NOW MORE THAN EVER

The Public Want Music in the Theatre

THE one man in America most responsible for the encouragement and development of music in the motion picture theatre is undoubtedly S. L. Rothafel (Roxy). He conceived the idea of transplanting the symphony orchestra from the concert hall to the movie house and has consistently held to the idea that personally produced music is necessary to give a complete and well rounded theatre program. Even at a time when orchestras are thought to be dispensable in motion picture houses, Roxy has increased his orchestra to what is undoubtedly the largest motion picture symphony orchestra in the world.

Roxy has built his success on the fact that he has been able to sense what the public want. He believes that they want music today such as is furnished by actual musicians more than ever. Although he had been back but a short time from a trip abroad and was steeped in work, we were able to see him for a few minutes and get his views on questions in particular and general.

"The development of music among the masses has always been a subject close to my heart," he said. "There is perhaps no greater force anywhere for the promulgation of music than the motion picture theatre, if theatre managers see their opportunity. At the Roxy we now have probably the largest theatre orchestra in the world. It is composed of musicians who have had extensive experience with the leading symphonic organizations. Almost twenty-five million people have heard this orchestra. The music that they play is practically the same as is heard in concert halls and opera houses.

"We have evolved a popular form of entertainment which enables us to offer the classics in moderate doses, and has given to the audience a remarkable opportunity for learning. We present our music as an integral part of our stage entertainment. There is no audience more avid for culture and development; no audience more quick to respond to the stimulation of music than the American audience.

"After years of development we found that upon hearing the finest examples of musical literature, the audience began to develop its own tastes. They learned not only to appreciate what was being offered to them, but actually to demand those works with which they were particularly impressed. Music, it seems, has outgrown its selected audience of connoisseurs; it has become the property of all."

Roxy recently visited London, Paris, Berlin, Budapest, Vienna, Rome and Naples, and we asked him how theatres in those countries compare with theatres in the United States.

"There is no comparison," said Roxy, "from any point of view. There is a low standard in every phase of production which would never be acceptable in America. It presents a producers' Paradise. Production costs are low; materials are cheap and help is cheap. The finest musicians, who would demand and get a salary of $150 a week in this country, receive about $25 a week. And yet, in spite of the comparatively low costs, the admission is high. Empty seats, varying in proportion in the different cities, is the reward.

"I believe that entertainment as it is sold here, in magnificent theatres, with the elaborate stage programs that surround them, would be a sensation over there. Several factors, however, would make such a project impossible—chief among these is the high taxation."

Roxy attributes a good deal of the apathy and lack of enthusiasm for entertainment in Europe to the general depression. In France and Italy there is a good deal of activity of a militaristic nature. Troops are constantly maneuvering at the borders and the exacting examination at the border lines of motor cars bearing the license plates of other countries bears a most ominous portent.

An Interview with S. L. ROTHAFEL (Roxy) In Metronome

Italy is bright and moving. The Fascisti are everywhere at all public and strategic points and the attitude of the people shows that they are constantly aware of the fact.

"The British films stand out," said Roxy, "as having a promising future. For one thing, they have the actors and actresses and the direction. And adapting their native talents to the technique of talking pictures will, I am sure, bring happy results."

Bringing back a fresh perspective to motion pictures, Roxy believes that there will be a new development in talking pictures. He believes that a new technique will be evolved which will emphasize the importance of detail, the development of character and the finer details of intimate drama. He feels that this is necessary if talking pictures are to achieve their ultimate perfection.

"Opera, too, will eventually be adapted to the talkies," predicts Roxy. "But before this happens a new technique for it will also have to be developed. The grandiloquent gestures and extravagant acting of opera would be magnified on the screen to the point of absurdity. In fact, opera itself will find it necessary to change its technique if it is to keep pace with the modern trend of living."

In speaking of increasing his orchestra to 125 men, Roxy said:

"In watching the Roxy Orchestra grow in musical stature to its new position as the largest permanent orchestra in the world, I have seen one of my dearest dreams come true. But there is another reason for taking this step. The Roxy Theatre is more than a medium of entertainment—it is a force in the community—an institution which seeks to further the welfare and interest of the public. At this time, more than any other, we feel we should provide a spiritual stimulus, a moral encouragement to the community and this is our gesture to prove our confidence in ourselves, in the public and in the coming year!"

The thirty new men were distributed throughout the entire orchestra. The added instruments included seven first violins, five second violins, four violas, two celli, three basses, one bassoon, one flute, one oboe, one clarinet, one trumpet, one horn, one percussion, one banjo and two pianos.

Roxy scored another point in the country's battle with unemployment. In conjunction with the American Federation of Musicians, Local 802, a series of Sunday morning symphonic concerts, by an orchestra of 200 musicians, was inaugurated at the Roxy Theatre, the entire proceeds of which are to be turned over to unemployed musicians in New York. These concerts are given at 11 A. M. Sunday morning and have been well attended, the entire proceeds going to the unemployment fund.

"We feel that such an action at this time will have a great psychological effect," Roxy said, "both on the public and on the unemployed. The benefits will be three-fold. It will enable the public to hear the best music by an orchestra of the highest artistic standard; it will provide employment and a benefit fund for the unemployed. In addition, the broadcasting of this event from coast to coast will carry the spirit of optimistic activity into millions of homes throughout the country."

Says another writer in the Metronome: "The orchestra situation in the motion picture theatres seems to be slowly righting itself and everything points to a back-to-the-theatre movement for the musicians."

"The trend throughout the country is in the direction of better music, and now that the radio carries the best music to practically every corner of this great land, the theatre that will satisfy the public in the near future will be the motion picture theatre that furnishes good pictures and, above other things, a good orchestra. The orchestra is and always has been the foundation and backbone of real theatre entertainment."

The Spirit of Trade Unionism

THROUGHOUT the whole nation—and in Canada as well—thousands of unemployed workers are deriving support from trade unions.

