THE YEAR IN REVIEW

BY WILLIAM J. QUIGLEY

Rapid and disruptive change occurred at an increasing rate in all areas of media during 2007, causing old and new businesses to re-examine, redefine and repurpose their business models. There are two main factors driving this: all media companies want to deliver and ultimately get paid for reaching a mass audience, yet partially due to the internet, DVRs and all the other new media outlets, the audience has become accustomed to deciding when, where and how they want their information and entertainment delivered. It is increasingly difficult to attract a large audience for the initial showing of any film, TV, satellite or cable program, DVD release or any content in traditional or new distribution channels. Increasingly, users are insisting that they be treated as a unique "market of one" and they "time-shift" and "place-shift" their programming. For content providers and marketers to profit they need to reach, measure and aggregate these unique individuals as if they were a traditional mass media market. The critical success factor that will determine who will be winners and losers for both old and new media companies is the quality of the content — whether studio or user generated — that drives the size and engagement of the audience. "Hits" generate large audiences by definition. "Hits" are still the lifeblood of all media, regardless of the distribution channel.

There are two main business models for media: subscription — pay-per-viewing — or "free" content that is advertising supported. It is interesting to note that the new digital media model is starting to look a lot like the old broadcast model — primarily advertiser supported. Because marketers and content providers need greater understanding of audience numbers, Nielsen and other companies have created innovations that attempt to measure viewers across all platforms. Even broadcast commercials are now being rated. Another sign that the television business has undergone a significant transition in the last year is that YouTube, Yahoo, MSN, DVRs, iPods and mobile content providers are now being seen as potential partners and outlets for old media companies rather than just competitive threats. How quickly things change. Innovation is creating new products and business processes that create value. The new digital technology is driving the development of new types of content, a variety of media distribution options and innovative digital devices, all of which underline the rapid growth of a new digital entertainment industry. As media companies focus on making digital entertainment easier to access and view on different devices throughout the home and while traveling, a vast number of companies have an enormous opportunity to provide a wider variety of innovative devices, content and software than ever before.

It is amazing to think of the entertainment options now available in the home: broadcast, HD, wireless, cable, DVD, satellite, telephone and high speed internet. Similarly, telephones, iPods, wireless computing, mobile TV and even GPS all provide options for mobile entertainment and information. Now, most media companies are competing to interconnect these devices and control content, delivery systems and storage.

While the new delivery systems currently serve a tiny fraction of the media landscape, it is interesting to speculate where the future of television is going. Two of the new distribution channels are Internet television, which operates on the world wide web and Internet Protocol Television, or IPTV, which is offered via broadband networks that are private. Google, Joost and similar services are examples of Internet television, while phone and satellite companies like Verizon, AT&T and EchoStar offer the private networks that are IPTV.

YouTube is a free service that allows anyone to upload and view anything they want on their computers. While some of the content is "user-generated," much was pirated material and they were sued by Viacom for this. They have made deals with NBC and CBS for content and are trying to make deals with the other media companies. Ultimately, they will probably have to generate revenue from advertising and offer to share it with the media companies. Apple, Amazon and Wal-Mart are now offering video downloads to one's computer where users pay for the content and get to keep it. Companies such as NetFlix are taking a different approach where subscribers have a large choice of content that is "streamed" to their computers, with no permanent copy available to the subscriber. Perhaps the most disruptive technology is from Joost, a new company from the creators of KaZaA and Skype, the internet file-sharing services that changed the music and telephone business models. Joost, which lets people view TV from their computers whenever they want, is proposing a "free" service which is advertising supported. The next development will be sending video from the computer to the television and Apple and other companies are already selling the hardware. Flash memory maker SanDisk launched an online video service in October that can store television programs and videos from a computer for playback on televisions.

The other blue sky area is mobile devices. There are predictions that as many as 25 million Americans will be watching video on their mobile phones within three years. There are three ways currently to distribute content to phones. One is to download material onto a computer and then transfer it to the phone. The second way is to stream video over existing mobile networks, which is what Sprint does. The third way is to "multicast" to handsets using an existing mobile network with a radio network embedded, much as Verizon does. At the end of the day, when wireless-broadband connections are everywhere, people will be able to watch whatever they like, whenever they like, whether it be by computer, tv or mobile device.

BROADCAST

Pundits who predicted the end of traditional broadcasting in the past few years were wrong. Just a little more than 10 years ago, the federal "fin-syn" regulations that prohibited networks from producing and owning primetime shows were repealed. In the past the only way to pay for programming was through advertising on the network. Now, with the huge growth in international TV distribution and the dozen other distribution channels now available for primetime programming, the networks are more profitable than ever.

This recalls the days when the movie studios were saved from bankruptcy by exploiting their libraries in whatever new distribution channels developed — television, cable, satellite, home video, and so forth.

The business model for television evolved during the upronts this year, after many years of discussion, when the networks and advertising agencies agreed to measure commercial ratings as well as the program within which it airs. Additionally, networks now measure their audience by adding DVR viewers that watch within three days of the initial broadcast. This new standard is called "C3" or commercial ratings plus three and this will let the 35%-40% of people who watch programs on DVRs and see the advertisements, be counted by the networks. Obviously, some advertisers with the need for viewers in a specific time frame, such as movie studios with opening dates or any consumer product or leisure business that depends on weekend sales, are very concerned. Understandably, some adjustments will be made. Currently, only 20% of households in the U.S. have DVRs but this number is expected to grow quickly.

Although the top networks delivered a combined 40 million viewers for advertisers, viewership is down this Fall by as much as 10% to 2006, mostly because there were no instant hits like last year's "Heroes" or recent hit shows like "Desperate Housewives" or "Lost." However, advertising revenues continue to climb because broadcast is the only medium that can still draw a consistent mass audience. Although there have been recent indications that there is a trend among advertisers to shift dollars away from paid media, there is still no real substitute for broadcast's reach.

ABC was a distant third in the ratings when Stephen McPherson, president of ABC Entertainment, took over Disney's broadcast television unit three years ago. Since then, with shows such as "Dancing With the Stars," "Brothers & Sisters" and "Ugly Betty" augmenting "Grey's Anatomy," "Desperate Housewives" and "Lost," his division reported $733 million in operating income for the first three quarters of 2007, compared to $320 million when he started. Three new shows, "Pushing Daisies," "Dirty Sexy Money" and "Private Practice," a spinoff of "Grey's Anatomy," had promising debuts. "Cavemen" looks like it will not make it. Currently, ABC ranks No. 1 among adults 18 to 49, justifying the big increases in advertising prices they received during upfront.

CBS ended last season first in total viewers although some of the strongest shows such as the "CSI" franchise and "Survivor" have been losing viewers, particularly in the 18-49 demo. Regardless, CBS still has eight of the 20 most-watched shows on television and remains an important driver of the company's TV station group which reported $1.8 billion in operating income. "Kid Nation" created a lot of controversy with its 40 kids under 16 in a "Lord of the Flies" environment. Advertisers continue to support CBS because it has a big, broad and loyal audience virtually every night of the week. Nina Tassler, president of CBS Entertainment, is optimistic about the new Fall offerings including "Cane," "Moonlight" and "Ghost Whisperer." "Viva Laughlin" was pulled after two airings. While CBS' core business units are broadcast, stations and productions, they also have considerable holdings in radio, billboards, foreign TV licensing and interestingly, after the split with Viacom, Les Moonves established a film production unit, headed by Amy Baer, which will produce four to six films a year.

General Electric-owned NBC has been stuck in fourth place in the ratings for the last three years. The fact that Kevin Reilly, who had been the president of NBC

Entertainment, left to go to Fox, exacerbated the programming challenges. Fortunately, it can still rely on the NFL games on Sunday and the surprise hit of last year, "Heroes." Surprisingly, NBC did not change its Thursday night lineup and although "The Office" and "30 Rock" are favored by the critics, they have not enjoyed much ratings success. This is important because movie studios and other consumer product companies are heavy advertisers on Thursday night to make strong impressions before the weekend. Much of the rest of the NBC schedule relied heavily on reality shows that have not been particularly well received.

Fox has been in the top spot among 18-49 year-olds for three consecutive years with "House," "24," "Family Guy," "Prison Break" and "American Idol." However, Fox has a unique scheduling challenge each year as the baseball playoffs preempt much of October's programming. Fox Entertainment Chairman, Peter Liguori, breathed a sigh of relief that the Red Sox made it into the World Series, instead of the Cleveland Indians. In any event, the return of "American Idol" and "24" in January 2008 insures a strong surge in the ratings. New shows such as "The Sarah Connor Chronicles," based on the "Terminator" movies and "The Return of Jezebel James" debut in January.

The CW was formed in 2006 from the merger of CBS-owned UPN and Time Warner's WB and relied primarily on programming from them. There was a fair amount of anticipation about the new shows launched this Fall but the results to date for "Gossip Girl," "Aliens in America" and "Reaper" were just fair. "Smallville" and "America's Next Top Model" remain popular. Interestingly, CW has the lowest median age of viewers and those most likely to watch their shows in non-traditional ways — "Gossip" has ranked among the top shows sold on iTunes. This plus the fact that many of their shows have been gaining over 20% among the 18-24 demographic when DVR data is added to the initial broadcast indicates potential.

CABLE

Although satellite still continues to lead cable in overall customer satisfaction, that gap has narrowed considerably and is likely to be eliminated in the future because of the success of cable's "bundled" offers of high speed internet access, video-on-demand, programming and telephone service. In fact, a study by Price Waterhouse Cooper this year states that U.S. satellite TV providers will start losing customers to cable operators and telecommunications companies by 2010, particularly because the telcos are focusing more on their own video service offers than bundling alliances with the satellite firms.

The ad-supported cable networks collectively did even better last Summer and doubled the audience for the major networks in the 18-49 demographic. However, there is evidence that many of the major cable networks are suffering the same kind of audience erosion that has been a fact of life for the broadcast networks for the last 25 years. More choice and niche targeting among smaller cable channels nibble at the share of the big channels, exactly the same way the older cable networks ate the share of the broadcast networks. This means that there will have to be substantial investment in content by any cable network that wants to grow or protect its share. Evidence of this fact is that there were over 33 new series that premiered during the summer, including terrific performers like "Army Wives" and "Burn Notice" as well as some disappointments.

Typically cable chose not to compete with the networks' Fall schedules and mega-marketing budgets but success during the Summer has emboldened cable programmers to compete with broadcast, not just in the Fall, but 52 weeks a year. This Fall saw the return of series such as "Curb Your Enthusiasm," "Project Runway," "Stargate Atlantis," "Monk," "Rescue Me," and "Nip/Tuck." An interesting new show was HBO's "Tell Me You Love Me," a fairly explicit drama about relationships. USA placed "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" on Thursday night and Showtime brought back "Dexter," "Weeds" and "Californication."

One of the biggest problems facing cable is that viewers no longer see cable as a particularly innovative and more explicit alternative to the broadcast networks, as they once did. The decision to watch a specific program has nothing to do with whether it is watched on cable or broadcast. With so many cable channels changing their identities, brand identification of cable has been blurred and viewer loyalty is to the program, not the network. This may be a problem for cable that is similar to movie studios failures at branding — audiences care about the film, not the studio that produced it.

SATELLITE

Much media attention this year has been focused on the possibility that AT&T will buy either DirecTV or EchoStar. The point of a telephone company acquiring a satellite company is that with their complimentary array of services and subscribers, they can sell more "bundled" products to customers and compete more effectively with cable. However, this potential deal and others are complicated by the fact that John Malone's investment company is in the process of buying News Corporation's 39% interest in DirecTV and that Charlie Ergen's EchoStar is in the midst of a massive restructuring that will separate its satellite business from its set-top-box equipment business. While the outcome will unveil itself in time, it is important to remember that the Bush Justice Department and the FCC took 14 months — from October 2001 to December 2002 — to reject the proposed merger between DirecTV and EchoStar. The involved parties feel some urgency because of a likely win by the Democrats in 2008 and an assumed anti-merger stance, but nothing in this arena is likely to happen quickly. More likely, there will be many other alternative combinations and permutations of companies that are proposed over the next few years.

Fifteen years ago DirecTV and EchoStar promoted themselves as a less expensive alternative to cable. As cable companies added "bundles" of high speed internet access, video-on-demand and phone service, satellite then turned to exclusive programming as a competitive advantage and trying to structure deals with the telcos to level the playing field. Recently, the satellite providers have been stressing their advantages over cable in customer satisfaction: performance, reliability, customer service, quality of image and cost. That seems to be working: satellite providers currently have increased their market share to 29%, while cable TV's share has dropped from 89% to 71% since 2000.

Another area of differentiation from cable has been HD TV where the satellite providers have made it clear that they intend to be the dominant high-definition suppliers to the home. For now, satellite has a competitive advantage over cable in that high definition takes up a tremendous amount of bandwidth and cable companies can only deliver a limited amount of video and data via wires. Consumers have been buying high definition TVs at a rapid pace and this year DirecTV launched two satellites that offer 100 high definition channels, much more than cable can currently supply. They also launched a new video-on-demand service, DirecTV On Demand.

The legal battle between TiVo and EchoStar continued on appeal after EchoStar was ordered to pay TiVo $73.9 million for infringing their patents. A judge ruled that EchoStar should disable the DVRs it had deployed which has obvious implications for other companies' DVRs not licensed from TiVo.

DVD & HOME VIDEO

The home video market continues to mature with total spending on home video purchases for the first three quarters of 2007 down 4.4%, from $9.1 billion to $8.8 billion. Rental spending was down 2.8% to $5.5 billion. Typically, one third of total revenue comes from rentals. Combined spending on DVD purchases and sales declined 3.8% from 2006, for the same period. It is likely that the year end comparison will show a decline in the 5% range.

Although Warner Bros. and Paramount are the only two studios that release in both formats, the Blu-ray and HD-DVD battle has divided the industry and made consumers wary about upgrading their hardware until a clear winner emerges. Interestingly, digital downloads, continually predicted as the delivery system that would kill DVDs, have not yet really caught on although Amazon with its Unbox is the first retailer to get into the movie download business and Disney is the first studio to offer downloads through Apple's iTunes, which upset the big-box retailers. Other retailers continue to struggle as sales at Wal Mart and Best Buy have slowed, Blockbuster has had management changes and Movie Gallery has entered bankruptcy.

While the studios' theatrical summer blockbusters dominate the end of the fourth quarter releases, an interesting new market for DVD boxed sets of TV shows has developed in the Fall. Notably, Universal sold almost 600,000 copies of the first season of "Heroes" this year. Christmas looks to be huge in 2007, based on the Summer theatrical releases, although overcrowding is becoming more of a problem as the studios have been squeezing more and more releases into year end for the obvious reason — holiday sales represent more than half the annual business.

Netflix had over 5.7 million customers by year end who pay $18 a month to watch as many films as they want, for as long as they want. Blockbuster continues to play catch up.

Martin J. Quigley

And The Glory Days Of American Film 1915-1965

Available now.
A must-read
for anyone interested in the early days
of the U.S.
film industry!

Martin J. Quigley's life included the people who built the film industry — people like Barney Balaban, Cecil B. De Mille, Adolph Zukor, Louis B. Mayer, Marcus Loew, Darryl F. Zanuck, Samuel Goldwyn, Spyros Skouras, Irving Thalberg, Harry Cohn, Howard Hughes and Jack and Harry Warner. Quigley was intimate friends and a trusted confidant to all these early moguls. For 25 years the author had the privilege — not often had by a son — of being able to observe the day-to-day business and professional activities of his father. Included are an historical overview of the film business, 40 pages of rarely seen photographs, a history of the origin of motion pictures, the full text of the Production Code co-authored by Quigley (and the forerunner to today's film rating system) and a complete index of people, films and critical issues to the business and art of motion pictures as seen through the life of Martin J. Quigley.

