. "When I met Terrence I said 'I want to do these things' and he said O.K. great. I'll produce them.' But he had a higher standard in mind than I did." Through a series of fortunate circumstances, the 12-inch they made together began to gain considerable airplay, first with "I Like 'Em Big and Stupid," and then with "The Homecoming Queen's Got A Gun." The tunes were making it, not just for their comedy, "novelty" aspects, but for the music, which is basic, bare bones doo-wop rock'n'roll. "We didn't go about it like the usual stand-up comic putting a little music in the act," said McNally. "what usually happens is that the music ends up as a kind of afterthought to the comedy, and I thought that as long as we were getting into music — which is something we've both loved since we were little kids, I wanted to make really good music too." Make no mistake about it, Brown and McNally are as serious about making the music work as they are about the performances that go into the videos. there is a complete fusion here of all facets of entertainment, which is exactly the kind of thing that a true video act is all about: it must be as audible as it is visual, and these are Julie Brown's strongest points (she sings and plays keyboards aside from her acting talent). Brown feels that her act is ripe for the video medium, particularly with its use of comedy. "I think we are some of the first people to really exploit comedy in a rock video and I think it'll catch on a lot more. Record companies seem to be the slowest in getting into it. The film companies on the other hand are really excited." Brown and McNally have been approached by several film companies, and film seems to be the next step in what has been a Cinderella-like rise in less than a year's time. Meanwhile, The Homecoming Queen's Got A Gun made its public debut at Revolver in Los Angeles October 14, with a national airdate of Nov. 2 on ABC Rocks. It is also slated to air soon on Goodnight L.A. and has been included among Showtime's November video music roster. The video was directed by Tom Daley, whose cinematic expertise adds much to the vitality of the clip. Editing was performed at ByVideo in Sunnyvale, CA. The latest news is that the video made finals in nine categories at St. Tropez. The LP "Goddess In Progress" is available on Rhino Records.

RADIO CALL LETTERS CHANGES INCREASED BY FORTY PERCENT — The changing of radio station call letters is on a significant rise, according to Maurie Webster, president of the Radio Information Center, which has just published the latest Encyclopedia of Call Letter Changes. The new publication indicates there was a 40 percent increase in call letter changes during the year from October 1983 through September 1984, as compared to the same period for the previous year. Webster goes on to say, "During the earlier year, 405 stations changed their call letters, but in the later part of the year there were 567 switches. This averages about 11 changes of call letters each week." The recent action by the FCC, relaxing the regulations for call letter changes is one reason for the acceleration in applications, however the basic desire to change call letters, especially when the station format changes, seems to be increasing despite the considerable time required to establish new call letters in the mind of the public. A major problem often develops when the change occurs within the same market. Some recent examples include WCOZ Boston, which became WZOU, while WHUE-FM in the market became WCOZ. WVON, Chicago switched to WGCI and WXOL become WVON.

NEW FACES TO HEAR — Since August 1983, WestNet Broadcasting has been producing and distributing a variety of 60-second lifestyle features on an assortment of topics that appeal to the "upscale" listener. Covering such topics as music, television, Hollywood, people profiles, science, travel, nutrition, fitness and finance, the company aims primarily at men and women in the 25-54 demographic. WestNet has cleared such stations as KBIG-FM in Los Angeles and KOIT-AM/FM in San Francisco. The 12 weekly 60-second spots are easily customized by individual stations and include no producer I.D. The company president is Don Shorr. For more information about WestNet Broadcasting contact Dan Riffe or John Palmer at (213) 469-9999.

THE YBPC PLANS FOR SEVENTH NATIONAL ANNUAL MEETING — Gaylord Boyd, vice president for the Young Black Programmers Coalition has assumed the position as acting president. Boyd is replacing Randy Sterling who resigned, seeking more time for private ventures. The YBPC grew to a strong national force in the music industry under Sterling's leadership. It is that growth that will be reflected at the national meeting November 16-18, 1984 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Houston, Texas. The theme for the meeting is "Talk, Talk, Action for 85'." The workshop will be divided into two parts: (1) Radio and Retail (2) Promotion. Under the radio and retail banner, a workshop on charting will be conducted with leading professionals in the industry such as Jack Gipson of Jack the Rapper, Skip Harris of Cash Box, Sidney Miller of Black Radio Exclusive and Malcolm West of Jet Magazine. According to Boyd, leading program and music directors from major and secondary markets will discuss the latest trends in programming black radio.

LEISURE MARKET RADIO USES GEODEMOGRAPHICS IN PROFILE — For the first time, the broadcast industry is obtaining qualitative as well as quantitative data about its listeners through the use of geodemographics, according to the company, Leisure Market Radio, which represents approximately 20 stations in pioneering these marketing concepts. LMR's vice president John Hawks commented, "The results are nothing short of astonishing. For the first time radio can have a highly specific data on our market. We can compare ourselves to print publications such as Time, Forbes and Architectural Digest. According to Monroe-Mendelsohn, there are some 41.3 million affluent people in the USA. Of this number, 11.7 million unduplicated visitors, or 28.4 percent of the total affluent population, visited one of the 13 Leisure Market resorts at least once in the past 12 months. "On the face of it," said Bob Richer LMR president, "It's obvious that now we can present hard factual information and can tell you as a national advertiser that, for example, 37 percent of the affluent people drank more than one glass of imported wine in the last seven days. This is the first time anybody in broadcasting can get that specific." Plus, according to the company, the cost of a year-round buy on the Leisure Market Radio Network is a fraction of the cost of using a similar print campaign. LMR owns and operates stations in Newport, RI and St. Croix, VI; other stations in the network are located in Aspen, Hilton Head, Jackson Hole, Lake Placid, Lake Tahoe, Maui, Pinehurst NC, Steamboat Springs, CO, Sun Valley, Vail and Mammoth Lakes, CA.