Millions of dollars have been spent by unions to maintain their unemployed members.

In this period of depression organized labor has written a chapter that fits in with the fine story of human helpfulness that has threaded its way through all the vicissitudes of the race.

Wage earners, themselves none too well supplied with necessities, are by the million taxing themselves to support their needy brothers. Here is magnificent heroism, the milk of human kindness flowing in a great river of generosity.

Again America owes a debt to its great labor movement—a debt about which it knows little, but of which historians later will write glowing and imperishable chapters. The wage earner who does not belong to a union misses the opportunity to share in this epic story.

Automatic Methods Create New Labor Problem

UNEMPLOYMENT insurance—called unemployment reserves—is discussed by economists, statesmen, publicists and certain employers as a method to relieve distress in business depressions.

Under this system the employer would set up a fund to care for laid-off workers.

Details differ as to whether workers and the State would contribute, but the theory of the plan is that employers have no more right to expect the public to care for unwanted workers than to ask the public to care for idle plants and unused machinery.

This is sound morality, but it should be understood that an unemployment reserve—or insurance—is intended to care for the worker who is temporarily laid off in times of depression. He is not discharged. The employer will reinstate him as business improves.

This worker is in a different position from one who is displaced by automatic machinery, scientific processes, chain stores and farm corporations. Such a displaced worker has no hope of employment in the plant or store. He is no longer useful to the employer. Their relationships are severed. This is not true of the worker who is laid off, and who expects to resume his employment.

An unemployment reserve—or insurance—would not, for instance, benefit the 200,000 railroad workers who have been discharged the past several years because of efficiency processes.

It would not affect hundreds of thousands of seasonal workers who drift from place to place, or workers who have been discharged from industry, small business or agriculture.

These workers are assured that "the machine releases them for other activities," but the machine and scientific methods operate in every industry and calling. Such a worker's skill is destroyed. He has an additional handicap, if he is 40 years of age.

Machine installation, silent and continuous, lessens the number of laid-off workers by increasing those who are discharged.

Business depression accelerates machine introduction to cut labor costs and to meet charges because of excessive plant capacity and top-heavy capitalization.

The automatic machine, in other forms, has the same effect on farmers and small business men. Chain stores are driving the latter into the unemployed ranks.

Farm corporations, with gigantic machinery and financial backing, pauperize agriculturists, who can not compete with their comparatively small holdings.

This triple displacement of industrial workers, merchants and farmers is the new revolution that is undermining opportunities for a bread-winning life.

Another factor is the exportation of American capital and American machinery to foreign markets that were formerly supplied by goods manufactured in America.

Here, again, the worker, business man and farmer are affected.

These movements swell the ranks of permanent idle. They can not be solved by charity or by the most worthy expedients that detract from fundamental causes.

Why Is Alien Gate Left Open?

PRESIDENT HOOVER asked Congress to appropriate $500,000 to arrest and deport aliens who are unlawfully in this country.

The gate through which most of these aliens enter, however, will remain open.

Europeans pay $200 to $400 for the privilege of signing as seamen on a ship bound for the United States. Chinamen pay up to $1,100. On arrival here they step ashore and are lost in the large cities. Between 40,000 and 50,000 are annually smuggled in by this method, which is profitable to the captain and ship owners.

The International Seamen's Union, for years, has attempted to secure a law which would authorize immigration officials to examine these "seamen" before they are permitted to leave the ship. These aliens if found to be not bona fide seamen, would be returned at the expense of the vessel.

The vessel would also be denied clearance papers if she attempted to sail with fewer seamen than she employed on arrival.

The King bill, now pending in Congress, has these provisions, but it can not be moved.

The man who owns a machine that can do the work of a hundred men owns the equivalent of a hundred men. The slave owners of the South never had one-tenth the power that the machine owners of America have.—SENATOR ELLISON D. SMITH, of South Carolina.

Labor Queries - - -

Questions and Answers on Labor: What It Has Done; Where It Stands on Problems of the Day; Its Aim and Program; Who's Who in the Ranks of the Organized Toilers, etc., etc.

Q.—What prominent Catholic clergyman said: "Labor unions are undoubtedly one of the most powerful factors, if not the most powerful, in securing high levels of wages. This result is due not only to their specific action on behalf of their members, but also to their insistent preaching that industrial prosperity depends primarily upon the possession of high purchasing power by the workers?"

A.—Rev. John A. Ryan, director, Department of Social Action, National Catholic Welfare Conference.

Q.—When did the American Federation of Labor first urge the gathering of accurate information on unemployment?

A.—In 1889, when the convention held that year declared it of vast importance to ascertain in the census the number of unemployed and the duration of such lack of employment and instructed the Executive Council to urge Congress to remedy the omission.

Q.—How many States have no legal limit on the working day for women and minors?

A.—Five. There are nineteen States in which women may work ten or more hours per day.

Q.—Who are the officers and executive committee of the Workers Education Bureau of America?

A.—William Green, honorary president; Thomas E. Burke, president; Thomas Kennedy, treasurer; Spencer Miller, Jr., secretary; Matthew Woll, chairman; Fannia M. Cohn, Paul W. Fuller, John L. Kerchen, Elmer E. Milliman, Victor A. Dlander, George W. Perkins, Harry A. Russel.

Q.—Where was William N. Doak, United States Secretary of Labor, born?

A.—Rural Retreat, Va.

Q.—What was the first union to obtain a universal eight-hour day in the United States?

A.—Journeymen Stone Cutters' Association of North America. The eight-hour day was obtained in 1904.

Q.—Is the five-day week gaining ground in England?

A.—The report of the Chief Inspector of Factories and Workshops said that gains for the shorter week were made in 1929. He said that in general it is approved by employers who have tried it, on the ground that it means a larger output with lower costs.

Out Beyond the Surf--

Where thought, unhastened by necessity or trepidation, sometimes penetrates to truth. Here, where the shallows throw no spray, let us ponder and enjoy the lessons of the art and the work and play of life.