CORPORATE HISTORIES OF THE NETWORKS

ABC, INC. (AMERICAN BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

ABC's predecessor, the Radio Corporation of America (RCA) owned two radio networks, the Blue and the Red. In 1941, the FCC decreed that the same company could not own two networks, so RCA incorporated the Blue under the name of American Broadcasting System and established it as an independent subsidiary. RCA then sold this network to Edward J. Noble, and in 1944, the name was changed to the American Broadcasting Company. ABC's first television broadcast was on April 19, 1948 with "On the Corner." Later in the year, ABC scored two "firsts": the live broadcast of an opera (Verdi's "Otello") from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and a TV documentary, "The Marshall Plan." ABC merged with United Paramount Theatres in 1952. This merger was engineered by Leonard H. Goldenson, then the President of UPT. The new company was called American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc. During the 1950s, ABC began to operate at a profit although it had to struggle fiercely to acquire new affiliates. In 1954, ABC made a deal with Walt Disney to acquire a 35% interest in Disneyland and all TV programs produced by Disney. The following year, ABC signed an exclusive rights contract with Warner Bros. for TV programming.

In the Fall of 1962, ABC introduced color programming for the fall season which was expanded in 1966 to include full color broadcasting. In 1965, AB-PT's name was changed to American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. The 1960s also introduced blockbuster theatrical movies to TV with spectacular ratings results when "The Bridge on the River Kwai" was viewed (in 1966) by 60 million Americans. In 1967, the ABC evening news was expanded from 15 minutes to a half-hour, and Joey Bishop inaugurated ABC's late-night talk show programming.

In 1972, ABC was able to operate at a profit for the first time in ten years. In the 1976-77 season, ABC had its first win in the ratings race. In 1976, Barbara Walters joined ABC, becoming the first anchorwoman in television history. The mini-series "Roots" appeared on ABC in 1977 and became the highest-rated program of all time. This helped immensely in the ratings race, and credit must go in large part to Fred Silverman who, two years before, had joined the company as President of ABC International. He left in 1978 to go to NBC.

The decade of the Eighties was a turbulent one for the networks as cable and home video began whittling away their audiences. In 1985, ABC agreed to be purchased by Capital Cities Communications. The merged company's name was changed to Capital Cities/ABC, Inc. ABC held second place in the ratings from 1979 to 1983, when it dropped to third position. It was unable to rise from third until 1987-88 when it displaced CBS in second place, primarily because of the World Series and the Superbowl. It remained second in 1988-89 and 1989-90. In the latter season, ABC had the distinction of broadcasting the most talked-about new series of the period, "Twin Peaks," and the highest-rated new series, "America's Funniest Home Videos."

Daniel B. Burke replaced Frederick J. Pierce as President and COO. There were also sweeping reductions in personnel in the interests of economy and streamlining. Budget cuts notwithstanding, Capital Cities/ABC chairman Thomas Murphy pledged ABC would not scrimp on programming.

Profits at the end of 1990 rose about $70 million. Of the three networks, ABC won the ratings battle in news coverage of the war in the Persian Gulf. For two seasons in a row the network could boast having the only new series in the top ten: "America's Funniest People" (1990-91) and "Home Improvement" (1991-92). Capital Cities/ABC is a partner in ESPN, the highly successful cable TV sports channel, and two other cable TV services — Arts & Entertainment and Lifetime. ABC was the only network in the 1992-93 season to gain ground, moving into second place behind CBS, from its previous third place standing. During the season, Robert A. Iger became the new network President. The network was the first to sign a deal with a cable operator (in this case Continental Cablevision) allowing its stations to be carried on cable without paying a fee. In 1994, the company signed an affiliation deal with E.W.Scripps Company to switch several of their stations over to ABC.

The big event of 1995 was the $19 billion acquisition of Capital Cities/ABC by the Walt Disney Company, said to be the second largest corporate takeover in history. In 1997, Ted Harbert resigned as entertainment chairman of ABC after 20 years with the network. At the end of the 1996-97 season, "Roseanne," one of ABC's sitcom staples, was discontinued after nine years on the air. The producers of ABC's "Home Improvement" sued the program's distributor, Walt Disney, alleging that a $3 million-per-episode renewal was in essence a sweetheart deal benefiting Disney. A lawsuit against the ABC news program Prime Time Live by the supermarket chain Food Lion for trespass, fraud and breach of fiduciary duty was decided in favor of the supermarket by a North Carolina jury. Producers for the evening news magazine got themselves hired undercover as clerks by the chain in order to expose the sales of spoiled food and unsanitary food handling practices by Food Lion, which did not dispute the findings of the investigative report, but instead claimed that the practice of sending in undercover reporters constituted fraud.

ABC's ratings soared when it broke the news in January 1998 that sex allegations were made by intern Monica Lewinsky against President Clinton. Apparently continuing a trend started by the O.J. Simpson trial and elevated by the death of Princess Diana in September 1997, news proved very successful in attracting viewers. Despite its brief victory in the ratings war, the network was scheduled to go through a complete transformation for the 1998-99 season, after losing its number two slot among 18- to 49-year-olds to Fox. For the new season, the network introduced remakes of old shows such as "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "Fantasy Island," had "Sports Night" for male viewers, and aired about 20 made-for-TV movies and mini-series.

ABC finished third in the 1998-1999 ratings war, despite their relentless self-promotion and critical acclaim for new shows like "Sports Night." With the 1999 departure of the embattled Jamie Tarses, it remained to be seen whether ABC's next programmer would be able to resurrect the network's ratings.

ABC's only blue-chip program was Monday Night Football, for which Disney paid the NFL $9.2 billion through the year 2005. In July, 1999, in an effort to reduce programming expenses, Disney combined ABC with Disney's television-production studio in order to slot more shows made by Disney onto ABC's prime-time schedule.

In the 1999-2000 season, ABC hit the jackpot with its American spin-off of the British "Who Wants to Be A Millionaire." For the season ending May 24, "Millionaire" took the top three spots in the ratings with its Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday programs, garnering a 29-, 26- and 25-share respectively.

In the 2000-2001 season, "Millionaire's" popularity waned somewhat. Through Nov. 5, 2000, the show was averaging a 20 share, a significant drop. ABC depended on the show to anchor its programming and generate revenue. With spring upfront ad sales estimated at $1.2 billion, about half of ABC's revenue, ABC executives and advertisers had their fingers crossed.

After surging to number 1 in the 1999-2000 season with "Who Wants To Be A Millionaire," ABC saw its audience drop off, causing the network to fall to number 4 (behind NBC, CBS, and FOX) in overall ratings for the 2001-02 season.

Adding to the network's woes in 2001, ABC was reeling from the worst ad market in years. Buffeted by the Sept. 11 attacks, ABC, CBS and NBC collectively suffered a record loss of $880 million in advertising revenues for the third quarter, a slide of 28.6% from the same period in 2000.

ABC was stung by a number of high-profile disappointments in the fall 2001 season, including the not-so-funny comedies "Bob Patterson" and "What About Joan" which were cancelled. ABC then reallocated budget resources to develop about a dozen comedies aimed at helping the network recover its viewership in the spring of 2002. Also cancelled after only two weeks on the air was "America.01," the ABC News magazine devoted to covering the changes in the country after Sept. 11. The newsmagazine, which premiered on Nov. 2, was created in order to fill the gap left by reality show "The Mole," which was put on hiatus because of low ratings.

ABC Television Network ranked behind NBC and CBS for the 2001-02 season, and almost lost its third place spot in a ratings battle with FOX. In 2002-03, ABC expected to woo younger audiences with its new season of "The Bachelor."

The network had a few more programming building blocks in 2003-04, including the building "According to Jim" and "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teenage Daughter," which generated a lot of interest and ratings due to the untimely death of beloved actor John Ritter. ABC sold $2.3 billion of prime-time advertising up-front, which was 15% higher than 2002. Thanks to improvement at ABC, Disney's media operations, which include ESPN and the Disney Channel, brought in $841 million in operating profit for the period ending June 30th. Ratings for the first part of the new television season were flat to the previous year.

ABC overhauled its executive ranks during 2004. Ironically, the biggest hits of the new schedule including, "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Boston Legal" were picked by the very executives who were sacked, Lloyd Braun and Susan Lyne. Part of the network's problem had been the inability to find a scripted megahit on the order of "CSI" or "Law & Order." It looked like they have them. The opening week of November sweeps brought good news for ABC and broadcast television overall. "Lost" captured Wednesday and helped ABC be one of only two networks to show a ratings increase in key demos vs. 2003's opening week. (CBS was the other net showing improvement.) According to reports in "Variety," the combined six network 18-49 averages in the first week of the November sweep (19.0 rating/50 share) ranked ahead of the previous year (18.3/49), which was good news considering the steady flight of viewers to off-network programming.

On the primetime front, ABC earned the label for "big success story of the 2004-2005 season." Ratings for ABC shows moved the net into second behind CBS. Leading the turnaround were the Emmy-winning hits "Lost," "Desperate Housewives" and "Boston Legal," and surprise ratings hits from new offerings like "Grey's Anatomy." The network saw its advertising upfront take increase 30 percent to $2.1 billion for the 2005-2006 season, which was roughly a 3-5% increase over the previous season.

After more than 20 years of journalistic excellence and stability at its primetime news anchor desk, the ABC news division suffered a terrible loss Aug. 7, 2005, with the death of veteran newsmen and ABC World News Tonight anchor Peter Jennings. Jennings died from lung cancer at the age of 67. Jennings joined ABC news in Aug. 1964 and became the network's primetime news anchor and senior editor of "World News Tonight" in 1983. In more than 20 years in the position he was honored with almost every major award given to television journalists. Elizabeth Vargas and Bob Woodruff were named co-anchors of the broadcast in December 2005. In June 2006, ABC veteran journalist

Charles Gibson replaced both Woodruff and Vargas, after Woodruff was critically injured in January while on assignment in Iraq, and Vargas chose to step down to take maternity leave and later return to co-anchor "20/20" and ABC News specials.

The upfront ad sales for the primetime 2006-2007 season dispelled any doubt ABC's slump of the past several seasons was over. For the second consecutive year, ABC generated cost-per-thousand increases of 4-6 percent and overall sales growth of more than 30 percent, to $2.3 billion (excluding sports). Advertiser confidence was attributed to the net's returning hits "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Grey's Anatomy" anchoring ABC's nine new shows on the fall schedule. "Anatomy" moved from Sunday at 10 to Thursday at 9 to compete on a night that attracts top-ticket advertisers. The balanced programming blend of popular alternative series like "Dancing With The Stars" and "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition," fused with its comedy and drama offerings enabled ABC to nip at the heels of number one CBS.

In 2007 Disney reported higher operating earnings, driven by double digit growth in Media Networks, benefit from the acquisition of Pixar and the spin-off of the ABC Radio business. Anne Sweeney, Co-Chairman of Disney Media Networks and President of Disney-ABC Television Group since 2004 is responsible for all the company's entertainment and news television properties worldwide. During her tenure, ABC Studios has grown its product from 11 series three years ago to over 22 today on broadcast and cable. These series also appear on a variety of other new media platforms including, internet, VOD, broadband and mobile. ABC has moved into first place among nightly newscasts with Charlie Gibson and news content is available on ABCNews.com. The Disney Channel is cable's number one network among Kids 6-11 and Tweens 9-14. "Hannah Montana" and "High School Musical" have been big hits.

CBS (COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

CBS began in 1927 as a radio network with 16 stations, United Independent Broadcasters, Inc., founded by Arthur Judson, a concert tour manager and backed by Louis Sterling, President of the Columbia Phonograph Company. Later other investors were invited in, the most prominent of whom was William S. Paley. On September 26, 1928, at the age of 27, Paley became President of the firm whose name was changed to the Columbia Broadcasting System. Paley introduced many innovations to radio broadcasting, the most significant of which was the signing of an agreement in 1931 with Paramount Pictures whereby film stars were heard on radio for the first time. This laid the groundwork for the CBS policy in television from the outset to feature shows built around stars (Ed Sullivan, Lucille Ball, Arthur Godfrey, Jack Benny, Burns & Allen, Garry Moore, etc.).

CBS was in TV as early as 1931 when it began regularly scheduled TV programming over experimental station W2XAB in New York City. In 1941, CBS began weekly broadcasts of black-and-white TV programming over WCBS-TV in New York. By 1948, it had 30 affiliated stations. In 1951, CBS broadcast the first live coast-to-coast TV transmission between New York and San Francisco. The year 1951 also marked the birth of the CBS Eye logo, designed by William Golden. It would stand the test of time and become one of the most famous logos in the world.

In 1952 CBS opened Television City in Hollywood — the industry's first self-contained TV production facility. "Playhouse 90" made its debut in 1956, but the big event of the decade was the 1951 debut of "I Love Lucy," a series regarded as the progenitor of the situation comedy. In the field of soap operas, CBS was both leader and winner, virtually monopolizing that market from 1951 to 1956. In 1951, it introduced "Search for Tomorrow," which was to become the longest-running show in that genre. This was followed by "Love of Life" (1951) and "The Guiding Light" (1952), both overnight hits.

In the late '50s and through the '60s and '70s, CBS reigned as king of prime-time ratings, maintaining its long-running lead with such successes as "Gunsmoke" (1957), "The Defenders" (1961), "The Beverly Hillbillies" (1962), "All in the Family" (1972) and "Dallas" (1978). Also helping was "60 Minutes," the news-oriented show which, by 1995, had remained in the Top 10 prime time shows for 18 consecutive seasons.

CBS began the turbulent '80s with a new President, Thomas Wyman (replacing John D. Backe).

In 1985, Ted Turner made an unfriendly bid for CBS, forcing the network to buy up 21% of its own stock to thwart the takeover. Laurence A. Tisch, a former theatre chain executive, had become the major stockholder in CBS when, in 1986, he instigated sweeping changes in the interests of cost-cutting and efficiency. Eliminated were 700 jobs at the CBS Broadcast Group. Tisch also removed Wyman as President, named himself CEO and induced founder William Paley to return to active duty as acting chairman of the board. It was quite a jolt to the company when, in 1985-'86, it slipped to second place and stayed there through the following season.

In 1987-'88, CBS came in third for the first time in TV history. In 1988, Tisch shuffled executive ranks again, naming Howard Stringer, previously President of CBS News, President of the Broadcasting Group. The networks new management team sought to devise a strategy to pull the network out of its decline in the prime-time ratings. Jeff Sagansky, former head of Tri-Star Pictures, was brought in as President of the entertainment division in 1990. Starting in 1991-'92, CBS became the number one network for three years in a row based on the success of such shows as "60 Minutes" (the number one show for both 1991-'92 and 1992-'93), "Murphy Brown," "Murder She Wrote," and "Northern Exposure." CBS was hit hard by FOX's 1994 purchase of 12 stations from New World Communications, losing eight affiliates.

However, the following summer, Westinghouse Electric Corp. acquired the final independent network for $5.4 billion, creating the largest collection of TV and radio stations in America. The 1994-'95 season was a low point for the network as it plunged from number one to number three. By season's end, CBS had the dubious distinction of being the first of the three majors to fall into 4th place, coming in below FOX for the last week before the debut of the 1995-'96 season. In late 1995, the venerable news program "60 Minutes" and CBS came under fire for refusing to air a controversial segment on the tobacco industry. Critics of CBS alleged that the network capitulated to the threat of legal action, rather than actual litigation. During this season the network placed third again. In 1997 CBS station group President Peter Lund was replaced by CBS radio

President, Mel Karmazin. Continuing the unpleasant trend of the previous several years, CBS continued to lose viewers in all age groups except the 60+. In the middle of 1998, Mel Karmazin made public the restructuring of CBS. Because of the network's failure to turn a profit, the radio and billboard companies which accounted for 60% of CBS' profits at the time, were to be transferred to Infinity, thereby making the TV operations easier to sell, if need be. Infinity Broadcasting was sold by Karmazin to CBS in 1996 after trying to buy the Eye's radio stations himself. Two years later, the company was several times its former size, and had the cash to grow even more as a result of the CBS deal. Although the CBS President denied considering a TV sale, others admitted that a sale was not ruled out. Because of the network's questionable future, President & CEO of CBS TV, Leslie Moonves, was pressured to deliver successful prime-time programming for the 1998-'99 season. With the end of expensive shows such as "Cybill" and "Murphy Brown," Karmazin announced that the fall's lineup was considerably less costly than the previous year's. And, with shows such as "King of Queens" and "L.A. Docs" scheduled for the fall, analysts foresaw the possible resurrection of CBS.

