"OUR AGENCY WANTS TO KNOW IF RETURNS

TO ADVERTISERS who have used WLS, that's "foolish question Number 1." Returns on a WLS offer start pouring in from the very first broadcast and keep coming. Consider the results obtained for this cereal advertiser:

They received 20,640 proof-of-purchase letters from 35 broadcasts in seven weeks! The program was heard at 7:45 a.m. Various one- and two-week contests and offers, all requiring boxtops, brought the 20,640 letters.

That's a typical response from WLS advertising. We have scores of other examples that WLS Gets Results. Just ask us . . . or ask any John Blair man.

EARLY in 1931 when Sam Bennett first went into broadcasting down in Texas, radio in the Lone Star State was still a pretty wild and woolly affair. Lightning changes were taking place in ownership and affiliation. But during the next nine years, Sam roped and threwed a real career for himself, and today, as Director of Sales for KMBC, he's one of the best "hands" in the business. Hi-yo, Sam'!

Come to think about it, all radio was pretty wild and woolly, back in 1931. In fact it was that very woolliness that first gave us the idea that there was a place in the industry for exclusive radio-station representatives—an idea considered very original in those days.

Naturally, we've learned a lot by living through the freshman period of radio station representation. (We realize this fact afresh every time we hear or read some of the ideas that newcomers sometimes advance!) But most especially we've learned that when we "get the order" we've only just started the job of helping to make that order a sound investment for you. Want a sample of what that means, here in this pioneer group of radio-station representatives?

CBS to Stop Cow Catchers, Hitch Hikes

Action May Bring Demand Other Nets Follow

CBS last week took definite action on the problem of "hitch-hike" and "cow-catcher" announcements, long a matter of concern by network affiliates, by announcing that, effective Oct. 1, 1944, these "simulated spot announcements" would be eliminated from CBS commercial programs.

Coincident with this announcement, the CBS Affiliate Advisory Board adopted a resolution agreeing to cooperate by limiting station-break announcements to avoid disruption of the network pattern of entertainment-with-advertising.

Announcement was made in a brochure mailed to advertisers, advertising agencies and CBS affiliate stations, inviting them "to remove a 'triple threat' against the soundness and success of radio advertising while it is still, largely, a threat." Action is necessary at this time, the booklet points out, because of the growing use of hitch-hikers and cow-catchers which are currently employed on some 20 CBS programs, occupying more than 80 time periods.

Forestalls Protest

Action of CBS and its station advisory group follows an increasing volume of protests from network stations, which have recently taken the form of official resolutions adopted by NAB district meetings requesting the elimination of such announcements by the networks. Acting when it did, CBS is believed to have forestalled the culmination of these station protests into definite demands for immediate action, which were expected to develop out of the meeting of leading network affiliated stations scheduled for today (Monday, Sept. 20) at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago.

Session was called by William B. Way, vice-president and general manager of KVOO Tulsa, and author of the "Broadcasting Declaration of Independence," which he sent to all stations last January. The basic reason for calling attention of the industry to this, Mr. Way stated in announcing the Chicago meeting, "was that I felt that certain practices within the industry were not good and should be corrected. Among these are cow-catcher and hitch-hike announcements."

CBS' plan will obviously receive close and complete scrutiny by the Chicago meeting, which may be expected to endorse the network ruling either in its present form or with modifications, and to request the other networks to enforce similar restrictions on their clients' programs.

New Policy

New policy is stated by CBS as follows:

"There will be no change in our standard time limits for commercial advertising on quarter-hour, half-hour or full-hour programs. There will be no restriction on the number of products any client may advertise within those time limits. The only change in our commercial policies will be to preclude simulated spot announcements—that is, announcements which pretend to be divorced from the program, such as commercials which precede the introduction of the program itself or which follow its apparent sign-off."

'Gradual Reintegration'

Expressing the belief that the hitch-hiker and cow-catcher technique developed "more as a matter of convenience than as studied advertising strategy," used where one of the products has a smaller advertising appropriation or is handled by a second advertising agency or under other similar circumstances, CBS asks "no abrupt reversal of present practice. We invite, instead, a gradual reintegration of these simulated spot announcements into the framework of each program."

Techniques for advertising a second product within a single program have already been successfully developed, CBS states, listing Procter & Gamble Co.'s, Pepper Young's Family and I Love A Mystery, General Foods' Adventures of The Thin Man, the Texaco Star Theatre, General Electric Co.'s The World Today and Chrysler's Major Bowes' Amateurs, as examples.

Preamble of the booklet outlines the "indispensable idea in broadcast advertising" as "the host-and-guest relationship between sponsor and listener" which translates the broadcast announcement, "Jello brings you Kate Smith," in the listener's mind into "thanks to Jello, we get Kate Smith." When that relationship is broken, CBS points out, broadcasting loses much of its magic, "could become merely another mass medium on a cost-per-thousand basis."

'Trip-Hammer Trio'

And this basic equation is broken, the booklet continues, three times in three minutes when the advertiser closes his program a minute or so before the end of his time period and, after a brief pause, puts on a "simulated spot announcement" for another product; when in the 30-second interval before the opening of the next program a second spot announcement is "hurried on the air"; and when the next network advertiser delays the opening of his own program to put on another spot announcement, the third detached commercial in three minutes.

"This 'trip-hammer' trio of hitch-hiker, station-break and cow-catcher is relatively new to radio," CBS continues, "although its center-man, the station-break, is as old as a Bulova time signal or a pre-war weather report. Moreover, in themselves, such station-break announcements are wholly welcome to the listener when, like either of those two examples, they clearly render service in lieu of entertainment."

An 'Infliction'

Pointing out that no advertiser would think of using the first three minutes of his own time "to rattle off three separate spot announcements for three separate products" because "the tune-out could be measured by the minute," CBS states that that is just what happens when the "trip-hammer trio" appears. "Thus, what no advertiser would inflict upon his own audience, and what no station would inflict upon its own audience—is nevertheless inflicted upon that same audience by the parade of network programs which, march-

Disc Hearings Resume Today After Halt at Padway Request

WAR LABOR BOARD panel hearing on the American Federation of Musicians transcription ban, scheduled to resume last Friday morning, was postponed until 2 p.m. today (Monday, Sept. 20), at the request of Joseph A. Padway, general counsel for the American Federation of Labor, who is representing the AFM. Mr. Padway on Sept. 9, at the conclusion of the third day of the hearings and after presentation of the transcription industry argument, asked for and received a week's recess in which to complete the preparation of the union's argument [BROADCASTING, Sept. 13].

In granting the AFM request for a recess, the panel overruled the objection of A. Walter Socolow, counsel for Associated Music Publishers, Empire Broadcasting Corp., Lang-Worth Feature Programs, C. P. MacGregor, NBC Radio-Recording Division and Standard Radio. Mr. Socolow argued that the strike has already caused these companies considerable hardships and that any delay was intolerable.

Panel also rejected the request of the transcription companies for an interim recommendation to the WLB to order the union to withdraw its ban on the manufacture of transcriptions by AFM members pending a final settlement of the dispute.

Two New Agencies Organized From Dissolution of B-S-H

Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample to Start on Jan. 1; Hill Blackett to Open Agency in Chicago

FIRM of Blackett-Sample-Hummert, established of many records in 21 years of advertising, and, which will dissolve Dec. 31 [BROADCASTING, Aug. 16] is to be succeeded by two new firms composed of B-S-H executives and employees.

John G. Sample will join the firm to be comprised of himself, Clifford L. Fitzgerald and H. M. (Mix) Dancer, to do business as Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample. All are formerly senior executives of B-S-H and widely known in advertising. Sample, who started the B-S-H firm in 1923 with Hill Blackett, was active in its management until June, 1942, when he was commissioned a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy.

Blackett's Plans

Hill Blackett, announcing the opening of his own agency in Chicago, Jan. 1, 1944, said the following former members of B-S-H will join him: Marvin Harms, vice-president, B-S-H, a senior account executive, handling Procter & Gamble (Dreft), Falstaff Brewing Corp., A. E. Staley Manufacturing Co., E. J. Brach & Sons (candy); Robert G. Wilson, vice-president, B-S-H, key copywriter for the firm and Don Digman, art director.

Frank Hummert, who previously announced that he and his wife, Anne Hummert, will continue to produce their radio shows as Hummert Radio Productions, will make the services of his company available to both agencies.

Mix Dancer, president of B-S-H for the last three years, is a native of Iowa. He was in the manufacturing business in Ottumwa, Iowa, before joining L. W. Ramsey, Davenport, Iowa, advertising agency. He went to Henri, Hurst & McDonald, Chicago, before joining Gillette, six years ago. Mr. Fitzgerald, a native of St. Louis, founded the Fitzgerald Advertising Agency in New Orleans in 1926, coming to Chicago to join B-S-H in 1941 as vice-president and director.

Chicago offices of both companies, which will continue to be run as general advertising agencies, covering radio, newspapers, magazines and billboards, will continue to be in the same building, 221 N. LaSalle Street.

A PIONEER public service program, the University of Chicago Round Table, will air its 500th broadcast on NBC Sept. 26.

Digest Pondering

READERS Digest Assn., Pleasantville, N. Y., is reported considering a quarter-hour weekly program on the BLUE, starting on or about Oct. 7. No details as to format are available from BBDO, New York, agency in charge, although commentator Frazier Hunt may be selected. Probable time is 10:15-10:30 p.m. Thursdays. Material from the magazine already is the feature of another program—Radio Reader's Digest on CBS, sponsored by Campbell Soup Co., Camden, N. J.

GILLETTE RENEWS FOR WORLD SERIES

FOR THE FIFTH consecutive year, Gillette Safety Razor Co., Boston, has signed with Mutual for exclusive broadcast rights to the World Series baseball games, which start Oct. 5 in New York's Yankee Stadium. Gillette paid $100,000 for the radio rights and this total will go into a charity pool, from which the Red Cross will be the chief beneficiary.

Red Barber, noted sportscaster, who has covered seven consecutive World Series, will again handle the play-by-play report of the diamond classics, assisted by other announcers, as yet unselected. The first three games will be played in New York, with broadcasts starting at 1:15 p.m., and the remaining games in St. Louis regardless of the number necessary to decide the Series. Agency in charge is Maxon Inc., New York.

Lehn & Fink Eyeing

LEHN & FINK Products Corp., Bloomfield, N. J., was in the process last week of selecting a show to replace its current Take a Card quiz program, heard on Mutual since last April Wednesdays 8:30-9 p.m. Choice was said to be between Your Blind Date and The Life of Reilly, but no details were forthcoming from Wm. Esty & Co., New York, agency in charge. It was also rumored that the replacement show will probably be moved from Mutual to the BLUE.

Cough Drop Campaign

SMITH BROS., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., will start its annual fall and winter campaign Oct. 4 on about 80 stations and several regional networks, using most of the same outlets included in last year's schedule. Cough drops will be promoted via spot announcements and chain breaks at the rate of five a week. Agency is J. D. Tarcher Co., New York.

BEHIND-THE-SCENES COUNCIL on production details for the new weekly BLUE What's New? held attention of this sponsor-agency-network-talent quartet before initial broadcast Sept. 4. Sponsored by RCA, the 60-minute program originates from Hollywood with switches to various parts of the United States and shortwave pickups from abroad. Detail-deliberators are (l to r) Larry Robertson, BLUE Hollywood producer; Don Ameche, m.c.; David Sarnoff, president of RCA, and John Reber, New York vice-president of J. Walter Thompson Co.

Draft of Fathers Occupies Congress

But Wheeler and White May Hold Radio Hearings Next

PROSPECTS for early hearings on the White-Wheeler bill (S-814) to reorganize the FCC were seen last week as the 78th Congress reconvened and the stage was set for action on various measures affecting the broadcasting industry.

Senator White (R-Me) told BROADCASTING that he planned to confer with Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, regarding hearings as soon as the latter's bill to prevent the drafting of fathers is out of the way.

Discusses Plans

"I have every hope that we will be able to begin hearings within the next two weeks", Senator White said. He added that the Committee, of which he is a member, would in all probability hear testimony from the FCC, the Federal Communications Bar Assn., the NAB, the networks, and representatives of independent stations.

Rep. Holmes (R-Mass.), author of a companion bill in the House to the White-Wheeler bill, also expects to hold hearings before the House Interstate Commerce Committee. He estimates that it will be at least several weeks before hearings can begin, as Committee members will wait until more pressing legislation, such as the drafting of fathers, is disposed of.

First place in the Congressional program was given to the Wheeler proposal to delay drafting of fathers until Jan. 1. No sooner had Congress reconvened when the Senate Military Affairs Committee called in high Army and Navy officials to testify regarding the needs of the armed forces.

Dr. Courier, Doris Keane Plan to Revive WHIP

ANNOUNCEMENT was made last week of the purchase of the equipment of the deleted WHIP, formerly known as WJWC, Chicago-Hammond, by Dr. George F. Courier, associate pastor of St. James Methodist Episcopal church, Chicago, and Doris Keane, former official of the station. Two towers and radio transmitter equipment, and 25 acres of land in Hammond, Ind., were bought at a court sale under receivership proceedings from the Hammond Calumet Broadcasting Corp. in the Superior Court of Indiana Harbor.

The station, which had operated on 1520 kc. with 5,000 watts, went off the air Jan. 28, 1943 after John W. Clarke, principal stockholder, notified FCC of intention to surrender its license and discontinue operation. War conditions which restricted coverage and operational losses were given as the reason for the discontinuance. Fourth stockholder with Dr. Courier, Miss Keane and Mr. Clarke, was Marshall Field 3d, owner of the Chicago Sun.

Application for reinstatement of the license is to be made soon.

Atlantic Refining Expands Grid List

Despite War, 69 Stations Will Carry 150 Top-Ranking Games

WITH 69 stations scheduled to carry football broadcasts under the sponsorship of Atlantic Refining Co., as compared with 53 last year, the company covers its marketing territory from as far south as Orlando, Fla., and westward to Cleveland. Southern stations have been added to last year's football coverage.

Mr. Rollins

Joseph H. Rollins, advertising manager, announced last week that 93 college, 47 high school and 10 professional games are on the Atlantic schedule, including most of the featured contests in the East, South and Middle West. Many government war messages will be aired between periods and will get the benefit of the audience football always attracts.

Impressive Schedule

While war has caused havoc in collegiate athletics, disrupting normal gridiron schedules, Atlantic has managed to work out an impressive list of games, despite the many problems which had to be overcome before the program could be announced. This, and the unusually early opening of the football season explains why several games have already been aired, including Yale-Muhlenberg, Yale-Rochester, Rochester-Baldwin Wallace, and Muhlenberg-Villanova.

MAN-SIZED JOB of all announcing and programming duties of WIXTG, FM affiliate of WTAG Worcester, has been undertaken by radio's first all-girl staff.

Showing how it's done are, (seated, l to r): Olive Merrill, disc jockey; Patricia Neighbors, announcer; standing: Gladys Tomajan, monitor; Mary Lou Evans, script supervisor.

Atlantic schedule opens formally on Sunday, Sept. 25, with such spotlighted games as Princeton at Pennsylvania, Notre Dame at Pittsburgh, Colgate at Rochester, U. of N. C. at Georgia Tech, Iowa Navy Pre-flight at Ohio State. A night game between Virginia Military Institute and Temple, to be played at Philadelphia on Sept. 24, is also on the schedule.

All the games of the U. of Pennsylvania and of the Philadelphia Eagles (pro.) have been signed by Atlantic. Thirty-two top-flight announcers have been engaged to cover the contests. Assignments include Byrum Saam, U. of Pennsylvania; Woody Wolf, U. of Pittsburgh; Tom Manning and John Neblett, Ohio State; Lee Kirby, Duke U., and Add Penfield, Georgia Tech.

Among the highlighted contests of the season, and the number of stations to carry these games, are: Yale at Pennsylvania, Oct. 2, on 21. Dartmouth at Pennsylvania, Oct. 9, on 26.

Army at Columbia, Oct. 16, on 18.

Pittsburgh at Illinois, Oct. 16, on 10.

Penn State at Maryland, Oct. 23, on 13.

Princeton at Yale, Nov. 13, on 21.

Dartmouth at Princeton, Nov. 20, on 26.

CBS Names Kemp To Detroit Office

Moskovics Takes His Post; Witt Now KNX Manager

ARTHUR J. KEMP, for four years CBS sales manager on the Pacific Coast, on Oct. 4 becomes manager of sales for CBS in the network's Detroit office, a post vacant since 1941, it was announced last week by William V. Gettinger, CBS vice-president in charge of sales. Succeeding Mr. Kemp on the West Coast will be George L. Moskovics, sales program manager in that office.

Mr. Kemp

Joining CBS in 1936 as a member of the Pacific Coast sales department, Mr. Kemp had previously been with McManus Inc., Los Angeles Examiner; sales manager of KHJ Los Angeles, and KFRC San Francisco; sales promotion, publicity and merchandising manager for KNX Los Angeles, prior to its purchase in 1936 by CBS. Mr. Kemp has served as eastern representative for the CBS Pacific Network in New York, and in 1938 was special field representative for CBS owned stations before returning to the Coast in his present position.

With the pending transfer of Mr. Kemp to Detroit, Donald W. Thornburgh, vice-president in charge of the CBS Pacific Coast division, announced that Harry W. Witt, present sales manager of KNX, has been named to the new post of assistant general manager of that station. Mr. Witt was manager of KGB San Diego and with CBS, he has served as commercial sales manager of KNX and CBS Southern California sales manager. Other personnel alignments on the coast include Arch Morton, CBS national sales service director, named KNX sales manager; Charles Morin, manager of the CBS San Francisco office, moving to Radio Sales, New York, as eastern sales manager for the Pacific network and KNX, and Wayne Steffner, formerly of the San Francisco sales staff, becoming manager of CBS offices in that city. Fox Case continues as director of public relations and West Coast news bureaus. Hal Hudson continues as program director and Meredith Pratt as head of Radio Sales on the Coast.