KRTH IN VENICE — KRTH-FM in Los Angeles recently joined with the League Of Women Voters to encourage people to get out and vote. FEATURE PICKS

DEEDLES — Diane Schuur — GRP-A-1010 — Producers: Dave Grusin, Larry Rosen — List: 8.98

What a way to debut: with Stan Getz, Steve Khan and Howard Roberts soloing, with Dave Grusin arranging, conducting and playing keyboards and with a lush string section providing a cushion. Schuur's a full-throated singer with a wide vocal range, a wide emotional range and a wide range of material — from "Amazing Grace" to "I'm Beginning to See The Light" to "Rock Me On The Water." An impressive new talent who can really belt.

NIGHTSONGS — Earl Klugh — Capitol ST-12372 — Producer: Earl Klugh — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Well-titled: One to play in the wee hours with a glass of sherry and candlelight, on hand. Klugh's achingly pretty acoustic guitar is applied to such diverse material as "The Look of Love," "C.C. Rider," and Quincy Jones' "Theme from The Pawnbroker" Easy on the ears, polished and oh-so-lovely.

MANNE — THAT'S GERSHWIN — The Shelly Manne Quintet and Big Band — Discovery DS-909 — Producer: Albert Marx — List: 8.98

The late drummer in one of his finest efforts — a 1965 date with arrangements by a pre-Star Wars John Williams. Frank Strozier and Conte Candoli are the featured soloists and they zip right along, through standard Gershwin — "Summertime," "The Man I Love" — and some of the more obscure stuff — "Theme From Concerto in F," "Mine." Mention, of course, must be made of the always-tasteful trapwork of the leader. A welcome reissue.

WHEN LIGHTNIN' STRIKES — Lenny Breau — Tudor Records TR 113004 — Producer: Paul Whitehead — List: 8.98

Something a little different: jazz guitarist Lenny Breau, who died a few months back, working on a roster of country material ("Blue Moon of Kentucky," "Bonaparte's Retreat," "I Can't Help It If I'm Still In Love With You," etc.). Yet the treatments are pure jazz and quite nicely done. Breau was a thoughtful, deft improviser and he shines a new light on these Nashville warhorses. The LP was recorded in Nashville, with uncredited sidemen.

I'M ALL SMILES — Hank Jones and Tommy Flanagan — Verve MPS 817-863-1 — Producer: Hans Georg Brunner-Schwer — List: 5.98 — Bar Coded

Quite simply, two of the finest pianists in jazz at the top of their game, playing on two concert grands. The interweaving lines of these two Detroit masters is mesmerizing — they are born, musically, of the same egg. They blister through some bebop ("Relaxin' At Camarillo," "Au Privave,") bask in some ballads ("Afternoon In Paris," "In A Sentimental Mood,") and bubble through some blues ("Rockin' In Rhythm.")

ON JAZZ

THE PASSING OF AN ERA — When Alberta Hunter died last week at the age of 89, another great era in American music passed into the history books. I know that sounds dramatic — and it's the type of thing that's said too often about too many people — but, in this case, it's true.

Alberta Hunter was a living link to a very special time in the history of American music. She made her first recordings in 1921 — at the very birth of recorded black music — and was a major star in the 1920s. She wrote Bessie Smith's first hit, "Down Hearted Blues," and worked with Louis Armstrong, King Oliver, Sidney Bechet and many other immortals (a word I use advisedly). Although, thanks to "Down Hearted Blues," Alberta Hunter was frequently tagged a "blues singer," she was really, as she put it to me a few years ago, just "Alberta, singer of songs." She worked at such nightspots as Chicago's Dreamland and Panama Cafe, New York's Apollo Theatre, Paris' Bricktop's and Casino de Paris, where she replaced Josephine Baker. She was a star of cabaret — singing throughout Europe in a number of languages — and theatre, playing opposite Paul Robeson in the London production of Show Boat.

When Alberta Hunter sat and talked about W.C. Handy, Al Jolson and Sophie Tucker, or any of the other people she knew well back in the old days, her eyes got bright and she'd squeeze your arm and drag you back 60 or 70 years. And when she sang — with a full voice that lasted until the end — she did it with power and emotion.

Alberta Hunter's story has a large melodramatic segment that was well-publicized some years back. In the early '50s she left the stage to care for her sick mother. After her mother died, she went to work as a scrub nurse, lying about her age by 12 years. For 20 years she diligently worked at Goldwater Hospital in New York, until she reached the mandatory retirement age of 70. Or so they thought. At the age of 82, Alberta Hunter came back to music. For the next seven years she performed, usually at New York's Cookery, and recorded for Columbia Records. She granted interviews graciously, showed no let-up in energy and regaled in her comeback. Yet, she always said, she would've been content to continue working as a nurse.

When Eubie Blake died, at the incredible age of 100, the last living link to the years before jazz — the ragtime era — died. With the passings of Mabel Mercer and Bricktop and now Alberta Hunter, the last living links to the grand years of cabaret and, in Hunter's case, to the blues tradition of such female singers as Ma Rainey, Bessie Smith and Trixie Smith dies. Ironically, that era was just brought very much to life in "Ma Rainey's Black Bottom." But that's just the theatre. Alberta Hunter was the real stuff.

Jazz is very fortunate, it came along at the right time. The history of jazz closely parallels the history of the phonograph, so we have proof of the early jazz players' abilities. An improvisatory music, without the phonograph jazz would have just faded into the mist. And since both jazz and the phonograph are largely of this century, we have had in our midst, until the passing of Eubie Blake, representatives from every one of the music's innovations — from ragtime to harmolodic funk. But very, very quickly, these people are leaving us. Men like Wild Bill Davison, Benny Carter, Roy Eldridge, Benny Goodman and a handful of others are national treasures. They are the Swing Era and the glory years of Chicago or Harlem. The beboppers — those wild-eyed revolutionaries of the '40s — are gray-haired and paunchy. Their stories, their connections with the past, are getting dimmer. And one day, like everything else, they'll be gone from our midst. It won't just be an individual person who dies, it will be the living proof of our musical past, just like Fred Astaire and Cary Grant and James Cagney are our living thread to the Golden Era of Hollywood. One day, like the silent screen greats, they will just be flickers. Fortunately we seem to be aware of this now and oral history programs are proliferating.