In 1999, CBS merged with Viacom. Viacom paid $37 billion in stock for the network, making the combined company the third largest media group in the U.S. Mel Karmazin became the President & COO of Viacom under Chairman Sumner Redstone.

CBS came in first in the 1998-'99 ratings war, but still had a viewing demographic older than the 18-49-year-old group prized by advertisers. Many of its new shows, however, did attract a younger audience.

CBS renewed its contract for men's NCAA basketball, securing the lucrative franchise through 2013.

In the 1999-2000 season, CBS edged out NBC for second place in the ratings war.

CBS was number one in overall ratings for the 2000-2001 season and was ahead in November sweeps for 2001-2002. However, like the rest of the networks, CBS was affected by the September 11th terrorist attacks. Without placing an exact number on advertising losses, Viacom President and COO Mel Karmazin said that the attacks resulted in a "considerable increase in costs at CBS News." He also said the network would lose additional revenue from the cancellation of NFL games, rescheduling the Emmy Awards twice, and the delay of the fall season.

CBS continued to have the oldest demographic of the networks but attracted younger viewers and the all-important advertising dollars that come with them by way of "Survivor," its very popular reality show.

CBS placed second behind NBC in the 2001-02 TV ratings race after winning the rank of top-rated network for the 2000-01 season (barely edging the previous year's winner ABC).

The Tiffany network turned 75 in 2003 and was usually the leader in total viewers. In spite of CBS' reputation, series such as Jerry Bruckheimer's two "CSI" series, "The Amazing Race," and "Cold Case" brought more young viewers, but dependables like "60 Minutes" and "Everybody Loves Raymond" continued to make CBS the most traditional of the broadcast networks. Les Moonves pulled a Ronald Reagan misineries in November after public outcry and a conservative backlash and used repeats of the two "CSI" series and "Without a Trace" to fill the holes.

CBS only launched five new shows for the Fall 2004 Season including "CSI: NY," reflecting their ratings strength during 2004. All of these five benefitted from strong leads, with the exception of the "CSI: NY," brand extension, which faced and did extremely well against "Law & Order" on Wednesday nights. CBS opened the November sweep with a record shattering performance, winning Thursday by its largest margin in viewers, adults 18-49 and adults 25-54 since 1987, according to Nielsen preliminary affiliate-based ratings for Nov. 4.

Also during 2004, CBS' parent, Viacom, Inc., saw the departure of pres. and COO Mel Karmazin and the promotion of CBS chief Les Moonves, to co-Pres. and co-COO of Viacom, alongside Tom Freston. Moonves still oversaw the network which continued to deliver solid revenues. At this time Viacom's TV operations included: CBS & UPN television networks and stations; television production and syndication. During the third quarter of 2004, these operations saw revenues increase 5 percent to $2.0 billion from $1.9 billion, and operating income increase 7 percent to $389 million from $362 million. Growth was attributed to advertising revenue increasing by approximately 4 percent. Solid programming, increasing revenues and a stable management team allowed CBS to continue its winning ways with viewers, advertisers and corporate shareholders.

Although lasting longer than many celebrity marriages, the 1999 union of CBS and Viacom amicably ended by 2006. Viacom Chairman and CEO Sumner Redstone initiated in June 2006 a break-up of the company into two separately traded entities to be known as Viacom, Inc. and CBS Corporation. Citing the demise of the corporate conglomerate, Redstone introduced the split to unlock value to shareholders, with the new companies split along lines strikingly similar to those before the 1999 merger. The new CBS Corporation included the CBS and UPN networks, the Viacom TV station group (soon renamed CBS TV Stations Group), the Infinity Broadcasting radio unit, Viacom Outdoor, the CBS, Paramount and King World TV production operations as well as Showtime, book publisher Simon & Schuster and Paramount Parks. Post-split, CBS Corporation continued to be run by Leslies Moonves. Company execs forecast the new CBS would generate a strong cash flow and would return capital to stockholders through dividend payments and stock repurchases.

CBS Broadcasting placed first in the 2004-05 TV ratings race and negotiated ad revenues for 2005-2006 from a position of power. CBS Sales President JoAnn Ross indicated CBS would sell just under 80 percent of its total prime-time ad inventory, about the same as for the 2004-2005 season, at cost-per-thousand increases of 4-5 percent. She anticipated the network would take in between $2.5 and $2.6 billion when all ad sales for the season were completed. CBS, fighting for younger viewers after years of being viewed as the network watched by an older audience, made strides in the youth market. It saw more ad dollars targeted to younger viewers in the 2005-2006 season, with agencies pumping ad dollars into shows like the Emmy-winning reality hit "The Amazing Race." Freshman shows already renewed for a full second season in 2006 included "How I Met Your Mother," "Criminal Minds" and "Ghost Whisperer." Among returning staples were "CSI," which had been a runaway hit since its introduction, and its spinoffs "CSI: Miami" and "CSI: NY"; "NCIS"; "The King of Queens," for a sixth season; "Two And A Half Men"; and "Survivor." Altogether, CBS programming strategy lured more viewers to CBS than any of the broadcast networks.

Dan Rather retired his post as evening news anchor after 24 years in the job, and after much speculation about his replacement, CBS secured the services of the ever-popular Katie Couric of NBC "Today Show" fame. She left the peacock network to join CBS in September 2006. According to reports, Couric drew more than 10 million viewers to "CBS Evening News" in her first week. Since then, ratings have fallen behind NBC and ABC, though compared with last year CBS has gained while the others are down. For the week of Oct. 16, Evening News drew 7.6 million viewers; NBC, 8.7 million; ABC, 8.5 million.

On the advertising front, CBS, and all the broadcast networks, faced a negative upfront market for the second straight year. Ad spending was down with clients moving money to other media. Yet, media reports showed CBS escaping the spring upfront market as the leader in overall sales, with $2.4 billion — even with its total last season. The network achieved low single-digit CPM increases.

In 2007 CBS operated the broadcast network, 200 television stations, 144 radio stations and Simon & Schuster. After the split from Viacom, primetime programming is the heart of the company, driving profits at the TV station group. Programming accounted for $400 million of the company's $2.6 billion in operating income, but has declined 1% in the first six months of 2007. CBS' television division, including stations and syndication, generated $1.8 billion of that number. Despite repeated stock buybacks and increases in the company's dividends, which have kept the stock price strong, Wall Street has been questioning whether Les Moonves will be able to continue in first place given that some of the hits such as "CSI" will keep losing the key 18-49 demographic. Moonves remains optimistic and cites the huge growth in international program sales as being the "lifeblood" of the network. Expanded distribution in new media channels by CBS' hot primetime shows will generate significant and increasing earnings in the years to come.

THE CW

Warner Bros. and CBS Corporation stunned the TV world when it announced in Jan. 2006 it would replace the WB and UPN networks in the fall with a combined network dubbed "The CW." Maybe stunned is too strong a word. Both UPN and the WB had struggled to deliver the kind of results coveted by corporate investors. Joining forces seemed the logical course for CBS Corporation, UPN's owner, and for Time Warner, The WB's parent co. With a 50 percent stake each in the new network, The CW ("C" for CBS and "W" for Warner Bros.) would cull the best programs from its old networks, trim overhead and reinvigorate programming for the 18-34 age group. John Maatta, former COO of the WB, became COO of The CW, and Dawn Ostroff, former UPN chief, became The CW's President of entertainment. The new network hit the airwaves in September 2006 with a lineup of shows that included UPN's "America's Next Top Model," "Veronica Mars," its ever-popular World Wrestling Entertainment's "Smackdown" on Friday nights and WB programs "7th Heaven," "Smallville" and "the Gilmore Girls," among others. The programming strength of the combined networks was a major draw to station owners seeking affiliation with The CW.

Media reports from the spring advertising upfronts, show The CW booking about $650 million in upfront commitments for its inaugural season. The network began operations in September 2006 with programming from UPN and The WB and premiered "America's Next Top Model."

After the 2007 upfronts, CW tried to build anticipation for the new fall shows but did not schedule any original content except "Hidden Palms," during the summer. The lack of summer originals lost the modest momentum from the regular season. Unfortunately, the fall shows have not done as well as expected. Advertisers were excited by CW's 18-34 target demo, but after the fall premieres that audience is down 23% to last year. Dawn Ostroff, President of Entertainment, is encouraged by the new "C3" rating system that includes DVR viewers for up to three days after the initial broadcast and which show that many of their shows are gaining 20% using this measure. Another reminder that the CW's young audience is more likely to watch their shows in non-traditional ways is that "Gossip Girl" ranked among the top shows sold on iTunes this year.

FOX BROADCASTING COMPANY

Fox Broadcasting, a subsidiary of Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. and owner of Twentieth Century Fox, began broadcasting with the late night "Late Show with Joan Rivers" on October 9, 1986. The next year, on April 5, 1987, the fledgling network began prime-time broadcasts on Sunday nights only. The initial line-up consisted of "Married With Children" and "The Tracey Ullman Show," which featured animated interludes of a dysfunctional cartoon family named "The Simpsons." Three new shows were added in the following weeks, including "21 Jump Street," which helped launch the career of actor Johnny Depp. In July of that year, Fox launched a Saturday night prime-time line-up. From 1989 to 1993, the network steadily added programming and expanded its prime time coverage to a full seven nights a week. Originally the network aimed its programming at a young urban demographic. Particular attention was given to African American oriented programming, with comedy series such as "Roc," "Martin," "Living Single" and "In Living Color" (a weekly comedy-variety show which showcased not only the talents of Keenan Ivory Wayans and his brother Damon Wayans, but also comedian Jim Carrey). The youth market got its first soap opera with "Beverly Hills 90210," and its successful spin-off "Melrose Place." Fox consistently programmed "risky" shows, even in the face of boycotts, most notably aimed at "Married With Children" and "Beverly Hills 90210." The network, feeling strong about its programming, slotted "The Simpsons" against NBC's top-rated sitcom "The Cosby Show" in 1991.

The network was also actively pursuing sports programming. In 1993, Fox won the rights to NFL football for four years, including the rights to 1997's Super Bowl XXXI. In 1994, Fox acquired the rights to broadcast NHL hockey and in 1995, Fox signed an agreement with Major League Baseball to broadcast weekly games, the 1996, 1998 and 2000 World Series, and 1997 and 1999 All Star Games.

1994 saw the creation of FX Networks. In June, FX, a general entertainment basic cable network was launched, featuring marquee sports events, series and films. In October, FXM (Movies From Fox) was initiated to show Twentieth Century Fox films unedited and commercial free.

Also in 1994, Fox premiered "The X-Files," a fiction series dedicated to exploring the bizarre, the unusual and the paranormal, all with a slant aimed at conspiracy buffs. It took a season to achieve ratings success, but "The X-Files" became one of the most popular series on Fox and garnered a cult-like following. All of Fox's gutsy programming decisions and experiments paid off. In the 1994-'95 broadcast season Nielsen ratings, Fox finished ahead of pioneer network CBS. Fox beat CBS yet again in November 1995. On October 7, 1996, Fox launched the new Fox News Channel on cable.

With the appointment of Richard Cronin as President and CEO of the Fox Kids Broadcast network and Fox Family Channel, Fox began targeting young viewers with "quirky" programs. In its effort to increase its viewership by attracting young people, Fox hoped to also increase the number of older adults watching along with children. For the 1998-'99 season, Fox moved up its prime-time slot on the Fox Family channel to begin at 6:00 p.m. instead of 8:00 p.m., and introduced four new dramas and two comedies, catering to the age group Fox relied upon to push up its ratings. Fox continued to be the only network showing any real growth. Youth-oriented programming — the recipe for its past success—made up most of the 1999-2000 season. In 2000, Doug Herzog resigned as Fox entertainment President and his duties were assumed by Sandy Grushow. Fox cancelled the aging show "Beverly Hills 90210" for the 2000-2001 season, and pinned its hopes for a successful season on David E. Kelley's "Boston Public" and a slate of new shows aimed at the key 18-35 demographic. It also put a lock on Major League baseball for $2.5 billion, starting with the 2001 season.

News Corp. agreed to buy the Chris-Craft station group by squeezing out UPN. Rupert Murdoch also said that the company would consider a Fox 2 network.

In the 2001 season, Fox placed in the top three, edging out ABC for the first time. Fox TV Chairman, Brian Mulligan, resigned unexpectedly in November. For 2001-2002, Fox continued to cater to its young demographic with returning shows and new programs aimed at hooking the teen and twenty-something audience. Fox also chose to pick up the controversial "Temptation Island" for a second season, drawing unfavorable reviews from media watchdogs and critics alike.

News Corp.'s TV revenue in 2003 was about flat to 2002 coming in at just over $1 billion. Higher profit at Fox's TV stations was offset by a ratings fall by Fox Broadcasting as it struggled to make up for the previous year's hit, "American Idol." The fall baseball series with a potential Red Sox-Cubs matchup and the Yankees, Marlins World Series led to strong ratings. "The Simpsons," "The Bernie Mac Show," "Malcolm In The Middle" and "Wanda At Large" continued to be stalwart performers.

Fox again tried something innovative and in 2004 launched a very ambitious summer schedule: two sitcoms, two dramas and two reality shows. Fox did this to introduce shows and build an audience before October baseball playoffs precluded the traditional September launch followed by all the broadcast nets for new fall-shows. In all, Fox launched 15 new programs during the year. Fox headed into the fall with audiences happy with "Method & Red," "North Shore," "Trading Spouses" and "Quintuplets."

On November 12, 2004, Fox parent, News Corporation, completed its reincorporation from Australia to the United States. News Corporation, now a Delaware corporation, is the parent company of the News Corporation group of companies. News Corporation's primary share listing is on the New York Stock Exchange, under the ticker symbols NWS for Class B (Voting) Common Stock and NWS.A for Class A (Non-voting) Common Stock, and the shares trade on a regular-way basis. The News Corporation Limited had total assets as of June 30, 2004, of approximately US$52 billion and total annual revenues of approximately US$20 billion. News Corporation remains a diversified international media and entertainment company.

The network's move into the top three slot in the 2004-2005 season was led by the creative instincts of Fox Entertainment President Gail Berman. At the helm of Fox Ent. since 2000, Berman exited the network in March 2005 over stalled contract negotiations and became President of Paramount Motion Pictures Group. Fox brought in a strong replacement by immediately hiring Peter Liguori, who was pres. & CEO of News Corp.'s FX Networks since 1998. On his watch, Liguori grew cable's FX into one of the top five basic cable networks with critically acclaimed programs like "Nip/Tuck," "The Shield" and "Rescue Me." Liguori stepped into his new position on solid ground. Respectable ratings for such hits as "American Idol," "House" and "24" and in the 2004-2005 season provided the momentum for the network to continue garnering stable ad revenues even when the broadcast networks overall had seen more ad dollars go to cable programming. In the 2005-2006 season advertising upfront sales, Fox said sales would be $1.6 billion, the same as the previous year. Leading its ad revenues, Fox's enormously popular "American Idol" talent show brought in upwards of $700,000 for a 30-second spot — believed to be a new record for a regularly scheduled prime-time show. And the show didn't disappoint — viewers or advertisers. "Idol" regularly won its time slot and helped Fox take first place in the 18-49 age demo.