New Post for Witt

With the pending transfer of Mr. Kemp to Detroit, Donald W. Thornburgh, vice-president in charge of the CBS Pacific Coast division, announced that Harry W. Witt, present sales manager of KNX, has been named to the new post of assistant general manager of that station. Mr. Witt was manager of KGB San Diego and with CBS, he has served as commercial sales manager of KNX and CBS Southern California sales manager. FCC to Study Time Brokers; May Decide to Regulate Them

A NEW STUDY of "time broker" activities in commercial broadcasting, presumably to ascertain just where the line shall be drawn, is being launched by the FCC's Law Department, with the blessing of the Commission. The informal authorization came at the FCC meeting last Tuesday with only three members, Commissioners Craven, Durr and Chairman Fly present. It is assumed that the Commission did not authorize a formal inquiry by resolution because of the lack of a quorum.

What inspired the new study at this time is conjectural, although it is felt in some quarters that the disclosures of the House Select Committee investigating the FCC regarding time brokerage activities in the foreign language field in New York, had a bearing on it. This practice, constituting sale of block time to contractors or agencies, for resale and programming, is prevalent in the foreign language field. It also is used on other stations, usually smaller outlets in metropolitan areas.

Doubtful Practices

Time brokering per se is not regarded as improper or illegal. The Commission in the past, and its predecessor, the Radio Commission, in several instances has frowned upon the practice where it appeared to constitute delegation of full responsibility to the broker for the time used and resold. Whether or not the practice is in the public interest depends upon the nature of the contract and the manner in which the time is sold or controlled, according to these past interpretations.

There are no regulations of the FCC banning time resale as such. It may be that the new study is being undertaken to determine whether hard and fast rules should be applied.

The type of situation regarded as improper and actually constituting an assignment of license for the period brokered, it was recalled, is one wherein the broker in effect sets himself up in the broadcasting business without applying for a station license or being subject to the regulations. There are instances, it is felt, where the broker or contractor practically has taken over the station's operation.

A pending case involving management contract or time brokerage is that involving WCAM Camden, N. J. licensed to the City of Camden. A contract was entered into with the Mack Sales Co. under which it contracted for all of the station's time for resale purposes. This case, however, is still undetermined, though hearings were held last year.

One of the cases cited in the Cox inquiry on the foreign language situation in New York was that of Lido Belli who, Committee General Counsel Eugene L. Garey charged, was prevented by the FCC and OWI from conducting his business as a time broker for nine months, resulting in loss to him of more than $90,000. Also cited were the cases of Andrea and Stefano Luotto, foreign language broadcasters, among others.

Bond Renewal

BOND STORES, New York, issued a blanket renewal of news and musical programs on 40 stations throughout the country effective the first and second week of September. Agency is Neff-Rogow, New York.

Noble Sells WMCA to Nathan Straus

Former Housing Head Pays $1,255,000; May Have Associates

SALE of WMCA New York to Nathan Straus, former administrator of the United States Housing Authority, for $1,255,000, was announced last Monday by Edward J. Noble, present owner of the station and recent purchaser of the BLUE Network.

In making the announcement Mr. Noble said that he was disposing of WMCA in accordance with the FCC policy on multiple ownership of stations operating in a single community, as in acquiring the network he is also becoming the licensee of WJZ, BLUE key station in New York. Transfer of WMCA was, however, an outright sale and not contingent upon the FCC's approval of Mr. Noble's acquisition of the BLUE, on which the Commission is currently holding hearings.

Follows Flamm Ruling

Sale of the station to Mr. Straus followed by two days the ruling of Judge Albert Cohn of the Appellate Division of the New York Supreme Court in the legal battle recently started by Donald Flamm, from whom Mr. Noble purchased WMCA in 1941 for $850,000, to regain possession of the station through a rescission of that sale, which Mr. Flamm alleges he was forced to make as a result of threats and duress [BROADCASTING, Aug. 16, 23, Sept. 6]. Judge Cohn granted an order returnable Sept. 24 to show cause why a stay should not be granted, but denied an interim stay to prohibit the sale until that date.

Queried as to how the question of a stay order restraining the sale of WMCA can be argued after the station has been sold, Franklin S. Wood, attorney for Mr. Noble in this matter told BROADCASTING that the matter has become academic and that the order would have force only if the station had not been sold before Sept. 24.

Philip Handelman, of Handelman & Ives, counsel for Mr. Flamm, expressed doubt that Mr. Straus, under the circumstances, would be a bona fide purchaser and said: "We will join Mr. Straus in the action for rescission if he goes through with the deal." Mr. Handelman appeared at the FCC hearing on Mr. Noble's acquisition of the BLUE to acquaint the Commission with the fact that Mr. Flamm's action had been filed and is now pending in the New York State Supreme Court [BROADCASTING, Sept. 13].

Announcement of the WMCA sale named only Mr. Straus as purchaser but it is understood that he may have associates in the purchase. Details of the transfer have not yet been disclosed, but must necessarily be included in the application to the FCC for approval of the license transfer. The application probably will not be filed for several weeks, Mr. Wood said, and possibly not until the conclusion of the Commission's hearings on the change in ownership of the BLUE.

No financial details of the purchase of WMCA by Mr. Straus were made public last week except the purchase price of $1,255,000 and the fact that Mr. Noble had put about $200,000 in new capital into WMCA in addition to the $850,000 he had paid Mr. Flamm, bringing his original investment in the station to approximately $1,050,000.

In announcing the sale of WMCA last Monday, Mr. Noble said: "The purchase of the station by Mr. Straus brings to the New York radio field a native New Yorker with a distinguished career in public service, who also has a successful background of business and newspaper experience. I am thoroughly satisfied that he will operate WMCA with the letter and spirit of public interest, convenience and necessity and that moreover he will make a contribution to the development of the station in keeping with his fine record of public service."

Straus Statement

Mr. Straus stated: "The acquisition of WMCA is for me both a responsibility to maintain the high standards of radio broadcasting and an opportunity to make the station an even more significant factor in the life of this world's largest city. I have been impressed with the high calibre of WMCA's wartime programming and both policy and personnel will be retained intact. I intend to devote my entire time to the active management and operation of the station. Radio is one of the great factors in moulding public opinion and in a democracy public opinion makes the laws.

"I wish to state unequivocally," he continued, "that commercial consideration will at no time be permitted to interfere with the proper function of the station as a medium of entertainment and education, and in wartime, of communications and morale. If WMCA can help to promote the development of an informed public opinion concerning the great problems and issues of our troubled times, I shall feel that my association with it has not been without profit."

HALLICRAFTERS Co., Chicago (radio manufacturers), has purchased a thrice-weekly quarter-hour newscast on WJJD Chicago. Contract for 13 weeks was placed by Burton Browne Adv. Co., Chicago.

WMCA PURCHASER

NATHAN STRAUS, purchaser of WMCA New York, has a long record of public service. Son of the famous philanthropist of the same name, he was born in New York City May 27, 1889. He studied at Princeton and Heidelberg Universities, obtaining a special diploma, cum laude, from Princeton U. in 1909. On April 25, 1915, he married Helen E. Sachs of New York.

Beginning his business career as a reporter for the New York Globe, he entered the publishing field in 1914, purchasing the magazine Puck. He was editor and publisher of Puck until America's entry into the first World War in 1917. At that time he enlisted in the Navy as an Ensign serving until December 1918 when he was honorably discharged. In 1919-20 he was assistant editor of the Globe.

By training and background a public servant, Mr. Straus was tendered the Democratic nomination for the New York State Senate after the armistice of World War I to represent the 15th Senatorial District. Though the district was normally Republican, Mr. Straus was elected by a comfortable majority. He was reelected in 1922 and 1924.

With a record of progressive legislation, Straus served New York as a Senator at Albany for six years. He is best known for his reforms in the field of public housing and is the sponsor of the so-called "Straus Law" which prevents housing discrimination against families with children.

Returning to private business in 1927, he became president of Nathan Straus-Duparquet, a hotel and restaurant equipment company, at the same time organizing the "Park Association of New York" to promote the extension of the city park system. In 1933, he organized the Hillside Housing Corp., largest low-rent housing project in the country.

In 1935 he was appointed by

FCC Okays WNYC Operation at Night

Special Service Permit in Effect to Feb. 1, 1944

SPECIAL SERVICE authorization for night time operation of WNYC New York to Feb. 1, 1944, the duration of its current license, was granted last week by the FCC and the hearing which had been set for Sept. 13 cancelled. The action followed a petition filed Aug. 24 by CBS on behalf of WCCO Minneapolis proposing withdrawal of its opposition with certain conditions, provided the Commission concludes night-time operation of New York's municipally-owned station would aid in the war effort.

WCCO, the dominant station on the 830 kc clear channel, had protested an earlier FCC grant of special service authorization to WNYC after the Commission had denied a formal application for evening time after a hearing [BROADCASTING, Aug. 30].

Right Reserved

CBS made it clear, in withdrawing its opposition, that it does not admit that operation of WNYC during nighttime hours will not interfere with the service of WCCO, and it specifically reserved the right to contest any application filed by New York City for operation for nighttime hours other than as specified in the petition.

WNYC has operated daytime on 830 kc with 1000 watts since 1939. The State of Minnesota as well as CBS had opposed breaking down the clear channel by the proposed evening operation which WNYC had sought since 1939, on the ground that it would interfere with program service to rural listeners in the north central area and that it was contrary to the Commission's rules.

Helps Army Medics

FERRY-HANLY Co., New York, has been assigned by the War Advertising Council to conduct a campaign for the Army Medical Department. Purpose is in part to reassure the public that wounded servicemen are getting the best care, and to recognize heroism of the medical soldier as a morale measure. Agency will appeal to advertisers in radio and other media to contribute time and space to the cause and will provide copy material, through a pamphlet to be issued in a month or so under the title "A Matter of Life and Death."

Mayor LaGuardia to make a survey of public housing in Europe. On his return he was appointed a member of the New York City Housing Authority. In the succeeding years, he led the movement which finally resulted in the passage of the U. S. Housing Act in 1937. President Roosevelt appointed him Administrator of the U. S. Housing Authority in which capacity he served until February 1942.

"WHACHA MEAN BY 'IOWAY PLUS'?"

Lots of people seem to think we're covering a good deal of ground when we talk about reaching "Iowa Plus".

Maybe so. But sometimes we surprise even ourselves! For instance, we'd never have thought that our efforts to sell War Bonds would result in "WHO Clubs" as far away as Georgia or Texas. Yet in Littlefield, Texas, 176 people banded together and bought $30,200 in War Bonds from W-H-O—and in Summerville, Georgia, another group printed special installment books entitled "Local Member W-H-O War Bond Club—A Mighty Club to Beat the Axis, Sponsored by Radio Station W-H-O, Des Moines".

W-H-O is listened-to regularly by thousands of people we'd never dare claim in even our tertiary coverage. W-H-O gives its advertisers a bonus audience that is possibly as large as most Iowa stations' total audience. . . .

That's what we mean by "Iowa Plus". Write for a typical W-H-O mail count—or ask Free & Peters!

Pruning of Sloppy Practices Urged; New Roles for Radio Newsmen

By CHARTER HESLEP

THE Office of Censorship not only has no criticism of Radio's handling of news but is proud of the record being made by the industry as a co-partner in the unprecedented experiment of voluntary, civilian censorship. As of last Saturday, this record showed only 177 confirmed violations of the Broadcasting Code in a total of 12,044 news shows heard or read by the Broadcasting Division's radio news desk. That's a batting average of 98.3% for the radio news editors of the nation acting as their own censors. It is convincing evidence that radio, working with an equally alert press, has succeeded so far in throwing up an effective security screen around our global war operations.—Charter Heslep

THROUGH the operation of two simple controls set up to check on Code observance throughout the country, the radio news desk of Censorship has monitored, reviewed or precensored every one of 12,044 shows.

The two controls are a monitor of network programs which enables us to hear 400 to 600 shows a month and spot checking of selected groups of stations which brings us about the same number of news scripts every 30 days.

These uncounted millions of words include, up to now, the outgivings of more than a hundred network commentators and newscasters and at least one entire week's news production from more than a third of all the stations of the country.

Four Standards

NAB is making a sound move in setting up a committee to formulate standards to be put before the industry that will improve the overall presentation of news on the air. Any apparent shortcomings do not represent an indictment of all broadcasters. In most cases, the practices cited are found in relatively few stations; I may even be accused of fly specking.

The standards that seem pertinent to this committee's discussions are Accuracy, Honesty, Integrity and Responsibility. Let's start with Accuracy.

No single move will do more to achieve accuracy than copyreading. I hope this committee will recommend that no broadcaster ever put a line of news on the air unless it has been read carefully by someone. Consider the care a well-edited paper exercises. Every story is read by the city editor, telegraph editor, or department head. Then a copyreader goes over it, word by word. The news editor gives it a look-see. The composing room proofreads it and the managing editor or some editorial executive checks the proofs before the paper locks up. That's five operations. No wonder bad bulls in the press are collectors' items.

What happens in some radio stations? The ticker buzzes merrily in a corner. Shortly before the next newscast an announcer bounds over, measures up on his arm the amount of copy he needs or snips off the last roundup and rushes to the mike.

Of the 340 stations spotchecked to date more than half originate no news. That means several million listeners get only what comes over the tickers and what is fed from the networks. It seems reasonable to conclude also that in some of these same stations there isn't a single person employed who possesses much newspaper experience. This situation places a terrific responsibility on the networks and the news services serving radio. Doubtless the manpower shortage explains some of this lack of enterprise by individual broadcasters.

Checking the Copy

Copyreading comes as natural as breathing on a newspaper. A $40-a-week desk man has no inferiority complex about cutting the stuff of a $1,000 a week columnist. Station managements should give their news editors complete authority to copyread all material, including press association copy, and have the final word—even if that word means ordering control to cut the program if a commentator tries to use material the editor has ordered out. No commentator, analyst, ace reporter or expert who is not a complete stuffed shirt or afflicted with a messiah complex is going to resent competent and intelligent copyreading.

Dozens of stations, particularly those in semi-rural communities, are attempting considerable local coverage. The police blotter, courts, city government, community meetings and that lifeblood of the small newspaper—the personals—are being used. Here, too, accuracy should be paramount, especially where the relation between station and listener is apt to be very personal.

We've all acquired habits as voluntary censors that should be carried over to post war broadcasting. I refer to the Code request to verify all messages sent in by telephone, to check the source of emergency notices, to edit letters from overseas and to check personal items to see that no clues are given on troop or ship movements. All of these checks promote accuracy—as well as security. Accuracy should be one of the cornerstones in any set of radio news standards.

Honesty is the next standard.

When I was pondering a switch from city room to radio news room, an old broadcasting veteran said to me: "The biggest thing you've got to realize is that you're going into the show business." Well, after I got into radio, and especially after a year on an observation post in Washington, I wonder if radio management wouldn't do well to forget it is in the show business when it is promoting its news department. Legitimate promotion of commentators and services—yes. Frenzied overwriting and extravagant claims for this or that "newsboy"—No.

Today, radio tosses around the words "commentator", "news analyst", "editor", "newscaster" and "reporter" like so many balls kept in the air by a juggler. An opening commercial or top sheet on some stations breathlessly tells you that this or that "international expert, famous newspaperman, ace reporter", is about to give his keen analysis of the news and comment on the great events of the day. And what comes next? A collection of 10 to 15 stories clipped from a wire service. In some cases there isn't a single pencil mark on the copy. This poney buildup also hits a network now and then.

Those Nickel Extras

Then, there is the plagiarist. A wire service man comes up with a good think piece. Or a correspondent gets a real beat. Or a rewrite man happens to do a particularly fine piece of writing. How many commentators give the service or the man credit?

This deception also extends in a lesser degree to the stations. The newspaper labels most of its material. The press and picture associations call quickly and loudly when that log or agate credit line is omitted. But some stations blithely present the news "as gathered by the WWWW newsroom".

A station discovers it has an announcer who is very facile in reading news. He may never have written a story or handled a piece of copy in his life, but in no time at all he may become a commentator. Yet he'd be paralyzed if he had to write his own script.

Remember how you cursed in the old days when you put out a nickel for an extra that amounted to a fake? Well, radio has abolished most of the newspaper extras—both legitimate and spurious—but in some cases has appropriated this vice as its very own. One salu-

WHEN it comes to radio news listening, Charter Heslep is a professional. Chances are he has listened critically to about as many newscasts as anyone you can think of offhand. If you pin him down, Charter will estimate the number at 12,000. In his capacity as Uncle Sam's official ear for newscasts, Charter has formed some conclusions—and some very definite ones, if you don't mind plain talk. Here Charter speaks strictly as a radio news executive, which he was at NBC where he was night news editor. In his U. S. capacity, Charter is news editor under J. Harold Ryan, Assistant Director of Censorship for Broadcasting. These remarks are excerpted from his talk last Thursday before the NAB News Standards Committee. Charter used to be a newspaperman himself—managing editor of the Washington Daily News, in the Nation's Capital.

Warriors on the "FOURTH FRONT"

Mightiest tribute in many a day came when OWI tagged radio the "fourth front" in the war.

Not only on battlefields and through shortwave broadcasts has the industry made the grade, but on the home front as well. Fast, complete news coverage, keen and accurate news analysis show Americans where they stand and where they're going. Powerful weapons in winning wars!

And we at WMCA are proud indeed of our own fourth front warriors . . . men and women carrying on one of New York's hardest hitting news offensives. Proud too that so many advertisers have chosen to attack the New York market by way of WMCA's stronger-than-ever news front.

'Composition of Traffic' Seen As Next Topic of FCC Study

Chairman Indicates Field of Program Content May Get Scanning; Sponsored News an Issue

IMMINENT invasion by the FCC of the field of program content, presumably as an outgrowth of the May 10 Supreme Court decision ascribing to the FCC control over the "composition of the traffic", seen in recent expressions of the Commission, and more particularly Chairman James Lawrence Fly.

Following the hearing Sept. 10 on the proposed sale of the BLUE Network Co. to Edward J. Noble, New York industrialist and broadcaster for $8,000,000 cash, which was devoted almost entirely to programming procedures and policies, Chairman Fly at his press conference last Monday discussed news broadcasts and handling of controversial issues by stations and networks. He posed the question of whether news broadcasts should be sponsored at all.