So goodbye Alberta Hunter. Goodbye Bricktop's and the Casino de Paris and the Dreamland Cafe. Goodbye to a wonderful era that will, of course, never die.

PAT MARTINO — One of the most welcome events of the New York jazz season occurred a couple of weeks back at the Bottom Line. Pat Martino, one of the finest electric guitarists to come up in the '60s, returned to the stage after a lengthy absence. Martino had suffered an aneurysm a few years back and had been rumored, on a number of occasions, to be at death's door. Certainly it didn't look like he would ever return to playing.

Well, Martino snuck into New York as an opening act at the Bottom Line. And though he looked rather gaunt and was backed by a fairly indistinguished fusion band, Martino's playing was superb — fluent, fluid, occasionally searing. His reappearance is a major jazz event.

BOPPING AROUND — The N.Y. musician's union has inaugurated the Jazz Musicians Foundation of Local 802, to "increase public awareness of this great music, both traditional and innovative" and "provide educational and performance opportunities for young and relatively unknown jazz artists." Sounds like a worthy idea! . . . Those of you headed for Europe next weekend may want to drop in on the Total Music Meeting '84 at Berlin's Quartier Latin. Called "The Piano Project," the festival will bring together Curtis Clark, Marilyn Crispell, Bobby Few, Alexander von Schlippenbach and other worthy contemporary piano ticklers, Nov. 1-3 . . . The Manhattan Bridge Company will be bringing a number of concerts to Brooklyn's Port Royal (837 Union St.). Look for Dewey Redman (10/28), Andrew Serrial (11/11), Ali Akbar (11/18), Cassandra Wilson (12/2), Joseph Jarman (1/20/85), and Frederick Neumann (1/27); call (212) 638-2404 for info. . . Palo Alto has just signed a pact with alto veteran Phil Woods; the first release will be "Live From New York" in early '85.

NU WAVE? — The Klezmerim will bring its fusion of Jewish klezmer music and jazz to Lincoln Center's Avery Fisher Hall Nov. 9, for a foot-tapping evening, including a klezmer arrangement of "Rhapsody in Blue."

THE RHYTHM SECTION

TRAILBLAZING, PART 3 — Product, promotion, publicity, profits. Not as simple to achieve as to read, but if the first three are handled expertly, the fourth falls right into step. Our story this week deals with the second aspect and a new company so confident and successful that its business objective provides the company's title. Pro Motion was formed a year ago by Brad LeBeau and Joe Giaco, and in that time the two have become known as the top independent promotion men on the dance and R&B scene. The company's client roster reads like a who's who of established and up-and-coming crossover artists. Hall & Oates, Duran Duran, Evelyn "Champagne" King and Joan Jett are currently utilizing Pro Motion's services as insurance in the dance club and AOR markets. The firm's marketing clients include Spandau Ballet, O'Bryan, Temper and Alicia Myers. Pro Motion has made marketing, as well as the company's namesake, another successful objective. "Two weeks ago we had three urban contemporary stations and two pop stations and now we're dealing with one urban and three top 40/CHR formats (in the New York area)," says Giaco. "As a result there is more of a need than ever for retail research, as the consumer is the biggest and most important barometer for proving a record a hit. Radio doesn't pick the hits . . . the consumer does. By tracking sales reports from over 500-plus national accounts — 125 in New York alone — radio and selected trade outlets, we can build a most comprehensive and accurate picture."

THE LAST TIME I MADE THE PARROT — A&M's newest R&B recording artist, Joyce Kennedy, stopped by the Red Parrot last week to promote her album, "Looking For Trouble." Pictured with Kennedy are (left) David Lotz, Burnham-Callaghan Associates (PR Red Parrot) and Ray Smith, A&M Promotions.

Adds LeBeau, "Certain outlets as well as major and indie labels have been discouraged by the lack of success in selling 12-inch music and in some cases we've found that these stores and record labels were never properly set up to merchandise such product."

Pro Motion's computerized facilities and professional approach have gone a long way toward establishing the young company's credibility in the on-again-off-again dance music market and with major label accounts. "This business of record promotion is more than just mailing records," says LeBeau. "There's a great deal of follow-up involved. A record company's interest in a firm such as ours is obvious, but if a (separate) client doesn't want their record to get lost in the shuffle," he adds, alluding to Pro Motion's producer/manager clients, which include Arthur Baker, John "Jellybean" Benitez, Tommy Mottola and Kenny Laguna, "we can apply the same promotional techniques to suit their needs."

For LeBeau, the idea of consumers as the dictators of a record's success is a simple fact of life. "You have to get the buzz going," he says, "on the street, in the clubs, in the stores, getting the programmers talking about it. You have an act and the record's starting to happen — they start appearing live, that's really the best promotional tool, the band. Now on the dance/R&B level, there are so many records coming out that good records that aren't promoted are gone and fair records that are promoted can surpass good records if the proper campaign is done. It's important to me to run a campaign with a record. For example the new Duran Duran will probably be a most accessible record on all fronts: black, white, gay, straight — everyone will like the new Duran Duran. So what we did to get the vibe out before the record was released to pop radio, as all pop records are and then to the clubs, we said, 'Let's give the clubs this record first.' Let's put it back in the clubs. Clubs can break some groups, but now record companies take pop groups and they immediately give them to pop radio and the clubs feel slighted. So part of the campaign on the Duran Duran single was to put up 200 cassettes and send it out to all chart reporters and record pools and they started talking about it. Whether they could play it at all on a cassette at that point was not the point. Some would, most won't. But at least they got it before radio."