Well, Mr. Wickersham's Commission on Law Enforcement has reported. It is interesting to observe that though it was a commission on law enforcement its report dealt with prohibition.

It was not news that out of our effort to legislate so-called morals into people and out of the destruction of constitutional freedom by constitutional methods there grew a ponderous disrespect for law. That was known before Mr. Wickersham's commission told us.

But though it was a long time coming and though it tells us nothing new about law violation and the destruction of character, it does offer us something about which to feel greatly encouraged.

Only two of the commissioners find it possible to stand for the present chaos unreservedly. That is something worth talking about.

But there is something else in that report—something that has been largely overlooked. It is the constitutional amendment offered as a possible substitution for the present Eighteenth Amendment. It is worth reading.

The Eighteenth Amendment denies, or prohibits. It is the only part of the whole Constitution that does not guarantee something or grant a power.

The proposed amendment offered by the Wickersham Commission reverts to the customary constitutional form and grants power. That is something to think about. It is a complete confession by the commission that the Eighteenth Amendment is wrong in principle, to say nothing of the enormous wrong in its results.

The Wickersham proposal would grant to Congress the power to regulate or prohibit—either one of these powers, but not both of them. Now that, from the Eighteenth Amendment standpoint, is revolutionary.

The American nation is pretty thoroughly convinced that it wants temperance and that it does not want the saloon. Neither does it want the speakeasy and the blind pig—nor the bootlegger, with his more than doubtful wares.

Thoughtful men and women are coming rapidly to the conclusion that the desired objective cannot be attained by going further on the present road.

For a long time it was impossible to have sane discussion of the issue. There was too much bigotry. But bigotry, in the end, must give way to the facts of life, and the facts have become so powerful as to command attention. We have reached the point where discussion is possible and out of discussion will come solution. The Wickersham report, with all of its confusion—and perhaps even because of its confusion—will help. It concedes trenchant facts and it is up to the American people to make use of those facts. C. M. W.

One of Causes

IN looking over the various contributory causes for the present economic and industrial difficulties there is a small but important phase frequently lost to sight.

A skilled worker who has held his job at the original wage and lost no time was discussing with others in his own trade and group, his personal financial condition and the outlook for the future. He said, "When I see so many men out of work, see the difficulty they are having in getting by, I am scared. I don't know when I will get bumped out so I play them up close. I am not spending any money at all except for necessities—just the groceries and house expenses. I'm saving every dollar and I'm not putting it in any bank and taking chances that way."

That stated the case of thousands who are alarmed by insecurity of their job and fear for the future. They are hoarding instead of buying. They are contributing unknowingly to the general bad situation, but no one can reasonably blame them for their caution.

We find many similar causes and they are all interlocking and form the links of the vicious and endless chain in which the country is enmeshed.

We boast of our advance in civilization. We point with pride to our educational institutions. The story of our industrial and economic progress is marvelous. Side by side with this bright picture of man's progress and hopes for his future is the sad story of men who are out of work, willing to earn a living and unable to do so. Those who hope for permanency in our institutions can and must face the solution of the unemployment problem. Unless it is solved, the suggestion is not out of place that the destruction of society and government will become inevitable.—Representative William A. Pittenger of Minnesota.

OVER FEDERATION FIELD

(By Chauncey A. Weaver)

Announcement comes with startling unexpectedness of the passing away of Nate Heidelberg. He succumbed to a heart attack on the morning of New Year's Day, at his home, No. 25 Lawn street, Dayton, Ohio. Recording Secretary Pearl Culbertson, of Local No. 101, has kindly furnished us with data which we know his friends who had come to know Nate through contact at National Federation Conventions will be interested to receive.

Brother Heidelberg was born in the city of Floto, Central Germany. As a small boy Nate showed musical talent and his father placed him in charge of the best teacher available when he was eight years old. When seventeen years old he came to America and resided for a time in New York. He took up residence in Dayton 49 years ago. He soon began playing in the Grand Opera House orchestra; was a member of the Great Western Band. In 1895 he became musical director of the Victory Theatre orchestra—which line of work he continued to follow—his latest engagement being with the B. F. Keith house.

Brother Heidelberg served as President of Local No. 101 for 25 years. He was devoted to the welfare of Dayton musicians and enjoyed a wide acquaintance with all classes of citizens. His age was 67 years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Belle Heidelberg, who accompanied Nate to many national conventions.

Many of us will recall the eager enthusiasm with which he headed arrangements to entertain the national convention in his home city in 1919. The older convention-goers will miss him.

The American Bandmasters' Association will hold their annual convention in Boston, April 9, 10, 11 and 12. On the latter date the annual band concert given under the auspices of Local No. 9 will take place. The concert program will be conducted by such well-known visiting baton wielders as John Philip Sousa, Edwin Franko Goldman, Henry Hadley, Carl Busch and Leo Sowerby. A tentative number now under consideration is a quartet comprised of Walter M. Smith, Herbert Clarke, Del Staigers and Ernest Williams. It will be a notable occasion. We hope the broadcasting powers will come to the rescue of those who would be delighted to hear the program.

In these scrambled economic times the poets have their little fling and sometimes emit sentiments in which the truth seems to transcend the poetic element—as for example Frieda Fisher's "Riddle In Economics" in Chicago Federation News.

There are some to insist
That this is very crude.
But, "we starve," the farmers say,
"Having grown too much of food."

And this I fear will make
Some people very wroth.
"We're ragged," say the weavers,
"We've woven too much cloth."

And here's a business needing
A plaster cast and crutch.
"We're homeless," say the builders,
"Since we have built too much."

And there are other workers
To whimper for a dole.
"We're freezing," cry the miners,
"For digging too much coal."

Oh, world too mad for reason,
Too crippled for a crutch.
Where men are starved, and out of work
For having made too much.

The country at large is feverishly hoping that it may be spared the affliction of an extra session of Congress.