News Problems

Prior to the May 10 Supreme Court decision, it was generally accepted that the FCC could consider program content only "after the fact" or in cases of license renewals, where past program service of stations could be taken into account. The fact that the BLUE Network proceeding centered around news policies, sponsored programs, and unwillingness of the BLUE and other networks to sell time to membership or cooperative groups, was seen as the first indication of FCC consideration of "composition of the traffic" [BROADCASTING, Sept. 13].

At his press conference, also participated in by Commissioner C. J. Durr, Chairman Fly said the whole question of news coverage and sponsorship would be taken up by the Commission. He said he thought that in the case of the BLUE Network transfer the Commission might well inquire into the general policies and conducts of operations as a basis of approval or disapproval of the transfer.

Alluding to public discussion and the presentation of views on important current issues, political, social or economic, Chairman Fly said the Commission must bear in mind the necessity of having a "broad general public service in radio—not a tendency to constrict and exclude". To the extent that broadcasting fails to meet that public need, Chairman Fly said, it is "deficient".

He said he thought it was time for the industry itself "to take hold of this whole problem and see how opportunities can be made to render broader service and to agree on rendering more fundamental services". He declared the easiest way out may be to "construct and exclude, but it is not so clear that the easiest way out is the most constructive way".

If the industry does not "see the light", Chairman Fly asserted, the matter would be considered by the Commission. He said there was a tendency to avoid these vital questions on public issues by the industry and "to take refuge behind shibboleths rather than move out in a fundamental and vital way and grasp the issues and do something about rendering a public service in regard to them". He continued:

Disguised as News

"I rather suspect that if the present tendency continues, the overall utility of the broadcasting will tend to diminish from day to day, month to month, year to year, simply because of the ease of adopting restrictions and constrictive and exclusive measures. We seem to be simply sticking to the point that so long as an outfit is big enough and has some product to sell over a national network, it will get the time, and if not it won't get it. That's too easy a standard. Then, too, I would suppose it doesn't help that situation any where we permit that small restricted group to promote their own ideas and their own philosophies and press those upon the public's attention. You have that

L. W. Herzog Named FM Sec-Treas., At Open Board Meeting in New York

L. W. HERZOG, W55M (WTMJ) Milwaukee, was elected secretary-treasurer of FM Broadcasters Inc. at an "open" board meeting at the Ambassador, New York, last Tuesday. He succeeds Robert T. Bartley, who resigned this office along with his vice-presidency of the Yankee Network to join the NAB in an executive capacity [BROADCASTING, Aug. 30].

C. M. Jansky Jr., of Jansky & Bailey, Washington consulting radio engineers, was elected technical advisor of FMBI, filling a post that has been vacant since Paul A. de Mars of the Yankee Network, its former occupant, entered the Navy. Walter J. Damm, W55M, FMBI president, was named to represent the organization on the new Radio Technical Planning Board, with Theodore C. Streibert, W71NY (WOR), New York, FMBI vice-president, as his alternate.

Interim reports were delivered by committees studying the advisability of increasing marginal field strength of FM stations from 50 to 100 microvolts and the desirability of retaining or changing the present method of allocating power in a number of instances, which only accentuates the fact that you don't render a broad public service.

"I heard a so-called news program last night. It always is supposed to be a news program. Through the months it has been tending more and more to get away from the news of the day to the philosophies of the particular sponsor. Things like that are done in a somewhat subtle if not over-subtle manner. Only by careful listening do you discover that he is not giving you news or comment on the world news, but is peddling ideas to you from the company headquarters. Where ideas and ideals and philosophies are promoted they ought to be promoted openly, and in any case when they are promoted they should be counterbalanced by other presentations so that the public will have the benefit of both sides of the controversial issues.

"A radio license is a public trust. It may be exploited selfishly, and properly so, but it should not be so exploited exclusively and as against the great public interest. The privilege of extending your voice into the living rooms of virtually all the people of this country is a rare one. It cannot be extended to everybody, and he who undertakes to operate or exercise control over that vital mechanism which belongs to the public, takes with that privilege and that opportunity a grave public duty. The mechanism of free speech and indeed about the only practical mechanism of free speech we have is entrusted to him and it is placed in his hands in trust for the public".

No Change Likely

Asked whether there was any possibility of the Communications Act being rewritten to eliminate the public interest clause (as proposed by the House Select Committee investigating the FCC), Chairman Fly said he did not think there is the "slightest possibility". He added it was conceivable that some of the "powerful interests" might bring so much pressure to bear that there might be some slight change of wording.

Once the "fundamental duty" to serve the public interest is taken away from the license of the broadcaster, Chairman Fly added, "you have prostituted your whole great public mechanism of free speech to selfish interests". The dangers in any system where the broadcaster would not be under a duty to serve the public interest "are well nigh frightening", he added.

From the standpoint of wider public service, Chairman Fly added, it may well be that there ought not to be any sponsorship of news or comment. Declaring he would take no position on that, he added that there are some "splendid examples of courage in news reporters and commentators who are paid by the sponsors". He added he did not intend to level any criticism at such commentators or at their sponsors.

LADY ESTHER CUTS AGENCY CONTRACT

PEDLAR & RYAN, New York, and Lady Esther Co., Chicago, have severed relations, it was learned last week. Agency has been handling the Screen Guild Theatre program started on CBS last October by Lady Esther.

The program was not involved in the disagreement, according to Pedlar & Ryan. Failure of the agency and the sponsor to agree on certain general policies resulted in a mutual agreement to part company, it was said. Separation went into effect last week as far as operations involving copy, production, etc., but the agency has lined up programs for the coming weeks. Selection of another agency is in progress.

The young lady is having a busy day.

She is competing for a prize on "The Missus Goes A-Shopping" ...the favorite quiz-and-fun show of New York housewives. Every program plays to a packed house of 350 women. The waiting list for studio tickets is six weeks long!

It's an informal, zany program, conducted by nimble-tongued John Reed King. From the time the first studio visitor appears, the fun flies thick and fast. It's a madhouse. And for fifteen minutes laughter buckles the walls.

It's the highest rated show in New York at 8:30 A.M. More New York women—more by 88%—listen to "The Missus" than to the second ranking program. In fact, one out of every three radio-available housewives are tuned to "The Missus". 190,365 housewives each day.

Management Responsible, NAB Group Says on 'Editorializing'

Joint Resolution by News and Public Relations Committees Follows Kaltenborn-White Debate

THAT MANAGEMENT of stations and networks must take responsibility for whatever is broadcast over their transmitters was voiced in a resolution on editorializing and the functions of news commentators, issued jointly by the NAB Radio News Committee and the NAB Public Relations Committee at the conclusion of meetings held concurrently at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, last Wednesday and Thursday.

The resolution reads: "Responsibility for all broadcasting rests and must continue to rest on individual station and network managements. The industry recognizes and accepts this responsibility and the Radio News Committee of the NAB is certain that various management policies, however they may occasionally differ, are designed to further the public interest."

Kaltenborn vs. White

The action followed an attack by the veteran news analyst, H. V. Kaltenborn, upon the recent ruling of Paul White, CBS director of news broadcasts, forbidding the voicing of editorial opinion by commentators on that network. Mr. Kaltenborn expressed strong contrary views in an address at a joint luncheon meeting of the two committees on Wednesday, at which the Association of Radio News Analysts were guests.

"Don't hamstring the great cause of free speech on the air by adopting a rigid code of rules to govern all radio commentators," Mr. Kaltenborn told the committees. "Hire the best men you can get for the money you can pay. Tell them frankly what you expect; what you are trying to do on your station or your network and give them their heads. If they get out of line correct them. If they continually violate what you deem to be an essential policy, fire them. But don't pretend that you are going to be able to keep a commentator worth his salt from expressing his personal opinions."

White Restates Views

Taking issue with Mr. White, the commentator cited article six of the code of the Assn. of Radio News Analysts, of which he is president: "The Association opposes all censorship of broadcast material, except insofar as duly required by governmental authorities in the interest of public safety during a national emergency."

After the meeting Mr. White restated the policies he outlined to CBS news analysts Sept. 7. Emphasizing the network's lack of editorial views except in regard to radio itself, he said that "by extension, those men selected by us to interpret or analyze the news must also refrain from expression of editorial opinion or our non-editorial position becomes an empty shell."

Mr. White said, "Ideally, in the case of controversial issues, the audience should be left with no impressions as to which side the analyst himself actually favors."

The function of a news analyst, Mr. White said, "is to marshal the facts . . . and out of his common or specific knowledge to present these facts so as to inform his listeners rather than persuade them. The analyst should attempt to clear up any contradictions with the known record, should fairly present both sides of controversial questions, and in short, should give the best available information upon which listeners can make up their own minds."

Mr. White bases his views on the limitation of available frequencies, a basic difference between radio and press as media for public expression. Without a non-editorial policy, he declared, a powerful one-sided position on serious issues could readily be taken by a small group of broadcasters. Permitting 30 or 40 news analysts with nationwide audiences and regular periods to build loyal listeners, the freedom to preach their own views "would be to create for CBS a super-editorial page instead of no editorial page at all. Then freedom of the air, within the genuine spirit of democracy, would be merely a hollow phrase," he concluded.

Radio News Courses

The recently organized Radio News Committee announced as its first major project a plan for aiding schools and colleges in the installation of courses on technique of preparing news for broadcasting and presenting it on the air. The committee will study courses at Columbia U. and Northwestern U. and will consult with educators to expedite placing these courses in as many educational institutions as possible to help alleviate the serious personnel shortage in radio news bureaus, the announcement stated.

The committee took no action at its initial meeting on the problems of newscast operation and standards, deciding to withhold definite recommendations for the next meeting, which will be held in about two months.

During its two-day meeting, the news committee heard Charter Hespel of the Radio Division, Office of Censorship, in a talk titled "After 12,000 Newscasts" [see (Continued on page 58)]

NBC Public Service Programs Up 60%; Betterment is Goal, States Trammell

EXPRESSING satisfaction with development of NBC's public service programs since the establishment of a separate public service department nine months ago, Niles Trammell, president of NBC, stated that still better programs are the department's goal for the coming year. Mr. Trammell spoke Sept. 15 at the conclusion of the annual two-day meeting in New York of the public service division, at which Dr. James Rowland Angell, public service counselor, presided.

According to a report by William Burke Miller, manager of the department and war program manager, public service programs have increased by about 60 per cent in the nine-month period, while Dwight Herrick, assistant manager of public service, explained to the group the status of the NBC Listeners Advisory Panel, and demonstrated with recordings promotion for public service programs through the NBC "Parade of Stars."

Others to Assist

A plan for a public service series which would invite the cooperation of outside groups at different intervals through the coming year was suggested by Clarence L. Menser, vice-president in charge of programs. A. L. Ashby, vice-president and general counsel, reviewed the status of public service broadcasting in the light of the Supreme Court ruling on the FCC regulations, and Albert E. Dale, director of information, brought the meeting up to date on political developments in Washington.

A total of 28,182 nurses, 89,994 nurses aides, and 749,475 home nursing students have been enrolled by the Red Cross through the NBC program That They Might Live, it was reported by Jane Tiffany Wagner, director of women's war activities, adding that the figures were still incomplete.

Representatives of other NBC divisions making reports at the meeting included:

Frank E. Mullen, vice-president and general manager; John F. Royal, vice-president in charge of international relations; Sterling Fisher, assistant public service counselor; Sheldon B. Hickox Jr., manager of the stations department; Judith Walker, manager of the central division public service department; Jennings Pierce, who is in charge of the same division on the West Coast; Albert Crews, of the central division production staff; Doris Corwith, assistant to Dr. Angell; Arthur Horvath, public service promotion manager; Eldie Grief of the press division; Lewis Titterton, manager of the script department; John H. MacDonald, vice-president in charge of finance; Max Jordan, director of religious broadcasts; Eric Brunau, editor of the script division; Gilbert Chase, music specialist. Also present were David Saroff, president of RCA; William S. Hedges, vice-president in charge of station relations; Frank E. Mason, vice-president on leave, and John Elwood, manager of KPO, NBC outlet in San Francisco. The two-day meeting concluded with a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria with Dr. Angell acting as toastmaster.

Lucy Heads CBS Affiliates Group Board Votes Action Against Mutual Rebroadcast Plan

C. T. LUCY, general manager of WRVA, CBS Richmond affiliate, was elected chairman of the CBS Affiliates Advisory Board at their fall meeting in New York Sept. 15 and 16. Mr. Lucy was unable to attend and Arthur B. Church, president of the Midland Broadcasting Co., served as temporary chairman. Mr. Lucy has been general manager of WRVA since the 50,000 watt station was established in 1925, and has also served with NAB.

Mr. Lucy

Discourage Practice

Members unanimously passed a resolution against "the proposal for transcribed rebroadcasting of programs originally broadcast over one network, by another network"—a direct action against Mutual's Daytime Playhouse Plan [BROADCASTING, Aug. 30]. Opposition was voiced by the three other major networks soon after details of the plan were revealed, the complaints claiming the proposal is detrimental to network radio as well as to nighttime radio [BROADCASTING, Sept. 6].

The resolution reads:

Resolved that, in view of the wastage of radio facilities which would result from the indiscriminate duplication of radio programs in the same areas, the proposal for transcribed rebroadcasting of programs originally broadcast over one network by another network is contrary to the public interest, and the members of the Columbia Affiliates Advisory Board hereby request Columbia to take all possible steps to discourage any such practice."

Triple-Threat Plan

Board also discussed "Triple Threat" booklet the network sent out to affiliates, advertisers and agencies, recommending the elimination by Oct. 1, 1944, of all hitchhike and cow-catcher announcements, as detrimental to commercial radio. The group passed a resolution limiting station break announcements to service announcements with non-competitive sponsorship and cushioned by intervals preceding and following station breaks.

Members attending were: Franklin Doolittle, WDCR Hartford; John M. Rivers, WCSC Charleston, S. C.; Hoyt B. Wooten, WREC Memphis; C. W. Myers, KOIN Portland, Ore.; I. R. Lounsbury, WKBW Buffalo; Arthur B. Church, KMBC Kansas City, Mo.; Leo J. Fitzpatrick, WJR Detroit.

AN AWARD
 AND A PROMISE

WRGB has received the Award of the American Television Society for the "greatest contribution to television program development of the year." In recognition of this award, station WRGB makes this promise—to rededicate itself to experimentation which will advance the art of television programming and studio techniques.

▲ Television station WRGB is a popular place with Schenectadians and visitors to the city, as well as the source of entertainment for television set owners of the area. Programs were televised by G.E. as early as '28 on station WGY, but came into their own when WRGB began operation late in 1939. In the new studio, opened in mid-1941, programs are now run 8 to 10 hours a week, Mondays, Thursdays, and Fridays.

One of the many fine programs televised by WRGB was "The Rivals," starring students of Russell Sage College. Continually experimenting and developing new techniques, General Electric's television station has put on numerous other types of programs, such as concerts, sports events, movies, and public service productions.

College Radio Courses Need Revision

More Background Work And Less Technical Training Needed

By CLARENCE L. MENSER

Vice-president in Charge of Programs,
NBC

RECENT discussions in BROADCASTING concerning the contributions the colleges are making through courses in radio, have been very interesting. It seems to me, however, that Prof. Raymond W. Tyson of Pennsylvania State College in his defense of the colleges has missed much of the real point. No one in the industry should say that the colleges have not made a worthwhile contribution.

Prof. Tyson is pretty general in his statements, but the subject he is treating is one in which it is difficult to be specific. No one can indicate in measurable units just what anybody's contribution to the radio industry is likely to be.

It seems, however, that the college courses in radio are very busy doing things they shouldn't attempt, while neglecting some of the obvious things which they are eminently qualified to do. A parallel might be drawn from the field of medicine. We wouldn't think very highly of a college which set up courses in medicine designed to give its freshman students a sharp knife and an adjustable saw with which they could start in cutting muscles and sawing off legs.

Preparatory Work

Every reputable college which wants to make a contribution to the field of medicine offers pre-medical courses. These courses are built on a theory that every good doctor should have a background of general information about the human body, about chemistry and a lot of other things that are basic to his use of various techniques which he learns elsewhere.

Colleges which want to do courses in radio should take a page from this book. They should quit trying to teach the professional techniques, which they are not equipped to teach either in personnel or equipment. Instead, they should spend the time on things they are prepared to do well. For example, for potential writers in radio, college courses can do a tremendous service by teaching things which can be taught about the business of writing.

Two phases are especially important. One is actual writing and the other is a study which will give a background for that writing. Much can be taught about the use of words. The average writer who comes to us for a job has apparently never learned very much about the expert use of words in picturesque speech. Yet words are the things upon which he is to base his career.

Likewise he doesn't know very much about writing for character types. And in thousands of cases he has never learned to stimulate his imagination and then apply it to his writing either in the type of people he creates or the type of situation he plots.

A radio writing course could give a lot of study to dramatic structure and to plot and story lines. Certainly it should involve a critical analysis of popular radio shows, both as to their structure and as to their audience acceptance or rating. A fundamental writing course should give training in adaptation of various literary works, with particular emphasis on the problems of translating extremely visual scenes into an acceptable form for radio.

Background Important

The actor in a college course could be given tremendously important background material. The average actor has very little conception of what kind of an instrument his voice really is. Thousands of actors who come to us for auditions are handicapped by the fact that they play upon their voices exactly like a fiddle player who saws away on a single string.

The fact that the human voice is capable of great flexibility and that this flexibility, as to color and quality and all the other aspects, is tremendously important in the overall effectiveness of the broadcast is given too little emphasis. The same thing applies to diction and to study of characterization and other basic elements in the actor's art. In these fields much can be taught. And a college course is a proper place for it.

For the producer, the study should not begin with producing programs. It should begin with background training. This training should involve study of the literature of music and drama. It should involve an analysis and study of successful programs on the air. It should include musical training in order to develop an ear for sound. In this connection, it is amazing how many producers, are inclined to direct with their eyes instead of with their ears.

In many cases, this is because they simply have had no basic training to educate their ears to voices and to music. Even a study of scene design is a proper part of the radio producer's background.

