Disco growth effects licensing

U.S. trades recently stated that BMI has collected some $100,000 from about 900 discotheques across the U.S. in the past year, and the number of establishments is growing.

In Canada, the number of discotheques in existence and the amount of performance fees collected from them is difficult to pin down due to the nature of the copyright code and an exemption which has existed since the late 1930s.

At that time, it was decided by the Canadian government that public performance fees should not be collected from gramophones. This exemption has not changed to this day, and as a result CAPAC and BMI are unable to collect from any establishment that employs 'phonographs' to play music.

However, if the music used is from a tape of any kind, the establishment must be licenced and fees collected - about $30 to each of BMI and CAPAC a year, even if tapes are used only to augment a system which relies mainly on discs.

BMIC has eased the problem somewhat by licencing disc jockeys, whether they use records or tapes or both. Jack Buckley, BMI's manager of general licencing estimates that there are hundreds of DJs in Canada, not all of whom are licenced. He told RPM that they have been paying special attention to locate and encourage them to join, and hopes to have many more by the new year. BMI has presented the copyright appeal board with a new tariff for discotheques, and Buckley says they should know the results shortly.

Buckley told RPM that even if the new tariff is adopted, they would want to continue licencing DJs in order to cover most record performance situations, including mobile, one night stand discos etc.

A major problem both companies face is simply finding discos that might fall under their jurisdiction.

"We check the best we can," says CAPAC's general licencing manager Michael Rock, but these people don't volunteer the news that they've changed from records to tape. In fact, they don't even volunteer they've opened or are even in existence. We keep our eyes open, and we have people out to seek out the people who use our music. It's a matter of policing, we have to enforce the tariff ourselves."

Rock defends against apparent accusations that the two performing rights organizations foul hotel disco owners in their operations. They have been blamed for causing club owners formerly using live entertainment to switch to recorded music. "It's of no consequence in a hotel operator's decision whether to have live music or recorded or taped music," says Rock. "In Canada, our fee is roughly one and a third percent of the entertainment expense. So for example in a year if an owner spent a hundred grand in entertainment, then they'd pay us a little over a thousand, and to BMI a little less than that. Together, that means $2,000 extra. So we're not going to make or break him. But if he switched to recorded music, he could cut out that whole hundred grand, minus the cost of a new sound system. Our economic impact upon the booze peddler is irrelevant."

Changes of every nature have been called for in the copyright laws in Canada, but the law has remained basically unchanged since the phonograph exemption forty years ago. The law is being changed, but slowly. As CAPAC's Rock explained, "Copyrights, patents and intellectual property touch on every single aspect of our society. It's a very complicated matter. There's so many vested interests in every corner."

Black tie dinner set for Juno '77

The televising of this year's Juno awards is set for Wednesday, March 16 at 9:30 p.m. on the CBC network. The night has been changed from the traditional Monday, according to a release from CARAS, to coincide with a 'special feature' series the network has scheduled for Wednesdays for the remainder of the season. The show will be broadcast live from the Canadian Room of the Royal York Hotel in Toronto.

Instead of assigning one person to the two jobs of producing and directing as they have done in the past two shows, the CBC will assign one for each. Paddy Sampson is producer this year. A head writer has also been hired. From CARAS members the organization has set up a board of directors and advisory board for the show, and they are currently working on the selection of artists, presenters and host. These will be announced early in the new year, according to the release.

The broadcast will be preceded by a formal dinner for 1,000 guests at 7:00 p.m.

At a recent meeting of the directors, advisory board and regional representatives, some points were raised in regard to voting categories, and some changes were made:

The Best Selling Album and Best Selling Single categories will continue to be based on sales only.

Canadian material is eligible for the Best Selling Album and Single categories. All best selling categories are to be audited.

The Folk category was decided outdated by general consensus and it has been dropped.

New categories have been set up for Jazz and Classical.

CARAS reports it will give recognition to the winners of the new French-language awards show set up in Quebec by the AQPD. So far, no dates or other details about that show have been announced by AQPD.

War shaping on Dazz disc

RCA's Ed Preston has announced that the company has received a total of 20,000 advance orders for the single Dazz by Brick. Brick is on the Bang label, which RCA very recently acquired the rights to for manufacturing and distribution in Canada. The Brick single is charted at CKGM Montreal, CKLW Windsor, and on the western Moffat chain. An album by Brick called Good High will be released in two weeks.

The RCA original version was preceded in its release by a cover version by John Ellison, released by GRT. That version is two parts Cancon for artist and production. GRT publicity officer Perry Goldberg told RPM that, while the original version has an obvious advantage, the GRT version should make an impact on the market. Goldberg says that Ellison's version is the one being playlisted on CHUM Toronto. According to Goldberg Sam Sniderman has issued a statement to all the stores in his chain across Canada that his preference is the Cancon version. Goldberg feels their version should get strong disco play, and a special disco edition has already been shipped.

Banas and McPeek debut Tower EP

After eleven months in the making, a co-production by CKFM's Carl Banas and Ben McPeek, has been shipped in time for the holiday rush. Entitled The Tower (A Love Story For Everyone), the release is somewhat unique and regarded by some as a milestone in the Canadian recording industry.