LeBeau and Giaco know whereof they speak. Their success in helping discs sprint to the dance chart peak stems from solid backgrounds with the business and with the people. LeBeau logged five number one records on the dance charts as vice president of Musico before forming Pro Motion with Giaco. Before that he was national promotion director for Ze Records and east coast promotion director for Tom Hayden and Associates. After starting his own company, LeBeau jumped on New Edition's "Candy Girl" and George Clinton's "Atomic Dog," which both subsequently became number one R&B hits. He has also been a DJ at Manhattan's Xenon. "I'm sympathetic to the plight of the dance club DJ in terms of the amount of product coming out," he says. Giaco handled independent A&R/promotion at Columbia Records and Epic, where he worked the Clash's "Rock the Casbah" and Culture Club's "Do You Really Want to Hurt Me," along with other hits. Before that he handled independent A&R/promotion for Venture records. He began his career at New York's WBLS as a member of its urban contemporary programming staff.

LeBeau and Giaco plan on leading their company into national R&B promotion and possibly artist management. They appear to be a company heading for a major role in the national music environment.

Duets Holding Strong On Charts

Mel Tillis with Glen Campbell on MCA, and two new debuts from the CBS group, "A Place To Fall Apart" by Merle Haggard with Janie Fricke and Willie Nelson and Kris Kristofferson's "How Do You Feel About Foolin' Around."

There are also a couple more singles to look for, from RCA comes Gus Hardin with special guest Earl Thomas Conley on "All Tangled Up In Love," and an upcoming release on Warner Brothers' Eddie Rabbitt with RCA newcomer Hillary Kanter entitled "Every Night I Fall In Love With You."

The success of duets is not just coming from the partnership of two independent country artists, however, the traditional duos are still around and just as popular as ever, if not, in fact, more popular as seen by the meteoric rise of the mother-daughter duo The Judds.

Four singles currently climbing the charts are from established duet acts. "World Greatest Lover" by The Bellamy Brothers is at #25 bullet on Cash Box's singles charts, with The Judds' "Why Not Me" rising closely at #27 bullet and Mercury act The Kendalls' latest release "I'd Dance Every Dance With You" is also a strong new entry.

A perhaps unexpected duo to appear on the country charts, though, is The Everly Brothers on a long-awaited comeback with "On The Wings Of A Nightingale." The Mercury release is currently #55 with a bullet, and gives even more insight to the accepted popularity of the duet sound, something the Everlys practically patented in the pop industry.

Other duet releases to have recent chart success were the parody "Mama, She's Lazy" by Pinkard and Bowden and an independent release on Charta "Country Man, Country Lady" by Steve and Debbie Brown. Both records have already spent seven weeks on the chart.

On The Album Charts

If there is any indication of the continuation of duet releases and successes, it is in the number of potential singles which could spawn from the many album duet projects. Already on Cash Box's album chart are "Meant For Each Other" from Barbara Mandrell and Lee Greenwood (#6), "The Judds" (#10), "It Takes Believers," by Mickey Gilley and Charly McClain (#24), Moe and Joe's "Alive and Well" (#41), The Bellamy Brothers' "Restless" (#50), "Music From Songwriter" from Willie Nelson and Kris Kristofferson (#51 bullet) and Ray Charles' "Friendship" LP (#53). Also debuting this week is a "greatest hits" package from Frizzell and West at #47 bullet.

While many of the above mentioned still have several potential releases, the labels have plenty others to follow, assuring that the sound of two voices in harmony will surely be heard on the airwaves for quite a while. George Jones' "Ladies' Choice" LP has selections from Jones and nine country songstresses including Brenda Lee, Janie Fricke, Loretta Lynn, Barbara Mandrell, Emmylou Harris, Lacy J. Dalton, Deborah Allen, Terri Gibbs and Leona Williams, while from established duo are new releases from The Judds and The Kendalls. And to get a little holiday duet cheer, there's Kenny Rogers and Dolly Parton's latest collaboration entitled "Once Upon A Christmas."

If one has ever wondered what one's two favorite artists would sound like together, wait no longer, this appears to be the year.

SINGLES REVIEWS

OUT OF THE BOX

CHARLEY PRIDE (RCA PB-13936)
Missin' Mississippi (2:49) (Royalhaven-BMI/G.I.D./Dejamus-ASCAP) (B. Gallimore, B. Mevis, B. Shore) (Producer: Norro Wilson)

"Missin' Mississippi," Charley Pride's second single release from his "Power of Love" LP, finds country's smoothest crooner singing of his Mississippi memories in a poignant ballad that reflects on morning mist, Delta cotton fields and a sharecropper father's dreams. The deep, reedy quality of Pride's vocals works well in painting a vivid, sentimental picture and the church-flavored piano chords and floating harmonica strains give the production the authentic touches of down home.

NEW AND DEVELOPING

ROBIN LEE (Evergreen EV-1026)
I Heard It On The Radio (2:55) (Buzz Cason Publication-ASCAP/Mablehill/Hall-Clement-BMI) (D. Lee, B. Cason) (Producer: Johnny Morris)

Evergreen recording artist Robin Lee offers "I Heard It On The Radio," an uptempo tune written by Dickey Lee and Buzz Cason. The energetic, driving production highlights the young songstress' sassy, country-soul flavored vocals and she gives an impressively polished performance on this tune, which should draw quite a bit of attention from country radio.

ALBUMS

BLUE HIGHWAY — John Conlee — MCA-5521 — Producer: Bud Logan — List: 8:98 — Bar Coded

With his latest LP entitled "Blue Highway," John Conlee definitely heeds the saying "variety is the spice of life" and the result is what could be his most crossover-oriented album to date. The material, from a string of fine writers, is consistently good, though each selection hits on a different theme and often a different musical direction. The first single release "Years After You" is already climbing the charts at #48 bullet, while other strong tunes to listen to for include the pop-flavored "A Little Bit of Lovin'" a bit of country-calypso in "De Island," and what could be another Conlee classic, "Working Man." Also included on the LP is a rendition of "Radio Lover."