March is looked upon usually as about the most disagreeable month of the year. The weather is always more or less bad; besides that is the month when taxes become due.

What is an intoxicating Beverage?—New York Times.

When Is the Musician Old?—Atlantic City Journal.

We trust it may be a long time before the young editor of the official organ of Local No. 661 will be able to testify from experience.

The Cleveland Musician pays the following tribute to a retiring and long-time faithful and efficient official:

After 23 years of active service as President and Business Agent of Local No. 4, Ed. D. Haug surrendered the gavel of authority to his successor at the regular meeting of the body Friday, January 2nd.

Briefly stated, our organization has grown during Brother Haug's incumbency from a precarious youngster into sturdy manhood, that it now bears the enviable reputation of being one of the strongest and best governed locals in the Federation, due to the excellent caliber of officials and members.

But let us not forget, nor pass unnoticed and in the silence that the many benefits and conditions we now enjoy are due to the untiring efforts of Brother Haug, who has given the best years of his life to obtain them for us. Rather, let us extend to him our sincere thanks, with the assurance that we do remember, appreciate and value highly all that he has done to make our organization what it is today.

Brother Haug's countless Federation friends will endorse the good things said of him and applaud every evidence of prosperity which may come his way.

According to the Denver Musician, Colorado has a well which produces ice cream. After this we shall probably be hearing of lemonade and orangeade fountains in California.

Walter M. Bearden, brother of Secretary C. B. Bearden, of Local No. 148, Atlanta, Ga., is another Federation member to cross the Great Divide on a recent date. He was a victim of heart trouble—aggravated by high blood pressure. The writer met him in his home city upon the occasion of the silver anniversary of the founding of the Atlanta local. He was a theatre musician for many years and a loyal defender of Federation principles. The name of Bearden has been conspicuous in Atlanta music circles for many years.

More than forty-eight State Legislatures are in session this winter—grinding out laws for which there is no possible public need, and loading the statute books with rules and regulations for human conduct which in the main must generate disrespect rather than obedience to law as a whole. It is difficult to convince the average Legislature that the best governed state or nation is the one which is least governed.

New York is not the only place in which intelligent and organized effort is being made to furnish local musicians with employment to tide over the prolonged industrial depression. Among other cities where similar alertness is being displayed may be noticed Pittsburgh, Sacramento, Minneapolis, Denver and Los Angeles. Probably there are many others which have not been brought to our notice.

We are in receipt of a recent program of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra—forwarded by Brother John W. Parks. The conductor is Paul Van Katwijk, formerly of Des Moines, who always was a living breathing apostle of good music. We congratulate the Dallas musicians on their leadership. The instrumentation embraces seventy-two pieces and the subject

THE ROBOT AT THE HELM

HERE is a struggle of intense interest to all music lovers. If the Robot of Canned Music wrests the helm from the Muse, passengers aboard the good ship Musical Culture may well echo the offer of Gonzalo to trade "a thousand furlongs of sea for an acre of ground." Are you content to face a limitless expanse of "sound" without a sign of music?

Monotony in the theatre—corruption of taste—destruction of art. These must inevitably follow substitution of mechanical music for living music.

After nineteen years officiating as president of Local No. 566, Windsor, Ontario, Brother P. J. Tschirhart has decided to retire. Having been so faithful in the performance of his duties—in other words, having been as steady as a clock—the Local presented the retiring official with a beautiful electrical time-piece. President Wm. Bailey, of Local No. 5, Detroit, just across the river, made the presentation speech.

One of the big sensations in Federation circles last month was when Roxy and His Gang appeared at Massey Hall, Toronto, for a two-day engagement, and the noted New York empresario was called upon to answer charges preferred by the Executive Board of Local No. 149 for invading that jurisdiction without a proper local working card. At a special session of the board, held back stage, Roxy was tried, found guilty and sentenced to life membership in the Toronto local. As an evidence of judgment entry, solemnly proclaimed and recorded, President G. B. Henderson presented Roxy with a beautifully engraved solid gold life membership card—entitling him to full membership privileges in the Toronto local. Although at first somewhat flabbergasted the resourceful Roxy quickly rallied to the import of the occasion and made one of those responses for which he is distinguished. Roxy's fame has long since transcended the bounds of Greater New York, which for years was the chief scene of his activities. Federation musicians will be glad that that change of program under which he has been induced to "take to the road," and thus give wider opportunity for those to see and hear him who have long held him in high esteem.

The Supreme Court on February 25th upheld the constitutionality of the Eighteenth Amendment, reversing the ruling of Judge William Clark of New Jersey, who had held that the amendment was invalid because it was ratified by State Legislatures instead of by State conventions.

Approximately 1,600 men were added to the army of the unemployed when the New York Shipbuilding Company "for reasons beyond its control" suddenly abandoned work on two big passenger liners it had been constructing for the United States Lines at Camden, N. J.

About Labor Events

UNION LABEL ON MOTORISTS' PAPER—The Greensboro, N. C., local Typographical Union has succeeded in getting the union label placed on the monthly newspaper published by the Carolina Motor Club, which has headquarters in Greensboro. The publication was moved to a union shop about three months ago. The newspaper, which is edited by J. H. Monte, director of public relations for the Carolina Motor Club, has a circulation of more than 30,000. It goes to all members of the club in both of the Carolinas.

LABOR ON LOUISIANA PUBLIC BUILDINGS—Attorney-General Percy Saint of Louisiana in an opinion declared that the laws of Louisiana make no provision for the employment of union or non-union labor on public buildings. The opinion was given to E. L. Engerran, State labor commissioner, on request. The attorney-general said that the statute required only that the mechanics employed on public buildings be duly qualified citizens and voters. The commissioner said that union labor leaders had appealed to him that contractors on the new State capital at Baton Rouge had agreed to hire only union men where possible, and that some non-union men were being used.