Needs Background

Many other items might be mentioned. They all point to the fact that the average applicant for a programming job in a major station or major network is woefully lacking in a sound substantial background of the things on which he should base his professional career. In the early days of radio this was perhaps unavoidable. It isn't avoidable any longer. Colleges start talking about teaching things which they are qualified to teach and which the professional radio industry isn't much interested in teaching. And by the same reasoning, the colleges should leave to professional radio—or at least to professional radio schools—the perfection of those techniques which, when applied to the proper background, make for an expertness which would be a real contribution to the radio industry.

Wall Paper Test

UNITED Wall Paper Factories, Chicago, (cedar closet wall paper and ready pasted wall paper) on Sept. 6 started a test campaign of station breaks and participations five times weekly in four markets on WCCP WHO WGY KGO. Agency is MacFarland, Aveyard & Co. Chicago.

FAST THINKING by Shep Chartoc, WNAX director, when the skies opened up on the Spirit of '43 broadcast from Yankton, S. D., at dedication of WNAX's new 927-foot tower, produced the moving van-studio. The drenched actors (l to r), Chuck Worcester, CBS farm director, Fred Howard, the D. Pemberton Toohey of Ma Perkins, and Art Smith, WNAX, program director, with Chartoc, Al Chance, producer, and Mrs. Flo Warner, CBS educational director, far back in the van, took refuge here when the alert Chartoc hired the truck and drove to the rescue.

CHOCOLATE DRIVE DEFIES SHORTAGE

ROCKWOOD & CO., Brooklyn, will enter its annual seasonal campaign for Chocolate Bits in October, with one of the largest spot schedules in its history, despite limited supplies.

Intent on reinforcing its brand in anticipation of the post-war period, Rockwood is running institutional commercials—not a usual practice for a spot advertiser. To avoid disappointing purchasers, announcements explain that while Chocolate Bits may not always be available, each dealer will get some from time to time.

Home economics programs have produced best results for Rockwood, and this year's schedule consists of three to five weekly participations on this type of program on 19 stations in selected markets from coast to coast, with the possibility of adding others. Drive starts Oct. 4 on WOR WSBR WBZ WNAC WGN WJR WFBM KSTP KDKA WJAR WTAQ KMOX KOIL KIRO KNX KQW KYW WSAI WBen and will continue through May of next year. Schedule is similar to the 1941-Pre-Pearl Harbor line-up of 19 stations. Last year only 12 stations were used. Agency is Federal Adv., New York.

Dr. Pepper to Sponsor Sunday Blue Program

DR. PEPPER BOTTLING Co., Dallas, which has used radio for many years, is entering network radio this fall with a Sunday half-hour program on 114 BLUE stations, starting Oct. 3, 4-4:30 p.m. According to Tracy-Locke-Dawson, Dallas, the agency, time has definitely been purchased but the company does not yet wish to announce the format.

The show will feature Al Pearce. Dr. Pepper now uses announcements on about 144 stations throughout the country, but it is not known whether this spot schedule will be continued.

Beaumont-Grove Spots

BEAUMONT Labs., St. Louis, a subsidiary of Grove Labs., through Donahue & Coe, New York, will start its annual campaign for Four-Way Cold Tablets, Oct. 4. Schedule is expected to comprise about 200 stations, as compared to 75 last year. Firm will use locally built programs, concentrating on news. The agency has lined up a similar spot campaign on about 100 stations for Grove Labs., in behalf of Grove Vitamins. Agency handles advertising for this product in the East and South. Campaign starts Sept. 15.

Shell in Minnesota

SHELL OIL Co., New York, as in past seasons, is sponsoring quarter-hour periods preceding and following U of Minnesota games on KSTP St. Paul, and the Minnesota Network. First program gives "dope" on the teams and players of the day's game, and the second program covers highlights of the game and scores of other gridiron events. Agency is J. Walter Thompson Co., New York.

DOLLAR

...is it working effectively for you?

Perhaps you haven't thought about the eighth dollar of your radio budget. Or about the sixteenth and the eightieth and eight-hundredth.

These are the dollars (and every eighth dollar of your appropriation) that should be at work for you in America's greatest market . . . where $\frac{1}{8}$ (12.3%) of the nation's retail purchases are made . . . Metropolitan New York. They should be bringing your sales-message to people who pour six-billion dollars a year into the tills of retail merchants.

If one-eighth of your radio money is not working for you in New York . . . if you are under-spending in this vital market . . . chances are you're under-selling here as well. And that means you need WOV.

WOV, with its array of hit programs, with its complete coverage of this entire market, with its lowest-cost-per-listener of any New York independent, can turn your extra dollars into extra sales and bring you your full share of this greatest market of them all. No other Metropolitan station can make those eighth dollars do so much!

Where "E" means more

To some, the letter "E" is merely the fifth letter of the alphabet. To Detroiters and Clevelanders, it has more significant meaning. To them, "E" is the symbol of excellence so many of them wear so proudly for their records in war production. It is significant, as well, of the $420.88 average per family invested in "E" War Bonds . . . an accomplishment which sets a high mark for the entire nation. It indicates their determination to help end the war as soon as possible. We think, too, that it might well stand for the ease with which WJR and WGAR blanket two of America's greatest markets . . . in war or in peace.

National War Fund Tops OWI Campaigns for Week of Oct. 11

Other Subjects are Listed in Preview of War Messages to Be Aired by Broadcasters

TOPPING the war message schedule for the week beginning Oct. 11 are campaigns for "National War Fund" and "Stick to Your War Job." Both subjects are covered in recordings sent by OWI to affiliated and independent stations in both the "KW" and "OI" station groups. Other subjects to be covered during the week of Oct. 11 are indicated in the accompanying table, which will show any station operator what war messages his station is scheduled to receive for broadcast during that week.

Although not designated for sponsorship, and therefore not permitted to be sold, the announcements on "Better Breakfasts and Lunches" would seem to be popular material for certain groups of sponsors who will probably be interested in giving time for these spots during the course of their programs. The government is interested in promotion of better nutrition for children, war plant workers and all who may be lacking an adequate diet. Local food concerns may wish to tie in.

War Fund; War Jobs

"National War Fund" is the cooperative effort of 17 national relief and service organizations, combined with thousands of local community relief groups, to raise funds for their activities. The drive begins Monday, Oct. 4, for a goal of $125,000,000, to be raised by Nov. 20. This is the national wartime version of the Community Chest campaigns. Unlike most OWI messages, the NWF announcements will be live messages supplied by local Fund leaders.

"Stick to Your War Job" is a campaign designed to curb the alarming and undesirable turnover among workers in war plants. They must be told how important it is that the flow of supplies to the men at the fronts be continued without any slowing down or interruptions. Stations in war production centers may find opportunities for specially effective use of these messages.

"Better Breakfasts and Lunches" is a phase of the nutrition drive. The announcements, for independent stations in all groups, urge listeners to supplement breakfast meals with cereals, eggs and fruit, and to add plenty of green and yellow vegetables, fruit and milk to their lunches.

Scheduled on the networks are announcements in behalf of WAC recruiting and Red Cross Nursing Classes, as well as the announcements for the National War Fund. OWI states that the WAC enlistment rate must be tripled in order to fill the 200,000 specialized Army jobs now open to women. Opportunities for service will be extended to 20-year-old girls and women between 45 and 50.

Red Cross Classes

To prepare for the coming year when hospital facilities and the medical profession will be even more overtaxed than now, the American Red Cross has organized a drive to enroll women in classes for home nurses and for those who can serve as nurses aides in hospitals and clinics. The announcements will explain that there are courses for those who can spare 10 hours per week, with actual practice in military and civilian hospitals; and a two-hour course for those who wish to be prepared when illness strikes at home.

"Hold Prices Down" is a campaign to be carried on the networks the week of Oct. 11, via the Special Assignment Plan [BROADCASTING, Sept. 13], and with live announcements on the National Spot Plan. Listeners will be told of the Government's seven-point program to hold prices in line, and will be urged to use that line for a springboard as they join the fight against inflation.

For better timing of transcribed war messages for the week of Oct. 11, station program managers are urged to consult OWI's Schedule No. 77. This lists subjects assigned under the Network Allocation Plan and the National Spot Plan, thereby avoiding conflicts and duplications of subject at too frequent intervals.

Batteries Wear Out

RADIO batteries being difficult to obtain, one determined rural listener of KSFP Minneapolis-St. Paul takes the batteries from her telephone and uses them on her radio. The system works fine but the telephone company is beginning to wonder why her phone batteries wear out so rapidly.

OVERSEAS RADIO BUREAU REVAMPED

LOU COWAN, formerly head of the radio outpost division of the Radio Program Bureau of the OWI's Overseas Branch, has been named chief of the Bureau, in a reorganization of that unit. Joseph Barnes, deputy director of Atlantic operations, has been acting head of the Bureau since resignation last July of John Housman, now with Paramount pictures.

New head of the radio outpost division is Al Hollander, former assistant chief in the program division. Mr. Hollander also serves as assistant deputy director of Atlantic operations. The program division is now headed by Lawrence J. Blochman, formerly in broadcast control. Werner Michel has been named head of the broadcasting division, formerly known as the production division. The fourth unit of the Bureau, the script analysis division, has been placed under the direction of Leonard Carleton, who previously headed the program division.

Purpose of the reorganization is to chart the administrative setup of the organization on paper, it was explained by William H. Webber, special assistant to the Director of Overseas Operations. No change in policy is involved, he said.

The script analysis division constitutes the only new addition to the organization. It establishes a radio critic in the Bureau to obtain audience point of view and to determine the effectiveness of programs—a function long needed, according to Mr. Webber.

Godwin Renewed

EARL GODWIN'S news program has been renewed by Ford Motor Co., for another 13-week period beginning Oct. 9 and running to Jan. 8, 1944. Maxon Inc., Detroit, is agency.

Radio Cooperation Is Lauded by OWI

Station Relations Head Praises Voluntary Control Centers

EXCELLENT cooperation of the broadcasting industry in setting up voluntary control centers to facilitate clearance of government programs with OWI regional offices was reported last week by John W. Hymes, Radio Bureau station relations chief.

Prior to leaving for a tour of Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles, which will wind up a series of meetings with the 12 station relations regional offices, Mr. Hymes stated that the control plan is now in operation and gives every promise of working smoothly.

He asserted that the regional consultants to OWI have been especially helpful in presenting the plan in cities where the centers operate. The willingness of stations to join in setting up the centers and paying the expenses is a recognition of the importance of the program, he said.

Stations Clear Programs

The voluntary centers, he explained, are performing the liaison work of field offices disbanded by OWI when its funds were reduced by Congress [BROADCASTING, July 26]. Stations clear government programs through the centers which in turn clear with the OWI regional station relations office in the territory.

Recently, visits were made to New England cities by Hal Fellows, general manager of WEEL, who is the Boston OWI regional consultant, and Walter A. Hackett, OWI regional chief, to explain the plan for the voluntary centers. They reported complete acceptance of the plan in the following centers in which station representatives were selected as follows: Worcester, Mass., Dave Harris, WTAG; Springfield, Mass., Wayne Latham, WSPK; Hartford, Conn., Paul Lucas, WTIC.

Another group of centers was set up in New York state as the result of visits made by Herb Petter, managing director for WHN, who is regional consultant for New York, and Harry Levin, OWI regional chief. The new centers and the representatives chosen are: Rochester, Charles Siverson, WHAM; Syracuse, Robert Soule, WFBL; Buffalo, Edgar Twamley, WBEN.

Mr. Hymes plans to meet with OWI regional chiefs, consultants, local stations and advertising agencies on his tour of the West. Upon his return, he expects to have the full list of voluntary centers, embracing about 30 cities.

E. R. BORROFF, manager of WENR Chicago and vice-president in charge of BLUE network midwest operations, has been appointed consultant for the OWI regional office in Chicago.

Westinghouse Changes

GWILYM PRICE, president of Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Co., Pittsburgh, has been elected a vice-president of Westinghouse Electric Mfg. Co. He assumed his duties Sept. 15. Westinghouse in New York has made a number of changes in the managing personnel of district offices. David M. Salisbury transfers from the North Pacific district to New York, while W. M. Jewell, acting manager at Detroit, and San Francisco manager, has been shifted to Seattle. John H. Fisher, New York general manager, becomes Middle Atlantic district manager.

8-In-1 Spots

FORD HOPKINS Co., Chicago (8-in-1 cold tablets), starting Oct. 5 will sponsor two live shows and time signal announcements on an undisclosed number of stations. One of the shows, Radio Gossip Club, featuring Eddie and Fanny Cavanaugh will be heard Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays on WMAQ, Chicago, 12:45-1 p.m.; the other, Names Behind the News, on the same days of the week, 5:25-5:30 p.m. Both shows will run 26 weeks, and the time signal announcements at seven a week for 24 weeks. Agency is H. W. Kastor & Sons, Chicago.

Pulpwood Opportunity

WHILE over 1,000 newspapers are carrying advertisements placed by local paper mills in the nation wide campaign of the War Activities Committee of the Pulpwood Consuming Industries, there is little indication that radio stations are taking advantage of the opportunity to sell time to the mills, a committee spokesman said last week. Committee is engaged in a drive to increase pulpwood by urging farmers to cut wood in their farm lots. Additional workers in the pulpwood industry are also sought.

Best Foods Expanding

BEST FOODS Inc., New York, currently experiencing the greatest sales year in its history, will further expand through six major advertising media, including radio, according to Albert Brown, advertising and merchandising director. Radio is confined to programs on WOR and WEVD New York, the Moylan Sisters weekly quarter on the BLUE on behalf of Force cereal having been discontinued early in August.

Extends Campaign

TAYLOR REED Corp., Mamaroneck, N. Y., will extend its fall newspaper advertising campaign in behalf of Jumbo pudding, and Cocoa Marsh milk booster, and is expected to use radio after the first of the year for these products. Firm introduced Jumbo pudding via radio in 1941. Agency is Tracy, Kent & Co., New York.

IN A RIFT with Fanny Brice over air credit, Phil Rapp, writer-director of the NBC Marvell House Coffee Time, resigned following the Sept. 9 broadcast. Al Kaye, West Coast radio director of Benton & Bowles, has taken over production.

WJZ's A.M. RATING IS 2½ TIMES HIGHER OUTSIDE NEW YORK

Crossley "Multiple Market" Survey of 68,226 Homes Shows WJZ Has Larger Audience in Outside Area of 8,100,000 People . . . Morning, Afternoon and Night.

Crossley made the survey during the last two weeks in May . . . 68,226 coincidental telephone calls in Metropolitan New York, Philadelphia, and eight key cities of 75,000 population or over outside of Metropolitan New York, but within WJZ's half-millivolt line. These eight cities are representative of this vast Outside Area where 8,100,000 people live.

Crossley's findings have made it possible to establish a factor between a station's New York rating and its rating in this prosperous Outside Area. WJZ's factor during the morning periods is 2½ . . . in other words, its rating Outside is just that much greater than its New York rating. So, on WJZ, a 2.0 rating in New York means a 5.0 Outside — a 5.0 means a 12.5 and so on.

Mr. Basil A. Caparell
Sales Manager
International News Service
New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Caparell:

Four months in station KOIL have convinced me that INS is tops in news coverage, foreign, domestic and local, as well as in cooperation along the lines that make newscasts and special programs click.

Some find special events programs have been built around INS wire stories such as "A-and-A" divisionals out of Washington on rationing, manpower and similar subjects. A recent exclusive INS feature from "Somewhere in New Guinea", about one Hunk Elsasser coming home to marry an Omaha girl enabled us to get the girl to the studios and interview her on a special program.

In addition to being on top of all news developments, Mr. Trimble, KOIL news director, reports INS wire copy written with good color and especially adaptable to good newscasts.

Dick Randolph, INS managing editor, keeps our news department supplied with a continuous flow of top Iowa and Nebraska stories from correspondents and from the Des Moines bureau, as well as covering the local front to our complete satisfaction.

Just thought you'd like a frank comment about your service.

Sincerely yours,

Hugh Feltis
General Manager

A New, National Advertising Campaign to create larger audiences for Blue Network Programs

Advertisers using The BLUE know from experience that The BLUE, for the past three years, has been doing the “head-and-shoulders” job of building audiences for BLUE programs.

This has been accomplished through our “Audience Building Kits”—and the wholehearted cooperation of our stations from coast to coast.

IN THE WORKS NOW—is a new, national advertising campaign to be conducted by The Blue Network and its affiliated stations—to build still larger audiences.

We’ve been working on plans for the past year or so; we’ve developed many “blaze-the-trail” ideas; and with more and more good new programs starting on The BLUE—we’ve got much more to offer the radio homes of America than ever before.

AND WE ARE GOING TO CALL THEIR ATTENTION TO ALL OUR PROGRAMS—to build more audiences and better ratings for our advertisers—to continue to make The BLUE A CONSTANTLY BETTER BUY FOR OUR ADVERTISERS.

Watch for the full story of The BLUE’s new Audience Campaign.

Milk Rationing, Subsidy Planned, Asserts Bowles

ACUTE PROBLEMS in milk production are leading OPA to plan measures for milk rationing and subsidy payments to maintain output and hold prices in line, Chester Bowles, OPA general manager, said last week.

A new OPA program to cut another 23% from the cost of living through reductions in prices of apples, oranges, onions, potatoes, lard, vegetable oils, and peanut butter is planned he said.

A new, cooperative program for price compliance is in preparation.

A release issued last week directed attention to the amendment of 250 OPA price regulations changing grade marking and standard requirements to conform with the Taft Amendment to the Price Control Act. This was passed by Congress to block unauthorized attempts to institute a system of grade labeling. The report points out where OPA has relied on established trade practices to fix price-controlled products.

RECOMMENDATION to local draft boards for occupational deferment of advertising agency writers and producers will be made by the California State Selective Service. This announcement was made by Col. Kenneth H. Leitch, state director of CSSS, in a communication to the Hollywood committee representing the broadcasting industry.