COUNTRY COLUMN

HO,HO,HO — That dynamic duo of Kenny Rogers and Dolly Parton recently announced that they will be providing an additional amount of holiday cheer this year with an LP entitled "Once Upon A Christmas. Co-produced by Rogers and David Foster, the effort will mark their first duet LP and is their first collaboration since the certified platinum single "Islands In The Stream." If that's not enough guarantee, their label, RCA Records, expects that by the time the album will be in the stores it will have already achieved platinum status. In addition to their Yuletide carols, Rogers and Parton will be presenting a Christmas special on CBS called Kenny and Dolly: A Christmas To Remember. The show, directed by Bob Giraldi of Michael Jackson's Beat It video fame, will feature all of the songs from the duet LP which range from the traditional "White Christmas" and "Silent Night" to five new original songs written by Parton. Rogers, already caught up in the Christmas spirit, said of the project, "I was raised in a Baptist family and I've always thought of Christmas as a special time, a time when families who might be apart the rest of the year can come close together again. Something special also happens when Dolly and I get together; it's a case of the whole being even greater than the sum of its parts." Parton, in full agreement, responded, "This is the first Christmas special or album that I've ever done, so when Kenny called me with the idea, I jumped at it. Kenny and I love singing together; I think the blend of our voices creates a real electricity that comes across on record. He also has a real Santa Claus spirit. He makes working fun, and approaches things like I do, enjoying the people around him." After the first of the year, many others will be able to enjoy this talented twosome when it launches the first tour together. Specific dates will be announced later.

COULD IT BE SANTA'S HELPERS? — Certainly, since Rogers and Parton are teaming up on a holiday LP entitled "Once Upon A Christmas" and an upcoming television Christmas special. The Yuletide two will also get together for some concert dates after the first of the new year.

7TH AVENUE MEETS 16TH AVENUE — Nashville's music community held its head high, straightened its back, and strutted down the runway recently when country music entertainers, songwriters and radio and television personalities modeled the fashions of designer Henry Grethel during a fashion show sponsored by the Nashville Chapter of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences and Castner-Knott. Among the personalities to model during the event, billed as "Fashion Crossroads — 7th Avenue Meets 16th Avenue South, were Richard Sterban and Joe Bonsall of The Oak Ridge Boys, members of Compleat Records' group Autumn, EMI's Lane Brody, RCA's Vince Gill, Warner Bros. artists Emmylou Harris, Pinkard and Bowden and Karen Brooks, gospel music's Bobby Jones and songstress Paulette Carlson. Proceeds from the show were donated to NARAS.

AND SEW ON AND SEW ON — Janie Fricke recently debuted her own ready-to-wear line of apparel before department store and boutique buyers at the Women's and Children's Spring '85 Apparel Market Oct. 25-31 in Dallas. "The Janie Fricke Collection," a 36-piece line, includes casual dresses, skirts, tops and pants designed by the performer and manufactured exclusively by a clothing firm in Mancos, CO. The multi-talented singer is also creating a line of snakeskin accessories to complement her clothes collection. Fricke said she used her own experiences and knowledge in designing the collection, "Because I'm on the road so extensively, I wanted fabrics that would be comfortable and easy to care for, yet able to withstand the rigors of travel. The line is designed with the middle-income working woman in mind and we feel the quality of it is superior to similar merchandise in its price range." And what's Fricke going to do for the ladies? Well, she has that figured out fine: "I think at attractive look on a woman is a narrow waist. Most of my designs are big at the shoulders and come in to the waist. I like to use 2½- to 3-inch wide belts to make the waist look smaller. I also think the waistline is emphasized in long tunic tops belted over narrow straight-leg jeans. I'm using a lot of that and it points to a woman's shape in a real nice way." Thanks, Janie. We'll look forward to that.

TEEING OFF — If your fortune cookie reads, "Watch out for flying golf balls if you're in the Burbank area Nov. 5," take heed. The Academy of Country Music is sponsoring its 2nd Annual Marty Robbins Memorial Golf Classic on that date at Burbank's De Bell Golf Course. The celebrity/amateur 18-hole golf tournament benefits the American Heart Association in Robbins' name (last year the tournament netted more than $10,000 for the cause). An entry fee of $150 will cover green fees and cart, on-course refreshment, tee prizes, dinner and a chance to win a 1984 Dodge Ram 4x4 truck. And if that's not enough, a celebrity guest will play in each foursome. Already set for the tournament are Paul Michael Glaser, Howard Keel, Alex Trebek, Johnny Lee, Bruce Weitz, Lou Rawls, Jack Carter, Ed Nelson, Ron Masak, George Lindsey, Doug Kershaw, James Sicking, and Johnny Mann. Ronnie Robbins, the late singer's son, will also be on hand for the event.

WILLIE AND KRIS SAY TAKE A FRIEND TO THE POLLS — Willie Nelson and Kris Kristofferson, currently starring together in the movie Songwriter, have donated their time to the largest service announcement campaign ever undertaken for voter registration and education. The two will join more than 40 celebrities from the entertainment, sports and music industries for the "Vote with a friend. Make it count more" campaign, which is sponsored by the American Citizenship Education Project and has been funded by such organizations as the Carnegie Corporation, the Ford Foundation, the Charles H. Revson Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation. Other participants in the campaign are Quincy Jones, James Ingram, Ray Parker, Jr., Debbie Allen of Fame, Alan Alda, Bonnie Franklin, Jill Clayburgh, Bruce Jenner, Vince Ferragamo, and Magic Johnson.

Benson Releases DeGarmo And Key 'Communication' Package

NASHVILLE — Phil Johnson, vice president, product development and marketing, The Benson Company, made the announcement of "Communication Sight and Sound" package consisting of Power Discs/Benson recording duo DeGarmo & Key's new album release and two-song video, which features selections from the LP.