BAY STATE LOWER HOUSE PASSES FREE SPEECH BILL—The Massachusetts House of Representatives passed the Parks free speech bill on February 12. This would set apart in every city a place where no permit would be required for public speeches. It was especially designed to end the drastic restriction on public utterances prevailing in Boston Common, and to make it another Hyde Park. Sponsored by the Massachusetts Civil Liberties Committee, it narrowly failed to pass in the House in 1930.

FIVE-DAY WEEK GAINS IN GERMANY—Hailed by most of the labor papers of Germany as a step toward the ultimate establishing of the five-day week in industry, cigarette manufacturers and their workers, to the number of about 28,000, have agreed to a reduction of the working week from 48 to 42½ hours, effective March 1. The workers are to be occupied only five days in the week and they are to be paid for 45 hours, a wage cut of about 6 per cent. Union leaders say that this slight fall in individual earnings will be offset by the expected reduction of unemployment in the industry.

ILLEGAL USE OF UNION LABEL PUNISHED—Secretary William J. Robinson of the Allied Printing Trades Council of New York appeared in the Special Sessions Court of Brooklyn against Nathan Fruchtman, general manager of the Empire Book Match Corporation, Brooklyn, for violation of section 209 of the Labor Law, dealing with the illegal use of the union label. Fruchtman pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse, but on the plea of his attorney, Presiding Justice Gresser suspended sentence.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF LATHERS' UNION DEAD—John Bell, former president of the International Union of Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers, dropped dead on his ranch near Corley, a short distance from San Francisco, on February 16. His health had not been good, but he was not considered to be in a dangerous condition.

For about 20 years Bell was business representative of his local in San Francisco, No. 85, being often a delegate to both State and national bodies. He was elected vice-president of his international and served many years, declining, however, to go on the road steadily, preferring to keep with his local. But he was finally prevailed upon to go out on organization work, in which he was very successful. He became first vice-president, and in 1925, when President McSorley resigned to accept the presidency of the Building Trades Department of the A. F. of L., Bell became president and served with success until he voluntarily retired at the convention in Cleveland in 1929, when President McSorley was again named to the position.

CONSIDERATION OF UNEMPLOYMENT FUND URGED—Reporting that it is unable to agree on specific measures for the stabilization of workers' incomes, the Pennsylvania State Committee on Unemployment has asked Governor Gifford Pinchot and the Legislature to give "serious consideration" to a report of its sub-committee on the subject in which a form of mandatory unemployment insurance through a State fund is recommended. Attention also was called to the possibility of voluntary action on the part of employers.

Other recommendations for alleviation of unemployment include efforts to stimulate private employers to stabilize production and employment, a detailed public works program, improvement of public employment offices, better regulation of private employment agencies, extension of certain educational facilities, and vigorous functioning of county relief committees.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR TRADE UNIONISTS—The British Trades Union Congress General Council has again decided to provide six Ruskin College scholarships for men and women members of its affiliated unions, for the college year 1931-32. Each scholarship will be of the value of £150, calculated to cover fees, board, lodging, and a part of the personal expenses of the student.

LABOR MEN HELP IN PRISON STUDY—Governor Roosevelt has appointed John E. McGarry, president of Syracuse Central Trades and Labor Assembly and business representative of Syracuse Typographical Union, as a member of his commission to study prison industries in New York State. The purpose of the commission, of which George Gordon Battle of New York is chairman and President John Sullivan of the New York State Federation of Labor is a member, is to study conditions in State prisons as they apply to occupations and employment. Mr. McGarry has been designated to study printing plants in the various State prisons with a view of improving existing conditions.

ACCIDENTS AND THE TIRED WORKER—Industrial fatigue as a factor in the accidents is the subject of a new bulletin recently issued by the Province of Quebec Safety League. The kind of fatigue discussed is not that which may be remedied by food or sleep, but rather that sort of tiredness which generally follows monotonous indoor work requiring close concentration. With the resultant dulling of attention on the part of the operative toward his work as well as toward the risks involved, the possibility of accidents increases. Proposed remedies stress improved ventilation of all work-rooms, rest periods and setting-up exercises.

PINCHOT BACKS OLD AGE PENSION BILL—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania has thrown his support behind the old age pension bill sponsored by the American Association for Old Age Security. This announcement was made by Jacob R. Geoffrey, State secretary of the association, at a meeting in Philadelphia at which an eastern Pennsylvania executive committee was formed.

"Assemblyman Darlington Hoopes of Reading and Senator Trainer of Philadelphia already have introduced pension bills in the Legislature," Geoffrey said, "but the bill Governor Pinchot will support is one being drawn by Attorney General Schnader in line with the association's principles and amending the State Constitution to permit the payment of old age pensions from State funds."

WAITRESSES FIGHT WAGE CUT—Waitresses employed by the Boston and Good Eats Cafes, Vancouver, Canada, have struck against a 20 per cent wage cut. Most of the other restaurants have renewed agreements at old wage rates with the local of the International Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union.

I. F. T. U. AND ITALIAN FASCISM—At the recent meeting of the executives of the International Federation of Trade Unions, held in Zurich under the chairmanship of Walter M. Citrine, president of the I. F. T. U., it was decided to attempt the concentration of anti-Fascist activities in Italy.

CALIFORNIA COLLECTS BACK WAGES FOR WOMEN—Within a period of a few weeks, $7,533.22 was collected through the agency of the Division of Industrial Welfare of the California Department of Industrial Relations for women who had been paid less than the minimum wage. This information is contained in a recent report to the Governor's Council, which further states that other activities of the division included the investigation of 203 complaints from female employes which resulted in the remedying of wrong conditions, and a total of 1,350 plant inspections within a four-month period.

NAMED ON UNEMPLOYMENT COMMISSION—Appointment of W. G. Byars of Jackson to the Mississippi State Unemployment Commission has been announced by Governor Bilbo. Mr. Byars was named to the commission in the place of Holt E. J. Ross of Laurel, president of the Mississippi Federation of Labor, unable to serve because of illness. The new member is educational director of the State Labor Federation.