New CBC Executives

A NUMBER of changes among top ranking executives of the National Program Office of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., at Toronto, have been announced, following resignations of assistant program supervisor George Taggart and Drama Supervisor Rupert Lucas [BROADCASTING, Aug. 30]. Charles Jennings, Toronto, supervisor of program planning, succeeds to the post of assistant supervisor of programs. Andrew Allan, CBR Vancouver, drama producer, has been moved to Toronto to become CBC drama supervisor, and R. S. Lambert moves from educational broadcast advisor to supervisor of educational broadcasts. Jennings has been with the CBC since its inception, before that being chief announcer at ex-CKGW Toronto. Allan has been with CBR for a number of years. Lambert came from the BBC shortly before the war, having been editor of BBC's publication, The Listener.

Canada Seeks Thaw

RESCINDING of the freeze order on power increases will be asked by the Canadian Assn. of Broadcasters at the Sept. 20 meeting of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. Board of Governors at Ottawa. A CAB delegation will meet with the CBC Board to consider the Parliamentary Committee on Broadcasting's recommendation that Canadian stations be allowed to increase power to the limit of the Havana Treaty before the time limit expires. Canadian independent stations are limited to 1 kw, except those that had more power before the CBC took control November 2, 1936. Many stations with more than the 1 kw limit could go to 50 kw with CBC permission, but CBC policy is to keep all high powered stations within its own organization, such as CBA CBF CBL CBK.

Show for Canadian Drive

PRACTICALLY all Canadian stations will be used on the Fifth Victory Loan All-Star Variety Show, an hour network program to run five weeks prior to and during the Victory Loan campaign for $1,200,000,000, the largest ever held in Canada, and the second this year. Seventy-one stations will be used on the English speaking net on Wednesdays 9-10 p.m., starting Oct. 6, and 14 stations on the French language net Sundays, 8-9 p.m. starting Oct. 3. The War Finance Group of the Advertising Agencies of Canada, a pool of all agencies, is placing the account.

Issues That Don't Exist

IS THE FCC moving in on control of the "composition of the traffic" over the air?

That, in the language of the Frankfurter opinion of the Supreme Court last May 10, is a function of the FCC. It means, in plain words, control over station programs. The Communications Act says just as plainly that the Commission shall have no censorship power.

Events of the last few days appear to frame the picture on "composition of the traffic". At the initial hearing on the proposed sale of the BLUE Network to Edward J. Noble Sept. 20, practically all of the questions from the bench were on program policies and procedures, and the sale of time for discussion of controversial issues. Matters relating to the qualifications of the proposed new owner, or to finances and physical structure, which is what the hearing is about, were hardly touched upon. Another hearing was scheduled 10 days later.

Chairman Fly at his press conference last Monday—a day before Congress reconvened—discoursed freely on news programs and commentators and discussion of controversial issues. If the industry does not see the light, he said, it will be a matter "for the consideration of the Commission".

Everyone in radio is interested in discussion of both sides of controversial issues. Radio's record has been excellent on that score. But till now we didn't know it was a matter of grave concern at the FCC or that it was any of the Commission's business except in those rare instances where palpable unfairness cropped up, and became a subject of formal complaint. Then the FCC, as we always understood the statute, could take into account the past service of the station on renewal of license, or in revocation proceedings.

The Communications Act specifically precludes the FCC from exercising program censorship. In its narrowest concept, that means the scratching out of particular words or sentences or passages. Censorship takes on a new connotation in wartime. That is a function specifically delegated to a wartime agency—The Office of Censorship.

Then where does the FCC's function begin or end as construed in the light of the Supreme Court opinion and of the Communications Act of 1934? If the terms are not contradictory, they are, to say the least, confusing.

At the BLUE Network hearing CIO, although not a party in interest, was allowed to use it as a sounding board, even to the point of cross-examination of witnesses. CIO, its counsel said, wants the right to buy time but also wants more good sustaining time. It wants to solicit memberships. The NAB Code, adhered to in principle by the networks, precludes the sale of time to membership organizations who sell ideologies, rather than merchandise. We think it is a sound policy.

The questioning at the BLUE hearing appeared to be slanted toward some requirement, somehow, that would force equal allotment of time, either sustaining or commercial, to all comers whether the listeners want it or not; whether it's good radio or bad. It sounded for all the world like the common carrier concept.

Congress has said also that broadcasting stations are not common carriers. Their rates are not to be fixed or regulated. Congress said "hands off" to the FCC on both censorship and rate regulation.

There is no issue on the matter of balancing time for the discussion of controversial matters. It's being done. We're all against anything that would retard radio's public service mission, just as we're all against sin. But radio, we hear, has done nobly, in spite of all this poppycock about issues that don't exist.

Congress is in session again. Proposed legislation to clear up the record and end the confusion is pending. It isn't a case of personalities or injured feelings. It's simply a question of having Congress, as the duly delegated spokesmen for the electorate, speak on a matter entrusted to it alone.

No's for News

FIVE YEARS of hot, hopping news from all parts of a warring globe culminated a few days ago in the radio surrender of Italy and Gen. Eisenhower's radio announcement of the nation's capitulation. Yet even higher peaks will be attained before radio and the press have finished reporting World War II.

To meet its role, both media are continually developing their technique and preparing to improve their methods in the years ahead. Members of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. heard the relative roles of radio and press discussed in Chicago Sept. 8-11. And the News Standards Committee of the NAB went into radio's particular role in New York last Thursday.

The need for continuous improvement of radio's reporting of the news was born out at the AP session where it was agreed that radio is forcing newspapers to adopt new and better methods. Competition between the two media, now friendly, should become even more so as they work together in their separate tasks of informing the public they serve.

As broadcasters look over their news structure they will find helpful a series of observations by Charter Heslep, News Editor, Broadcasting Division, Office of Censorship. Charter spoke in his unofficial capacity as a radio newsman and pointed out some places where improvement can be made. His observations are printed on another page of this issue.

First observation centers around Accuracy, of which there obviously should be plenty in the transmission of news to the listening millions. Any newsman knows that accuracy is mostly a matter of hard work, but Charter points out that news editors must have sufficient authority to do a thorough job of checking and copyreading.

No. 2 Heslep point is Honesty, with phoney buildups of newscasters, false labels, lack of credit lines and the overworked "bulletin" drawing his special wrath.

Finally, says Charter, the broadcaster owes Responsibility to listeners. It is a responsibility on the part of news editors to fight for their rights and a responsibility on the part of stations to present the most complete coverage possible. Incidentally he calls for more and better coverage of local news.

JOHN VINCENT LAWLESS HOGAN

IF WQXR New York, recently styled by publisher M. Lincoln Shuster as the "radio station with a soul," sprang from the brow of John V. L. Hogan of Forest Hills, Long Island, it did so because the very pattern of his life ordained that it should. WQXR was a "natural" for a man whose hobbies reveal an honest lover of classical music, founder of a church choir and an amateur pianist and xylophonist, all superimposed upon a career as one of the nation's foremost electronic engineers.

Mr. Hogan is the inventor of the "gang-condenser", or single dial control, which transformed the radio receiver in the '20's from a mess of tuning gadgets to the single dial control. Born in Philadelphia, Feb. 14, 1890, he attended the University School of New Haven, and Sheffield Scientific School at Yale U. As far back as 1907, he was associated with DeForest, inventor of radio's touch-stone—the vacuum tube, and in 1910, Mr. Hogan joined Prof. R. A. Fessenden's transatlantic station at Brant Rock, Mass., as chief research engineer, later becoming manager. In 1921 he resigned to "freelance" as a consulting engineer. In that pre-QXR era, he was active in broadcast allocation work, and was a key witness in the 1928 broadcast reallocation hearings in Washington. His dexterity on the witness stand still lingers in the memory of those who participated in those momentous broadcasting days.

WQXR, Mr. Hogan's brain child, first saw light in 1929 when, operating on 100 watts, it started as an experimental television sound station. To the accompaniment of the televised images, Mr. Hogan used classical records on the sound track—for no better reason than that he liked them. To his surprise, people who could not receive the images could pick up the musical accompaniment—and he was soon deluged with fan mail, pleading that he continue the broadcasts.

But if Mr. Hogan's station was conceived in the image of classical music, it was no less dedicated to high fidelity reproduction. The fact that WQXR was a pioneer in high fidelity transmission was no accident, because this was another field in which Mr. Hogan was experimenting at the time. High fidelity was especially important to him since overtones and high frequencies are vital to the accurate transmission of good music.

Cynics scowled when Mr. Hogan told them that he was ready to attempt to make a commercial "go" of a station that assumed the listener was an intelligent and cultured person. Others said this was the most amazing

Lord Baltimore Filling Stations know their way around these parts. So, when they decided to sponsor the Washington Redskins Professional Football Team this season, Station W-I-T-H was selected to cover the Baltimore area.

Many reasons dictated the choice: W-I-T-H is the most sportsminded station in Baltimore. And, on a cost-per-home covered basis, W-I-T-H is about the most economical advertising medium in town.

No matter how you look at it, no matter what you're selling, experience has shown W-I-T-H DOES A GREAT SALES JOB IN BALTIMORE.

idea ever set forth in the radio industry. Even sponsors thought it a weird notion. No one before had ever believed Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms could sell toothpaste on the air. But, then, as Mr. Hogan pointed out, no one had tried it.

The cynics' scowl turned to surprise when the idea was a hit. Listeners were attracted almost immediately to Mr. Hogan's station where they could hear good music all day long. And, although it has never actually been called upon to sell toothpaste, WQXR has sold everything from books to cosmetics, automobiles, cheeses, cough remedies, cigarettes, and radios—with not a single soap opera, dialect comedian or hill-billy band on the program schedule.

Historically, Mr. Hogan's experimental station, whose call letters were W2XR, became WQRX in 1936 when the Interstate Broadcasting Company was formed, and Elliott M. Sanger, now executive vice-president and general manager, joined the concern. In seven years, WQXR's power has jumped from 1,000 to 5,000, and in 1941 to 10,000 watts. Sponsorship has increased steadily, and Mr. Hogan's original idea has proved fruitful commercially as well as listener-wise. But the station continues to operate as it originally set out to do: 80% concert and light music, 20% intelligent news and commentary.

Expansion of WQXR to 10,000 watts, a large increase in the size of the staff, and further new developments have not affected Mr. Hogan's association with his brainchild. However, with the pressure of the war, he has found it necessary to devote a larger part of his current working hours to communication problems of the National Defense Research Committee, the U. S. Signal Corps, and the U. S. Army Air Forces. His laboratory in Long Island City is working full-time on war communications developments, especially in the fields of facsimile transmission and the provision of improved substitutes for critical technical instruments. Meanwhile, the station is moving along successfully under the skillful leadership of Mr. Sanger, leaving Mr. Hogan free to devote a large part of his time to war problems.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogan (she was Edith MacLennan Schrader) live in Forest Hills, and have one son, John Vincent, an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces. With no spare moments in which to play the piano, Mr. Hogan is extremely active in civilian defense work and among other activities serves as chairman of the Forest Hills Citizen Defense Committee, is a member of Committee IV of the Board of War Communication, a director of FMBI, chairman of the executive engineering committee at NAB, and travels to Washington every week to serve as Special Assistant to the Director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development.

WGN has one of the largest "families" in radio. When WGN sets out to do an advertising job for you, the whole family helps. Many advertisers have already found out that this results in greater sales impact.

"IT OUGHT TO GET A WAR MEDAL"

THIS little tube can't help you smell. But it can help you talk, see and hear. Right now, it helps direct guns, planes, ships. It ought to get a war medal.

It has given birth to a new art called Electronics.

In 1912 in the Bell Laboratories, Dr. H. D. Arnold made the first effective high-vacuum tube for amplifying electric currents.

Vacuum tubes made possible the first transoceanic telephone talk by the Bell System in 1915.

Vacuum tubes are now used on practically all Long Distance circuits to reinforce the human voice.

That's why you can talk across the continent so easily.

Over 1,250,000 electronic tubes are in service in the Bell System. Bell Laboratories developed them, Western Electric made them.

But both Laboratories and Western Electric are busy now with war — turning out tubes and putting them to work in many a device to find and destroy the enemy on land, in the air, and under the sea.

After the war, this Bell System army of tubes will work in thousands of ways for peace.

THE MEDIUM of radio becomes an accomplice in demonstrating the operations of telepathy in the hands of Joseph Dunninger, telepathist, who reads the minds of his listeners as well as of members of the studio audience, in a weekly program which started on the BLUE Sunday, Sept. 12. Feats performed on the series include the projection of telepathic messages to radio listeners, who are asked to confirm them by mail; and a series of "Brain Busters" described as long-distance mind-reading demonstrations.

Art Series

PAINTERS AND SCULPTORS living in New York are heard in a weekly discussion of their art on WNYC, New York's municipal station. Museum directors, gallery owners and critics, as well as artists take part in the program which is designed to "make the people of New York City feel more at home with the work of their own contemporary artists".

Citizenship Series

FOREIGN - LANGUAGE groups are acquainted with the procedure for becoming American citizens in Your Citizenship Counselor, weekly series presented on WWRL New York by a representative of the American Women's Volunteer Service.

Of Feminine Interest

NOVEL approach in feminine interest programs is being successfully tried on What's New, WTMJ Milwaukee morning feature. Nancy Grey, commentator on the program, has made a series of recordings with women war workers in defense plants throughout the country. Recordings are then used on the broadcast with their effective background of factory sounds.

Vocal Advice

WOULD-BE singers are offered advice on improving their technique in a weekly series heard on WBNX New York, under the title The Voice Clinic.

Bond Drive Program

LAUNCHING a million-dollar bond drive, Wieboldts Stores, Chicago, devoted the regular morning half-hour Your Neighbor Program on WMAQ Chicago, Sept. 16, to special music, talks and initial reports on progress of the bond campaign in the company's six stores in Chicago and suburbs. The program honored the company's men and women in service. About 350 studio guests, members of families of service men and women, were feted at breakfast following the broadcast. The Wieboldt account is handled by Needham, Louis & Brorby, Chicago.

World News

DAILY WORLD News Roundup is now being carried Mon. thru Fri. on the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. national network in a quarter hour early evening program. Starting in Ottawa or Toronto with Wilson Woodside as commentator, the roundup shifts to battlefronts and world capitals where CBC has men stationed. A. E. Powley is in charge of the London bureau, and war correspondents Peter Stursburg, Andrew Cowan and Matthew Halton are in the Mediterranean theater.

Replace OWI Series

REPLACING the OWI series, recently taken off the air, over WOWO-WGL Fort Wayne, Ind., is Proudly We Hail, product of the ingenuity of the Fort Wayne continuity department. New series deals with war information, story of an American hero, transcribed music, and suggestions to the individual showing him what he can do to aid the war effort. Proudly We Hail has been so successful that sponsors of the former OWI series have transferred to the new series.

Musical For Navy

DEDICATED to the U. S. Navy, is Full Speed Ahead, a five-times weekly musical program on Mutual. Show presents orchestra and choral music from the Naval Receiving Station in Brooklyn the first two days of the week, followed by a WAVE show, and featuring a vocalist and the WOR New York, orchestra, the remaining two days.

Farmers Swop

SWOP SHOP is a new morning program on CKBI Prince Albert, Sask., in which farmers can announce their swops of machinery which they are no longer able to buy.

WIBW listeners —

CORN accounts for only a very small part of the huge farm income in WIBW's six state listening area. Yet, in Kansas alone, there is a 78,120,000 bushel crop, already selling 36% higher than last year. That's a tidy chunk of spendable income in itself. And WIBW listeners on farms and in small towns ARE spending.

Their first purchases automatically seem to be for WIBW-advertised goods. But that's natural! For years, these buyers have had confidence in WIBW . . . liked our friendly personalities, entertainment and service. The moral is obvious. If you've always hankered to handle your cash with a shovel . . . use WIBW!

12,000 Newscasts Leave Imprint

tory effect of the war is the virtual banning of the word "flash" I shudder every time I read a show whose format calls for insertion of a last-minute bulletin. Some radio men seem to think they can order news to break to suit station schedules. This vicious practice often forces a news editor to prostitute his judgment and give listeners a completely phoney bulletin.

Speed and freshness is one of the greatest advantages radio has over the slower paced press. But I wonder if some radio operators realize that even though it has the pace of a tortoise as compared with broadcasting, a good newspaper that gets a break on edition time can get on the street in 20 to 30 minutes? Today, with newscasts on the hour, quarter-hour, half-hour and sprinkled in between, the bulletin quality of any news break fades quickly. New millions have become regular radio news listeners—but we don't have to bulletin them to death to hold their interest. A good news writer can revamp his show smoothly to put a new top on it within 30 minutes of air time. Why not restrict the use of the word bulletin to those newsbreaks that occur within 30 minutes of airtime? It's so easy to keep the freshness of radio news before the listener by phrases like "less than 2 hours ago, a dispatch from North Africa said . . ." If such a standard were accepted in the radio newsrooms of the country, the word bulletin would again come to mean something to the public. If the public is to develop complete trust in radio's presentation of the news, we've got to be honest with it.

Sponsor's Rights

The next goal post is Integrity. Here, let us look at sponsor censorship, controversial issues, propaganda and time chiselers.

Just last week a friend asked me to read the manuscript of a proposed text on radio news writing and supervision. Several pages were devoted to "sponsor's rights". The author inferred that if a news spot was sponsored by an airline, for example, and a crash occurred on that line, the news should be played down!

A large oil company sponsors many newscasts. This firm has been in the spotlight on many occasions—sometimes a most unfavorable spotlight. To my knowledge, the agency placing this radio business never has protested the use of stories critical of its client. I hope that station managements will stand resolutely behind the judgments of their news editors if demands are made to suppress a story.

There is the much discussed problem of editorializing on controversial issues. As I understand it, the present broadcast practice aims primarily at preventing the possibility of political control by any party over any segment of broadcasting. But if you had read all the scripts that have passed over the radio news desk in Censorship, you would conclude this theory is a dead letter in many cases. Network commentators certainly reflect almost every shade of opinion on controversial subjects. And you don't often hear a disclaimer by the station or the chain. Two outstanding men appear to voice the views of extreme conservatives. A half-dozen others expound the liberal viewpoint with the fervor of a crusader. The most conspicuous example has been the battle raging over our foreign policy.

Other Governments, Too

There are stations that boldly label certain programs as "editorial". Several news programs devote a section to what is called openly "the editorial page". And this is not confined to national issues. What appears to be a possibly dangerous practice is presentation of only one side of a question while claiming that what is said is the whole picture.