Allen Brown, manager-marketing for The Benson Company, further described the projects' potential, "The two songs on the video can be used separately or together. One is well suited for Christian programming ("Alleluia"), while the other ("Six, Six, Six") is targeted for general market broadcasting audiences. The two songs as a pair will be used in youth group activities, in-store merchandising displays, and as an integral part of promotional efforts."

In addition, a marketing plan has been coordinated in conjunction with DeGarmo and Key's Fall '84 U.S. Tour. Merchandising display materials which the Benson Company has manufactured include:

Display bins, bin header/backercards, posters, special price stickers and 30-minute, ½-inch videos for in-store viewing that feature "Six, Six, Six" and "Alleluia, Christ Is Coming" on a rotated basis for the duration of the cassette.

The "Communication Sight and Sound" package was introduced to the media Oct. 16 through a nationwide press conference via conference call which was scheduled concurrently with a local press conference and video screening in Memphis, TN. Participating in the conference were Ed DeGarmo and Dana Key, Ardent Studio representatives, including creative director of the video, Marius Penczner and Allen Brown, Benson Company spokesperson.

The "Communication" LP is also the feature release on the Benson Company's "Spotlight Program" for October and November, which exposes premiere releases nationally in retail outlets for a two-month period. Co-op advertising on radio and in print is currently being coordinated to support this retail program in select markets.

INTERNATIONAL DATELINE

CBS Holds UK Sales Conference

by Chrissy Iley

LONDON — CBS UK held their annual sales conference at Torquay recently to reveal big name album releases for the autumn. Previewed at the conference was Paul Young's "The Secret Of Association" — the follow-up to his platinum debut "No Parlez." The new album includes the single "I'm Gonna Tear Your Playhouse Down" and will coincide with a nationwide tour.

Particularly well received was the debut solo-album from Alison Moyet (formerly with Yazoo). The album, simply titled "Alf," includes her excellent new single "All Cried Out" — the follow-up to her UK smash "Love Resurrection." The album is a superb showcase for her powerful vocals and distinctive songs.

The new Wham! album already includes three UK number ones — "Wake Me Up Before You Go Go," and a solo offering from George Michael, "Careless Whisper." The album is suitably titled "Make It Big." It includes the new single — another number one hit, "Freedom." The band is about to embark on a UK tour.

The Stranglers new album — "Aural Sculpture" — marks a return to a more hard-edged sound. It is their first release since the successful "Feline." The cassette version comes with a special computer game which will be conveniently linked with promotional tie-ins in computer magazines. The accompanying video provides some compelling imagery.

Other major releases from CBS/EPIC include Toto's album "Isolation," the soundtrack from the silent film Metropolis, and product from REO Speedwagon, Molly Hatchet, Flash and The Pan, Lou Rawls, Mathew Wilder, Gladys Knight and The Pips, and Hanoi Rocks. Also featured were new albums from Frida and Joan Jett.

The most exciting new signing to CBS is King. Their album, "Steps in Time," was incredibly well received. The album includes full length remixed versions of their three singles, as well as brand new tracks. King is a charismatic act, whose main love is for live performance. They have achieved a hardcore club following and are certain for national chart success in the near future.

CBS is also adding more titles to their "Nice Price" range, notably Bruce Springsteen's "Darkness On The Edge Of Town" and Electric Light Orchestra's "A New World Record."

Managing director Paul Russell congratulated his company, and said, "I believe we have reached a certain maturity in this company where we are confident of our position and our future, never taking that position for granted and constantly trying to do better. Our record speaks for itself."

ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES — The new Luis Miguel album will be one of the main items at the oncoming annual sales & promotion convention to be held next week by EMI in the city of Villa General Belgrano. The label will also showcase the new local albums by GianFranco Pagliaro and Juan Carlos Baglietto, as well as several international releases including the latest Iron Maiden L.P. EMI promotion topper Roberto Piny told Cash Box that the company feels confident about the end-of-year campaign, due to the health of the product that will be made available.

A new date at the Obras Stadium, November 2, has been scheduled for Facundo Cabral after the overwhelming success of his appearances last September. Cabral has been performing in Argentina and Spain for about 15 years, but only now he has gained success and this popularity is also reflected on record sales: Interdisc released his "Ferrocabral" album and has been obtaining good figures.

CBS artists Pimpinela are engaged in a busy series of international performances in several countries: at the Lincoln Center in New York they had two dates with SRO attendance and they visited afterwards Boston, Washington, San Antonio, New Orleans and Houston. The next leg of the tour covers Costa Rica, Mexico and Venezuela, and November 26 they will start a week of promotional appearances in Brazil, with strong support from the label. In December they will go to Spain for TV and stints. Their latest album, recorded in Italy is being released this week in Argentina and will be also marketed in several other Latin American countries.

Nestor Selasco of Sicamericana reports satisfaction with the results of the recent visit of chanteuse Daniela Romo to Argentina: the second album by this artist is selling very well, and Channel 9 is airing tapes recorded during her stay here. The melodic music field has few artists at the moment, and it seems clear that Daniela is filling a void in the market.

Leo Bentivoglio of PolyGram reports that a joint campaign will be launched to promote a double album titled "Estudio Philips" after the TV program currently on the air on Channel 7 in Buenos Aires and several areas in the interior of the country. The marketing idea is that one of the LP's will be devoted to music for the 35 plus crowd, while the other one is aimed at teenagers. It will be offered as the best available gift for Christmas, with youngsters keeping one of the records (or tapes) and grown-ups the other one.

JAPAN

TOKYO — Toshiba EMI has signed a contract with Virgin of the UK which goes in effect on Oct. 1, 1984. The first album from this label will be a new LP from Culture Club called "House On Fire." This will be followed by "Valotte" by Julian Lennon, "How Men Are" by Heaven 17, "Geoffery Morgan" by UB 40 and "Sign Of The Hammer" by Man of War on Nov. 21, 1984.