With The World Series on its programming docket again in Fall 2004, Fox continued to premiere shows off a traditional Fall TV calendar, a strategy it continues today. The network also has been bolstered by acquiring strong sports properties. Its broadcast of Super Bowl XXXIX in Feb. 2005 (New England Patriots 24 / Philadelphia Eagles 21) had the largest total audience in Fox history and the fifth largest in TV history-133.7 million Americans tuned in to the broadcast. The World Series, with the historic Boston Red Sox victory, averaged 25.4 million viewers across its four games, making it the most watched World Series on any network since 1995 and the most watched on Fox ever.

Although both Fox mega hits "American Idol" and a sixth season of real-time drama "24" weren't scheduled to air new seasons until January 2007, Fox Entertainment Pres. Peter Liguori's entertainment team marched into the fall 2006 season with a strong line-up. Animated Sundays on Fox continued with the 18th season of America's favorite dysfunctional family, "The Simpsons," along with "American Dad" and "Family Guy." Liguori joked in the press that the "The Simpsons" would outlast him at the network. So far, both remain firmly entrenched on the Fox landscape.

Remaining programming at the network included liberal doses of grit and reality. Hospital drama "House" received its life line into the 2007 season by continuing to provide a healthy dose of "grit" with life and death cases solved each week by an abrasive yet brilliant doctor whose lack of bedside manner gets overlooked because of his extraordinary life-saving abilities. The always popular crime and punishment shows also found a home at Fox. Fictional crime/legal dramas "Prison Break," "Standoff," "Bones" and "Justice" provided ample opportunity for viewers to find a favorite in the genre. Tracing the lineage of reality shows may bring you home to Fox. "Cops" entered its 19th season on the air and "America's Most Wanted" also neared the two decade mark and could boast on its website the arrest of more than 900 fugitives as a result of leads generated from the show. Additional reality fare at the net included the successful "Nanny 911," "Skating With The Stars" and "So You Think You Can Dance."

Fox was the first network to finish its upfront advertising deals this spring, and reports show Fox wrote $1.8 billion in business and secured 2%-3% increases on cost per thousand (CPM) pricing, up from last year's $1.55 billion.

During 2007 Rupert Murdoch announced several major deals on behalf of News Corporation including: the intended purchase of Dow Jones, publisher of the Wall Street Journal, launch of the Fox Business Channel, acquisition of Liberty Media Corporation's 16.3% interest in News Corporation in exchange for the Company's interest in DirecTV, three regional sports networks and cash and also repurchased $1.3 billion of stock. During 2007 Peter Chernin restuctured Fox Broadcasting, naming Peter Liguori Entertainment Chairman and appointing Kevin Reilly, from NBC, as President, Entertainment. Currently Fox ranks first among 18-49 year old viewers.

ION TELEVISION (FORMERLY I & PAX TV)

August 31st, 1998 marked the debut of PAX TV, the nation's seventh and newest broadcast network committed to airing family-friendly programming that included original live-action series, daily entertainment and information shows, children's programming, as well as popular movies and off-network shows with proven audience appeal. PAX TV is a wholly-owned service of Paxson Communications Corp., a broadcasting company whose principal business is the ownership and operation of the largest broadcast television station group in the United States. Paxson Communications Corp. was an outgrowth of Paxson Broadcasting founded in 1991 by Lowell W. "Bud" Paxson, the co-founder and past President of the Home Shopping Network, Inc., who had been involved in the radio and electronic retailing business for nearly 40 years. Paxson Broadcasting, a Florida-based radio group, initially purchased four radio stations in the fourth quarter of 1991 which were AM/FM combos in Jacksonville and Tampa. Over the course of several years, the Company assembled a substantial statewide radio broadcasting group, and as a result of agreements it had in place on radio stations prior to the 1993 FCC rule change permitting radio duopolies, the Company was among the first to exercise its options and expand its duopoly holdings.

By 1994, the company sought to replicate in television its success in radio. Paxson looked to acquire two types of television properties: underperforming, undermanaged network affiliates and independent stations in major markets which broadcast long-form paid programming. In April, 1994, the company purchased the equipment and acquired an option to buy its first television property, an independent TV station in Miami. Paxson took his company public in November, 1994, through a reverse merger with the American Network Group, Inc., and subsequently moved the new company, Paxson Communications Corp., to the American Stock Exchange. By December of that same year, Paxson had owned or operated four stations, airing a variety of infomercial and long-form programming which by January 1995, became known as the Infomall TV Network ("IN TV"). By purchasing independent television stations, entering into time-brokerage agreements, affiliating with stations and extending its broadcast reach on cable via "must carry" requirements, Paxson created a national television broadcasting distribution infrastructure providing long-form programming.

In March, 1997, the Supreme Court upheld the "must carry" legislation, and as a result, all of the company's broadcast stations were suddenly viable as a network and would remain accessible to cable television audiences. In June 1997, the company sold its entire radio interest to Clear Channel Communications in a tax-advantaged transaction. Also in June, the company acquired The Travel Channel, an interest in which was in turn sold to Discovery Communications, Inc. later that year.

The company announced in November, 1997 that it would launch the seventh broadcast television network, at that time branded as PAX NET, on August 31st the following year. The network would feature off-network runs of popular shows including the CBS hit series, "Touched

By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman," and "Diagnosis Murder," in addition to a number of original programs and theatrical and made-for-television movies.

Between the November announcement of PAX NET and the August 31st launch of PAX TV, the company acquired additional television stations and expanded its distribution through cable agreements. The company also added popular off-network and original shows, and hired a number of executives and hundreds of new employees. In May, 1998, the company announced the appointment of former CBS President, Jeff Sagansky, to the post of President and CEO and the election of William E. Simon, Jr. to the position of vice chairman for Paxson Communications Corp. Paxson also announced that the Simon family would make an equity investment in the company, and one month later, announced the completion of its offering of $275 million of Preferred Stock.

With PAX TV maintaining positive ratings, Paxson Communications Corp. continued to focus on enhancing the distribution of its network and the quality of PAX TV's programming.

In 1999, NBC bought a 32% stake in Paxson's stations, with an option to acquire control in 2002 for an additional $1.2 billion. Paxson stations, then without any news programming, became a likely candidate to carry NBC news as well as NBC programming in secondary time-slots.

In 2000, Paxson continued to do well with its off-network programming, including "Touched By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" and other family-friendly fare. Paxson reported a 25% increase in viewership in the first three weeks of the 2000-2001 season, and planned to continue with its slate of family-friendly programming augmented with made-for-tv movies.

Pax continued to enjoy growth in 2001, with its 2001-02 season off to a good start, showing a 57% increase in viewership over the previous year.

2002 was not so lucky, however. After NBC completed its acquisition of Telemundo, Paxson sued the network that holds a 32% stake of its company and then lost the subsequent arbitration action. Paxson's viewers also slipped with only one program, "Sue Thomas F.B. Eye" showing growth while its broadcast operations, as a whole, continued to post losses every quarter. In late 2002, Pax decided to close its Hollywood production and promotion offices, but with its significant station holdings remains on-air, despite its financial problems.

During 2003, Paxson owned and operated 61 broadcast TV stations, which reached all of the top 20 U.S. markets and 41 of the top 50. The company also owned family-oriented Pax Network, which reached roughly 94 million homes through its TV stations and distribution arrangements with cable and satellite systems and broadcast station affiliates. The company continued to struggle with a hefty debt load and ratings challenges at its program network.

Paxson's net revenues for the third quarter of 2004 (ending Sept. 30) increased 2.6% to $65.9 million, compared to $64.2 million for the third quarter of 2003. This increase was primarily due to increased revenues from long form paid programming. Still struggling to reduce debt and stay out of bankruptcy court, Lowell "Bud" Paxson, chairman and CEO, indicated the network continued to search for a program mix more appealing to advertisers. In that vein, Pax TV jumped on the reality series bandwagon and added two reality shows in Fall 2004: "Model Citizens" and "Cold Turkey." It also introduced two games shows, "Balderdash" (hosted by comic Elayne Boosler) and "On the Cover" (hosted by Mark Walberg).

to explore ways to lower operating costs and improve financial liquidity. In presentations to investors early in 2005 it identified its strategic alternatives: find a third party to acquire the company or change control; find a partner to program its network and use the company's existing distribution system; sell assets; or consider a combination of these options. In March 2005, Paxson notified its joint sales agreement partners other than NBC Universal, Inc. ("NBC") that it would exercise its right to terminate the JSAs, effective June 30, 2005.

On June 28, 2005, Paxson announced the re-branding of PAX TV to i. The i brand reflects a network programming strategy to provide an independent broadcast platform for producers and syndicators who want to reach a national audience. Chairman and CEO Lowell "Bud" Paxson refuted rumors the network would switch to all long form paid programming and reiterated the network's plans to continue entertainment programming with shows like "Sue Thomas FB Eye," "Young Blades" and "Palmetto Pointe."

From August 2003 through March 2005 the company engaged Citigroup Global Markets Inc. to act as financial advisors to assess Paxson's business plan, capital structure and future capital needs, and to explore strategic alternatives for the company. Because no viable transactions were developed on terms deemed acceptable to shareholders, the engagement with Citigroup ended. The company continued to consider strategic alternatives, which included the sale of all or part of assets, finding a strategic partner to provide the financial resources to enable the company to redeem, restructure or refinance its debt and preferred stock, or find a third party to acquire the company through a merger or other business combination or through a purchase of Paxson equity securities. The company's principal efforts remain focused on improving core business operations and increasing cash flow.

A new logo, a new corporate name and new blood in top management reinvigorated the financially struggling Paxson Communications Corp. during 2006 (now the i network and corporately known as ION Media Networks). The company tapped R. Brandon Burgess to be its new CEO in November 2005, succeeding company founder, Lowell W. Paxson who resigned as chairman & CEO and was named chairman emeritus. Burgess most recently served as executive v.p., business development & international channels for NBC Universal, which is also a stakeholder ION Media Networks. The corporate name change, effective with its board approval in June, was the beginning of healthy change for a company plagued by financial challenges. Burgess and top management never missed opportunities to remind the financial community and virtually anyone who would listen that the i network "is the only broadcaster that reaches over 60 percent of U.S. homes through its own station group and over 83% with additional distribution through its cable and satellite platforms." Why not use i's daily reach of over 91 million U.S. households and its offer to localize content in 40 of the top 50 markets where ION Media Networks owns stations?

Realizing that infomercials and its current programming had not yielded the financial results it needed, change ensued on i's content front. In June 2006 ION announced a programming agreement with Warner Bros. Domestic Cable Distribution, providing ION with the rights to broadcast popular movies and classic TV series from Warner Bros.' extensive library. In July, ION inked a similar programming alliance with Sony Pictures Television ("SPT") and rights to broadcast dozens of classic TV series and a large selection of award-winning feature films from the Sony library. Under the terms of the agreement, ION gained access to many of SPT's most popular TV series from the last three decades, including, "Charlie's Angels," "Starky & Hutch" and "The Partridge Family," among others. In late October, ION further strengthened its content inventory by entering a strategic programming agreement with RHI Entertainment (formerly known as Hallmark Entertainment), for the broadcast of RHI Entertainment's extensive library of award-winning titles and select original programming. Under the terms of the agreement, RHI Entertainment serves as ION's exclusive TV programming supplier on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights for an initial two-year period beginning July 1, 2007. RHI will plan and program the 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. time periods, totaling 12 hours of programming per week, utilizing its catalog of over 1,200 titles, which have captured 448 Emmy Nominations, 103 Emmy Awards, 15 Golden Globe Awards and numerous Peabody, SAG, Christopher and Genesis Awards. The agreement also provides for the U.S. broadcast premiere of at least six new RHI productions each year. Determined to become a destination for great programming, ION's deal-making during 2006 should yield dividends for the company in the future. Company President & COO Dean Goodman resigned in late October. Burgess indicated other members of management would assume his duties and no replacement would be sought.

Currently, ION has 94 VHF and UHF owned and operated affiliate stations in the U.S and covers about 80% of primetime households through the television network and distribution arrangement with cable and satellite operators.

MY NETWORK TV

A network born from necessity, MyNetwork TV came to life after two fledgling networks, UPN and The WB, decided to fold in an announcement made in Jan. 2006. The networks' owners, CBS Corporation and Time Warner, decided to take the best from each network's programming and staff, combine and start over with a new network: The CW. The scramble to affiliate ensued and quickly left several top TV station groups and numerous stations without a network affiliation and primetime programming.

Fortunately for small, newly unaffiliated stations and station groups, Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. TV Stations Group was also one of the groups left without a network affiliation for nine of its 35 properties. Luckier still, Murdoch's organization knows how to launch successful networks. Think Fox. Think Fox News Channel... Think F/X on cable and the National Geographic Channel, among Murdoch's other successful network launches. Think that maybe your station has a few options with Murdoch by your side. By February, News Corp. executives laid out a blueprint for a new broadcast channel/network/service — MyNetwork TV. The network would be anchored by the nine News Corp. stations abandoned by UPN's closing, and would welcome independents and other strong stations whose owners didn't like the terms of The CW affiliation agreement. Financially, many station owners found the MyNetwork TV affiliation terms more attractive than The CW's. The biggest advantages to station owners signing with MyNetwork TV were the absence of programming fees and generous air time for advertising — up to nine minutes of ad time per hour.

At launch, MyNetwork TV could boast coverage on stations covering about 96 percent of the country. Its programming consisted of 12 hours of original content per week, airing between 8 and 10 p.m. It introduced two hour-long dramas, "Desire" and "Fashion House" from co-owned Twentieth Television. The short drama series, in essence primetime soap operas, aired five days a week, with Saturday recaps. MyNetwork TV's formula entailed running non-stop originals that concluded every 13 weeks with a high-intensity finale and were based on the telenovela format made popular on Spanish-language networks.

With MyNetwork TV's blueprint, its affiliated stations will have fresh programming 52 weeks a year. Shows in development include reality programs "Catwalk," "Celebrity Love Island," "Transformed," and "America's Brainiest," as well as "On Scene," the last a Fox News-produced magazine. MyNetwork TV plans to succeed where UPN and The WB failed by keeping costs down. Telenovelas cost around $100,000-$120,000 per episode, far less than program development costs reported at other U.S. networks: $2.3 million per episode for non-serialized dramas and roughly $1.3 million per episode for sitcoms. Another key to profitability at the network level is MyNetwork TV's use of strip programming. Strips not only can be cheaper to make but also cheaper to market. MyNetwork TV promoted only two shows, not the 15+ a conventional network must promote. Ratings for "Fashion House" and "Desire" were extremely dismal after their launch. According to Nielsen Media Research, through October, a little more than a million viewers tuned in to watch each episode per night. Yet, MyNetwork TV executives remained optimistic and were convinced the format would work in the U.S. if given sufficient time.

In 2007 the ratings for MyNetwork were still dismal, and the risky strategy of telenovela strip serials programming did not pan out. News Corporation hired Greg Meidel, formerly of Paramount, Fox and Universal TV, in January 2007. He promptly ended the telenovelas and put together reality shows and specials from the Fox archives. The network has already had some success with "Celebrity Expose," "The Academy" and "Jail." The rest of the schedule includes "NFL Total Access" and movies on Thursdays and Fridays.

NBC UNIVERSAL

NBC was an outgrowth of Radio Corp. of America, General Electric and Westinghouse. These three companies jointly launched a network in 1926 with 31 stations, 25 in a network called Red and 6 in a network called Blue. A year later, it was forced to sell the Blue network to ABC, keeping for itself the one known as Red. Television began for NBC in 1928, when on April 4, it acquired from the FCC a permit to operate an experimental station, W2XBS. Actual transmission from the Empire State Building did not begin until October 30, 1931. Eight years later, the network began broadcasting on a regular basis, beginning with the opening of the New York World's Fair on April 30, 1939.