BISHOP'S SON SENTENCED FOR BREAKING LABOR LAW—Major Richard M. Cannon, son of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., was sentenced to ninety days in jail at Pasadena, Calif., for violation of the State labor laws.

Cannon was convicted on one charge of failing to pay a salary to an employe. Nine other similar charges are pending trial.

ENGLISH MILL STRIKE SETTLED—Lancashire, England, cotton mill owners on February 13 abandoned their efforts to introduce the "more looms per weaver" system and work was resumed on February 16, ending a month's lockout of a quarter of a million workers. Work was resumed on the old wage scale and working day.

Peace came out of a conference in which mill owners agreed to abandon the more looms system after reviewing results of experiments at several mills in Burnley.

THE ART OF MUSIC

By JACOB N. KAUFMAN

"The tide of music's golden sea
Flowing towards eternity."

It has been truly said that "music is the poetry of the soul," for, what emotions does it not express! What indescribable yearnings does it not awaken! vibrating, as it does, every sinew of the body, causing the very blood to tingle in the veins with excitement.

Music, as distinguished from the various rude attempts of the past is only about four hundred years old. Modern music, which is alone worthy of the name, is in fact the youngest of the arts, and stands at present in a correspondingly unfavorable position; for, while it has been brought to the highest perfection, the secret of its power is wholly unexplored, and as long as this is the case music must continue to be ranked last among the fine arts. But the day is drawing near when the hand of the prophetess will be lifted. In Germany, the land of thought, music has already been adopted as the national art, as was sculpture in Greece and painting in Italy. Already the names of Beethoven and Mozart are whispered through the civilized world in the same breath with those of Phidias and Michael Angelo, and the time is probably not far distant when music will stand revealed, perchance, as the mightiest of the arts.

History teaches us that musical instruments have been in use for centuries back, even by the uncivilized, and the most skeptical could be convinced of this fact by taking a careful survey of the queer looking instruments contained in our National Museum at Washington, D. C., instruments of every conceivable shape and design, carved from the finest and most valuable of woods and metals, to represent birds, animals, reptiles, etc., some even fashioned after the idols the native worshiped. By the trained ear, music can be discovered in the wailing of the wind at night, in the hum of insect life, the cries of animals, and, above all, in the natural infections of the human voice, for these constitute what is known as the rough elements of music; earth, sea, and air are full of these inarticulate voices.

And what is music? The rationale of its existence, and the secret of its subtle power over the soul?

When it comes to a painting or a piece of sculpture, or even a conjuring trick, all these can be explained, but to a symphony by Beethoven, philosophy is dumb, or quibbles about the scientific structure of music or its technical qualities, all true and interesting no doubt, but still leaving untouched the great art-problem of music.

Women are the great listeners in this world, not only to eloquence, but also to music, for the emotional force in women is usually more delicate than in men. Their constitutions are like those fine old violins, which vibrate to the lightest touch; their temperament is naturally artistic, not in a creative but in a receptive sense. The wind has swept many an Aeolian lyre, but never such a sensitive harp as a woman's soul.

I once went to play for an invalid lady who was unable to leave her room, and at the conclusion of one of the pieces—which was a deep, sad strain, written in A minor—I looked up and saw that she was softly crying; she asked me to excuse her show of emotion, as it was the first music she had heard in years, and she felt as if a load had been suddenly lifted from her mind. I was deeply affected by her emotion and have never been able to shut it from my memory. This is but one of the many incidents which give evidence of how music touches and vibrates the sympathetic chords of our nature.

Of all the many and various musical instruments the violin especially is said to be almost human. "Rome was not built in a day," nor was the violin—the making of which has caused the name of Antonius Stradivarius to be crowned monarch of his art—an invention of any one man or age.

Is there any other instrument that can successfully counterfeit the passionate wall of the violin, its beautiful, clear melody, its trills, its vibrations, its round, tender tone, expressing joy and sorrow at the same time and always so pathetic in its sweetness? Is there any other instrument with which the performer can adequately express his feelings and emotions?

Sometimes when I myself am in a melancholy mood my only consolation is in taking up my violin, scarcely heeding what I play, and when I awake from the reverie in which I have unconsciously been I find myself playing some sad, tremulous music which at any other time would be harrowing in the extreme, but which at that moment is the exact interpretation of my thoughts. Then again when in a more jovial spirit I feel as if I wanted to play every nonsensical jig, quickstep or the like ever written; such are the soothing effects of music.

The poor lonely little maid who sits dreaming at the piano, while her fingers caress the cold ivory keys and glide through some weird nocturne of Chopin's is playing no mere set piece or study. No, her heart is far away; her eyes are half closed, she is dreaming one of the sweet dreams of life. The angel of music has come down to her, and she has poured into his ear the tale which she will confide to no one else. And that girl who sings her favorite songs of Schubert, Mendelssohn or Schumann, sings more than the song; it is her own weak, plaint of suffering that she sings of, and which is borne away on the wings of melody.

Let no one say that the moral effects of music are small or insignificant. That domestic and long suffering instrument, the cottage organ, has probably done more to sweeten existence and bring peace and happiness to families in general, and to young women in particular, than all the homilies on the domestic virtues ever yet penned.

Music in general affects us differently. It causes some to be exultant and light-hearted and feel as if they must dance (the great majority are affected in this way); others feel nervous and hysterical, some are perfectly happy and contented, while others are thrown into a sad and repentant state and feel a desire of making restitution for the wrongs they have done. Then again some of us are enraptured, even patriotic, and desire to perform some great deed. Think of the effect it has in warfare. None but a soldier can describe the sensations he experiences while marching behind a military band; how his heart leaps, his spirits rise and how he feels as if he, alone and unaided, could annihilate the whole enemy. Many a brave lad has left his home and loving ties and marched to his death to the inspiring roll of the ordinary kettle drum.