Sony Co., Ltd. will release a cheap, portable CD-player called "D-50" on Nov. 10, 1984 with a price of 49,800 yen ($207). This player is, according to the company, an epoch in CD manufacturing in size, price and portability. Simultaneous with the release of this player, the CBS Sony Group, a subsidiary company of Sony, has disclosed a discounting of the price of compact-discs (CD) from 3,800 yen ($15.8) to 3,500 yen ($13.3). The new price will be adopted after Nov. 21, 1984.

JPRA (Japan Phonograph Record Association) has submitted a petition asking to abolish a sales-tax to the tax-committee of LDP (The Liberal Democratic Party; The government-party of Japan). In this, JPRA said that records and pre-recorded-tapes are cultural goods protected by the law of copyright just like books and magazines. The JPRA feels records and pre-recorded-tapes should be excluded from the levy of the sales tax like books.

UNITED KINGDOM

LONDON — MCA U.K.'s top priority for the coming months will be new signing Kim Wilde.

Addressing the company's annual sales conference last week, senior marketing director John Knowles told the delegates that MCA intended to make "The Second Time" — Wild's first single in a year — "a massive hit" and then repeat the success with her album "Teases and Dares."

There are extensive marketing plans for the single and album alike. "Teases and Dares" features two of the singer's own songs; this is the first time she has recorded any of her own material. As with her previous three albums, production is by brother, Ricky, and father, Marty.

Also a high priority for MCA is the second album by Nik Kershaw. It is titled "The Riddle" and is produced by Peter Collins.

Managing director Don Ellis stressed the company's intention of building upon its success with Nik Kershaw: "If we do our job properly in the fourth quarter of 1984, we will have doubled our business since last year. The effort we put into breaking Nik Kershaw got us Kim Wilde. If we succeed with her, then people will be lining up." Ellis feels that this success, coupled with the recent move to better offices had given the company "greater believability."

Teachers Makes The Grade For Capitol

"Teacher, Teacher," is currently #35 with a bullet on Cash Box singles chart and is experiencing strong CHR and AOR airplay. The song shipped September 21. Joe Cocker's "Edge Of A Dream" was released simultaneously with the film on October 5 and is currently #82 with a bullet on the pop singles chart. According to Lee, "CHR activity is developing very nicely and we are definitely selling records. All the goals that we have set within the current time frame are falling into place."

The third single is Bob Seger's "Understanding," a song that is heard during the closing credits of the film. Capitol president Don Zimmermann told Cash Box (September 15) that the release of the Seger single was being timed so a visual association between the film and the song would be made by radio listeners. Lee cited the high box office figures as fitting into Capitol's release schedule and expects across-the-board success with the song on radio. "I expect that the Seger single will do well at AC," he remarked.

"But that's one of the benefits. We expect the single to be as strong at CHR as it is already at AOR." Lee pointed out that Cocker's single, a powerful ballad, is also experiencing strong AC response. He concluded, "With Teachers, you have a project that is already successful in three formats (AOR, CHR, AC) in addition to a very successful motion picture. We expect to sell a lot of albums."

Jazz Saxophonist Johnson Dies

NEW YORK — Budd Johnson, the jazz saxophonist whose career spanned 60 years, died of a heart attack Oct. 20 in Kansas City, Mo. at the age of 73. Johnson, whose main horn was the tenor sax, was the musical director of the Earl Hines Orchestra throughout the '30s. In the '40s, he wrote arrangements for the big bands of Billy Eckstine, Boyd Raeburn, Woody Herman and others and became involved with the early bebop movement.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO OEDIPUS — I feel sort of like Bill Murray on those old Saturday Night Live movie reviews: I didn't see The Gospel At Colonus but I heard about it. Or more specifically, I heard it, and that was enough. The score for the show, produced by rock craftsmen Donald Fagen and Gary Katz, was released last month by Warner Brothers and it's a souped-up gospel tour de force. The show itself, originally presented as part of the Brooklyn Academy of Music's Next Wave Festival, is the third segment of Sophocles' Oedipus trilogy set in contemporary times. Sounds heavy, but the score is heavy sounds. This is one case where the record is a natural to check out before the production, which will be presented again in Washington, D.C. this December. Fagen and Katz have produced a brilliant recording which brings out all the power and glory, not to mention joy and melody and harmony and rhythm, of the Lee Breuer - Bob Telson score. For that good old gospel sound set in a thoroughly state-of-the-art environment, get this record! Then see the show. The soundtrack features the original cast of leading gospel groups: Clarence Fountain and The Five Blind Boys of Alabama, J.J. Farley and the original Soul Sisters, the J.D. Steele Singers and the Brooklyn Institutional Radio Choir. Amen. rusty cutchin

A&M Begins New Project

Anderle noted, "The primary function I have is the development of music and soundtracks for A&M films. Yet I will also scout out other films for possible soundtracks on non-A&M productions and try to get as many A&M artists and Almo/Irving writers as possible on other productions. Another thing that I will try to do is to establish a better working relationship between labels in terms of sharing artists."

While this sort of position has been cropping up more frequently within record companies, the A&M situation is in many ways unique, especially considering the clout that the film division will have. Anderle explained, "The films division is primarily a development division and we ally ourselves with a film production studio. On all of these projects, A&M assumes the role of executive producer. The advantage is that there are many studios which have no music division and we can effectively operate as music supervisors. These will be our films, but they will be distributed by major film studios."

"I think you are seeing a situation right now where more and more people are coming out of A&R and attaching themselves to film mainly because the concept of the soundtrack as a real record has firmly established itself and will only continue growing."

RIAA Report

• Eight-tracks bounced back, particularly in the direct marketing sector, where they continue to play an important role. Overall, eight-track tapes rose in unit shipments for the first half of 1984 to 3.5 million from last year's 3.1 million, while dollar volume increased from $11.9 million through the first six months of 1983 to $18.9 million from January through June, 1984.