Banas explained that The Tower is "a story about the love of a city and between a man and a woman". He describes it as "a classic piece of romanticism unlike the modern love stories". The single is an extended play (33 1/3) and almost 18 minutes in length. Banas wrote the story and narrates and McPeek wrote and arranged the music for the session which employed 35 musicians plus a chorale group. Most of the session was produced at McPeek's Captain Audio studio with the sound effects and sweetening completed at RCA's studio.

The EP also contains a cut, High On A Tower, penned by Carol Ann Banas, young daughter of Carl's and a Tom Gallant composition, Make A Wish. All songs are published through Critique Music (CAPAC).

The four colour art work was executed by the Toronto-based Parr's Print & Litho with photography supplied by Trickett Productions. The back of the foldover 3 fold envelope jacket features a fogged shot of the famous CN tower taken by B. Keith Neely.

SRO recording acts beef up tour dates

Tom Berry, of SRO Management, reports a heavy schedule of events for several recording acts in the firm's roster. Ian Thomas, who has been touring western U.S. states, gave a boost to his album, Calabash, which was released in the U.S. on the Chrysalis label. GRT distribute in Canada.

Max Webster returned to studios to tape their second album for Taurus which is distributed by London. Just recently the group guested on the Strawbs' Concert Bowl (MLG) in Toronto. Another Taurus group, Liverpool, also basked in the popularity of the Strawbs when they guested on the group's concert date in Hamilton. Liverpool are currently on release with their Melitta single, picking up good airplay across the country.

The firm's top group, Rush have just concluded their major North American tour which opened several new markets for themselves e.g. their Dec 16 headliner at Chicago's 4,000 seater Auditorium Theatre was a sellout. Their tour took them up and down the U.S. west coast as well as throughout the mid-west. Their Dec 13 date with Aerosmith at the Forum marks the group's first major Montreal appearance. Early indications have a near sellout Winter Pop concert which is set for New Year's Eve at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens' Concert Bowl. Also appearing are Chilliwack and Wireless. Box office activity has been so great that a repeat performance has been booked for Jan 3.

Rush's first album, under title of their own name and originally released on the Moon label, has gone gold on the Mercury label joining their latest set, All The World's A Stage. Both golds will be presented Dec 22.

It's interesting to note that the latest issue of Marvel Comics, titled The Defenders (Vol 1 No. 45) was "dedicated to Neil Giddy and Alex of Rush".

Robert Fleming memorial at National Arts Centre

A memorial concert for Canadian composer Robert Fleming was held in the National Arts Centre in Ottawa December 10. The presentation, A Fleming Retrospective, was originally to have been participated in by Mr. Fleming. Fleming passed away suddenly Nov 27.

Fleming, one of Canada's leading composers, served for many years as Music Director of the National Film Board. He scored more than 200 films for the NFB and composed many orchestral, chamber and solo works. He had been teaching composition at Ottawa's Carleton University at the time of his death.

Participating in the concert were speaker Louis Applebaum of the Ontario Arts Council, singer Maureen Forrester and her accompanist John Newmark, flautist Robert Cram, pianist Ross Pratt, a string quartet and a brass quintet from the National Arts Centre Orchestra, and a local choir. An NFB film on the ballet Shadow on the Prairies, which Fleming composed for the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, was shown.

The concert was broadcast by the CBC. Also participating in the presentation were CAPAC, the Canadian Music Centre, the Canadian League of Composers, Carleton University, the Canadian College of Organists, the Canadian Music Teachers' Association, and the National Arts Council.

CAPAC prepared an album of Fleming's music, one of a series of albums on CAPAC composers, as a memorial release. The album was released to the people who attended the concert and will be distributed throughout Canada by CAPAC.

The album series 3400 and 700 (Horizon) will increase from $5.98 to $7.98. Casino and Penny Farthing labels, which A&M distributes, will increase to $7.98 as well.

The tape series 8T and CS 3000, 3400, 3500, 4000, 9000 and 77000 will be listed at $8.98 instead of the present $7.98. The tape increase also covers Casino and Penny Farthing.

The remainder of the A&M catalogue is unchanged. The increases cover most of the company's contemporary product.

A&M's national marketing manager reports that any returns accepted by the company before March 25 1977 will be processed at the cost prices that were in effect on December 25, 1976, less any applicable discounts or rebates.

WEA the most charted distributor for Dec

For the second consecutive month an RPM survey of the RPM Top 100 Singles Chart has shown WEA ahead of its competitors in total number of listings.

WEA singles were listed 91 times in the four December issues of RPM, for an average of 22 $\frac{3}{4}$ listings per week. The number two and three distributors, switched places from the November standings, with CBS edging out Capitol in a very close contest, 67 to 66 in December.

WEA began very strong, with 22 listings in each of the first two Dec issues. They then gained ground, with 23 chartings in the Dec 18 issue and 24 listings in the Christmas Day issue.

Polydor maintained its fourth-place standing from November, and A&M moved into the fifth spot, edging out Quality, which slipped to eighth. RCA moved up into the sixth spot.