Propaganda is a much abused word that means many things to many people. Some charge that all the Government releases funnelled through OWI into the stations are propaganda. Without discussing the merits of that condition, I think it fair to point out that other governments are bombarding our radio news desks with free material. Some of it is definitely slanted to give other governments' points of view. And it is being used. What of this broadcaster's ability to protect the integrity of his news? This is not said in criticism of the excellent information service operated by the neutral allied governments. But it is a red flag to radio news editors to weigh carefully all propaganda. Pressure groups and minorities in this country are active. Many have powerful backing and plenty of money. The flow of handouts and transcribed features to stations is going to increase. And all this imposes a heavy burden on the station management and its news editors to keep their judgments keen and sharp.

A sound policy should be to adapt

Gates is Fighting Today to Serve Tomorrow

Headquarters speaks . . . battle stations' answer. Platoons, companies, regiments and divisions move into action, with Radio directing all movements . . . maintaining desired contact at all points.

In many of these battle stations, the Gates trade-mark carries on with the American star of Victory. Gates transmitters, tuning and control units, amplifiers and remote equipment are all in the fight and efficiently meeting the strenuous tests that tax the performance ability of any equipment.

When this war is won . . . you will enjoy the advantages of new Gates engineering methods created by the needs of the war . . . and designed for the needs of an eager-to-move industry.

Our engineering staff stands ready to assist and advise on the maintenance of your present equipment — whether you are Gates-equipped, or not.

as qualifications for a station news editor the same high standards required for admission to the Radio and Press galleries of Congress. Require the news editor to divorce himself of outside promotion, lobbying, publicity and other work—and pay him accordingly. There aren't many stations today—even those originating no news—that cannot with profit to their service to the public employ a fulltime man in charge of news and coverage of special news events. And if they get the right men, the broadcasters will be taking a major step toward safeguarding the integrity of their news.

Now, for the time chisellers. At a cocktail party recently, a "public relations counsel" boasted that he was getting his clients' products plugged on 205 stations every week for only $3.50 per station. That's the cost of producing a 15-minute show, the platter and mailing charges. The vehicle is a well-written news feature with the free advertising worked in very skillfully. The press agent added that he was not dealing only in teakettles—that he had many big stations on his free list. All of us have been following the current argument about railroads buying thousands of lines of newspaper space, but getting the same advertising free over the radio.

Scare Easily

The last goal post is Responsibility. Perhaps here is where a plea should be made for more aggressiveness by individual stations in news handling. Several times "no broadcast" slugs have been slapped on stories on the wire services through misunderstanding or just plain stupidity. But I have yet to hear the first complaint from a radio news editor.

Again, it sometimes appears that almost any shavetail or one striper can scare the wits out of a station with a single phone call. Cases are on record of an officer—way out of bounds—ordering a broadcaster to suppress a program or story. Willy, nilly, it is done.

I should state here that we have a huge Army and Navy with many newly indoctrinated officers. It is to be expected that some will make mistakes or that some will try to throw their weight around. We always get 100% cooperation in such cases from the top rank in Washington.

Is a station licensee obligated to provide news for his listeners? Most stations now find the news department they frequently kicked around is today a good money maker. It's so profitable that some of them are losing all sense of proportion and scheduling newscasts and commentaries in such profusion over the broadcast day that it is a wonder that the ratings of all news shows aren't dragged down by a bored public. But what about the leaner days that may come?

War has brought us the biggest audience in radio history. It was news that did it. I feel that the radio news editor of today and in the future should rank as equal in importance with other department heads.

Some leaders in the industry are mystified that the public and Congress appear to have so little interest in the welfare and advancement of radio. The average citizen will run a temperature when freedom of the press becomes an issue in any part of the nation. But all of us know how little he bothers about matters affecting the freedom of radio—which is freedom of speech. I understand that a survey is to be made to find out why Mr. and Mrs. Citizen seem to care so little for an institution that brings them so much. Some critics blame this condition on lack of an aggressive public relations policy of the industry. Some psychologists say it is because Mr. and Mrs. Citizen still have to pay out money for their newspaper and that radio is free. Perhaps that factor will disappear in some future year when everyone owns a television and facsimile set and has to pay service charges to keep the receiver supplied with paper.

Radio should give more adequate coverage of local news, for local commentators translate the news into terms of their own particular main street and crossroads, for objective but authoritative discussions of local problems. At least two small stations recently have hired reporters to gather just this kind of news and put it on the air. A few are devoting one spot a day entirely to local items. I'll wager a reasonable sum that the listeners of such stations will come to feel a more personal interest in the welfare of these broadcasters. And it is my belief that if station managements will assume the responsibility for developing adequate local coverage; if they will pay less money for promoting second rate commentators who parrot the news or rehash what the network men have said and give more thought to developing good local commentators—if all this happens, I believe you will see developing a closer relation between radio and its listeners that may serve radio if its welfare is imperiled either by government or any combination of other interests.

COM. BUTCHER KEEPS A SECRET

Had Mission Determining Time and Place
—Of Italian Fleet's Surrender—

ONE OF THE MOST important missions of World War II—the time and place of surrender of the Italian fleet—was the secret of Com. Harry C. Butcher, former broadcast executive, who proceeded under confidential orders of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Commander in Chief of the Allied Forces, as his representative on that momentous occasion early this month.

Com. Butcher, former Vice President of CBS in Washington, as aide to Gen. Eisenhower, was aboard the British Battleship "Warspite", heading a British flotilla, when word was received Sept. 9 to proceed on a secret mission. This was revealed in a dispatch by Clark Lee, representing the combined American Press, published Sept. 11. Only Com. Butcher knew the nature of the mission until the British Admiral aboard the ship received a message from Admiral Sir Walter Browne Cunningham to proceed to the appointed spot.

Com. Butcher was quoted as having said: "We weren't sorry to leave. In the night landings at Salerno we were attacked for three hours by German planes. One torpedo missed us by a few yards."

Another dispatch from Valetta,

Malta, by James Wellard, representing the combined American Press and dated Sept. 13, also covered the surrender of the Italian fleet and made mention of Com. Butcher. Mr. Wellard reported a "little comedy" just before the Italian Admiral arrived to surrender. Admiral Cunningham, the dispatch related, had lost a button from his tunic, and he laughingly demanded a safety pin so he could look presentable. As the aide supplied the pin and while the British Chief was fixing himself up, Com. Butcher, as Gen. Eisenhower's representative on this occasion, made a movie of the procedure.

"Don't you dare take a picture of me like this, Butch," laughed Admiral Cunningham. But Com. Butcher, said the Wellard report, went right ahead.

NEW IDEAS FOR SELLING A NEW ERA

"POST-WAR Slacker is too kind a name to call you."

"Now John, don't get excited, I only suggested that advertising costs be held in proportion to sales volume. I saw that marketing principle in Printers' Ink several years ago."

"That was pre-war thinking. Printers' Ink mentioned it because it was the way we did business, but things are different today."

"How do you mean different? We're still doing business for profit, aren't we?"

"Naturally! We went to war for the preservation of the American way of life, the system of free enterprise. But we have a larger responsibility today — a responsibility to our country."

"Just how do you mean that?"

"Well, back in 1943, when we were turning out munitions and equipage for the Army, Printers' Ink discussed the possibility of advertising and selling budgets prepared in relation to plant capacity, rather than sales volume. The idea was to make sales equal production rather than reduce production to the selling effort. Since then, others have taken hold, and today it is accepted as sound business thinking. To avoid curtailed production I am going to give this policy a good sound try, even if I have to round up additional proxies to do it!"

Far-fetched? Well, maybe, but it was actually promulgated and duly reported in Printers' Ink. Top-flight advertising, marketing, merchandising and administrative business men, who build, approve and spend the nation's advertising and selling budgets, generally use Printers' Ink as a platform for their ideas as well as for the wealth of information it contains. This interpretive editorial policy delivering the "know-how" and "know-why" of advertising, marketing, management and sales, provides the vital difference that makes Printers' Ink the most quoted voice in the industry.

Gentlemen:

We are very pleased to advise you that after using one twenty-five word chain break ad, we sold $1800.00 worth of merchandise within two days. In view of the fact that we did not use any other form of advertising, we think these results were outstanding and a good recommendation for radio advertising.

CBS In Greatest Promotional Drive

Spending Nearly $1,000,000 To Promote Listening

BEGINNING Sept. 25, CBS stations in 119 cities will launch simultaneously what CBS has announced as "the most comprehensive and powerful campaign of voluntary program promotion ever undertaken in network radio," to promote the network's commercial programs.

Radio, with more than 45,000 special announcements, including some 600 invitations to listen recorded by the stars of CBS sponsored shows; "sustained, frequent and sizeable space" in newspapers with a combined daily circulation of more than 12,000,000; car cards in all CBS "station cities" where transportation advertising is available, to a total monthly passenger circulation of over 840 million; more than 500,000 posters, with an initial showing of 65,000; extensive direct mail promotion, including more than 500,000 miniature posters, will also be used in the campaign.

Cost Shared

To run for a minimum of 26 days, and up to two months if the stations want to continue it, the campaign over-all cost is estimated as close to $1,000,000, to be prorated between the network and the individual affiliate stations. Noted artists, such as James Montgomery Flagg, Bertram Zadig, Hugo Gellert, John DeGroot, Fred Chance and Gig Goodenow, were engaged to produce the posters, many of which present portraits of CBS stars and directors drawn by Flagg.

Thomas D. Connolly, director of program promotion, is credited with instigating the special promotional campaign, although Paul Hollister, vice-president in charge of advertising and promotion, and the entire network promotion staff, have devoted much of their energy to this drive during the past few months.

Announcement emphasized that this campaign in no way replaces the normal advertising of the network or its stations, but is "superimposed" on the regular procedure of program promotion.

802 Levies Tax; First AFM Concert Date Made

ONE PER CENT TAX on scale wages of all members of New York AFM Local 802, was voted at regular September by-law meeting, for the purpose of augmenting the Local's general fund. At the "price list" meeting in April, 802 membership killed the 3% unemployment tax which had been in effect for several years. Jacob Rosenberg, president of the Local, presided at last Monday's session, which was attended by 1,000 of the 22,000 members.

Harry Suber, treasurer of 802, in charge of arrangements for the free concerts to be given by the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra in near-by localities as part of a series sponsored by the national AFM, reported that the opening concert in the New York series will be given in Poughkeepsie, on Sept. 23.

A pipe-organ that talks, and thinks, too. And often makes pert remarks right in the middle of the program.

The organ is WAPI's. The program is "Organ Quiz"—on the air Monday through Friday, 10:30-10:45 A.M. And the organ is actually the star of the show. Listeners send in questions which the organ attempts to answer musically, by playing a tune whose title provides a humorous reply. Dollars in war stamps are given as prizes. With extra dollars for unanswered questions. And when the organ answers a puzzler correctly (thus saving a dollar), it chuckles right on down to its bass pipes.

The man behind the console is WAPI's Stanleigh Malotte, veteran theater and network-radio showman, whose dexterity on the pipes is matched only by the swiftness of his wit. Third party on the show is master-of-ceremonies Jimmie Willson, who reads the questions, sings songs, and swaps banter with Stan and the organ.

1,090 entries were received in only 4 broadcasts of "Organ Quiz" recently. That's typical of WAPI showmanship. Down here, showmanship means salesmanship. And salesmanship is what makes us "The Voice of Alabama."

Ask us or Radio Sales for particulars about "Organ Quiz"—or other WAPI ideas.

"This places the responsibility for control and correction squarely at the network's door. It is a responsibility not only toward the listening public but toward our stations and our advertisers, whose interests and audience we hold, in large degree, in trust."

Audience Reaction

To meet that responsibility, CBS reports that it has analyzed audience reaction to the triple-announcement technique and found strong evidence against it, that it has presented the problem to the CBS Affiliates Advisory Board and secured "an enthusiastic vote of station cooperation," and that it is now asking any of its advertisers who are using either hitch-hike or cow-catcher announcements "to absorb such advertising into the framework of their entertainment programs as rapidly as their plans will permit—with final elimination of these simulated spot announcements by October first of next year."

Noting that the station-break commercial in itself constitutes no "triple-threat" and when properly handled creates no audience disapproval, and also that from 30% to 50% of the station's own revenue comes from this source, CBS reports that when the matter was discussed with the Affiliates Advisory Board, these representatives of CBS stations, at their Sept. 15 meeting adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, that in view of the steps which CBS is taking to eliminate simulated spot announcements before the opening and after the closing of network programs, all members of the CBS Affiliates Advisory Board will, by October 1, 1944, and to the fullest possible degree before that date, observe the following restraints in the broadcasting of station-break announcements, and will cooperate with CBS in effecting the same policy on all affiliated stations:

"First: Station-break announcements, wherever feasible, will be limited to service announcements, such as time signals, weather reports (when permitted) and other service bulletins.

"Second: Sponsorship of such station-break announcements will be limited to products which do not compete with products advertised on either the preceding or following network program.

"Third: Adequate 'dead air' or pause will be left between the closing of a network program and the station-break announcement, likewise between the closing of the station-break announcement and the opening of the next program, to avoid hurried delivery or 'crowding', and to provide an appropriate cushion between the station-break announcement and both network programs."

ORVILLE J. NEUWERTH, formerly production manager at WBBM, Chicago, has been named to the position of assistant program director effective Sept. 20 to succeed Les Metcalf, who has resigned to freelance. George Case, of the WBBM production staff, will take over Neuwerth's duties.

ARTHUR FORCE, radio news editor for the OWI News Bureau, is to be inducted into the Army Oct. 5 at Ft. Meade, Md., as a private. He has been in Washington for a year, coming from NBC New York, where he was night news editor. No successor has been named.

Radio Retail Film In Debut Oct. 12

Business; Federal Officials To View NAB Presentation

NATIONAL premiere of radio's great cooperative promotion in the department store field will take place at Washington, Tuesday, Oct. 12. Under the auspices of the Washington stations, a representative audience of merchants, editors, and government officials will see a motion picture and slide film presentation on problems of retailing and what radio offers for their solution.

The presentation is divided into five parts:

- (1) History and Development of Retailing.
- (2) Distribution Tomorrow.
- (3) America Takes to the Air.
- (4) Why Radio Works.
- (5) Retailing's Future in Radio.

More than 90 actors took part in the section "Why Radio Works". Specially interesting to retailers will be the section on postwar problems of distribution. Sheldon R. Coons, former manager of Gimbel Brothers, and the national authority retained by the NAB Retail Promotion Committee to make the studies and supervise the promotion, said that while the retailer has his worries now, these may "pale into insignificance when compared to those likely to face him in the post-war economic upheaval". He added that the film study has "a powerful story to tell—a story so factual as to be an eyecopener."

Sectional Tours

"To my knowledge," Mr. Coons said, "this is the first time where one industry has made such a sizeable investment in a study which would lead to the solution of the problems of another industry. We owe the National Dry Goods Assn. no little appreciation for its endorsement and its constant encouragement of this project."

After the Washington showing 16 representative leaders of radio, each equipped with films and projectors, will start sectional tours to 120 cities of 75,000 population or better, in all parts of the country. In each city invitations will be extended by local committees of radio and retail executives. It is expected that 25,000 local leaders in these fields will view the presentation by Nov. 10.

New Parts of Radio Spectrum To Be Available, States Fly

Warns Educators They Must Take Advantage of FM Band Made Available for Their Use

WHOLE new portions of the spectrum, formerly deemed useless, have been opened through wartime research and will be available after the war, FCC Chairman James Lawrence Fly told the Federal Radio Education Committee luncheon session last Friday at the Hotel Statler, Washington.

Chairman Fly warned the educators they must take full advantage of the choice FM frequencies available if they are to retain them since expanding need for worldwide communications and new aviation uses in all probability will crowd the post-war spectrum even more tightly than the smaller spectrum was jammed before the war.

George Adair, Assistant Chief Engineer of the FCC, addressed the afternoon session on FM broadcasting and its possibilities as an educational aid and suggested a way of modernizing educational programs through the use of FM stations by school systems.

Not to Early

Chairman Fly urged that it is not too early to begin plans for use of the five educational channels. "Plans should be laid now to get going at the earliest possible date," he said. "For inevitably, after this war, there will have to be a reshuffle of frequency assignments."

Recalling that educational institutions were among the first to pioneer in the radio medium and to receive radio broadcasting licenses, he reminded the committee the majority of the early educational stations have dropped by the wayside and warned that history could repeat itself.

Paying high tribute to programming achievements of commercial broadcasters, Chairman Fly reminded that educational programs will be competing, so far as general listeners at least are concerned, with the best that commercial radio can offer. "On the FM radio band, let me assure you, you're going to be travelling in fast company," he said. Symphony and opera are education whether they are treated in the classroom or are sponsored, and "the new programs which have done so much to make commercial radio an indispensable part of our daily lives are no less educational because they are not called courses in current events", said Chairman Fly.

Mr. Adair told the group that the only logical course to take in meeting the challenge of present-day conditions and the distraction of competing interests is to "make the courses of study and their presentation such as to demand the interest of the students." The problem, for solution, he said, is to make competing interests allies instead of trying to fight them.

WSAY LOSES PLEA TO RESTRAIN AFM

ATTEMPT of Gordon Brown, owner of WSAY, Rochester, to get an immediate restoration of network musical program service failed last week when New York Supreme Court Justice William F. Love denied his motion for a temporary injunction against James C. Petrillo, president of the AFM, and the AFM local in Rochester.

Mr. Brown had asked for the temporary injunction pending trial of his action for a permanent injunction, plus undetermined damages, charging the local and national unions with illegally coercing the BLUE and Mutual networks into refusing to feed musical programs to WSAY since last July, when the station refused to hire five musicians as demanded by the local. Dispute is now pending before the War Labor Board.

Judge Love said that malice, coercion or intent to destroy WSAY's business had not been proved, although the trial of the suit might develop a different showing. Case is scheduled for the fall calendar.