NBC became a TV network on January 12, 1940, when two stations, WNBC-TV, New York, and WRGB-TV, Schenectady, New York, carried the first network programming. In June, 1941, the FCC granted NBC the first commercial TV license and a month later it had four advertisers signed up. After World War II, NBC scored two big "firsts." On June 19, 1946, Gillette became the first advertiser to sponsor a TV network show, the Joe Louis-Billy Conn boxing match. That same year, Bristol-Myers became the first sponsor of a network TV series, "Geographically Speaking." NBC can also claim to be the first to introduce coast-to-coast network TV coverage. On September 4, 1951, when the U.S.-Japanese peace treaty was signed in San Francisco, NBC cameras were on hand. In 1952, NBC pioneered early-morning programming when it introduced "The Today Show." NBC can also claim the first regularly scheduled network color series "The Marriage," launched in 1954. That same year it achieved the first west-to-east TV transmission with the telecast of the Tournament of Roses Parade in color.

At the start of the 1965-66 season, NBC declared it was the "only all-color network." In 1968, NBC introduced new forms of TV programming with "The Name of the Game," a series that incorporated feature-film elements into a 90-minute show. This then spawned the "NBC Mystery Movie."

In 1972, NBC broke new ground again when it introduced "The Tomorrow Show" shown from 1:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. This was a talk program and it demonstrated that in the early hours of the morning something more than re-runs and old movies could be shown. In 1974, another late-night show called "Weekend" was begun. The 1976 NBC telecast of "Gone with the Wind" drew the largest audience to that date for an entertainment program. In 1978, "Holocaust" attracted 107 million viewers and won 21 major awards. Such programs helped NBC in the ratings, but in 1976-77 it fell to third place, where it stayed until 1983-84.

Along with the other networks, NBC moved into a period of turmoil during the decade of the 80s, fighting off rising costs and competition from cable TV and home video. In 1986, General Electric Corporation purchased RCA (NBC's parent) for $6.28 billion; GE, it will be remembered, helped launch the radio network in 1926 which led to the development of NBC-TV.

This brought personnel changes led by the replacement of Grant A. Tinker as NBC chief executive officer by Robert Wright, although Wright was not given Tinker's chairman title; that being taken by John F. Welch of GE. Instead, Wright was named President as well as chief executive officer. Along with its competition, NBC started cutting staff and budgets in 1986. In 1984-85, NBC edged up to second place, and the following year it was ranked number one in prime-time viewing for the first time in the three decades of Nielsen ratings.

NBC held on to its first place standing for the following five seasons, through 1990-91. Long-time hit series in the five-year period included "The Golden Girls," "Cheers," and "The Cosby Show." Despite the network's number one standing, figures showed a steady decline in viewers. In May of 1991, Brandon Tartikoff, credited with pulling the network up from third place 11 years earlier, departed from NBC to become head of Paramount Pictures. When "The Cosby Show" ran its final run episode on April 30, 1992, it became NBC's highest-rated series finale episode ever. The 1992 Summer Olympics also gave the network its widest ratings margin of all time. The 1994-95 season found NBC on top with its popular sitcom "Seinfeld" and the two most highly rated new series, "ER" and "Friends," both placing in the top ten. During the 1995-96 season, NBC was again ranked the number one network, with four of its Thursday night shows ranking in the overall top five. In the summer of 1996, NBC, in association with software giant Microsoft, launched a 24-hour cable and Internet news channel, MSNBC.

In October 1997 the networks adopted an updated "voluntary" ratings system that uses the letters S, V, D, L, SV, which stand for sex, violence, suggestive dialogue, strong language and non-comedic fantasy violence in addition to the age rating. Only NBC and Black Entertainment Television refused to use the new system. Despite pressure from the White House, Congress and advocacy groups, the network had said that the ratings tread on its First Amendment right, and that there was no public outcry for the new system.

With its star show "Seinfeld" going off the air, NBC was faced in 1999 with the seemingly impossible task of finding a replacement. The network did manage to keep "ER," its other highly successful show, albeit at a draining cost of $13 million per episode. Keeping in line with the demand for news television, NBC's Dateline showed 6½ hrs. of programming about Princess Diana and her fatal accident.

In mid-1999, NBC had to ante up again to keep a hit show. The contract for "Friends" was renewed through 2002 at a cost of approximately $5 million per episode. In spite of NBC's attempts to rally after the loss of "Seinfeld," the network slipped to second place behind CBS in 1999. Ratings for its new prime-time shows did not look promising and the network needed another hit of the magnitude of "Seinfeld" to bring "Must See TV" back into American homes.

NBC had a tough year in 1999-2000, coming in third for the season. Perhaps worse than the ratings tumble were the embarrassing numbers during the Sydney Olympics. Various reasons for the poor viewership were cited, including the tape-delay that made it possible to get real-time Olympic results everywhere but NBC. In an effort to boost ratings, NBC executives demanded that Nielsen exclude the first half-hour of the Olympics' prime-time broadcast (7:00-7:30) from its calculations. That gambit did bring up numbers somewhat, but it's unlikely that the same tack will work during the primetime season which, with a few exceptions, looked dry.

In 2001-02, NBC faced the prospect of the Winter Olympics and the effect they would have on ratings. Elsewhere, NBC expanded the successful "Law and Order" franchise to include a third program, "Law and Order: Criminal Intent." Even with longtime hits like the original "Law and Order," "Friends," and "ER," NBC placed third in the 2000-01 ratings war. 2001 also saw the failure of NBC's attempt to become a force on the Internet with its NBC Internet (NBCi) venture. The company bought the 61% of NBCi it didn't already own and folded its operations. NBC now plans to court Hispanic viewers through its agreement to purchase Telemundo for $1.98 billion.

NBC took the top spot over CBS in the 2001-02 season ratings. The network improved its ratings in the 2001-02 season, after placing third in the 2000-01 season.

NBC remained the top network in adults 18-49 with the start of the 2003 fall season, as they have in eight of the last nine years. However, there is some concern about the future. Powerhouse programs "Friends" and "Frasier" ended in 2004 and NBC might have become overly dependent on the "Law & Order" franchise with its spin-offs; "Special Victims Unit" and "Criminal Intent. With a third spinoff on the way and reruns of the other three running nonstop on TNT and USA, it is hard not to think that NBC may be making the same mistake ABC did with "Millionaire." The big financial news of 2003 for NBC happened when parent General Electric Co. announced a deal to acquire the entertainment assets of Vivendi Universal SA, which includes Universal Studios and Universal Television, where Dick Wolf, the "Law & Order" creator is based.

Formed in May 2004 through the combining of NBC and Vivendi Universal Entertainment, NBC Universal is 80%-owned by General Electric, with 20% controlled by Vivendi Universal. The new NBC Universal hoped for the best when filling its 2004 fall lineup. Gone were perennial favorites "Friends" and "Frasier." The network relied heavily on the strength of returning dramas, reality programming and "Friends" spinoff, "Joey," to make it through November sweeps. During Nov. (primetime ratings week of Nov. 8-14) NBC finished a strong number two among adults 18-49 as "Fear Factor," "Las Vegas," "The Biggest Loser," "The West Wing," Friday's "Dateline NBC," "American Dreams" and "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" all set or equaled their season highs in 18-49, according to in-home viewing figures from Nielsen Media Research. Also in 2004, NBC news anchor Tom Brokaw announced he would retire from the network after 38 years on the job.

NBC was caught with the cupboard bare in the 2004-2005 season after losing "Friends," and program fare which included aging program leftovers from seasons past. The once fresh "Will and Grace" saw waning viewer interest as did "ER" and "The West Wing." And new shows did not live up to expectations. "Friends" spin-off "Joey" couldn't match the ratings of its parent, and the program barely got renewed for a second season. A poor showing for other new shows "LAX," "Father of the Pride" and "Hawaii" only added to the troubles which landed NBC in a dismal fourth place — both in total viewers and in the coveted 18-49 age demo — behind CBS, ABC and FOX.

NBC Universal saw its revenue fall 26 percent from a year earlier, when it benefited from advertising from the summer Olympics in Athens. Going into advertising upfront sales in mid-2005, NBC sales execs braced themselves for a tough sell. NBC Universal parent, General Electric, forecast earnings at NBC Universal to be flat in 2006, hurt by soft ratings from its network prime-time TV line-up. To secure commitments from major advertisers for the Fall season, NBC found itself cutting prices by at least 2% and in some cases more. The industry forecast advertisers would shift between $500 million and $700 million away from NBC in the 2005-2006 season, slashing its ad take to $2.2 billion. NBC Universal Television Group President Jeff Zucker acknowledged a long climb ahead. Yet, NBC's new programming, with the promising hit "My Name Is Earl," along with "Surface" and "Three Wishes" wasn't likely to fuel the kind of surprise revival ABC experienced last season with "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Grey's Anatomy."

After seeing operating profit fall 10 percent in each of the past three quarters, NBC Universal announced in October 2006 plans to cut costs at the network by $750 million by the end of 2007. NBC Universal's parent, General Electric, saw the TV unit's slumping results dip into GE earnings. Network cuts will take the form of a 5 percent staff reduction, a reduction of scripted shows and a move toward cheaper reality programming and substantial cuts to its news budget.

Despite financial woes at the peacock network, NBC's early fall ratings illuminated a couple shining stars. "Heroes" was a big hit on Monday nights. Tuning in to the recent popularity of movies based on comic book heroes, NBC's "Heroes" showcases characters with super powers, a formula successful in attracting coveted viewers in the 18-49 demo. Through mid-October, "Heroes" pulled in about 13.5 million viewers a week. Another "new" hit show bolstering the network is Sunday Night Football. The fall telecast, which aired on ESPN last year and which delivered to NBC an average of 17.7 million viewers, made the prime-time football telecast the sixth most-watched show. NBC finished even in the ad upfronts with $1.9 billion, but to get there had to slash cost per thousand about 5% and increase volume. Thanks to Sunday Night Football, NBC got a much-needed cash infusion taking in between $200 and $300 million in the upfronts for the sports franchise. Viewers should stay tuned to see how $750 million in cuts will affect the quality of shows airing on NBC throughout the year.

Jeff Zucker was promoted to President and CEO of NBC Universal in February 2007, replacing Bob Wright, who held that position for 21 years. During Zucker's previous job, NBC tumbled from first place to fourth in primetime. Profits fell 6% and NBC Universal was the only GE unit posting a decline. However, ratings are up 36% at MSNBC and 76% at CNBC and NBC acquired female-focused Oxygen for $925 million in October. Fortunately, the network can still rely on the NFL games on Sunday and the surprise hit of last year, "Heroes." Surprisingly, NBC did not change its Thursday night lineup and although "The Office" and "30 Rock" are favored by the critics, they have not enjoyed much ratings success. This is important because movie studios and other consumer product companies are heavy advertisers on Thursday night to make strong impressions before the weekend. Much of the rest of the NBC schedule relied heavily on reality shows that have not been particularly well received.

PUBLIC BROADCASTING SERVICE

In 1948, the FCC stopped issuing new television station licenses. American educators, fearful of the impact of unrestricted commercial broadcasting, pushed for the Commission to hold open channel slots for non-commercial, educational television broadcasts. In 1952, when the FCC freeze was lifted, 242 channels were reserved for educational television. America's first non-commercial educational television station was KUHT in Houston, started in 1953.

By 1962, 75 educational stations were broadcasting around the country. As these stations shared roughly the same programming interests, a loose distribution network evolved, allowing locally-produced programs like "Children's Corner" to be circulated among these stations. Most of the programming was produced on a shoestring budget. In 1962, the federal government authorized $32 million in matching funds for the construction of new educational television broadcasting facilities. In 1967, a blue ribbon panel urged local and state governments to increase their financial support of "public television" and recommended that the federal government participate in the production of programming. To this end, the first Public Broadcasting Act was passed. This law also created the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, a non-profit "steward" of the public funds committed to public broadcasting, and, not incidentally, a barrier against government interference in programming decisions.

In 1969, the Public Broadcasting Service's charter was signed, with its main intent the establishment of a nationwide program distribution service. 1969 saw the premiere of an hour-long, daily children's variety show, called "Sesame Street," which targeted pre-schoolers with fast-paced educational programming and featured live performers, cartoons and Muppets developed exclusively for the show by Jim Henson.

In 1970, PBS' first year as a "network," its programming included series as widely varied as "Washington Week in Review," "Civilisation," "The French Chef" and "Soul!" By 1973, PBS had more than 1 million individual subscribers. PBS and its member stations were responsible for bringing to U.S. audiences critically acclaimed BBC programming under the flag of "Masterpiece Theatre," which included such classics of television as "Upstairs Downstairs" and "I, Claudius." In 1976, PBS began broadcasting closed-captioned programming for the hearing impaired. In 1978, PBS became the first American network to distribute its programs by satellite.

Although some portion of PBS and its member stations' budgets are provided by federal and state government funding and corporate gifts, PBS and its member stations have continued to rely upon the contributions of individual viewers to stay afloat. In the late 1980s and early 1990s, PBS and the CPB suffered an enormous amount of criticism by government officials for an alleged "liberal" bias, and later in the 90s, for not being "self-sufficient." Although a notable few PBS series have achieved some financial success in other areas (primarily children's programming in the home video and product licensing fields), it is important to note that the production of most of the all-important local educational and public affairs programming never breaks even. In the face of continuing cuts in government funding, PBS programmers have accepted what may have been inevitable, the inclusion of commercial sponsorship (and actual commercials) in programming.

In the wake of the government threat of fund cuts, PBS increased its effort to achieve financial independence. In 1997, PBS President Ervin Duggan announced that the network would use its recognizable brand to market products and services, such as educational videos and distance-learning programs. With this approach as well as using the internet to sell its products and investing in new programming, PBS had a total revenue for the 1997 fiscal year of $239 million, $15 million more than its target.

PBS got caught in a scandal in 1999 involving the sharing of its donor lists with partisan political groups. The GOP complained about the practice, which primarily involved list-sharing with the Democratic Party. PBS admitted that it called into question the independence and impartiality of the public network.

In 1999, Frank Cruz was appointed Chairman of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

PBS continues to be a target of Republicans who are opposed to government funding of educational, informational, and cultural programming. Nonetheless, CPB's funding has been approved at $340 million for 2001, $350 million for 2002, and $365 million for 2003.

PBS' operating revenue grew from $262 million in 1998 to approximately $324 million during 2003, largely from non-member revenue sources. This revenue growth has enabled PBS to invest more in three key areas: national programming, advertising and promotion, and PBS.org. Interestingly, PBS.org is the most visited dot-org Web site in the world, and the home of comprehensive companion Web sites for more than 500 PBS television programs and specials. The National Programming Service provided by PBS is the major package of programs PBS distributes to its member stations. It features children's, cultural, educational, history, nature, news, public affairs, science and skills programs. In a survey completed in Jan. 2004 by non-partisan, international research company RoperASW, the American public called PBS the most trusted institution on a list of nationally known organizations in the country and the best use of tax dollars, second only to military defense. The opinion study, which included 1,000 randomly selected participants across the country, also found Americans are more satisfied with programming on PBS compared with commercial broadcasting or cable networks and consider PBS news and public affairs series the most trustworthy. PBS plans to conduct this survey annually to keep a pulse on its perceived performance with the viewing public.

On the heels of this positive report, Pres. and CEO Pat Mitchell testified before the House Appropriations Committee during the year to underscore how PBS uses its federal funding to educate and enrich American lives. During her testimony she highlighted PBS's early education, "Ready To Learn" service through local stations, in which PBS distributes over one million free books and sponsors literacy workshops for 900,000 caregivers and 7.4 million children. PBS has even found support in a Republican White House, with First Lady Laura Bush serving as honorary chairwoman of PBS' initiative to build children's literacy skills. The struggle to maintain public funding levels remains constant, although Mitchell cited an uptick in corporate sponsorships. By the end of 2003, PBS had 11 new underwriters all above the $1 million mark and three or four above $2.5 million. PBS also forged ahead with digital delivery of its programming signal. In 2004, PBS reaches 80 percent of the country via digital signal.