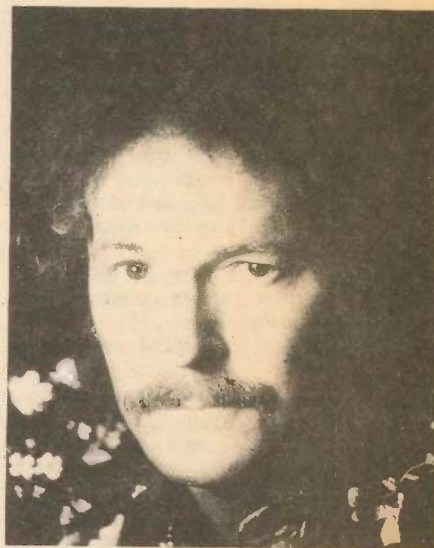

Lightfoot, Weintraub sever management ties

Bev Lightfoot, administrator of Early Morning Productions, has confirmed reports that WEA artist Gordon Lightfoot has severed his recent management ties with Jerry Weintraub and Management III in the U.S. RPM reported the management pact in its November 13 issue.

Ms. Lightfoot stated that there were no personal reasons for the split, and that Lightfoot, who normally manages himself, felt uncomfortable at having his career in someone else's hands. Lightfoot will continue to manage himself.

Management III handle such notables as Frank Sinatra, John Denver and Neil Diamond.

Lightfoot's Summertime Dream album is now platinum in Canada and gold in the U.S.

Chappell publishing builds major studio facilities

Chappell Music Company in an innovative move, has built an 8-track and a sixteen-track studio for recording demo tapes at their New York and Los Angeles offices.

The sixteen-track facility was built on the premises of the publishing company's Seventh Avenue location. The 8-track studio which has been designed to accommodate a changeover to 16 track equipment at a future date was installed at Chappell's L.A. offices on Sunset Blvd

The studios will be used to record songs for presentation to artists and A&R representatives, and can be helpful for label placement of Chappell songwriter/artists. The facilities will also be used to help develop new talent coming to Chappell.

"We feel this will give writers, artists, producers and all our Chappell associates a decided artistic advantage in the industry," Chappell president Norman Weiser noted in an official release from the company. "The studios will aid our professional staff in placing material and now, more than ever, it will also get the staff actively involved in demo production with our writers and producers... the studio now gives us flexibility in scheduling and allows us to give artists more time for creative work and experimentation."

Currently, the studios are available to Chappell writers, artists, producers and other affiliated associates.

Chappell also announced recently the

"... the prophets of doom, the messengers of mediocrity, will be overwhelmed by the new generation of competent, creative, confident artisans and by all those of preceding generations who have already demonstrated their freshness of mind, their talent and their capacity for inspired leadership."

Carole King moves to Capitol label worldwide

Carole King has signed an exclusive worldwide long term recording contract with Capitol Records-EMI. The official signing took place December 4 at Capitol's Hollywood headquarters with Bhaskar Menon, Capitol president, and members of the label's executive staff.

King's career dates back to the early '60s when she wrote dozens of hits for Don Kirshner's Brill Building publishing company with Gerry Goffin, charting songs including Will You Love Me Tomorrow for the Shirelles, The Locomotion by Little Eva, Up On The Roof by The Drifters and It Might As Well Rain Until September recorded by herself. After a short career with a group called The City, King became a solo artist, recording Tapestry in 1971 for Ode/A&M, which has become one of the biggest selling albums ever. She has continued recording albums and singles up to the present.

In an official press release, Menon was quoted as saying, "Speaking for the entire staff of Capitol Records in addition to the worldwide EMI family of companies, we are most honoured to welcome Carole King to our organization. We are looking forward with great anticipation to working with such a distinguished artist."

Genesis to tour Canada in early 77

Aggressive rock band Brutus gets MOR airplay

The first album by Brutus was released a few months ago, containing the kind of radio action success they've had with a couple of subdued top-40 songs - Oh Mama Mama and Who Wants To Buy A Song. One album cut, Search For Tomorrow, has been receiving MOR exposure. They'll have a new single hopefully released before the new year called Sailing from the same album. Some of the rock cuts on the album have been receiving airplay on progressive FM stations, which has made the group known among those who have never seen them perform in the more than three years they've been around Toronto.

Witnessing their live performance is quite a shock after hearing their singles, and this contrast is what makes them unique. The group is hoping it doesn't alienate record buyers. On stage, the group is in silk, satin and makeup, acting outrageously and playing a very loud hard aggressive rock that's completely unlike their hits.

The group is lead by Wally Z (for Zwolinski) who is lead singer and composer. He told RPM in a recent interview that in the past three years, the group has seen some 40 musicians come and go, unusual considering that it's a five piece band. He explained the difficulty in finding a consistent blend of personalities in such a band. They have been building a following, however, and are a familiar fixture on the Toronto club circuit. They have been to the west coast a half dozen times and last year opened some Ontario dates for Sparks.

Concert Productions remembered, it seems, and a few weeks ago the band came close to a major break by being asked at the last minute to open a Maple Leaf Gardens show for Boston, the group originally scheduled to open for headliner Robin Trower who cancelled out. Trower changed his mind an hour later, however, and the services of Brutus were no longer required. "It was really exciting there, for half an hour," Zwolinski told RPM. The incident is an indication, however, that CPI believes the band is worth promoting. Zwolinski says negotiations are in progress for a major spring tour opening for an international name on a Canadian national tour.

Currently they'll continue playing the one-nighters and clubs, and were featured with Jackson Hawke and Bob McBride in a special show December 18. They are managed by George Elmes, who does the same for Shooter, until recently another GRT band. Elmes plans to travel to Los Angeles, according to Zwolinski, to negotiate an American release deal, and will be attending MIDEM as well. He'll try and get the album heard along with seven new tracks the band has already recorded at Sounds Interchange for their second album.