MBS Answers

TO ANSWER "the questions people are asking" about Mutual's new Daytime Playhouse plan [BROADCASTING, Aug. 30], the network last week mailed out 5,000 copies of a 22-page booklet entitled "Questions and Answers on The Mutual Daytime Playhouse" to advertising agencies throughout the country, to Mutual's 211 affiliates as well as all other stations. Enclosed with the booklet was a letter signed by Miller McClintock, president of MBS.

Of course, these folks live practically under WAGA's antennae—all of which demonstrates that, if you want to reach the CREAM of the Georgia market, WAGA's the station to buy, and at a smaller cost per potential listener!

Television Plan

PROGRAM for post-war television was announced last week by Norman D. Waters, president of American Television Society. Five-point plan calls for active live-talent production by all television studios; encouragement of FCC to remove its prohibition of ownership of more than three television stations by a single organization and to put operation on the same basis as sound broadcasting; co-operation with radio, theatre, movies, schools and publications, with a committee studying their relationship; a central clearing house supplying television information to advertisers and agencies; and the advice that no changes be made in technical standards causing delays at the war's end.

Townsend Talks

TOWNSEND NATIONAL Recovery Plan, Los Angeles (political), on Sept. 20 starts sponsoring a six-weekly quarter-hour transcribed political talk on KLS Oakland, and KTKC Visalia. Group also sponsors that program five times per week on KGER Long Beach, KPAS Pasadena, and KFMB San Diego. Other stations will be added to the list. Lisle Sheldon Adv., Los Angeles, has the account.

RADIO PROGRAM guide with station tabs for insertion in slots next to the time of day or night when desired program is broadcast has been designed by Broadcasting Program Service, New York. Local station call letters may be written on reverse of tabs by erasing the glazed surface.

Prophecy Spots

VOICE OF PROPHECY Inc., Los Angeles (religious), besides sponsoring the weekly half-hour Voice of Prophecy on 209 Mutual-Don Lee stations, also uses a transcribed version of that program on some 40 stations nationally. Weekly Spanish and Portuguese transcribed translations are also released on 45 stations in Central and South America. Latter series is being cut by Radio News Reel Recording Division, Hollywood. NBC Radio-Recording Division, Hollywood, transcribes the English version. Agency is J. C. Hoskin & Associates, Chicago.

MBS Signs Symphony

MBS has scheduled the Cleveland Symphony Concert series, arranged between network and orchestra officials [BROADCASTING, Aug. 9], Sunday 9 to 10 p.m., beginning Oct. 10. This necessitates moving The Old Fashioned Revival, sponsored by Gospel Broadcasting Assn., Los Angeles. Mutual executives said the GBA had been offered the 7-8 and the 11 p.m. to midnight Sunday hours, but that no decision has been made. Revival agency is R. H. Alber, Los Angeles.

Fij-Oil Expands

CONSOLIDATED HAIR GOODS Co., Chicago (Fij-Oil Shampoo), has contracted for weekly station break announcements for 52 weeks to start Nov. 3 on WENR Chicago, in addition to daily spot announcements and five-a-week five-minute programs on WCFL Chicago. Agency is Malcolm-Howard, Chicago.

DISCUSSING PLANS for the WLW contract calling for the sixth consecutive year of broadcasting over WLW by the Manhattan Soap Co., New York, are Rae B. Elbroch (1) timebuyer for Franklin Bruck Adv. Corp., N. Y., and Archie Tarr, advertising manager for the Manhattan Soap Co. Renewal of the contract is for thrice-weekly quarter-hour newscast which promotes Sweatheart Soap.

AGENCY Appointments

PETRI WINE Co., San Francisco, to Young & Rubicam, San Francisco. Firm currently sponsors the weekly quarter-hour Sherlock Holmes on Don Lee stations. Account was formerly serviced by Erwin, Wasey & Co., San Francisco.

MELETO SEA FOOD Co., St. Louis, to H. B. LeQuatte Inc., New York, for Golden Dpt., a prepared breeding. Media plans not set till completion of distribution set-up—a matter of several months.

FAMOUS DEPARTMENT STORES, Los Angeles (retail), to Brisacher, Davis & Van Norden Inc., Los Angeles. Radio being used.

WESTERN AUTO SUPPLY Co., Los Angeles (chain), to BBDO, Los Angeles. Pacific Coast spot campaign is planned, starting in late September.

FIDELITY CHEMICAL PRODUCTS Corp., Newark, N. J. to Sheldon, Morse, Hutchins & Easton Inc., New York, for a new anti-slip and floor cleaning product. No radio contemplated for the moment.

TAMPA SHIPBUILDING Co., Inc., Tampa, Fla., to R. E. McCarthy Adv. Agency, Tampa.

MT. EDEN Wine Co., NYC, to H. C. Morris & Co., Inc., NYC.

COLGATE-PALMOLIVE-PEET Co., Jersey City, N. J. (Peets granulated soap), to Leon Livingstone Adv. Agency, San Francisco.

NO ERRORS!

War is not a baseball game! Each hit really counts—in terms of enemy ships and planes. The effectiveness of a gun is measured in terms of the number of objectives it reaches. And each shot is carefully, scientifically plotted. Too much is at stake to allow for errors.

Radio broadcasting cannot afford to be hit-or-miss, either. Every message is effective only in terms of the listenership. The station which reaches the largest share of Canada's richest market has proved its worth. CFRB broadcasts half the leading sponsored programmes in a key area, fed by three stations. That is the measure of CFRB's effectiveness—a record well worth noting.

Watson-Dodd Ban Held Not Binding

Invades Executive Authority, President Tells Congress

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT told Congress last Tuesday that he would not be bound by the provision in the Urgent Deficiency Appropriation Act of 1943 calling for the removal from office after Nov. 15 of Goodwin Watson and William E. Dodd Jr. of the FCC's Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service and Robert Morse Lovett, Secretary of the Virgin Islands.

The provision directs that no money be paid to the three officials after Nov. 15 unless they are nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate. It was attached to the Deficiency Bill enacted before Congress recessed in July, as a compromise to House demands for the immediate ouster of the officials and Senate refusal to accept the amendment. The House had charged the men with subversive political affiliations [BROADCASTING, July 5, June 28].

Would Have Vetoeed

The President's message to the Senate expressed his view that the rider "is not only unwise and discriminatory, but unconstitutional". He explained he would have vetoeed the bill if it had been possible to do so without delaying essential war appropriations and that the Senate had yielded to the House for the same reason.

Ex-Lax Also Challenges FTC on Ad Text Warning

FEDERAL TRADE Commission has no authority to compel use of certain specific phraseology in advertising and has no jurisdiction over subject matter of warnings and directions for use of a medicinal product like Ex-Lax, asserts Ex-Lax Inc., Brooklyn, and the Joseph Katz Co., Baltimore agency for Ex-Lax, in a joint reply to an FTC complaint of misrepresenting its therapeutic effects and failing to reveal harmful consequences that may result from its use. The challenge to Commission authority to specify, in effect, the subject matter of warnings is similar to the stand of Miles Labs., Elkhart, Ind. concerning one of its remedies [BROADCASTING, Sept. 6] in which Miles charges the FTC with assuming powers belonging to the Federal Food & Drug Administration. The question of jurisdiction can be decided only in a Circuit Court on appeal from a Commission order restraining advertising practices cited in the complaint.

Stanco Bows to FTC

STANCO Inc., New York, and its agency, McCann-Erickson, New York, have stipulated with the Federal Trade Commission not to use advertisements for Mistol Drops and Mistol Drops with Ephedrine which do not reveal that the preparations are dangerous to persons suffering from certain conditions and excessive use may cause nervousness and sleeplessness. If the warnings appear in the labeling the advertisements need only contain a caution to use only as directed.

Graysons Drop Series

GRAYSONS SHOPS Inc. of California (West Coast women's apparel chain), without explanation or advance notice and 11 weeks before the expiration of its network time contract, cancelled on Sept. 5 the weekly half-hour program Stop and Go on six NBC Pacific coast stations. Settlement is being worked out for filing billing amounting to $13,000. Program featuring Joe E. Brown as emcee had been on NBC for 15 weeks. Agency is Milton Weinberg Adv. Co., Los Angeles.

Pro Games on WWSW

FOR the 10th consecutive pro-football season, WWSW Pittsburgh will broadcast the complete ten-game schedule of the newly-merged Pittsburgh Steelers and Philadelphia Eagles team. Sponsored by Spear Men's Shop of Pittsburgh, the broadcasts will be handled by Joe Tucker, WWSW sports announcer, aided by Bill Cullen. The first game is scheduled for Oct. 2 when Brooklyn plays at Philadelphia.

A TOTAL of 40 stations in the United States and Canada had purchased The Weird Circle, two months after NBC's Radio-Recording Division put the transcribed mystery series of 26 half-hour programs on the market.

Joint Board Plans Post-War Studies

To Formulate Suggestions To FCC, Other Organizations

RADIO TECHNICAL Planning Board, to make studies to develop post-war radio services and products, was officially launched last Tuesday at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York, when nine industry and service groups unanimously approved in principle the organization plan developed by committees of the Radio Manufacturers Assn. and the Institute of Radio Engineers.

In addition to the RMA and IRE, the nine sponsoring organizations include: American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Institute of Phys'cs, American Radio Relay League, FM Broadcasters Inc., International Assn. of Chiefs of Police, NAB, NIB. Other "sponsors" are expected to join RTPB later for work on many technical projects, including utilization of the broadcast spectrum and system standardization of television, FM and other public radio services.

General plan of the RTPB organization, which will formulate recommendations in the FCC and other organizations concerned, will be developed in detail at another meeting to be held in New York Sept. 29.

RMA Meeting

Problems of war and postwar production of radio apparatus and parts held the spotlight at the annual fall meeting of the Radio Manufacturers Assn., held last Wednesday and Thursday at the Roosevelt Hotel, New York.

Meetings of the RMA set and parts divisions on Wednesday morning were concerned largely with problems of manpower and of the termination of Government wartime projects, including the disposition of war inventories, and production and pricing of new receivers and parts, etc. Post-war planning committee session in the afternoon discussed the probable post-war situation, with the need for surveys and for adequate advertising and public relations to acquaint the public with the situation which will prevail in the industry when peace comes.

Board of directors, meeting Thursday morning with RMA president Paul V. Galvin presiding, heard and acted on reports from officers and committees. About 100 radio manufacturers attended the two-day session.

It was announced that the RMA tube division will meet with the WPB Radio & Radar Division in Washington on Tuesday, Sept. 21, to discuss the allocation of facilities for the manufacturing of radio tubes for non-military use in receiving sets and broadcast station transmitters.

Moves to CBS

BOURJOIS Inc., New York, which has presented Here's to Romance on BLUE for Evening in Paris cosmetics since April, is moving the show Oct. 14 to CBS. Foote, Cone & Belding, New York, disclosed no reason, but possibly the company wants a later time than its current 6:05-6:30 spot Sunday evenings. It will be heard on the full CBS network of 139 stations Sundays 10:30-11 p.m. Dick Haymes, singer, and Dave Broekman's orchestra are featured.

Firms Accuse Program Of Infringing Upon Idea

COMPLAINING that the essential theme, script and title of the program Guess Who is its exclusive copyrighted property, Audioscriptions, New York, has taken action toward obtaining an injunction, an accounting of profits and damages for the broadcast of a series by that title on WOR New York. Centering on the identification of well known voices presented via recordings, the program started on WOR for Sheffield Farms Co., Aug. 11. Agency is N. W. Ayer & Sons, New York.

Similar legal action was contemplated last week by Kermit-Raymond Corp., New York, on the basis that they had purchased from an individual the rights to a program of that title broadcast on WTMJ Milwaukee in 1937 and 1938, and had offered the show for sale. Firm had approached the agency and station on the subject of possible infringement four weeks before the WOR show went on the air, it was said. Radio Events, New York, is also understood to claim past ownership of the program and to be considering taking action against the WOR broadcasts.

KOB Joins NBC

KOB Albuquerque, N. M., on Oct. 1 will join NBC as a member of the Mountain Group, which is now KOA Denver and KDYL Salt Lake City. KOB was formerly independently available to NBC advertisers using the Mountain Group. Station, owned by Albuquerque Broadcasting Co., operates on 1030 kc, on 10,000 watts, with special authorization to use 50,000 watts until local sunset and 25,000 watts night power.

Plambeck Returns From British Trip

Broadcast for WHO Farm Audience Through BBC

HERBERT PLAMBECK, farm editor of WHO Des Moines, returned to the United States last week from a two months' tour of Great Britain where, as a guest of the Ministry of Information, he observed the agricultural war efforts of farm families in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

To give mid-west farmers a better understanding of Britain's war problems, Mr. Plambeck broadcast each Saturday a quarter-hour report of his impressions by short-wave from the BBC studios in London through GSP. These programs were rebroadcast simultaneously by WHO whose signal in turn was picked up and rebroadcast by other Iowa stations. To insure reception in Iowa, the same programs were broadcast by other British short-wave stations during evening hours, transcribed by WHO and rebroadcast at 10 p.m.

High Interest

WHO's regular Corn Belt Hour program on Aug. 14 originated in the BBC studios in London with English farm men and women as talent. The program, beamed by short-wave from GSP, was rebroadcast with remarkable clarity by WHO WOC KICD KBUR KBIZ and WOI. An earlier program was arranged by NBC using short-wave to New York and lines to Des Moines.

The station reports that it has never had a program series which attracted so much attention from farm people. The pick-ups by short-wave at Des Moines were declared as good as any network pickup from London at New York.

Effect of Winchell Disc Refusal Studied by FCC

APPEAL OF WRAL Raleigh, N. C., a Mutual affiliate, for FCC investigation of the BLUE's refusal to place Walter Winchell's Jergen's Journal on WRAL would not involve a test of the territorial exclusivity clause of the FCC's network regulations unless it were shown that the BLUE had a "contract, arrangement, or understanding, express or implied" with a station to withhold the program from WRAL, according to the FCC legal department. A network is under no compulsion to make a program available to a station which asks for it, regardless of whether the program is being heard in the area or not.

It is not known whether the BLUE has replied to an FCC letter asking the network for an explanation of its refusal to sell the program. Winchell is not heard in Raleigh, where BLUE has no outlet. It was indicated at the FCC that Jergens had asked its agency, Lennen & Mitchell, to add WRAL to its list of stations carrying Winchell after a poll of listeners by WRAL had indicated they wanted the program.

IN LONDON OFFICES of BBC, Herb Plambeck sets up remote broadcast of Corn Belt Farm Hour which he directs on WHO Des Moines. L to r, sitting: Donald McCullough, director of public relations at British Ministry of Agriculture; Plambeck; Mrs. M. Finch, wife of a Gloucestershire farmer; standing: J. W. MacAlpine, organizer of BBC North American talks, and Stanley Maxted, BBC producer.

Stand on Merger Asked of Equity

MERGER of three talent unions with the American Guild of Musical Artists was discussed at Actors Equity headquarters in New York last week by committees representing the American Federation of Radio Artists, Actors Equity Assn. and Chorus Equity. The move has already been approved in principle by the recent national convention of AFRA [BROADCASTING, Sept. 6].

The meeting adopted the following resolution: "Resolved that the radio section (AFRA) of the joint committee requests the chairman of the meeting (Bert Lytell, Equity president) in his report to the Equity Council to ask for a statement concerning the desire to merge and for the power of the Equity committee to discuss, participate and formulate plans which they would bring back to their Council."

AFRA delegations comprised Lawrence Tibbett, president of both AFRA and AGMA; Emily Holt, executive secretary; George Heller, treasurer; Henry Jaffe, counsel; Lucille Wall, John Brown, Ben Grauer, Minerva Pious, and Kenneth Roberts. Equity and Chorus Equity were represented by Mr. Lytell, Paul Dullzell, executive secretary; Ruth Richmond, executive secretary of Chorus Equity; Rebecca Brownstein, associate counsel; Philip Loeb, Rhys Williams and Alfred Harding.

The Equity group will report to this union's Council meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 21, and the committees will again meet on Wednesday, Sept. 22, to discuss the Council's response to the resolution.

P&G Replacement

AS A REPLACEMENT for its five-weekly serial Snow Village on NBC, Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati (Ivory flakes) on Oct. 11 will start a new script show by Ruth Adams Knight, tentatively titled Sharp Corners, in the 11:30-11:45 a.m. spot. Agency is Compton Adv., New York.

Squibb Three-Weekly

E. R. SQUIBB & Sons, New York, will revert to a thrice-weekly schedule on CBS, abandoning its Sunday half-hour on the network with the Oct. 3 broadcast. The 6:15-6:30 p.m. period has been purchased on CBS for Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Starting date is Oct. 11 but the format for the program had not been determined last week. The current Squibb show; Calling America, featuring Bob Trout, Walter Case Cassell and Victor Bay's orchestra, replaced the thrice-weekly series Keep Working, Keep Singing America last June. Agency is Geyer, Cornell & Newell, New York.

Symphony Cancels

BECAUSE OF "a breakdown in negotiations" between the board of directors of the Philadelphia Orchestra and Local 77 of the American Federation of Musicians concerning the 26-week series of CBS Saturday afternoon concerts starting Oct. 9, the series will not go on the air as scheduled, CBS announced last week. CBS signed an exclusive three-year contract with the Orchestra last June, calling for payment of substantial yearly amounts to the Assn.

CONTRACT ADJUSTED EWING LEAVES WDSU

P. K. EWING, for the last 15 years general manager of WDSU New Orleans, last week announced his resignation following adjustment of his contract with the station's new owners. Fred Weber, former general manager of Mutual, has assumed management of the station as executive director.

Mr. Ewing, operator in his own right of WMIS Natchez and WGRM Greenwood, Miss. said the settlement, reached Sept. 11, provided payment of $12,000 in cash to him. His contract provided for an annual salary of $15,000.

Mr. Ewing asserted that inability to prescribe division of duties between the general manager and the executive director resulted in the contract settlement. The agreement was amicable on both sides, he said.

A veteran newspaper executive and broadcaster, Mr. Ewing has been in radio since the cat's whiskers days in New Orleans. He was associated with Joseph H. Uhalt, founder of WDSU, throughout his ownership of the station, which was terminated with FCC approval of its sale early this month. The station was purchased by E. A. Stephens, New Orleans automotive dealer; H. G. (Bud) Wall, president of WIBC Indianapolis; and Mr. Weber for $200,000 cash. The sales transaction, as approved by the FCC, included provision for retention of Mr. Ewing as general manager. The separation agreement was reached following Commission approval.