Is there one person out of a thousand who does not like to listen to good music? I have heard one or two cynics remark that they did not care for music of any kind, and that a brass band especially grated harshly on their nerves. What an incredible statement this seems! In mythology 'tis said that Orpheus played so beautiful upon his lyre, as to cause even the trees to leave their roots, and the rocks their resting places, forming a circle around him to listen; and we know that the ears of even the lower animals are sensitive to the sound of a note, as is proven by the antics of the most feared and loathed of reptiles, the cobra snake, at the sound of its charmer's pipe. Another little incident worthy of mention happens right here in our city; many a morning, when passing through the Capitol Square, the pedestrian is attracted by the sound of a clear whistle, at the first sound of which he can see the little squirrels stand upon their haunches and listen, and at the second blow, scamper from every direction of the park, to where the keeper stands, with a bucket of nuts, ready to feed them. It is truly interesting to see how even these little animals get accustomed to sound.

But to get back to my subject, very few people really understand music, for they are more or less mercenary in this cold world and ignorant of the beautiful contained therein.

The trials of a composer of music are not a few, and there are many obstacles in his way. Do you think that he writes every note that comes to his mind, or that he can write a piece as easily as the wind sways the trees? No; sometimes it takes him years to unite into one grand composition or opera, disjointed little melodies which have been haunting him during his life, and which he was unable to harmonize before.

The main qualities which mark a composer are the neatness in which he writes his thoughts, the correctness of his harmony, and last, but not least, the tuneful theme of his composition. This is the secret of the success of John Philip Sousa, who has been justly termed the "March King."

In conclusion, let me say that music is a necessary part of one's education, for what is more glorious than to be able to express one's thoughts by its sound? But one should begin the study in the early part of life, while the mind is easily influenced, and quick to grasp what is taught it, then in after life we will know and understand our inner self and have a love for one of the most beautiful arts of life.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly

A great number of American railroad men are going to Russia. They are executives of all kinds, big, little and in-between. American railroads are going to lose these men, for the time being. American railroad chiefs are picking them out for their new jobs. Even the Baltimore & Ohio is furnishing some of them.

This is great business for the soviets—very poor business for America and American railroads.

Just what ideas American railroad executives have about this business is not clear. Evidently they think it is a fine thing to do. One is not to assume, of course, that they are doing it for cash.

If this be so, it indicates very clearly that a man can be a very good railroad executive and at the same time a very poor political economist, understanding little or nothing of the significance of great movements, great dangers, great pitfalls.

There is little to be said for a great segment of American business in relation to the war against communism. This great segment of American business, which includes such great industries as Ford and General Electric and which now includes a choice group of great railroads, has gone after what it could get out of the soviets, let the consequences be what they may.

Consequences there will be, if communism lasts long enough. Our big, brainy, resourceful, but ridiculously simple, business executives will find that out in time and when that time comes they will, as usual, expect someone else to fight the battle for them, just as someone else now is fighting the battle for them.

While organized labor holds communism in check organized business rakes in its shekels.

It's a queer world, as has been said many times before by many persons.

It loses none of its queerness by advancing age and experience.

No matter how large may be the accumulated experience of the race there seems always to come along some new game that bluffs the seemingly wisest ones.

Big business is getting fooled now, so we think. But maybe not, after all. Big business is reaping a harvest of profit by furnishing machinery to an outfit that needs that machinery to speed up and strengthen its war on the rest of the world.

When that war reaches these shores the same big business men will continue to profit—as always—and Michael J. Mutt will hold the line, even as now he holds it.

A man got himself famous once by asking: "Who's looney now?"

But, looney or not, the wage earners have to stand for principle. They cannot desert the flag for money or for foolishness.

One thing wage earners can do. They can pound home the truth about the issue between communism and democracy, even to the point of having some among their own ranks call them mad. They can and must hammer home, incessantly, the stark madness of a big business coterie that arms and equips the most amazing foe freedom has had since the downfall of kaiserism.

It is incumbent upon the wage earners to see to it that the myths are kept stripped away from the vipers' nest of communism.

As this war proceeds there isn't going to be much quarter given. That has been

Comment and Criticism About Things Doing in the World

Reviewing "The Economic Life of Soviet Russia," by Calvin B. Hoover, an impartial writer with some pro-soviet leanings, Nathan Miller says in Current History that "Compared with modern capitalistic lands, the trade union occupies a strikingly diverse position in soviet Russia. It is no longer the defensive and protective organization for the worker which often necessarily becomes obstructive of the conduct of industry, but has become the most important unit in industrial discipline and acts as the school of apprenticeship for the actual development of plant managers."

This is only another way of saying that the so-called Russian trade unions are merely tools of the soviet despotism. This has long been recognized by American trade unionists, who see the soviet "unions" as organizations similar to the "company unions" of the United States.

Sixteen of the twenty Latin American nations have enacted workmen's compensation legislation. Eleven of the sixteen nations make specific provision for compensating occupational diseases as well as accidental injury.

This record speaks well for the Latin American countries, which some Americans look upon as "backward."

The Fraternal Order of Eagles has shown its sympathy with organized labor by deciding to hold its convention in Toledo instead of Cleveland, in view of the lockout of waiters, waitresses and other crafts employed by the big Cleveland hotels. In notifying Robert B. Hesketh, secretary-treasurer of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' and Beverage Dispensers' International Alliance, of the decision of the Eagles, Robert E. Proctor, grand worthy president of the Eagles, wrote:

"I am particularly gratified that we are not going to Cleveland because for many years I have been very friendly with the local and State union groups and when I was in the State Senate received the endorsement of practically all of the railroad unions and other unions represented. Naturally, I did not want to preside over our Grand Aerie Convention in a city which is apparently so unfriendly to organized labor."

Of course, Secretary Hesketh, President Flore and the other members of the general executive board of the Cooks' and Waiters' International organization are highly pleased at the decision of the Eagles. They wish to make public expression of their thanks through International Labor News Service and this newspaper.