London to launch massive campaign for ZZ Top

London Records' Ken Verdoni has announced the launching of a massive promo campaign for ZZ Top's new album Tejas. The band's Worldwide Texas Tour has played for more than 800 000 fans and boasts attendance records in Nashville, Atlanta and Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The London campaign will include a four by six foot three-dimensional standup of the group, posters, stickers, T-shirts, streamers, and jigsaw puzzles, as well as a dealer and racker incentive.

London is confident that Tejas will be a top album in 1977. The band's previous album, Fandango, was charted in Canada for approximately 30 weeks in the past year.

New single, bookings for Capitol group Conspiracy

Capitol Records of Canada have just released a debut single for the group Conspiracy. The single, a disco selection, is called Night Chaser and was produced in Toronto by Harry Hinde. Capitol's national publicity manager Karen Ball reports the record collecting some early interest.

A tour is being planned in mid-January for the band as second act to Natalie Cole. Ms. Ball reports probable cities as Ottawa, Montreal and either Hamilton or Toronto. The tour marks Ms. Cole's first concert appearance in Canada.

Other Capitol groups making Canadian appearances in January are Dr. Hook, who have several western Canada bookings, and the Steve Miller Band, who play a January 26 Vancouver concert.

RCA's Robinson has new LP, Toronto booking

RCA artist Vicki Sue Robinson, already represented on the RPM 100 Album Chart with two albums, is having a new album released. The album is titled under her own name.

Ms. Robinson appeared at the Generator in Toronto the week of December 13. Booking is by Music Shoppe International.

The Strawbs are one of the few British rock groups who have, through their ten years, retained their British folk roots. As on their most recent album, Deep Cuts (Oyster/Polydor) they exemplify the best of both folk and rock styles. The slightly older than usual crowd was delighted when the first encore featured a bluegrass number with leader Dave Cousins on banjo. The Strawbs were known in their early days as Britain's first bluegrass band. A few years on in their development they had Rick Wakeman, who at that time was just beginning his career. For this December date they had two keyboard players, Robert Kirby and John Mealing, who also appear on Deep Cuts. Material performed was from this album mainly, and also from two of their most successful A&M albums, Hero And Heroine and Ghosts.

Max Webster opened the show. Having graduated some time ago from the Toronto bar circuit, they are greatly improved and progress with each concert appearance. Their live show now surpasses the material on their impressive Taurus debut LP, and judging from the audience reaction which prompted an encore, they seem bound for headline status.

GRT's Ishan People open Roots outlet

GRT's The Ishan People recently appeared at the opening of two new Toronto-area Roots Shoes outlets, giving them the distinction of being the first Canadian band to do so. Others who have worked with Roots include Paul McCartney, Elton John and Prime Minister Trudeau and his wife Margaret.

Ishan is a Jamaican word which means roots.

The group's album, also called Roots, was produced by David Clayton-Thomas and released by GRT in June. A single, I Shall Be Released, was released in Nov.

Whittaker featured in RCA's Christmas Bonanza

RCA's Marghi Cocks, national press officer, reports the RCA Christmas Bonanza in full swing across Canada led by the new Sal Soul album. Christmas Jollies. Also featured are Roger Whittaker's It's Time For Peace featuring songs by Canadian Eric Robertson, a repeat of John Denver's Rocky Mountain Christmas and a repackaged Elvis Presley set entitled Blue Christmas.

The Sal Soul album has already sold over 30,000 copies in Quebec alone.

Lightfoot tees off on Canadian critics

Gordon Lightfoot, enjoying platinum status with his Summertime Dream album and incredible success with his single, The Wreck Of The Edmund Fitzgerald, took time during his Ottawa concert at the National Arts Centre to zero in on music critics from the nation's capital as well as Toronto. Lightfoot was quoted as saying: "When you're king of the mountain, people just want to cut you down". He was interviewed just prior to his Ottawa concert, and set the critics up with the fact that he doesn't like the way the press has been treating him in Toronto or Ottawa.

Lightfoot apparently received critical reviews of his performances at the Centre early in November. An Ottawa Journal critic wrote: "During the second song of his set, Lightfoot broke one of the 12 strings on his guitar and never bothered to replace it. He gave the impression he didn't give a damn and just continued on". The writer continued with "He even had the nerve to tell the audience how the loss of one string can throw the whole instrument out of tune. But he never took the time to do anything about it".

The Ottawa Citizen music editor wrote of the same concert: "He's written a whole lot of good songs, many of which get better treatment from other people than from the composer himself. After all these years, he still behaves like a rank amateur on stage."

Lightfoot defended himself with: "You know, I always seem to get a bad review when I come to Ottawa. I don't know where the reviewers are sitting but I'd like them to understand how difficult it is when you lose a string. It's like losing a typewriter ribbon".

RCA acquires Bang label rights in Canada

Ed Preston, vice-president and general manager, RCA (Canada) and Eileen Biscoe, president of Atlanta-based Bang Records, have firmed a deal giving RCA Canadian manufacturing and distribution rights for the Bang label.

Top item for the label is a group called Brick, whose current single Dazz is listed on U.S. trade charts. Dazz will be rush released in Canada this week. The single has solid pop, R&B and disco action in the U.S. reportedly chalking up sales of over a million.