A PBS staple, "Clifford the Big Red Dog," visited Capitol Hill in 2005. Clifford's host on the Hill was Representative Nita Lowey, Democrat of New York. She and other PBS advocates were "barking" about a proposed $100 million cut in the GOP-led House's budget, which some believe was meant to punish public television for a perceived liberal bias. At the center of this discussion were proposed cuts to the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB), which oversees the Public Broadcasting Service. Ultimately, the House restored the $100 million and the CPB appointed long-time Republican loyalist, and former Republican National Committee Chairman Pat Harrison for its President. Whether this has a chilling effect on what content makes the public TV airwaves will likely be debated for months and years to come.

The issue about programming content has already had a chilling effect on the PBS organization itself. The NY Times reported: "Late last year, when she heard that the PBS children's series 'Postcards From Buster' would include an episode with a lesbian couple, Education Secretary Margaret Spellings asked the network to yank the episode. PBS supporters and gay rights advocates cried foul, noting that the couple was on screen for mere moments; conservative critics said Spellings had shown that PBS has a liberal agenda and called for a boycott."

PBS did not distribute the episode to its PBS affiliates and the incident ultimately led Patricia Mitchell to resign as PBS President at the end of her contract in June 2006. Under Mitchell's leadership, prime-time ratings rose to the highest ever in its 36 year history and PBS stations extended their reach for digital broadcasting to over 89 percent of the country. Mitchell also added diversity to the schedule, including the "American Family," an Emmy-nominated series featuring a Latino family, and "American Mystery!" a special featuring Indians living in the Southwest. Mitchell's work has been recognized with 37 Emmys and five Peabody Awards and she received two Academy Award nominations. Most recently, she received the Sandra Day O'Connor Award for Leadership. Her leadership award is not surprising. She has run PBS efficiently: only 4% of PBS's annual budget goes to management and general expenses, with 75% of total revenues going to noncommercial programming and promotions.

Perhaps a healthy result of appropriate "content" discussions is the creation of an ombudsman post at PBS. Following a nationwide search, PBS has appointed veteran journalist Michael Getler as Ombudsman. As an independent internal critic, Getler will seek to ensure that PBS upholds its own rigorous standards of journalistic ethics for both online and on-air content. His reports and commentary will be published on pbs.org. Getler was previously The Washington Post's Ombudsman. He has complete authority to determine what issues are examined and full independence in assessing them. The decision to appoint an Ombudsman, first considered by PBS management more than one year ago, was fully supported by the panel of expert journalists PBS convened in February to review the organization's Editorial Standards and Policies.

PBS continues to be a private, nonprofit media enterprise that serves the nation's 348 public noncommercial television stations, reaching nearly 90 million people each week. It brings diverse viewpoints to television and the Internet and provides high-quality documentary and dramatic entertainment.

Paula Kerger joined the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) as its sixth President and chief executive officer in March 2006. Kerger came to PBS from the Educational Broadcasting Corporation (EBC), the parent company of Thirteen/WNET and WLIW New York—two of the nation's largest public television stations; where since 2004 she was the executive V.P. & COO and a member of the office of the President, a position carrying both internal and external responsibilities.

First up for Kerger and her team: an aggressive health programming initiative targeting America's greatest health challenges. In Jan. 2007 special primetime PBS programs began addressing four urgent health issues which threaten the lives of millions of people: heart disease, obesity, cancer and depression. The PBS Health Initiative was designed as a wake-up call for action, offering programs that cut through the clutter of medical information to provide realistic and concrete guidance on how individuals and families can take control of their health. These 90-minute programs entail compelling stories of individuals and families facing these medical conditions, providing insight into the latest groundbreaking medical research to provide a full picture of the complex physiological, psychological and social factors that are driving the alarming prevalence of heart disease and obesity in America. Each special has a follow-up half-hour program with medical experts to answer questions from a studio audience and to provide specific strategies for prevention and treatment. An extensive Web component will be available to direct viewers to information and resources that provide help and support.

On the technology front, PBS announced in late October PBS content would be available on the iTunes Store — www.itunes.com. PBS joined the growing list of broadcasters making programming available for download to mobile media.

In recent years, PBS has had to struggle with attempts to reduce part of its budget from the federal government, probably due to a perceived liberal bias in its programming. Although the majority of funding comes from viewers and sponsors, it is estimated that federal funding dropped 23% in 2007 to $380 million. In spite of this, PBS won eight Emmy Awards this year for shows such as, "Nova," "Frontline," "Nature" and "American Experience." The crowning achievement of the year was Ken Burn's 15-hour, 7-part historical documentary, "The War," broadcast in September, chronicling World War II through the experiences of men and women on the battlefield and at home from four American cities: Mobile, Sacramento, Luverne, Minnesota and Waterbury, Connecticut.

Sony Pictures Entertainment International (SPTI) is the division of Sony Pictures Entertainment (SPE) responsible for all television business outside of the United States. SPTI operates three complementary lines of business: 1) distribution of SPE's feature films and television programming to television, mobile and digital content delivery outlets around the world, 2) local television production in key international markets, and 3) international television networks. In addition to being a leader in the distribution of current and classic U.S. and international films and television product worldwide, SPTI produces high profile, locally produced TV in local languages. With dedicated offices in France, Germany, Hong Kong, Italy, Miami (Latin America), the People's Republic of China, Russia, Spain and the United Kingdom, SPTI currently oversees production in nine regions of the world and is the leader in international television production among all major Hollywood studios. SPTI's worldwide television networks portfolio is a key strategy in the SPE's long-range commitment to the global marketplace, with over 40 networks in more than 130 countries reaching over 298 million viewers worldwide. SPTI is a Sony Pictures Entertainment company.

The company, which is primarily backed by Paul Allen's Vulcan, Inc., was founded in 1999 and has offices in Kirkland, WA. Digeo, Inc., provides media center software and iTV services. With the Digeo™ iTV service, cable operators can use existing digital set-tops. Digeo's flagship product - the two-time Emmy® Award-winning Moxi digital media recorder (DMR) - serves as the hub for whole-home distribution of digital entertainment and has been deployed in more than 400,000 homes by eight cable operators nationwide. In Jan. 2007, Digeo announced a new line of Moxi-branded HD DMRs will be sold directly to consumers through consumer-electronics retailers. The company also licenses its technology to third-party companies as the user interface, application or customer connection portal to drive their products or services.

Microsoft TV is a family of software solutions that enable advanced digital TV services over broadcast and broadband networks. In June 2007, Microsoft announced the availability of Microsoft Mediaron, a rebranded version of its IPTV software platform that enables service providers to deliver interactive IPTV services into the home. Along with the new name, the company has added a number of new features including PC to set-top-box media sharing (photos and music), multi picture-in-picture capabilities, and over-the-air digital terrestrial TV support. Additionally, the new Microsoft Mediaron Application Development toolkit allows service providers and third-party developers to connect to web services and develop TV-based applications that will run under Microsoft Mediaron.

Martin J. Quigley

And The Glory Days Of American Film 1915-1965

Available now.
A must-read
for anyone interested in the early days
film industry!

Martin J. Quigley's life included the people who built the film industry — people like Barney Balaban, Cecil B. De Mille, Adolph Zukor, Louis B. Mayer, Marcus Loew, Darryl F. Zanuck, Samuel Goldwyn, Spyros Skouras, Irving Thalberg, Harry Cohn, Howard Hughes and Jack and Harry Warner. Quigley was intimate friends and a trusted confidant to all these early moguls. For 25 years the author had the privilege — not often had by a son — of being able to observe the day-to-day business and professional activities of his father. Included are an historical overview of the film business, 40 pages of rarely seen photographs, a history of the origin of motion pictures, the full text of the Production Code co-authored by Quigley (and the forerunner to today's film rating system) and a complete index of people, films and critical issues to the business and art of motion pictures as seen through the life of Martin J. Quigley.

ABOUT TELEFILM CANADA

Created in 1967 and reporting to the Department of Canadian Heritage, Telefilm Canada is a federal cultural agency dedicated to the development and promotion of the Canadian audiovisual industry. Telefilm provides financial support to the private sector to create distinctively Canadian productions that appeal to domestic and international audiences.

In 2006-2007, Telefilm managed nearly $400 million in financial resources; $261 million was administered on behalf of the Canadian Television Fund. The resources managed by Telefilm are committed through the Canada Feature Film Fund and the Canada New Media Fund enabling Telefilm to act as key financing, strategic and promotional partner on both the international and national scenes.

Consult the website for additional information concerning regional offices, funds and programs, co-production certification, festivals and markets, catalogs and current developments.

INTERNATIONAL COPRODUCTIONS

International coproductions are a key component of Canadian film and television production. They are a favored method of penetrating new markets and facilitating project financing.

Canadians are quite active in the international coproduction area. They promote quality and demonstrate remarkable energy and understanding of markets, making them sought-after partners.

On behalf of the Canadian government, Telefilm administers official international coproduction agreements. These partnerships enable Canadian producers and their foreign counterparts to pool their creative, artistic, technical and financial resources to coproduce films and television programs that enjoy the status of national productions in each of the countries concerned.

At present, Canadian producers may create joint works with their counterparts in more than 50 countries.

Telefilm Canada is a federal cultural agency dedicated to the development and promotion of the Canadian audiovisual industry. With the objective of building larger audiences for Canadian cultural products, the Corporation acts as a partner to the private sector through investments in diverse productions that speak to Canadians and that resonate with audiences around the world. From screenwriting to international markets, Telefilm provides support for all industry activities.

The Corporation oversees a number of funds and programs, including the Canada Feature Film Fund and the Canada New Media Fund. Telefilm is also the administrator of the Canadian Television Fund.

From promoting Canadian films at major festivals and markets to stimulating new international coproduction partnerships, Telefilm Canada is also an innovative and entrepreneurial player on the worldwide market.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Paul Hoffer (Chair), Chris Frank (Vice-Chair and Treasurer), Suzanne Guévremont, Veronica Holmes, Jacques Labelle, Jean Lanoux, Ken Murphy, Catherine Warren, Bart Yabsley.

The Bell Fund has invested in the production of new media projects associated with TV productions since 1997. Bell ExpressVu makes annual contributions of over $8 million to this Fund. In addition, the investments generated by a $10 million endowment from the BCE-CTV Benefits provide the funding to support the development of digital interactive projects.

Production Program: Projects must include both a broadcast (television) as well as a new media component to be eligible for funding support. The broadcast (television) component is eligible for a grant equal to 75% of total Canadian broadcast license fees (up to $75,000). The new media component is eligible for a grant of 75% of the cost of production of the new media component (up to $250,000).

Eligible TV projects (broadcast component) must have a TV license commitment and be certified Canadian by the CRTC with 8 out of 10 Canadian Content points and be a drama, variety, documentary, children's, performing arts, or educational program.

Eligible new media projects (new media component) must be a new media project deliverable on a digital network with an emphasis on interaction, compelling video animation or other graphic and sound content. Industrial, corporate or promotional websites, arcade games and stand-alone CD-ROMs are not eligible.

Development Program: Grants for new media content development (which are associated with a TV production) are available to a maximum of $50,000, which may not exceed 75% of the costs of development. A maximum of 25% of the budget will be allowed as deferrals. Projects with committed funding from a third-party source will receive a bonus in the evaluation process.

Application deadlines are February 1, May 1, October 1. Decisions are generally made within six - eight weeks of receipt of completed applications.

The Fund is administered by the Independent Production Fund. For more information contact the above offices or see website.

Programs and services that contribute to the growth of the indigenous production community in British Columbia through a variety of funding programs and professional development to producers, writers and directors through marketing and skills assistance programs. See the website for information on the Passport to Markets and Slate Development programs and for more details on the following tax credit initiatives.

Film Incentive BC (FIBC): is a labour-based tax incentive that provides refundable tax credits to Canadian-owned / British Columbia controlled production companies – film, television and animation – based on eligible BC labour costs. The production company must hold more than 50 per cent of the copyright in the production.

Production Services Tax Credit (PSTC): is also a labor-based tax credit incentive, for Canadian or international film and TV production companies that have incurred costs in British Columbia. There is no requirement that the production company has an interest in the copyright. This program has three specific initiatives:

- the Basic tax credit encourages film & television production in the province,
- the Regional credit stimulates production outside of Vancouver,
- the Digital Animation or Visual Effects (DAVE) tax credit promotes the animation and visual effects industry in the province.

GRANTS FOR MEDIA ARTISTS

Film and Video Artists: supports Canadian professional independent artists who use cinema and video as a mode of artistic expression and provides them with opportunities for creative renewal and for production of independent film and video works. The program offers three components:

Research/Creation Grants: provide artists with opportunities for creative renewal, experimentation, professional development and research. Grants enable artists to concentrate full-time on a program of work for a specific period of time. This component addresses artists whose practice combines experimentation, exploration and research in conjunction with production.

Production Grants: cover the direct costs of production and post-production of independent film or video works.

Scriptwriting Grants: cover the direct costs of scriptwriting (which includes research for artists' documentaries) for independent film and video artworks.

These grants are not intended to support work created for the cultural industries of commercial film and television. This program is explicitly aimed at supporting projects involved in the renewal and exploration of cinematographic and/or videographic practice. Only directors may apply; producers are not eligible. Applicants may work with a producer, but the artist/director must maintain full creative and editorial control of the project

For further details, please consult the eligibility criteria and applications that are available on the website – deadlines are March 1 and October 1 each year.

New Media and Audio Artists: Research and Production Grants assist Canadian artists working with new media or audio technologies as means of artistic expression. Grants cover artist's subsistence costs as well as the direct costs of research, creative development and production of artworks created with new media or audio technologies.

These grants are not intended to support work created for the cultural industries of commercial new media, radio or television broadcasting. These grants support artists making a creative use of interactive information and communications technologies and/or audio production technologies. Priority is given to projects that involve innovation and artistic expression. For further details, please consult the eligibility criteria and applications that are available on the website – deadlines are March 1 and October 1 each year.

Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit (CPTC): Under this program, CAVCO performs two distinct functions: 1) Canadian content certification, and 2) estimation of the eligible expenses of production. In order for a production to qualify as Canadian content for tax credit purposes through CAVCO, the production must meet specific criteria for key creative personnel and production costs, which are outlined in the guidelines. The CPTC is available at a rate of 25 % of eligible salaries and wages. Eligible salaries and wages qualifying for the tax credit may not exceed 60 % of the cost of the production, net of assistance. The tax credit could provide a refund of up to 15 % of the cost of production, net of assistance.

Film or Video Production Services Tax Credit (PSTC): Designed to encourage the employment of Canadians by a taxable Canadian or a foreign-owned corporation with a permanent establishment in Canada, the activities of which are primarily film or video production, or production services. CAVCO's role under the PSTC is to determine the eligibility of the production and to issue an accredited film or video production certificate (Accreditation Certificate). The PSTC is a tax credit equal to 16% of salary and wages paid to Canadian residents or taxable Canadian corporations (for amounts paid to employees who are Canadian residents.) This refundable tax credit has no cap on the amount which can be claimed and is available to taxable Canadian corporations or foreign-owned corporations with permanent establishments in Canada.

A private fund established by Cogeco, Inc. to encourage the development of new scripts by Canadian writers for dramatic TV series and MOWs, to be produced by independent Canadian producers, primarily for private sector broadcasters (in English or French, or preferably in both). Development financing is also available for theatrical feature film production companies. Also, production financing for MOWs and pilots for dramatic series.

Development Program: An endowment of $5 million was made by Cogeco, Inc. and the revenues generated by the Fund (interest, loan repayment and other) are invested as development advances. Development advances are available in three categories for broadcast programming:

1. Bible for the series and treatment
2. First draft scripts
3. Second/final draft scripts

Deadlines: March 1, July 1, October 1. Decisions are made approximately eight weeks after these deadlines.

Production Program: Approximately $2 million per year is contributed by Cogeco Cable for equity production financing. Production investments are for MOWs of 90 minutes or more running time, two-part mini-series intended for prime time broadcast, or pilots for drama series. Eligible applicants must be independent producers with a minimum of two years' production experience. Screenwriters must be Canadian. A firm letter of commitment from an eligible Canadian broadcaster is also required.