Woodrow on 7

WOODROW STORES for Men's Furnishings, New York, formerly the Sarnoff-Irving chain, is currently using 10 to 15 minute sports news programs six-weekly in seven medium-size cities in the East and South. Company, which has been on the air for the past year, has introduced a new transcribed commercial which starts off with a brief dialogue "Do You Know What? . . . No, What!" followed by a "hot lick" tune starting "You ought to go—go—go—to Woodrow." Agency is Pettingell & Fenton, New York.

EDNA BEST, stage and film actress has joined the Hollywood radio production department of Young & Rubicam. She is the wife of Nat Wolf, OWI Hollywood Deputy Chief of the Radio Bureau.

RADIO'S HEART

KGIR Aids Butte Family
When Tragedy Hits

RADIO'S HEART is as great and limitless as the air that carries its messages, as Butte, Mont., discovered through a local tragedy. The Jaksha family—father, mother, three children—were driving to a nearby town when the car careened off the road. When the twisted wreckage settled, Billy, 9, found his mother and father dead, his brother and sister unconscious.

The chief of police contacted KGIR, asking help in locating two older Jaksha boys. The station located them, and Ed Craney, KGIR manager, told them of the tragedy. That night, Mr. Craney broadcast the Jaksha story. He appealed for aid to keep the remainder of the family together, and started the fund with $50 from KGIR. Listeners soon pledged over $6,200. Every service the family needed was contributed. Now, thanks to KGIR and its listeners, the children need not be sent to an institution. And as Mr. Craney put it, "We can feel proud . . . of contributing a share of goodness to the world."

Scholl Doubles Time

ANNUAL campaign of Scholl Mfg. Chicago (foot remedies and appliances), will be twice as large as last year. Firm has bought time in six Eastern Seaboard cities, six in the Midwest, three West Coast stations and three Southern. Contracts, covering 26-week period, call for from five to six transcribed announcements and chain breaks weekly. Stations are KFI KPO WTIC WGN WHO WWL WBAL WBZ WJR WOOD WGY WLW WCAU KDKA WSM WFAA WTAR and KIRO. Agency is Donahue & Coe, New York.

Wage Hike Upheld

WAR LABOR BOARD upheld the wage adjustment allowed by the Conciliation Service providing for a $5 wage increase for all engineers and technicians of WIBC Philadelphia. The wage increase, retroactive to June 18, was granted because the station had increased its power to 10,000 watts after a contract was negotiated with Broadcast Local No. 1, A.C.A. The wage increase was allowed for all the men in the various salary classifications and established a basic starting salary of $40 a week at the station.

Diamond Spots

LOUIS A. ROSELAAR, New York diamond cutters, are distributing spot announcement material to local dealers in key cities for placement on local stations in behalf of Multi-Facet diamonds. Between 30 and 40 dealers are understood to be buying time. This is said to be the first time a trade name has been thus promoted for a specific diamond. Multi-Facets were introduced about six months ago. Radio promotion has been in effect for about two months. Agency is William G. Seidenbaum Adv., New York.

Crawford News Schedule To 10½ Hours Weekly

CRAWFORD CLOTHES, New York, which recently expanded its schedule on WMCA New York to a total of 10½ hours weekly, has signed a contract with WQXR New York which makes the clothing firm the largest sponsor of news programs on that station. Schedule calls for a total of 28 news programs weekly plus commentaries by Dr. Frank Kingdon, educator, fed from WMCA New York where he is also sponsored by Crawford.

Dr. Kingdon is heard from 10:30-10:45 p.m. thrice weekly. With the exception of several ten-minute programs, the remainder of the Crawford schedule consists of five-minute news periods. Contract went into effect Sept. 13. Agency is Al Paul Lefton Co., New York.

PA "Selling Aids"

IN SUPPORT of the campaign by the NAB to help stations with merchandising problems, Press Assn., radio subsidiary of AP, is mailing out 18 "selling aids" aimed at the advertiser, each describing a PA telescript. Written for spot radio news, the telescripts reach stations on the 60-word-per-minute AP radio news wire in script form, titled, timed and cued for sound. "Selling aids" are packaged to include data on buying habits and tastes of the rural and urban audience.

NOW in its 12th year, Carnation Contented Hour, NBC program sponsored by Carnation Co., Milwaukee, will present its 600th broadcast Monday, Sept. 27. Agency is Erwin Wasey & Co., Chicago.

page 12], based on his monitoring experiences during the last year. Russell Hogin of the War Production Board's Information Division, spoke on "A Government Press Agent Looks at Radio", and Bruce Robertson, Associate Editor of BROADCASTING, talked on "News of Radio Within the Industry".

Rex Howell, manager of KFXJ Grand Junction, Colo., played a recording made in the station's studio during the early Sunday morning bombardment of the city a few months back when a munitions train caught fire in the yards. The whine of speeding shells and the wham of their explosion needed no words to give a dramatically vivid picture of the scene. Mr. Howell said that radio again proved its public value in time of emergency: phone calls dropping 75 per cent shortly after KFXJ had begun broadcasting explanations of the bombardment, and not a single civilian casualty occurring, which he credited at least partially to the station's continued warnings to listeners to stay off the streets and not to handle shells dropped on their premises but to phone the location of the shells for removal by experts.

Public Relations Plan

Members of the Radio News Committee attending the sessions were: L. Spencer Mitchell, WDAE Tampa, who acted as temporary chairman in the absence of chairman Karl Koerber, managing director, KMBC Kansas City; Paul White, director of news, CBS; Bill Brooks, director of News, NBC; Tom Eaton, news editor, WTIC Hartford; Rex Howell, manager, KFXJ Grand Junction, Colo.; Bill Dowdell, news editor, WLW Cincinnati, and Walt Dennis, NAB news bureau chief, secretary.

The NAB Public Relations Committee announced the adoption of a complete working plan of public relations for the industry, based on active participation of local station management. Details will be presented to broadcasters by their district public relations chairmen at district meetings and direct mail.

"Under the plan adopted by the committee," Edgar Bill, WMBD Peoria, chairman, said following the meeting, "radio's place in American life will be asserted and substantiated wherever there are broadcast facilities."

Dorothy Lewis, coordinator of listener activity for the NAB, discussed her contemplated fall tour of 22 cities to promote radio's wartime function, and also reported on the organization of the Assn. of Women Directors of NAB, which now has more than 600 Members.

Willard D. Egolf, NAB assistant to the president, who perfected the details of the working plan, presented a completed panel of district public relations chair-

New Abeyance Plan Of NBC Criticized

GENERAL FEELING of dissatisfaction by New York advertising agencies with NBC's recent announcement that the operation of its abeyance or waiting list of prospective advertisers "must be entirely contingent upon our (NBC's) judgment," was expressed to BROADCASTING last week, after release of the NBC letter signed by Niles Trammell, president, and sent to all agencies.

According to one agency official, the change in policy by NBC is setting a "very bad precedent" for future programming. If a network sets itself up as the arbitrary critic of whether a program is good or bad, it was pointed out, the result should be very stultifying to radio in general. How can NBC think that its opinion of what program is best fitted for a newly available period is better than the opinion of an agency official or an advertiser, it was asked.

According to the NBC letter: "Due to our program contributions to the war effort, with a completely sold-out evening schedule, the recent reduction in our so-called network time periods, and because we must maintain the best in a complete national network program service to both our associated stations and the public, we are faced with a far greater responsibility than ever before with respect to the character and quality of our programs.

"In consequence it is now necessary to advise you that hereafter whenever a period of time becomes available, the operation of our abeyance list must be entirely contingent upon our judgment and final decision as to the quality and type of program to be broadcast in that particular period. We may on rare occasions find it necessary to suspend the abeyance entirely in order to place a program of importance to the position of leadership of NBC in the particular period that becomes available."

War Ad Council Expands Its Executive Committee

WAR Advertising Council last week announced expansion of its executive committee from five to eight members, the three new appointments including Charles G. Mortimer Jr., vice-president of General Foods Sales Co.; William Reydel, partner of Newell-Emmett Co., and John Sterling of This Week magazine.

These new members will serve in addition to the officers: Chester J. LaRoche, chairman; Harold B. Thomas, president of the Centaur Co., vice-chairman; Paul B. West, president of the Assn. of National Advertisers, vice-chairman; Mason Britton, vice-president of McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., treasurer, and Frederick E. Gamble, managing director of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies, secretary.

Dear Chip—

In these days of more buyers than sellers, I suppose a lot of business firms are tempted to rest on their oars, instead of going overboard in what would be "normal time" service. Maybe so, but not with these boys at WCHS. I just heard the boys say that this year again our station is going to carry our home state's university football schedule. And when I say "to carry" I don't mean any of that ticker tape stuff. No sir! This station buys a line direct to every stadium where W. Va. University plays. We send our ace sports announcer, Sam Molen, right there so he can send back to the thousands of fans in this area a play-by-play description of each and every game. The home of W. Va. University in 800 miles from Charleston, but that doesn't keep us from spending plenty of good dough to see that our listeners get what they want. No one ever told me, but I imagine it's that sort of public service that's responsible for Crosley Surveys showing WCHS with by far the majority of listeners. I guess a Branham man could tell you more about that than I can.

Regards

Yrs.

Radio Promotion Speeds Bond Sales

Novel Schemes Among Campaigns Staged By Industry

FROM radio stations all over the country reports are being received about the time and effort the broadcasting industry is diverting from regular business to the promotion of the 15 billion dollar Third War Loan. Some stations are even giving up complete schedules to devote full attention to the Drive as well as programming special events, stunt broadcasts, local rallies—all in the interest of selling War Bonds to "Back the Attack".

The industry went all-out on the opening of the drive Sept. 9, with Radio Day. Dawn to dusk programs and announcements filled the air with the message of "Back the Attack" by purchasing an extra $100 War Bond during the 22 days of the campaign.

Effort Continues

Radio talent and time did not cease on behalf of the Loan after Sept. 9. The industry has continued en masse on its own and with the aid of special programs, announcements and campaigns arranged by the Treasury, OWI and various other organizations working in the interest of making the drive a success.

The Italian surrender gave radio another chance to assert its value as a medium designed to unite and inform the people as well as to serve them. The news of the surrender was announced by Gen. Eisenhower over the Algiers radio on the very eve of the launching of the Third War Loan. Fearing that the moral effect of the good news might seriously handicap the War Loan the Treasury immediately telegraphed stations all over the country asking them to assist in diverting the potential hinderance by stressing to the listening audience that the war was far from being won as Italy was the weaker of the Axis trio [BROADCASTING, Sept. 13].

Response Rapid

Response to the Treasury's request for the four major networks to devote one day during the next two weeks to Third War Loan promotion was rapid. Mutual, on its Bond Day, Sept. 18, scheduled 14 consecutive hours to the campaign. Broadcasts from overseas via the BBC and programs from Canada composed part of the day's events.

The BLUE, on Sept. 19, programmed special features and shows in behalf of the drive from 8 a.m. to 1 a.m. the following day. Remotes were aired from abroad and from hospitals in this country featuring interviews with wounded servicemen.

Plans for the CBS day, Sept. 21, and NBC day, Sept. 26, were still being formulated as BROADCASTING went to press. Sept. 23 has been set aside as Independents' Day for all non-affiliate stations. The schedules depend upon the individual station. The NAB is acting as a clearing house between the stations and the Treasury.

Reports show that the individual stations are cooperating to the fullest and also independently promoting the drive. KMAC San Antonio, is daily broadcasting a full hour War Bond show. WBT Charlotte, N. C., is devoting a large portion of its weekly broadcast hours to War Bond promotion. We Salute program each weekday evening covers Carolina fighting men.

Featuring prominent and representative people of the area, KLO Salt Lake City has made a series of one-minute transcribed appeals on behalf of the drive. Discs are being run at intervals. KEEW Brownsville, Tex., is airing live appeals by public officials and clergymen. WNBC Hartford, Conn., has built a "Victory Bond House" in downtown Hartford complete with stage, public address and lines to the studios. Special shows originating from this point include Army bands, name orchestras, civic leaders and various radio and screen talent.

A "Victory Queen" contest was sponsored by WKBZ Muskegon, Mich., through the county Bond committee. Queen candidates entered the contest with an initial Bond purchase was made. Half-hour participation program used by WENY Elmira, N. Y., during the Second War Loan is now being successfully used during the current campaign. Titled Bond Boosters the show is broadcast five nights a week. On Sept. 15 WSAY Rochester, N. Y., arranged for the personal appearance of Fulton Lewis jr., Mutual commentator, to deliver an address from the U. of Rochester over Mutual network. Tickets for admission to the broadcast were distributed on the basis of War Bond purchases.

Fulton Lewis jr. also made the initial address opening the Drive in Columbus, Miss. over WCBI.

"Buy a Bond and Make a Record" is the slogan of KTUL Tulsa, and the special two-hour show held five days a week from a stage on a downtown street. Quarter-hour broadcast each noon opens the show with a War Bond appeal by civic and business leaders. Bonus for Bond buying customers is free recording of personal message which may be mailed to servicemen.

Bond Auction

Everyday WICA Ashtabula, O., devotes a 30-minute program, Back the Attack, exclusively to the sale of War Bonds. KDRO Sedalia, Mo., every evening is using a live hill-billy show for Bond promotion. KRBA Lufkin, Tex., sold its entire quota of $1,200,000 in Bonds the very first day of the drive. Since 7 a.m. Sept. 9 and for the duration of the drive WHUB Cookeville, Tenn., has been devoting all program time, commercial or sustaining, to the War Bond Drive. WLDS Jacksonville, Ill., is daily programming interviews with prominent citizens. KFIZ Pond du Lac, Wisc., is likewise presenting notables from its area in the interest of the campaign.

Opening day stunt for WBRW Welch, W. Va., was sponsorship of a War Bond auction from the stages of the local theatres. Local merchants contributed worthwhile articles to be offered to the highest War Bond bidder. Articles were displayed in store windows and bids were taken by phone to be used as opening bids when the auction was broadcast that evening.

WCKY Cincinnati sponsored the "Miss America" contest in that area and War Bond rally was tied in with the finalist selection for "Miss Greater Cincinnati". WISH Indianapolis brought the BLUE feature America's Town Meeting of the Air to Indianapolis shortly before the start of the drive and raised more than $2,500,000 from the sale of tickets to the broadcast which were paid for by Bond purchases. WALB Albany, Ga., started its campaign with a huge outdoor rally and parade sponsored by local organizations. Shows are also being staged at a nearby Army field in the interest of War Bonds.

WAOV Vincennes, Ind., has turned over its entire broadcast schedule to the Treasury for the Third War Loan Drive. All commercial advertisers have relinquished their commercial announcements to the Treasury and in addition many sponsors are presenting special shows for Bond promotion. WIP Philadelphia is continuing its Victory Caravan series which it used during the Second War Loan. Series is sponsored by local industry in the Philadelphia area.

Victory Matinee series of WBBM Chicago has aided in making the station one of the top Bond selling outlets. Series is produced by WBBM with station talent. WDSM Superior, Wis., is using a series of five-minute talks by local celebrities in behalf of the Loan. WGN Chicago is sponsoring numerous sustaining shows for War Bond promotion. Chicago civic and culture leaders also are making appeals over WGN as well as various sets of foreign groups whose representatives have members in the service.

Detroit Invaded

WENR Chicago is using every available sustaining hour and commercial program in the interest of the drive. WWJ WJR WKYZ Detroit, Mich., all covered the mock invasion of Detroit made by Canadian troops Sept. 9. Civic leaders spoke and tie-in with the Third War Loan was used. These stations are continuing the effort with programs and spots. WTAM Cleveland is repeating its record made in the Second Drive by using 100 sustaining programs a week for the promotion of the present drive. KBTM Jonesboro, Ark., is broadcasting a War Bond auction each afternoon from various downtown business houses and different articles are auctioned for War Bonds.

Beginning Thursday, Sept. 9, and continuing every Thursday during the drive all copy on WING Dayton, O., plugs the Third Loan and there is no merchandise advertising on these days. The WJLS Beckley, W. Va., Bond Box sold $3,000 in Bonds in 60 minutes Sept. 9. WIBG Philadelphia in cooperation with a local Masonic club staged a two-hour Bond rally on Sept. 13. Over a million dollars in Bonds were sold over the air and purchasers received tickets to a War Bond movie presentation at a local theatre. Wendell Willkie has been one of the champion Bond sellers in the WABC New York setup. The station has lines into a "Victory Tent" behind one of the local theatres where name personalities stage special broadcasts and then are taken to a battery of telephones installed by WABC to take pledges for Bonds.

THERE'S a new name on the horizon in the "Heart of America." Through the splendid cooperation of prominent advertising men in all parts of the country who submitted hundreds of excellent name suggestions, it was possible to decide upon one best describing the idea and the purpose of this newest of KMBC firsts—livestock farms operated in service to farmers everywhere. Here the teachings of Phil Evans, KMBC's farm editor, are given practical application, and the findings resulting therefrom are passed on to KMBC listeners. With such a fundamental simplicity of purpose, it is only logical that the name KMBC Service Farms should result. We of KMBC congratulate Merle Sidener of Sidener and Van Riper, Inc. in Indianapolis for submitting the winning name, and extend our deep appreciation to all, for it was the accumulative contributions of everyone making possible the final selection.

DOES IT BEAR FRUIT? ... LOOKEE!

SIZE is no measure of productivity. If radio coverage, big or little, doesn't bear fruit in paying quantities, it is worthless.

In the case of WKY, you can get BOTH big coverage and big productivity. WKY's coverage is greater than that of any other Oklahoma City station—an incontrovertible engineering fact. WKY's superior productivity is based on the hard, cold fact that far more persons listen to WKY than to any other Oklahoma City station. The June-July Hooper shows WKY with 44.3% of Oklahoma City's morning listeners; 58.1% of its afternoon listeners; and 53.0% of its evening listeners.

WKY has the two things necessary to make radio advertising bear fruit abundantly . . . coverage AND listeners.