Other Bang artists include Paul Davis, who has an album titled Southern Tracks and Fantasies; the Muscle Shoals Horns, whose album is Born To Get Down; and Peabo Bryson, with an LP, Peabo, and a single, Just Another Day, scheduled for January release.

Six-foot woodwinds, steel drums at Thunder

Among the artists presently recording at Thunder Sound in Toronto this week are a Sackville duo called Mitchell and Braxton. Debbie Canham of Thunder Sound reports she is "freaked-out" by the six-foot-tall instruments the duo play. Ms. Canham is only five-foot-three. The instruments are a contra-bass sax and a contra-bass clarinet.

Also at Thunder, steel-drum band Dusso Translation have been recording 24-track masters. Bill Root has been laying down a demo. Nick recording group Stringband have nearly completed their third album, and Spirit Records' Sara Hamilton and David are working on an album.

Tembo Records releases new Roger Whittaker

Tembo Records of Montreal have released Roger Whittaker's A Time For Peace and Brahm's Lullaby. Whittaker has been traveling throughout Europe, Australia and New Zealand. Six of his albums enjoyed the rare experience of having chart berths on Germany's Top 30 chart - at the same time.

Whittaker's new Christmas album was released in October by RCA and TeeVee

Records has released a new Whittaker greatest hits package titled Roger Whittaker: All My Best. TeeVee has launched a major radio-television promotion for the album.

A tour of Canada is being planned for Whittaker in the spring of 1977, according to his Montreal-based manager Yvan Deschenes.

APRIL WINE

Forever - Fornow
Aquarius AQR511-K

Perhaps it is deliberate, but April Wine's career hasn't followed the normal lines in terms of promotion. It is generally believed that in order for a group to develop a following, they must offer something that their potential audience can always identify with from album to album - faces, names, an image real or manufactured. But so far each album's elaborate design concept has been used almost exclusively to promote the group, such as the Mad Hatter on The Whole World's Goin' Crazy. Now that they've gone into a worldwide release deal on London, it seems that the need for a group image is greater.

There's a good chance, however, that they could make it on the music alone, as they've been doing in Canada so far with a half-dozen albums and an impressive collection of hits. This album adds to the tradition they've established, with ten new cuts of ballads and rock with strong commercial potential. Myles Goodwyn develops his writing and production abilities with each album. Recommended cuts on this album are You Won't Dance With Me, Mama Laye, Hard Times (a reworking of the Jimmy Dean song Big John) and the title cut, which will be released as a single shortly. Recorded at Tempo Studios in Montreal and at Toronto's Phase One. The graphics are by Bob Lemm, who did the Crazy LP.

RPM Album Notes

STRAWBS

Deep Cuts
Oyster/Polydor OY-1-1603-Q

It's amazing that a group can still be changing after ten years, and still get better. Most cuts are now written by Dave Cousins and bassist Chas. Cronk, maintaining a flair for the dramatic and the best elements of both English folk and rock. Best cuts this time are Charmer, Wasting My Time and My Friend Peter. They're on a new label as well, by the way.

ANY WAY YOU LIKE IT

THELMA HOUSTON

Any Way You Like It
Motown T-345 P1-Y

This lady doesn't let the usual strong disco production overcome her, instead they complement each other like they should. That way you can dance to it and listen to it as well. The songs are produced and arranged by a variety of people. It's a strong debut.

TAVARES

Sky High
Capitol ST-511533-F

This is their fourth Capitol album, and their experience shows. Their specialty is the familiar tight R&B vocal harmonies, and they add some well-produced (by Freddie Perren) rhythm tracks. Includes the current single, Heaven Must Be Missing An Angel.

JEAN-LUC PONTY

Imaginary Voyage
Atlantic SD 18195-P

French jazz violinist Ponty not only plays and writes well, but knows how to put together a good band. They can be both intense and free-flowing, exemplified by cuts like New Country, The Gardens Of Babylon and the excellent title cut, which takes up all of side two. Tight and accessible electric jazz in the current style.

MICHAEL MURPHY

Flowing Free Forever
Epic PE 34220-H

Good arrangements help the sound of this FM-oriented singer, gain a following with his sentimental often sensitive songs. Best cuts could be Changing Woman, High Country Caravan and The Wandering Minstral.

LOGGINS & MESSINA

Best Of Friends
CBS PC 34388-H

CBS, understandably trying for extra mileage out of a very successful partnership, has collected some of the duo's most popular selections into one album, with the blessing of L&M themselves. Angry Eyes, Vahevala, Your Mama Don't Dance, they're all here. Just in time for Christmas, should even be bought by fans who already have all their albums.

CBC strings stars together for Guitar

Randy Bachman unpacked his Fender Starcaster and picked a few verses of Roll Over Beethoven with Mason Williams in a Toronto hotel room.

Merle Travis unpacked his Gibson Special Super 400 and tuned it up.

Bachman stopped picking to look: "What a guitar!"

The trio started the number again in A, modulating to C for Travis' solo. "I've got to pick blues in C?" Travis asked, "Why not just go down to G?"

Too late. The band tracks to the TV production number they were rehearsing had already been recorded - tracks featuring Lona Boyd performing actual Beethoven on her classical guitar and Ed Bickert picking out his jazz-blues solos in F.

This is probably the most guitar-starred jam of the Chuck Berry classic ever tracked. It will kick off what CBC variety hopes will be a monumental television special titled simply: Guitar.

