THE YEAR IN REVIEW

BY WILLIAM J. QUIGLEY

THE INDUSTRY

It really is all about the advertising. The recession has been extremely challenging for an Industry that almost totally relies on it for revenue. Total spending in all advertising mediums in the U.S. fell 14.5% during 2009, from $189 billion to $161 billion. Compared to the 18% decline in newspapers, 22% in radio and 27% in newspapers, the national broadcasters' 6.3% decrease in ad spending is a relative triumph. Local television advertising has been hammered, mostly by the bankruptcies of General Motors and Chrysler and the woes of car dealers whose spending is down over 55%. Even the much-hyped rise of online advertising has been reversed with spending down 2% in 2009. Two of the few industries to increase spending this year have been fast-food restaurants and big box retailers, both appeal to value-conscious folks. Many believe that ad spending moves in line with economic growth but there is debate among those who believe that consumers will rediscover old spending habits when the financial crisis passes and those that do not. The question for all in the Industry is whether or not the American consumer will return to their free-spending ways as the economy recovers or have spending habits changed for this generation as they were by those affected by the Great Depression.

Just a few decades ago, marketers could be certain of reaching over 90% of the American households utilizing prime-time network television. Today, they barely reach a third of that. It is not that people are watching less television - Nielsen estimates record viewing in 2009 of an average of 150 hours per month - 5 hours a day. However, more than 80% of American households get their television from satellite or cable. The audience for the "big four" broadcast networks is eroding. To most viewers, the broadcast networks are just four of the hundreds of channels offered and with cable's extraordinary investment in original programming in the last few years, the distinctions among the channels has been blurred.

In spite of this, the price of broadcast television advertising remains remarkably buoyant. Network television retains its pricing power because in an era of increasingly fragmented audiences the network's remaining share, while cut by more than half in a decade, is that much more dominant. It is the only place where a movie company or anyone that needs to build a large, mass audience in five days can make an effective buy. Coupled with the facts that Nielsen reports that television viewers are watching more than ever, were exposed to 72 minutes of ads or promotions a day and that over 97% of video is still watched on a television screen rather than a computer or mobile device, the network's share remains a must-buy for many marketers. Additionally, broadcast is seen as a consistently safe and wholesome environment for ads.

However, that too is changing. Cable has been dominating the Emmy Awards for many years at the expense of the broadcast networks and their tremendous investment in content and the subsequent consumer interest and critical acclaim is changing attitudes about cable. "Mad Men" was the first show on basic cable to win an Emmy for best drama, while premium channels such as HBO have been winning them for years. The growing audiences and increasingly positive profile of cable will erode the huge premium that advertisers pay for network spots.

Audience measurement is critical to all media companies and advertisers. DVRs and the explosion of online viewing have created a huge controversy regarding audience measurement between top media companies and marketers who are dissatisfied with Nielsen's "convergence" panel that measures the interaction of TV and internet video usage. Viacom, News Corporation, NBC Universal, Time Warner, CBS, Disney and Discovery have created a consortium with major advertisers such as Proctor & Gamble, Coca Cola, AT&T and Unilever, along with some major ad agencies, to measure set-top box data and cross-platform viewers across TV and digital sources. This effort underlines how urgently advertisers and media companies need better information and measurement of total audiences across all platforms.

BROADCAST

Broadcast upfront buying for the 2009-10 season was down 22% from last year's $9.3 billion to $7.2 billion. The troubled economy was a factor in the decline with pricing for ad units down an average of 1% - 7% compared to 2008-09, but the major reason was that the networks decided to hold back significant inventory and sell it later in the hope of an improving financial climate.

More than a dozen new programs were launched on the networks during the Summer and not one was a hit. Returning shows and ratings were at an all-time low. As noted above, the ratings playing field between broadcast and cable continues to flatten and some shows on cable performed well during this period including, "True Blood," "Burn Notice" and "Royal Pains." Among the better network performers during the Summer, were ABC's "Dating in the Dark" and "Shark Tank," NBC's "I'm a Celebrity...Get Me Out of Here," CBS' reality show, "There Goes the Neighborhood" and Fox's "More to Love."