• Total tape shipment figures, comingling eight-tracks and cassettes, showed a 44 percent increase in units shipped and a 37 percent increase in dollar volume at suggested retail list price over a comparable period in 1983. There were 147.1 units shipped through the first half of 1984, representing over $1 billion in retail dollars, compared to last year's six month totals of 102.4 million units shipped, accounting for $748.2 million at suggested retail list price.

AROUND THE ROUTE

by Camille Compasio

AMOA Expo '84 will be history by the time this column makes print, however, as Cash Box went to press the convention was just getting started at the Hyatt Regency in Chicago. Advance registration was about 5400 on October 17, when we had our final pre-convention conversation with executive veepee Leo Droste, and he told us that many requests had been made after the cut-off date so there will most likely be a lot of traffic at the registration desk — which is normally the case, with or without a heavy advance figure. What kind of total attendance will Expo draw? Well, it probably won't measure up to the '82 figure of 12,792 but, then, things have changed some over the past couple of years. Many who came into coinbiz on the crest of the video wave have since departed the ranks but there is a good, strong survivor list of professionals who are managing to weather the storm of economic adversities, maintain their businesses and continue to function as the mainstay of this industry. Another point Droste brought out during our conversation was the last minute surge of interest that was surfacing in those final days preceding the opening of Expo. A lot of tradesters, who were

Premier — Mylstar Agreement Reached

CHICAGO — Cash Box has learned that Premier Technology Co. will buy from Mylstar Electronics Inc. (formerly D. Gottlieb and Co.) certain equipment and parts of its discontinued pinball product line.

On September 30 of this year, parent company Columbia Pictures Industries announced that Mylstar was closing its doors, discontinuing operation at the Northlake, Illinois facility.

Premier Technology Co., a new organization, will be managed by Gil Pollock, industry veteran and former vice president sales of Mylstar. Pollock advised that Premier will operate out of new facilities in the Chicago area and plans to begin production of its own product by January of 1985. Further details on distribution, parts, availability will be announced soon.

New Members of Bally Sente Design Team

CHICAGO — Bally Sente, the video game subsidiary of Bally Manufacturing Corp. that specializes in the creation of conversion systems for state of the art coin-operated video arcade games, recently announced additions to its design team.

Bill Maher is concept design supervisor. His responsibilities include leadership of the screen graphics department where he supervises the creation of character background art and animation for Sente Arcade Computer (SAC) games. Additional duties include the development of new game concepts and the software-based special graphics effects.

In the SAC system, new arcade quality games are produced by interchanging a control panel, graphics and a hand-sized software cartridge onto a generic game frame cabinet. As many as seven SAC system games will be available for marketing this fall.

Since joining Bally Sente, Maher has co-created characters and background settings for several new games and is currently working on the design and concepts for three of the games slated for the Fall introduction.

Maher is a former head of production design for the Computer Graphics Laboratory at the New York Institute of Technology where he designed 3-D mathematical models and settings for computer graphics rendering and animation systems. In 1982, he initiated a six month project to create the first half-hour computer animated science fiction TV special "3DV."

Maher was part of a design team that won an Emmy Award for working with the title sequence for the CBS program "Walter Cronkite's Universe." In addition, his freelance activities have included work as a promotion and art consultant for Warner Bros./Reprise Records. His artwork has also appeared in Heavy Metal magazine.

Rich Adam has been named game designer for Bally Sente. In this position he is responsible for the design, programming and management of various Sente Arcade Computer (SAC) games and game conversion systems.

He is a former senior engineer at Atari where he worked on several successful video game projects including "Pipe Shoot," "Missile Command" and "Gravitar."

Adam and his wife currently reside in the San Francisco Bay area.

Mark McPhee is a graphic illustrator for Bally Sente. He is responsible for game screen and exterior graphics on projects relating to the SAC system.

In addition to his duties with game screen development, McPhee is also responsible for helping develop game storyboards and artist renderings for sales and other collateral materials.

His most recent accomplishments included the development of the character, story and graphics for the SAC I system's first game, "Snakepit."

McPhee is married and lives in Santa Clara, California.

kind of sitting it out over the past several weeks decided that it would be well worth the expense and effort to come into Chicago for this convention. AMOA officials have been optimistic about the outcome of Expo '84. They provided the incentive which should, hopefully, make for a very successful convention . . . Keep tuned to Cash Box for full coverage of the show.

Electro-Sport Inc. of Costa Mesa, California announced that they have established a distributor/service center arrangement with Rent All Amusement Co., which is located at 2545 N. Bosworth in Chicago, and services the state of Illinois. Operators in the area may contact Fred Minter at Rent All for further specifics . . . This past Spring, Electro-Sport received the approval of the city's Automatic Amusement Device Panel, for licensing the coin-op "Draw Poker" machine.

As a follow-up to its July submission to Underwriters Laboratories of a new amusement machine safety standard, AGMA has nominated five industry engineers to facilitate the testing center's internal review process. They are: Lance Dekker (Bally Midway Mfg. Co.); Donald P. DeVale (Industrial Design Electrical Associates, Inc.); Robert Kapoun (Stern Electronics); Ray Musci (Universal USA, Inc.) and Jon Pederson (Nintendo of America, Inc.). Additionally, AGMA requested that its legislative counsel, Peter Kopke, participate as an observer and liaison to the AGMA Technical Advisory Committee and the AGMA board of directors . . . Incidentally, a meeting was scheduled to take place during AMOA Expo, to further discuss the recently announced merger of AGMA and AVMDA (the distributor organization) and possibly come up with a new name for the joint group.

Edwin Anderson recently left his position as manufacturing manager at Namco America to pursue his music interests. Anderson, who is well known throughout the trade for his original music for video games and T.V. shows (i.e. "Starcade" and "The Video Game"), is expanding his Mindseed Music business. In addition to providing original compositions and lyrics, he will be managing several professional groups and will also be providing consulting services in the areas of production, materials, engineering and security. Anderson may be contacted at Mindseed Music, 2583 Early Rivers Ct., Union City, CA 94587 (phone 415-487-2841).