Producer Athen Katsos wants to present a programme that shows the breadth of popular guitar styles and gives a hint to the role it's played in the history of Western music.

"Guitar music defines more ethnic and regional cultures than any instrument," he said in an interview. Despite the name performers in the show's cast, he plans to use visual presentations as well - from a pictorial look at the history of the guitar's appearance to video distortion of six singers elongated into the strings of a guitar, with lots of animation and paste and cut.

He wants to reach the 20 million people in North America who play guitar, both to pay tribute and to inspire them. Each segment of the show is introduced by music from 50 amateur guitar players recruited for the production.

Les Paul, inventor of the electric guitar, was slated to appear but, for health reasons, couldn't get to Toronto. Bobby Edwards and his seven-guitar Fat Guitars replace him and, in a way, do what Paul intended to do.

Les Paul is now performing with his Gibson Paulverizer - an electronic tape devise that allows him to play a multitrack concert by himself. Fat Guitars do it with seven members.

One highlight of the show is the 8½-minute performance of Mason Williams' composition Gypsy Noodle, by Bob Mann, Bickert and a 35-piece orchestra. Williams describes the piece as a theme based on simple common guitar patterns - that any guitar player knows - expanded to symphonic scope.

Williams did TV in Canada before, on Ian Tyson's CTV show a few years ago. But he was impressed with the stories Bachman told him about CBC's mid-sixties pop-music show Let's Go, an afternoon hit parader originating from a different Canadian city each weekday. Bachman, and many other current Canadian stars, got their first regular work on the programme.

Bachman also recalled the influence Travis' guitar picking had on his early picking years. "When I first heard Travis I thought it was three guys. I bought Travis' and Chet Atkins' records and copied them. Then when Duane Eddy came along - that was easy."

Travis is credited with inventing the free-thumb style of finger picking, often called Travis picking. You should hear Bachman, known mostly for hard-rock axe riffs, Travis picking to old favourites like I'll Fly Away and Nine Pound Hammer.

Norland Industries (which makes the Gibson guitar), Fender Guitar, and Polydor Records are working with CBC Variety to promote the Guitar show. CBC produced a poster that the music firms will help get into musical instrument and record stores across Canada to reach many of the country's estimated 2 million guitar players, and anyone else who likes to listen to the guitar sound.

Fender's Tony Farr reports that guitar sales are up this Christmas. Bachman's Starcaster is a new top-of-the-line, semi-acoustical model, introduced just this year. Previously Bachman had been seen regularly with a Fender Stratocaster. Ed Bickert plays a Fender Telecaster, not really a jazz guitar, Farr explained, but one Bickert has played for years.

Tony Hull, of Norland Music (owner of Gibson Guitar) had planned to centre some promotion around Les Paul, sort of a patriarch at Gibson, and Travis. He wanted to buy some spots on the special, but the CBC Superspecial hour has already been sold out months ago.

Norland, one of the largest musical instrument manufacturers in North America, operated in Canada as Turner Ltd., until recently. Hull told RPM that now that the change has been made, the firm plans to step up its artist relations and promo with performers using Gibson and other Norlands equipment, including all Moog products. Hull explained that the Travis Super 400 guitar is a customized version of the Super 400. B.B. King, who might have replaced Les Paul on the TV show, also uses a Gibson.

CTV tries to block Bronfman CITY move

CTV has filed an intervention with the CRTC to try to block the acquisition of 45 per cent control of Toronto's independent CITY-TV by Montreal's Multiple Access, which owns CTV Montreal affiliate CFCF-TV.

Multiple Access, which also owns Champlain Productions and Rising Records, is controlled in turn by the Bronfman interests. Champlain produces some shows for the CTV network.

CITY's original owners, Moses Znaimer, Ed Cowan, Jerry Graftstein and Phyllis Switzer, will still hold 33 per cent control of the firm under the new deal, with other shareholders and Multiple Access splitting the other 66 per cent 50-50.

About $3 million is involved in the deal with about $270,000 of that going into the station's coffers; the rest divided among current owners.

The CRTC, which heard the application for transfer of shares to Multiple Access at its Toronto hearings the week of December 7, will have the final say in the proposed deal.

New TV Guide owners set to expand Cancon

TV Guide is preparing for an onslaught of Canadian advertising in 1977, with plans to increase its Canadian space-sales staff from 38 to about 80, and to increase from 8 to 16 regional editions by the end of 1977.

Changes will begin as soon as the new, Canadian ownership takes over January 1. In February the book will change so that all its colour pages and covers are created and printed in Canada and will contain Canadian feature stories and cover subjects. No Canadian has ever been on the cover of TV Guide before.

The editorial staff of the magazine will be doubled as well.

In March TV Guide will offer a new rate card with increased rates for national and local advertising. All of the colour pages are distributed nationally.

TV Guide's new, Canadian owners are Southam Press (35 per cent) and Telemedia Communications (65 per cent). Now that the publication is Canadian owned, Canadian advertisers qualify for the federal government's tax breaks.

CTV Schlock report by Maclear: Dec 30

CTV correspondent Michael Maclear slams the Hollywood culture cabal in a TV documentary titled Schlock It To Them, to be aired December 30, 9:30 - 10 p.m.