Deadlines: March 1, July 1, October 1. Decisions are made approximately eight weeks after these deadlines.

Theatrical Feature Film Development Program: For qualified production companies with a minimum of three feature films in development. Loans up to $35,000 are available. Deadline for application is July 1.

The Board of Directors is composed of seven members representing the industry: Charles Ohayon (President), Roman Melnyk (Vice President), Paul Gratton, Heather McGillivray, Peter Mortimer, Denise Robert, Robert Roy.

The Independent Production Fund was established as a private independent foundation to assist independent production companies in financing the production of Canadian television drama series for private sector broadcasters. With a capital endowment of $37 million, the annual revenues generated by this capital, and return on equity constitute the funds at the Board's disposal each year. The IPF has up to $3 million per year for equity investment.

The Fund provides equity investments to qualified independent production companies with a broadcast license from a Canadian private broadcaster.

The focus is on (1) the production of dramatic series for prime-time telecast, and (2) the production of dramatic series for children.

A portion of the Fund is used for grants to non-profit organizations and associations for professional development and training activities which encourage dramatic television series development in Canada.

Deadlines: March 15, May 1, October 15. Decisions are made by the Board approximately six - eight weeks after these dates. Visit website for guidelines and details.

Manitoba Film & Video Production Tax Credit Program: A 45% base tax credit on eligible Manitoba labour expenses; an additional 5% rural bonus when at least 50% of the Manitoba production days are a minimum of 35 km from Winnipeg; and a frequent filming bonus provides an additional 5% credit on the third film project shot within a two-year period. Co-productions qualify, there is no copyright ownership requirement, no Canada or Manitoba content requirement, and the program is compatible with the federal CAVCO tax credit programs. Eligible projects include fully financed feature films, television movies, documentaries, dramatic series, animation, children's programming, music programming, informational series, variety, multimedia, digital and CD-ROM productions.

Market Driven Television Development: A three-phase program for the development of viable motion picture concepts into dramatic screenplays for television. Applicants must have confirmed funding in place from a third-party source and a broadcasting cash commitment of 20% of budget, or a strong letter of interest from a distributor.

Market Driven Feature Film Development: Development of viable motion picture concepts into screenplays for theatrical release. Full-length documentaries and movies for television are not eligible. Four phases of the program: concept to fully developed treatment, treatment to first draft screenplay, second draft screenplay and final draft / packaging.

Market Driven Feature Film Production: Assists with production financing of a fully-developed feature film project through equity investment and/or recoupable, no-interest bearing advances. Projects will be evaluated by an independent jury. Investment does not normally exceed the lesser of 20% of the total production budget, or 30% of the portion of the production budget paid to Manitoba residents and businesses.

Emerging Talent Matching Funds Program: Support for entry-level filmmakers who have secured production funding from a recognized industry organization such as Telefilm or the National Screen Institute. The contribution is in the form of an equity investment and may be up to 50% of the total budget, to a maximum of $10,000.

Portfolio Investment Envelope (PIE) Program: Assists Manitoba production companies to increase their capacity to develop and produce Manitoba film projects.

New Brunswick Film supports and promotes the film and TV industry in the Province of New Brunswick, Canada. Call to discuss opportunities that New Brunswick Film can provide for your productions – animation, documentaries, TV series, feature films and MOWs, and children's. New Brunswick offers a 40% New Brunswick Film Labour Tax Credit to encourage the hiring of New Brunswick residents. The value of this Labour Tax Credit may be included as part of the calculation of a production company's equity in a production. When New Brunswick Film determines that it is in the best interest of the Province, New Brunswick Film may waive the requirement that the NB Film Labour Tax Credit apply only to wages of New Brunswick residents. This may occur when, in the opinion of New Brunswick Film, there is no qualified NB worker available to perform the specific function and the out-of-province worker fulfilling this function is mentoring a New Brunswick resident; in addition, when, in the opinion of New Brunswick Film the overall economic benefits to the Province are such that a waiver is warranted.

In order to receive a waiver, the producer must demonstrate that each individual waived is mentoring a New Brunswick worker and each trainee has a training plan and evaluation process in place that is approved by New Brunswick Film. The determination of the applicability of the tax credit to a specific project is fully at the discretion of New Brunswick Film.

Development Loans: New Brunswick Film provides support to qualified New Brunswick producers to assist with the development phase of an eligible New Brunswick-based film production or a co-production with a New Brunswick production company. The Development Loan can include development of a dramatic treatment and research through to final draft or outline for film or television including pre-production and budget preparation.

Equity Investment: New Brunswick Film can take an equity position in film and television productions that are produced or co-produced by New Brunswick producers.

Film Festivals: New Brunswick Film sponsors FICFA (the New Brunswick Festival international du cinema francophone en Acadie), the Silver Wave Film Festival and the Atlantic Canada Film Festival.

The NLFDC administers two main programs — the Equity Investment Program (EIP) and the Newfoundland and Labrador Film and Video Industry Tax Credit. The programs are designed to assist and promote the development of the indigenous film and video industry in Newfoundland and Labrador. The eligibility criteria are designed to ensure maximum employment and growth in the Newfoundland and Labrador film and video industry.

Equity Investment Program: To support Newfoundland and Labrador based production, NLFDC will provide production assistance in the form of Equity Investment to eligible producers for the financing of productions. Equity Investment is a financial contribution by the NLFDC that shall be repaid from earned income revenue resulting from the production. The NLFDC will normally provide a maximum contribution of 20% of the total production budget.

Film and Video Industry Tax Credit: NLFDC also administers a fully refundable corporate income tax credit for the Newfoundland and Labrador Department of Finance. The program encourages the development, training and hiring of Newfoundland film personnel in all disciplines. The credit is based on a calculation of eligible labour limited to the lesser of 25% of the total eligible budget or 40% of the total eligible labor expenditures.

Development: Up to one-third of the total development budget, interest free, to a maximum of $15,000, recoupable on the first day of principal photography or transfer of the project to a third party. Financial commitment from broadcasters is required for all but feature film projects.

Equity Investment: to a maximum of $250,000, based on the portion of the production budget expended in Nova Scotia. Feature films, television programming and specials are eligible. Co-productions are eligible where applicants are Nova Scotia-based production companies or residents. The New Media Program also provides equity investment for interactive projects related to feature or television projects.

Tax Credit: Available to qualifying productions and co-productions produced and/or shot in Nova Scotia. Eligible genres include TV, videotape, feature film, non-theatrical production or interactive websites associated with television or feature film projects, and the subject is drama, variety, performing arts, animated or informational series, documentary or music programming, including music videos. No limit on the size of the production budget, no corporate or asset cap, and no Canadian content or copyright ownership requirements associated with this tax credit. The tax credit is not reduced by any other tax credits that the production may receive. A fully refundable tax credit of 35% for productions shooting in the Halifax centre, and 40% for areas 30 km or more from the city core. A further 5% frequent filming bonus is applied to companies that commence principal photography on their third film within a two-year period.

Documentary & Drama Fund: As part of the licensing approval process for OMNI-2, Rogers Media Television made a number of important commitments to finance the independent production of ethnic programming and to support multicultural public service projects. Within the $50 million in total commitments, OMNI Television will provide $32.5 million to fund the independent production of ethnic, third-language documentary and drama programs. This will take place over seven years (2009).

Documentary Fund – British Columbia & Manitoba: As a result of the acquisition of OMNI TV in Vancouver, Victoria and Winnipeg, Rogers Broadcasting has promised at least $950,000 in important tangible benefits to assist independent producers in both British Columbia and Manitoba to develop and produce religious and faith-based documentaries. The benefits will be used for the licensing and production of Canadian religious programming (Category 4). The total benefits package of $950,000 will be spent over the entire seven-year period, with a maximum of $250,000 spent each year. The target is storytelling, people biographies and historic contributions to the faith or multi-faith illustrations of service or accomplishments. Preferred format will be 30 minutes with a $500 to $4,000 ($15,000 to $120,000) per minute guideline. Further details see website.

This Fund provides approximately $5 million a year in equity financing to independent Canadian producers for television programming triggered by a first window broadcast on a Canadian cable network (i.e., a licensed Canadian specialty or premium service). The Fund will invest up to 20% of the lesser of the total production budget or final cost of eligible projects to a maximum of $300,000 per project. The Fund supports the following programming genres: drama, documentaries, children's programming, educational, instructional, performing arts and variety. The Fund operates primarily as an interim or bridge lender, advancing funds against secured commitments to eligible, independent Canadian producers, in order that production can be completed before all committed production financing payments are received. All production financing must be contractually committed before funds are advanced. The Fund has a strong preference for television projects and requires that a Canadian broadcaster be in place before a project will be considered. The Fund will consider many categories of programming, including drama, children's programs and documentaries; however, it is fundamental to the evaluation and selection process that the projects be outstanding in both quality and Canadian theme. See the website for further details, applications and deadlines.

of the Saskatchewan Film Employment Tax Credit Program and the facilitation of co-venture / co-productions with visiting producers.

Employment Tax Credit: Offering a tax credit of up to 55% of eligible labor on each individual project with no content or copyright restrictions, the program is user-friendly and production-oriented. Unlike other tax credit programs, Saskatchewan's incentives are available for each production, without obligation to film additional projects in the province to qualify for an additional rebate. There are no financial caps per production and program applications are processed swiftly in the interests of the producer. There is a 45% base tax credit, with an additional 5% rural filming bonus, and another 5% incentive for filming above and below-the-line key positions with local crew. No copyright or Canadian or Saskatchewan content requirements, or project or corporate caps.

Drama, animation, children's, music and variety, educational and documentary projects, for theatrical, television, video, digital, CD-ROM and multimedia projects are all eligible. For full details please visit the website.

SUPPORT PROGRAMS

Alain Rondeau

Tax Credit Program: For certified Québec companies, the content tax credit of 29.16 per cent for eligible labour expenses. This credit is capped at 14.58 per cent of the production budget (19.68 per cent for eligible French-language features and documentaries), 19.68 per cent for large-format films and 24.28 per cent for regionally-based productions (outside Montreal). In addition to the residency requirement additional certification criteria and a point system exist to qualify eligible productions. Feature film co-productions must spend at least 75 per cent of the Québec portion of the production budget in the province (which is also what the base tax credit is calculated on). Additional tax credits and top-up programs are available for expenditures in production services, animation, special effects and CG.

Support Programs: Annually, approximately $26 million in grant and investment programs: writing of original scripts ($2.4 million), production of short, medium and full length feature films and documentaries ($19.5 million) and a further $2.9 million the marketing and distribution of Québec film and TV productions, exhibitors, film festivals and co-productions. An additional $1.6 million is available for emerging filmmakers (ages 18 to 35) through the Young Creators program. Complete details of these programs are available on the website.

A variety of funding opportunity is offered.

Film Development Fund: Funding for up to 50% of Yukon expenditure to a maximum of $35,000 or 33% of total expenses (whichever is less). There are four phases of development; concept to fully developed script, treatment to first-draft script, first-draft to final-draft screenplay; polish/rewrites and pre-production expense. Where a Yukon screenwriter is mentored under the process, an additional $10,000 may be available. Residents or provincially-registered production companies are eligible, and a broadcast or distribution agreement must be in place.

Film Production Fund: A maximum of $500,000 is available. Calculated on 30% of Yukon expenses, or 30% of total production costs (whichever is less) for residents or Yukon corporations; for co-productions, 30% of Yukon expenses, or 20% of total production costs (whichever is less). Co-production companies must be registered in the province. Recipients of funding under this program are not eligible for the Location Incentive Fund.

Yukon Filmmakers Fund: To encourage development of local professional training and expertise, up to $8,000 is available for expenditure from development through to post-production.

Travel Rebate: Up to 50% of the cost of travel from Calgary, Edmonton or Vancouver to Whitehorse. Available for feature film, television drama and commercial productions.

Labor Rebate: A 35% labor rebate for eligible Yukon labor. To be eligible for this rebate the production must be either dramatic television, MOV, or a feature film. In the case of documentaries evidence of a broadcast license must be supplied. Television commercials are not eligible and the Yukon labor content must equal or exceed 25% of the total person days on the Yukon portion of the production. For the purpose of this rebate eligible Yukon labor costs are capped at 50% of total Yukon expenditures. The production company must be pre-approved based on anticipated production arrangements.

Training Rebate: For on-set training of our local crew, so that we can provide visiting productions with increased Yukon hire in order to take full advantage of our labor rebates.

The Canadian music industry is only as strong as the sum of its parts. We are proud to play a leading role, working with other organizations to ensure the long-term health of our members' livelihoods and the Canadian music industry as a whole. SOCAN is the Canadian copyright collective for the communication and performance of musical works. We administer these rights on behalf of our members (composers, lyricists, songwriters and their publishers) and those affiliated international organizations by licensing this use of their music in Canada. The fees collected are distributed as royalties to our members and to affiliated organizations throughout the world. We also distribute royalties received from those organizations to our members for the use of their music worldwide.

The Alberta Motion Picture Industries Association (AMPIA) is a non-profit professional service association serving the independent motion picture production community in the province of Alberta. AMPIA was founded in 1973 with the single aim of furthering the independent motion picture industry as a viable economic and cultural force within the province.

Historically, AMPIA has been recognized and called upon to serve as a voice for the Alberta film and video industries. In 1994 the Association strengthened this voice by expanding its membership to include a broader base of industry professionals within its voting membership. Likewise, the organization expanded the size and scope of the AMPIA Board of Directors to reflect the various sectors of this dynamic industry.

A monthly newsletter, Keep It Rolling, goes out to more than 500 people in the industry, both members and non-members of AMPIA.

The CCA is Canada's oldest and largest arts advocacy organization and artists network. A national, non-governmental, non-profit association, it endeavours to strengthen public and private support to the arts and enhance the awareness of the role and value of the arts through communication, information, research, promotion and consultation activities. As part of its information program, the CCA publishes various bilingual policy papers and reports on the arts, as well as a handbook — The Directory of the Arts — a selective guide to federal and provincial departments, agencies and people with responsibility for arts and culture and a guide to more than 150 national associations, service organizations and unions in the fields of broadcasting, copyright, crafts, dance, education, film, heritage, music, publishing, recording, theatre, visual arts and writing. The Directory, which is updated bi-annually, also features a listing of provincial arts associations across Canada. The CCA also publishes BLIZZART, a quarterly newsletter on current arts issues.

Formed in 1940 as an organization dedicated to the welfare of all men and women of the motion picture industry. It has grown to its present-day strength of over 900 members in five branches across Canada. Original membership requirements called for 25 years of service in the industry. This period of service has now been reduced to 5 years. Everyone involved in industry, theatrical or home entertainment qualifies for membership; no matter what their job title; doorman, cashier, caretaker, manager, projectionist, booker, corporate employee, industry supplier etc.

The Canadian Picture Pioneers Trust Fund helps any members of the film industry in need by, for example, frequently paying additional medical and special treatment costs, providing wheelchairs and general living expenses. In 1983 the Trust Fund began to provide scholarships to post-secondary students in the industry or have parents working as part of the industry.

A national non-profit association for theatre owners whose purpose is to:

a) maintain a national trade association of motion picture theatre exhibitors, consisting of owners, operators, executives and managers;

b) forward and promote the general welfare and prosperity of motion picture exhibitors;

c) gather, receive and disseminate such information as may seem helpful to members and associated organizations; to interchange ideas in rendering mutual assistance and to provide helpful vocational advice and guidance, and in general to act as a group representing national interests.

The Association's head office is in Toronto, and each province has its own organization.

SHOWCANADA

The Association's annual convention and trade show is held at a different location in Canada each year, and member provinces take turns hosting the three-day event. Four hundred delegates participate in the seminars and social activities, which include screenings of new products.

In 2008 the convention will be held in Banff. Please contact Adina Lebo (416) 969-7075 or www.showcanada.ca for details.