President Charles P. Howard of the International Typographical Union asks some pertinent questions in the Typographical Journal. They are questions that might well engage the earnest attention of all our political, industrial and financial leaders. Here is what he asks:

"How many of the 120 million people in the United States can be permitted to be idle and hungry and our institutions and theories of government remain safe? In this enlightened age how many will be satisfied with charity as a substitute for honest work? A hungry stomach, an underfed and ill-clothed wife and children are not conducive to straight thinking and orderly action. What must be the thoughts of the man walking the streets looking for work and unable to find it as he looks upon those who enjoy the comforts and luxuries of those who know not what it means to be without the necessities of life? How long can he be depended upon to restrain himself from responding to the primary instinct to take what he must have when he can not secure it through honest effort?"

SENATE APPROVES CLEARED RADIO CHANNEL FOR LABOR

Complete Victory Seen for Organized Workers in Fight for Air Rights as Measure Goes to Conference.

By unanimous vote the United States has authorized the grant of a cleared radio channel, full-time, with maximum power, to organized labor and the measure now goes to the House and Senate conferees with excellent chances of passing muster in conference.

The labor measure was introduced by Senator Glenn of Illinois as an amendment to the radio bill offered by Senator Dill and was accepted by the Senate and adopted as a part of the bill.

The vote constitutes one of the notable labor victories of the current session. The measure had the backing and sponsorship of the American Federation of Labor and the constant support of Secretary E. N. Lockels of the Chicago Federation of Labor, which operates station WCFL, labor's lone radio station.

Direct Grant to Labor

The original intent was to authorize the control of cleared channels by the United States Departments of Labor and Agriculture and the Bureau of Education, but the Senators interested in the matter arrived at the conclusion that a direct grant to labor was preferable.

The entire proceeding in the Senate was brief. Senator Glenn offered the amendment to a committee amendment, as follows:

"That the Federal Radio Commission shall assign one cleared channel frequency within the broadcasting band, with unlimited time and with power equal to the maximum power assigned any broadcasting station in the United States to the owner or owners of the broadcasting station or stations approved by the recognized labor organizations which in the opinion of the commission are most representative of the labor interests of the United States, and shall issue no license or licenses for the use of said frequency except with the written consent of such recognized labor organizations to any other person, association, corporation, organization or co-partnership."

Glenn Explains Amendment

Thereupon the following brief colloquy occurred:

Mr. La Follette: Mr. President, I would like to have the Senator from Illinois explain his amendment to the committee amendment.

Mr. Glenn: After hearings before the committee, a subcommittee was appointed by the chairman of the Committee on Interstate Commerce to draft an amendment of this character. It was believed that there should be preserved to the labor interests of the United States, out of the 90-some broadcasting frequencies, at least one for the use of labor interests so they could put their cause before the country. There seemed to be no difference of opinion in the general committee and there was no difference of opinion in the subcommittee. That is the whole purpose of the amendment.

Mr. Heflin: As I understand, the amendment simply gives a fair deal to labor?

Fair Deal to Labor Is Purpose

Mr. Glenn: That is the purpose of it, and the only purpose, so far as I am aware.

Mr. Fess: Mr. President, will the Senator yield?

Mr. Glenn: I yield.

Mr. Fess: Did the subcommittee take into consideration allocating a certain percentage for educational purposes?

Mr. Glenn: That question was discussed, and also of doing likewise in relation to agriculture, but it was not submitted to the subcommittee by the general committee.

Mr. Fess: And no action was taken on it?

Mr. Glenn: No action was taken on it. I think that is correct.

The President pro tempore: The question is on agreement to the amendment offered by the Senator from Illinois to the amendment reported by the committee.

Immediately the amendment was adopted and the bill itself read the third time and passed, to be sent immediately to conference. The struggle for this degree of recognition of labor's rights on the air has been long and persistent. It is apparent that complete victory is at hand.

FREE MUSIC

Constantly requests come to the Board that music be donated by our members for luncheons, programs, club affairs. As constantly we refuse these requests. Music is a commodity which we have to sell, a service by which we earn our living.

We are professional musicians, not dilettantes. If we are to eat, we must be paid. Our proficiency is the result of talent and years of expensive training. Our charges are moderate when one considers the time and money spent in attaining the skill necessary.

Yet, business men would not for a moment consider asking a business house for a donation for their own pleasure, glibly ask that we furnish music free. We are at all times ready and glad to donate our services for charity, but we will not donate our services for the pleasure of those who can easily afford to pay for their entertainment.

Each member of this association has made a considerable investment; the total investment is enormous. This investment has resulted in the creation of a product which is in demand. That product is music. If we were to give it away to those who ask we would soon face bankruptcy—annihilation.

The wonder is that persons will so nonchalantly ask for this donation to themselves, or their group, when they are self-supporting and would ordinarily be angered if charity were offered them.

But this is a condition which artists have always faced. The average person realizes that a musician enjoys playing, feels that one with talent should be glad to share it with the world. Such procedure might be possible under different circumstances; but in an economic structure such as ours it is impossible.

If you must play free, play to your heart's content in your own home; but insist on the payment of scale when you play for the public. It is no honor to be given a free lunch and a seat at the speaker's table for an hour's playing. To preserve the dignity of the profession musicians must be adequately paid.—From "Musician," Seattle.

Tone is what counts

In Orchestra and Broadcasting Work

That's why so many of the most eminent guitarists have selected the VEGA Guitar with the patented Arched Top and Back. It produces a majestic new quality of tone with all the power and grandeur you could wish for. This added punch and power carry the tone clearly above other surrounding instruments and give the artist additional prominence. This is why such famous guitarists as Tony Colucci, Don Humby, Eddie Peabody, and Joe Termini have selected VEGA models for their work on the stage, in the broadcasting studio, and for recording. If you haven't seen the NEW VEGA Guitar Catalog, send for a copy now.