"Certainly the cheapening of values enriches Hollywood," Maclear commented on the $2 billion-a-year U.S. film industry and the $4 billion-a-year network TV business: "Hollywood is no longer a repository of dreams, it's just an emptiness of mind."

The show is one in a CTV network series titled Maclear. Producer is Don McQueen and executive producer is Don Cameron.

A NEW COUNTRY RADIO SHOW

St. Clair's Big Country bows as national show

St. Clair Productions of Toronto have put the finishing touches on their three hour country radio show. Entitled Big Country, the weekly show is now being touted across the country for syndication. The show will be produced and hosted by Bill Anderson, currently an on-air personality at CFRB Toronto and formerly the program director of CFGM, the Canadian country giant in Richmond Hill.

In making the above announcement Anderson stated: "There are a lot of syndications coming out of the States, but none of them pays any attention at all to the great things happening in Canadian country music. Our show will be distinctively Canadian".

Considered an important part of each week's show will be a countdown of the Top Ten country hits of the week, as listed on RPM's Country Playlist. There will also be interviews with the hitmakers, both Canadian and internationally. "And we'll spotlight the good new talent that's always surfacing in Canadian country", says Anderson, continuing with "I'm excited about the opportunity to showcase these talented performers to a national audience."

Big Country will be sponsored nationally. Stations will simply provide the airtime and carry the national spots.

St. Clair Productions is one of Canada's largest audio production houses creating Canadian jingle packages, commercial productions and radio syndications. The company is part of Standard Broadcasting which includes CFRB and their sister FM station CKFM in Toronto, CJAD and their sister FM station, CJFM in Montreal, the Bushnell Television operations in Ottawa and the Canadian Talent Library.

The Programmers

Take a Bite Of The Big Apple on CBC

by Alan Guettel

Malka Cohen has produced an 8-hour documentary-novel for CBC radio about the tragic times of the Canadian-created musical that hit Broadway with the title Rockabye Hamlet.

CBC radio will air the work, titled Bite Of The Big Apple, in four two-hour parts on Sundays January 9-30 after the 1 p.m. news on AM; Thursdays January 6-27 following the 9 p.m. news on FM.

Cohen taped episodes of the show's Canadian run at Charlottetown, Toronto and Hamilton - holding her microphone through on-stage and off-stage events that molded the production and the lives of its people - and captured the sudden grief of its Broadway demise.

It's a unique radio production, and despite its marathon length (she edited the eight hours from 100 hours of recordings of try-outs, casting and business meetings, interviews and performances) it presents a simple message - in the Big Apple, Money talks; the inexperienced need not apply.

Cohen, herself an experienced actor, singer and dancer who has created other radio variety shows like the famous Joni Mitchell profile, started out to make a straight documentary; but when she listened to the tapes she found that all the characters had changed during the life of the show.

That gives the production the character of a novel.

And the characters are all real people - like Jack McAndrew, Cal Dodd, Bev D'Angelo and composer Cliff Jones. They laugh, dream, cry, and lose their tempers just like any one of us would do if we were in the same situation. If we haven't been, listening to Bite Of The Big Apple is the next best thing.

Broadway is its own world, and no Canadian-created production has ever made it there. Rockabye Hamlet, which began as a CBC radio musical and was later staged at Charlottetown by McAndrew (then titled Kronborg 1582), was thought to be just off-beat enough to do it. Broadway backers like Lester Osterman (who's produced a number of hits there including Godspell) and director Gower Champion (who staged the original Hello Dolly) revamped and retitled the production for the Big Apple keeping only two members of the original Canadian cast in the Broadway one-week run.

Champlain Production's Rising Records has recently released an LP of Cal Dodd, Lisa Hartt and others singing songs from the musical. Some have already been released as singles.

CBC Radio contest to award $22,500 in prizes

CBC Radio is expanding its annual talent hunt for young Canadian musicians.

CBC Talent Competition offers a total of $22,500 in prizes, including an $8,000 grand prize, in five classes: piano, strings, voice, winds, and new this year - harpsichords.

All the semi-finalists will perform solo and with an orchestra, to be broadcast nationally on CBC radio.

Entrants must have been born between April 15, 1947 and April 15, 1962. Deadline for entries has been set as April 15, 1977.

Two finalists in each class will receive $500 and be brought to Ottawa to perform with the National Arts Centre Orchestra. The winner in each class will receive an additional $2,500, and an overall grand-prize winner will receive another $5,000.

The grand prize winner will also be featured on a Radio Canada International broadcast recording for distribution abroad.

CFTR news special wins Billboard award

Toronto rock station CFTR won a Billboard award for its news documentary on the Kennedy assassination: Thou Shalt Not Kill.

The special was produced by CFTR news director Bob Haliday with reporter Clint Nickeson doing the investigation.

CFTR aired the special last May, and later repeated the show over fellow Rogers stations CHFI-FM and CJJD Hamilton.

Station manager Chuck Camroux accepted the award in New Orleans. Programmes produced all over the English-speaking world were submitted in the Billboard competition.

To you and yours . . .

"The best of the holiday season and a very prosperous new year."

30 minutes with Eric Sevareid by George Pollard

Yes, Eric Sevareid, poker-faced dean of TV's social-political-economic pundits, can smile. It's just that he doesn't smile very often.

What's causing the grin this time is an explanation of why he never smiles before, during or even after delivering those erudite, albeit oversimplified, commentaries on the CBS Evening News.