SHOWCANADA SHOWMANSHIP AWARDS

The Showmanship Awards, presented at a ceremony during each convention, were devised to encourage managers to create promotions around film product and special showings. The current five categories for theatre-level personnel are:

- The Blockbuster Film Award - for studio-initiated films with massive merchandising and promotional components
- Showmanship Award - for a film-specific campaign which has been developed by a theatre manager or circuit
- Audience Development Award - for programs focusing on community service and audience development
- Concessions Award - for the best snack promotion
- Promotions of Canadian Film, French and English

The Banff New Media Institute runs, partners and collaborates on a series of professional development and training workshops and seminars through the year. BNMI workshops are dedicated to all aspects of new media creation — art, research, technology, financing, publishing and distribution. The workshops combine theoretical presentations with practical work. They are designed as learning laboratories where participants, under the guidance of new media experts, engage in cross-disciplinary dialogue and project creation. As well as providing high-level training opportunities, professional development at BNMI workshops represents an excellent occasion for networking, providing participants with exposure and rare access to internationally renowned artists and researchers.

Program has both a production stream and an acting stream and offers either a one-year advanced certificate or two-year applied degree in either stream. Courses for both streams include Film Fundamentals, Directing, Screenwriting, Motion Picture Projects and Business/Career Path. Production students also take Technology and Production courses (cinematography, sound, editing, lighting, etc.), and Performance students take Acting and Audition courses.

This is a hands-on program where students are actively involved on shoots (digital/film) throughout the term. The program provides the students with the skills needed to enter the film industry behind and/or in front of the camera. Teach to industry standards and all the staff are practicing film professionals. Students are encouraged to be entrepreneurial filmmakers.

Graduates of the Performing Arts at Red Deer College have a strong track record of work in the industry, from Canada to Hollywood.

The program starts at year 3. Eligible preparation includes a two-year diploma from a recognized theatre technology (production) or theatre performance (acting) program. Two years of study in related subject areas may be considered as equivalent. BA/BFA Drama majors, mature students and those with substantial industry experience will be invited to apply as well. All applicants will be subject to auditions and interviews.

The program examines cinema in North America as well as in other parts of the world. The program is concerned with the moving image both as a medium of artistic expression and as a carrier of social values. Primary goals of the program are to educate students in the areas of: film and media history; fundamentals of visual literacy in film and television; film and media narrative; aesthetic styles and strategies in film; and the role played by film and media in social and cultural life, including their representation of gender, race and class.

Secondary but important areas of instruction include more specialized and intensive instruction in film and media theory; film and media popular culture; national cinemas and media systems; and authorship and genre in film. The program contains no production component at this time.

Motion Picture Production Program (Certificate)

This two-term program introduces students to the complex world of dramatic film and TV production. While offering a general overview of the motion picture industry, it also explores in detail such elements as camera and lighting techniques, digital editing, screenplay analysis, film-related business basics, and cinematic history. Further, the intensive, digitally based production schedule offers the students thorough, hands-on experience in the development, production and post-production phases of dramatic film production.

Based on industry-standard protocols and taught by seasoned film professionals, this curriculum provides the students not only with a solid foundation in the creative and technical aspects of film production, but also with crucial team skills such as leadership, communication, collaboration, crisis management and group decision-making.

Motion Picture Production Program (Diploma)

The two-term Motion Picture Production Diploma Program builds upon the foundations established in the Motion Picture Production Certificate Program. This second year program delves more deeply into "above the line" areas of expertise, such as screenwriting, producing and directing, as well as exploring post-production concerns as editing and sound design. A challenging schedule of student productions is a key element of the curriculum. Several film scripts, written and developed during the Fall Semester, will be produced in the Spring Semester. Following industry standards as closely as possible, these films are for the most part shot on location, often making use of professional actors.

Motion Picture Program (Advanced Diploma)

This two-term program is intended to build upon the knowledge and skills acquired in the 2nd Year of the Motion Picture Production Program. As well as further explorations in the subjects of film history, screenwriting, producing and directing, special emphasis will be placed on the business aspects of independent filmmaking, such as production accounting, budgeting and financing. This program will also familiarize students with the concept of visual esthetics, as well as introducing them to the vast array of possibilities available through Special and Visual Effects.

New: A 4th Year (Bachelor of Applied Arts in Film) Degree Program is in active development.

Additional programs include: Acting for Camera / Costuming / Lighting & Grip (entry level) / Cinematography / Set Dressing.

The School for the Contemporary Arts is home to the most comprehensive and innovative film and video production program in Western Canada. This BFA in Film combines film and video production, film history and theoretical studies with a view to educating artists whose creative approach to media is knowledgeable and innovative.

This four-year program includes hands-on production and film history and theory augmented by interdisciplinary courses in the other areas of the school — art and culture studies, dance, music, theatre and visual art. Graduates of the program have become successful independent media artists in film, video and television and have won national and international awards. The film program emphasizes film sound and screenwriting and is affiliated with the Praxis Centre for Screenwriters, the celebrated national professional development program.

FILM PROGRAM COORDINATOR

Kate Castelo

The UBC Department of Theatre, Film and Creative Writing offers two streams of film at the undergraduate and graduate levels – the more academic stream of Film Studies and the more technical Film Production. Both are offered within a liberal arts context. The goal of the Department is to graduate individuals with the ability to conceive, execute and disseminate film productions and writing projects with sophistication, technical skill and meaningful content as well as to give the students the background to write and speak intelligently about film.

DIRECTOR OF FILM STUDIES

Dr. Temenuga Trifonova

Minor in Film Studies

A unique, interdisciplinary program whose purpose is to provide students with a broad intellectual background while developing their abilities to read films critically, formulate articulate and thoughtful arguments, and communicate effectively. The focus of the program is on breadth of learning and on integrating knowledge from many of the traditional disciplines in order to provide an intellectual grounding in ideas and values that have shaped our culture.

The Minor helps students develop expertise in all areas of film studies, including film aesthetics, film history, film theory, film genres, national cinemas, film criticism and film production. Through the study of both Western and non-Western film traditions and movements students not only acquire a deeper cultural understanding and aesthetic appreciation of the art of filmmaking but also develop a firm grasp of film vocabulary and of a range of aesthetic, technological, economic, social and cultural film discourses. In addition to the four core courses students choose from a range of electives, including (but not limited to): European Cinema since 1960, Film and Philosophy, Film and Literature, Classical Hollywood Cinema, Film Remakes, The City in Cinema, Migrant and Diasporic European Cinema, Canadian Cinema, Film Noir, Science Fiction Cinema, Time and Cinema, Art Cinema, Race and Gender in Cinema, and others.

The program appeals to students who are passionate about all kinds of films: foreign films, Hollywood films, art films, avant-garde films. The Minor in Film Studies provides a bridge between theory and practice by training students both in theoretical/historical approaches to cinema and in film production.

Broadcast Television

This two-year diploma program provides students with the formal training needed to become leaders in the television production industry. Curriculum covers all aspects of the production process and is focussed on making graduates job-ready. Equal weight is given to the creative side of production and technical operations.

Interactive Multimedia

This program concentrates on delivering rich-media applications combined with traditional multimedia elements. Multimedia is the combination of text, graphics, sound and animation to create different applications on computers for personal, informational, entertainment or educational use. Students receive hands-on experience in creating, manipulating and combining video, audio, graphics and text to create multimedia products and applications. These applications may include web sites incorporating database and e-commerce, CD-ROMs, video, audio, screen-savers, and games. The program covers the main elements of multimedia planning and development and equal importance is given to the creative and technical aspects. This program uses Flash in most courses and assumes previous multimedia, graphic design or programming experience.

Interactive Multimedia Developer

The program is designed to prepare students for a career as an Interactive Multimedia Developer in web and CD-ROM/DVD-ROM development. Today many businesses and organizations communicate information through the Internet, CD-ROM/DVD-ROM, kiosks, computer displays and other digital equipment. Strong emphasis is placed on developing the hands-on component, which is offered through courses in web development, digital imaging, authoring, animation, photography and video.

Scriptwriting

This one-year graduate certificate program in scriptwriting provides students with the knowledge, writing experience, and hands-on skills necessary to become scriptwriters in the ever-expanding fields of film, theatre, TV, broadcast and non-broadcast video and new media. While enhancing scriptwriting skills under close tutelage and guidance by professionals, students will also have an opportunity to see their work move from page to stage and from page to screen. Along with a historical overview of film and television, students also learn how to market their skills and work with relevant industries.

In this comprehensive two-year program, each student will create a minimum of four short films shot on 16 mm motion picture film, and will experience crew positions on a minimum of 16 other productions. Students will be able to utilize our new production facility that boasts many state of the art features in both production and post production. Shooting on film, editing in 16:9 High Definition, mixing in 5.1 surround, and outputting in Blu Ray and DVD are all part of the experience. Access to the equipment and the production facility is 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Currently, the film program has one of the best student to equipment ratios in Canada and with knowledgeable, experienced instructors and small class sizes, an effective and valuable experience is the result. Using the film industry as a model, filmmaking as a craft is experienced from A-Z including scriptwriting, budget, pre-production, production, post production and distribution. The art of filmmaking is complemented with technical know-how and hands-on experience. In addition to the film core subjects the student will take a number of general subjects complementing film production. Graduates may find junior levels of employment in every area of the film industry. These include production, camera, lighting, sound, editing and writing.

Animation - Computer Arts

This three-year program for secondary school graduates has been developed to enable graduates to approach the industry with a broad and creative skills set or to continue on at a master level in the graduate studies program. The first year of the program engages in the exploration of the four areas in classical arts: visual, audio, performance and language. A sound understanding of these is the foundation for the development of digital movies for many areas of production, including film, advertising, industrial, documentaries, and television series. Students are introduced to the software and hardware systems used in the production, as well as the traditional artists tools engaged in drawing and sculptural processes.

The second year of the program takes a full swing into the process of project development, engaging in the arts and storytelling processes of year one, using the computer as the primary production tool. A series of projects are undertaken using practices parallel to those used in professional studios from pre-production, to production, to post. Advanced studies in the arts of movement for animation, modeling and rigging, lighting, shading, rendering, and design for games are combined with the continuing studies in filmmaking. Drawing skills are exercised further, for the development of both preproduction and portfolio materials.

In the final year, as projects become more advanced, students begin to take the initiative in critical management of design and timelines for projects. The tools of compositing and editing also begin to play a larger role in design considerations. Presentation materials are developed in different formats, along with a full art portfolio. Throughout the program, students interact with the real world of the studios, through tours, guest lectures and workshops. Film screenings, art gallery tours, performances and lectures will provide ongoing connections to the current trends in design and communication through this media.

Multimedia Design

Multimedia computing is a three-year Ontario College Advanced Diploma program that offers leading-edge technology with widespread applications. This program combines multiple mediums such as audio, images, two- and three-dimensional animation, graphics and video. Delivery methods vary from DVDs, CD-ROMs and the Internet. Some of this information will need to be retrieved from databases and then inserted back into databases. The program concentrates on multi-media authoring software, such as Adobe Photoshop and Macromedia Flash and includes essential knowledge in interactive interface design, the development of effective presentations in a variety of settings, HTML, programming, operating systems, SQL, and networking.

York University's Department of Film & Video gives students the opportunity to pursue practical training balanced with in-depth academic studies in the quintessential 20th-century art form. At all levels of the curriculum, courses in the creative crafts of cinematography, editing and sound, including state-of-the-art digital techniques, are offered alongside studies in the concepts and practices of screenwriting, directing and producing. Complementing these studio skills is a full roster of courses in the history, theory and criticism of the media, including studies in Canadian, international, documentary and alternative cinema.

Cinema is composed of three areas: Film, Animation, Film Production and Film Studies. One factor which distinguishes the School's program from many others in cinema is that Concordia's are offered through the Faculty of Fine Arts; thus, each program approaches the subject matter first as a means of artistic and cultural expression. Consequently, a central aim of these programs is to prepare students to become filmmakers, film animators or film historians/critics/theorists who have a twofold awareness: one aspect involves the artistic and cultural potential of their medium; the other, its history and traditions.

Two programs in communication: three-year undergraduate course in Journalism; three-year undergraduate course in Cinema, TV and Multimedia. In the first year, students take a number of mandatory courses as an introduction to communications. In the second and third years, there are six workshops in cinema. At the undergraduate level all students in cinema are required to produce 16mm / super video films in this practical course in fiction and documentary. The Master's degree in communications is more theoretical. The Master's in Multimedia requires production of a project in a multimedia format. All students must produce a thesis. A PhD program is also offered.

Programs Available

The Department of Media Production and Studies offers programs leading to the degrees of BFA (film & video production), BA (film & video studies) & BA Honors (film & video studies).

Given its position within the Faculty of Fine Arts, the Department of Media Production & Studies approaches its subject matter as a means of artistic and cultural expression. The Department offers an environment that integrates the Studies and Production disciplines. Thus, the BA students gain both a practical and a theoretical understanding of the image-making process, and the BFA students benefit by having access to more than a simple production-oriented understanding of the same process.

Bachelor of Arts (four-year)

A traditional four-year liberal arts degree which allows students to develop the basic skills of analysis, problem solving, decision making and communication along with a concentration in Film Studies. BA graduates pursue a wide range of careers in such areas as law, business, public administration, secondary and university teaching, arts administration, critics / historians, museum studies, creative writing, advertising and media consulting.

Bachelor of Arts Honours

For those students who meet the higher academic requirements, this program allows greater concentration in the major area, more independent study opportunities and close one-to-one supervision by a faculty member. Students wishing to pursue graduate studies are urged to take this program.

BFA Film and Video

The program begins with an examination of the history, syntax and theory of motion pictures, and then proceeds to the basics of film and videotape production including scriptwriting, directing, recording, editing and music. Technical production classes are complemented by classes in the history and development of cinema, including Canadian and Third World cinema, Hollywood, documentary and contemporary film. Continuation in the BFA program is based on portfolio, interview and grade average. At the end of the BFA program students are able to research and write a story and prepare a shooting script to professional standards; produce, i.e., manage the business side of a production and ensure that it is marketable; and direct all aspects of a production. The program prepares students to become independent film / video artists or writers, directors and producers for the industry. While technical instruction is given and technical knowledge is required, the curriculum is not intended to train technicians.

OFFICE OF COMMUNICATIONS (OFCOM)

OFCOM was designed to be a 'super regulator', required in an age where many media platforms are converging. OFCOM was initially established in the Office of Communications Act 2002 [1], but received its full authority from the Communications Act 2003. On December 29, 2003, OFCOM inherited the duties that had previously been the responsibility of five regulatory bodies: The Broadcasting Standards Commission, The Independent Television Commission, The Office of Telecommunications (Ofitel), The Radio Authority, The Radiocommunications Agency

SATELLITE AND CABLE SYSTEMS OPERATORS

British television broadcasting has a range of different broadcasters, broadcasting multiple channels over a variety of distribution media. Before the advent of digital television in the UK, five main television channels dominated (BBC, ITV, Channel 4, Five, S4C and Teletext) British television. With the increasing popularity of digital television, all are expanding and offering a portfolio of digital-only channels to viewers. Starting in 2008 and ending in 2012, television services in the UK will go completely digital, region by region. Digital UK is the independent, not for profit, organization set up by the broadcasters to lead the UK's switch to digital television.

CABLE & WIRELESS (C&W)

Cable and Wireless (CW) is a British telecommunications company. In the mid-1980s, it became the first company in the UK to offer an alternative telephone service to British Telecom. The company later offered cable TV to its customers, but it sold its cable assets to NTL in 2000.

FRANCHISED CABLE SYSTEMS

NTL and Telewest services were rebranded Virgin Media on 2007-02-08 creating a single cable operator covering more than 95% of the UK cable market.

There are a small number of other surviving cable television companies in the UK outside of NTL including Kingston Communications (East Riding of Yorkshire), WightCable (Isle of Wight) and Smallworld (previously WightCable North) (Ayrshire, Carlisle and Lancashire).