"Well," he says in his famous low-toned and carefully modulated voice, "I can't smile on command. Anyway, why should I smile at a gadget called a camera? I'm not an actor. I'm written about as a glum, gloom-and-doom fellow. But, as my friends will attest, that's a vastly overdrawn portrait."

By the time he's finished the grin is gone, never to return -- at least during this interview.

No, he can't consider himself a celebrity, even though he's instantly recognizable. He thinks a journalist is a reporter. A reporter should not be fawned upon by an adoring public. Mass adulation stunts the business of reporting.

He does not approve of Barbara Walter's one million dollar a year five year pack.

"This kind of salary sets off money consciousness in news people. It reminds me of the days when Hollywood operated on the star system. Dominating stars dictated scripts and picked directors. This kind of destabilizing disruption can turn a business around. A reporter should be known for his or her journalistic ability -- not for a dollar sign hung round the neck."

How does he feel about being famous? "With fame comes a certain kind of death. When a so-called celebrity comes in contact with strangers, the strangers behave differently. It's as if someone from Mars had arrived. That shouldn't happen to journalists. When it does, the journalist doesn't hear the truth."

Eric Sevareid does not think he is a high brow. "I'm not really a high brow. The high brows don't think of me as being a high brow at all. I'm sort of middle-class-high-brow," he says in a tone that subtly suggests he wishes he really was high brow.

How does he feel about his impending forced retirement from CBS in November 1977? "There are no reservations. I don't plan to go to St. Petersburg and take over a rocking chair. Anyway, a person can get overexposed on television... Besides, the relentlessness of deadlines affects the nervous system. There's always a clock ticking away in your head."

There is no comment on the rumour that he'll go on contract after November 1977, only agreement, "that it would be a way around the mandatory retirement of all staff employees."

He hates the whirring of the camera -- he calls it "that machine" -- even though it has provided him with a six figure income for many, many years.

"Television," he says, "is the most artificial form of public speaking. You're chained to a wire. You talk to that machine. It's very unnatural."

Sevareid, who has been with CBS since Edward R. Murrow hired him in 1937, has just had his book of World War Two memories republished. It's called, "Not So Wild A Dream."

No, he doesn't have any more dreams in his life, except maybe one: to spend more time in his Warrenton, Va., log cabin.

"It's very primitive. It has no plumbing, just an outhouse. I refuse to install plumbing because it would alter the character of the place and besides, with plumbing, too damn many things can go wrong. I like things nice and simple." Spoken like a man who has a very fashionable 50 year old stone house in Chevy Chase, Md. -- a ritzy suburb of Washington, D.C.

However, that's Eric Sevareid!

CHYR airs big specials for Holiday programming

Leamington Ontario's CHYR radio will air 35 hours of commercial-free music programming beginning Christmas Eve.

The line-up includes shows on the Jackson 5, The Supremes, Frank Sinatra, Wayne Newton and Herb Alpert. They will also air performances of the New York and Philadelphia Orchestras, Charles Dicken's Christmas Carol, and Handel's Messiah.

Beginning New Year's Eve, CHYR will air a 24-hour history of rock special titled Twenty Years Of Rock, to be followed immediately by a CHYR exclusive 60-minute special The Who And You, 8:00 p.m. New Year's Day.

From December 26 until New Year's Eve, CHYR will broadcast from its list of the top 100 songs of the year. A top 100 compilation has been a tradition at CHYR since 1955.

EDMONTON

CHQT has released their very own record album, featuring their morning man Bob Bradburn and the Jasper Place Composite High School Band. It's called Happy Holiday (geared for the festive season) and was produced by Ken Perry of KVP Productions of Vancouver, at Damon Sound Studios in Edmonton. Each of the featured performers has his own side, and Bradburn sings some seasonal novelty tunes, including a few of his own. CHQT's general manager Lew Roskin says "the album represents the station's contribution to our community through the exposure of one of Canada's top stage bands, along with Bradburn's own unique style, and, more importantly, helping to promote Canadian talent locally."

TORONTO

Toronto's MOR giant CFRB will air an hour special on James Melton on Startime, the station's weekly Saturday-night musical portrait show hosted by Ray Sonin. James Melton was a tenor who performed on records, in operas and concerts in the '30s and '40s and was emcee in the wartime Victory Loan Shows.

Jerry Good is now the programme director of Standard Broadcasting's FM good-music station CKFM. Most recently Good was manager of Rogers good-music Toronto station, CHFI-FM. CKFM manager Bill Ballentine has also announced the appointment of Bill Herz as general sales manager. Most recently Herz was radio manager of Glen Warren Broadcast Sales Division.

We realize that by the time we mentioned Quality's Rush For Wednesday Gold a few weeks ago (December 4 issue to be exact) it was already past the deadline for applications to Joe Owens for being first to play Wednesday's new single. Sorry about that, if anyone else besides the stations mentioned thought they might have qualified. Anyway, the award was given to the whole Moffat chain, as it was determined that CKXL and CHED went on Ruby Baby at the same time November 9. This is now a trivial point, however, as Quality's publicist tells us that the song is playlisted in Regina, Saskatoon, Thunder Bay, Hamilton, Kingston, Kitchener, London, Peterborough, Ottawa, Fredericton and many other places including the cities Moffat covers. The single has been released in the U.S. on Private Stock.