The 2009-10 schedules demonstrate that network television, at least in terms of programming trends, is a cyclical business. ABC has added four new sitcoms to its Wednesday prime-time slate and NBC has replaced five hours of drama each week with Jay Leno. CBS, which continued to produce comedies during the last ten years, continues to have some big hits, although mostly with its procedurals and scripted series. Fox continues to add to its "Animation Domination." On three weekday nights audiences will have only comedies to watch on all four networks between 8pm and 11 pm, and that does not include the late-night comedy/talk shows. This is pretty astounding given the proliferation of reality programming in the last decade. It is interesting to note that the sitcom was widely considered dead in the early 1980s until "The Cosby Show" came along. In the post "Friends" era in the late 90's sitcoms eventually gave way to reality programming. Now the cycle seems to be coming around again. Obviously, some of this is due to much lower costs to produce comedies compared to dramas but another reason is that comedies repeat much better in syndication than either dramas or reality programming.

The networks introduced a wide range of new series this Fall but the top two new shows among all viewers, "NCIS: L.A." and "The Good Wife" appear to be sliding from the top 20 programs among the 18-to-49 demographic. The next three shows in the top five among new viewers, "FlashForward," "Modern Family" and "Cougar Town," have all trended downward after auspicious starts.

Somewhat predictably, total viewership among all networks is still down this year, with the gains shown by CBS and Fox outweighed by the losses at NBC and ABC. Many "tent pole" series, among them "CSI," "Dancing With the Stars" and "Desperate Housewives" have lost viewers this year.

Under Bob Iger's leadership, Disney's - ABC's parent - revenue only decline 2.4% in 2009. However, ABC television division trimmed its workforce by 5%, pressured by the economy and the downturn in advertising revenues, joining many other media companies in cost cutting. ABC announced in early January 2009 that it was merging its prime-time network division with the unit that develops TV programs and putting both under the control of Stephen McPherson.

Overall, viewership declined 11% at ABC during the start of the 2009-10 season, with decreases in Adults 18-49 of 13% and Adults 18-34 of 16%. ABC has the comedies "Modern Family," which also has landed in the top 20 in 18-to-49, and "Cougar Town," as well as the drama "FlashForward." "Castle" and "Brothers & Sisters" look strong. The bad news is that staples like "Desperate Housewives," "Dancing With the Stars," "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition" and "Grey's Anatomy" are suffering ratings drops.

Anne Sweeney, Co-Chairman of Disney Media Networks and Stephen McPherson seem to have developed an interesting slant on targeting women, whether intentional or not, in the programming this season. Of the 19 scripted shows on the network, seven have females as the lead character - "Cougar Town," "Desperate Housewives" "Eastwick," "Grey's Anatomy," "The Middle," "Private Practice" and "Ugly Betty."

CBS is outperforming its rivals by staying with its expensive traditional programming, including a steady diet of police procedurals and scripted series. In strong contrast to the other networks, CBS actually increased viewers by 4%, comparing 2008-09 to 2009-10. "NCIS," "NCIS: Los Angeles," "CSI," "The Mentalist," "Two and a Half Men" and "The Good Wife" have consistently landed in the top 20 shows among total viewers, according to Nielsen. In 2009 CBS' net advertising is projected to reach $4 billion, easily topping its competitors.

This strategy has worked well to date but comes with substantial risk. Recession weary advertisers are increasingly nervous about paying enough ad dollars to cover the typical $3 million cost per hour of dramas. It is also important to remember that CBS no longer has the guaranteed dual streams of ad revenue and subscriber fees from cable networks since it split from Viacom. Nevertheless, Les Moonves does not believe that the broadcast business model is broken and points to the unmatched reach a show like the CSI franchise can bring to advertisers. Counting syndication, international sales, DVD and the Internet, CSI has generated over $2 billion in profit since 2000. "We are still a mass medium" where "Good content wins out," he said.

The scandal regarding David Letterman's conduct with fellow employees, the foiled extortion plot and the way he has handled it on air have generated tremendous publicity and even bigger ratings. This, combined with NBC's late night programming moves has insured that CBS has more than a leg up in the Late Night ratings battles.

The biggest media news of the year by far was Comcast's bid to merge its assets with GE's NBC Universal, just five years after Brian Roberts ended his attempt to purchase Disney. The broad outline of this deal would give Comcast 51 percent of NBC Universal. Comcast would contribute its own programming assets, which include several sports networks, and cash, in the $6 billion to $7 billion range, to the new venture. G.E. would contribute about $12 billion of debt, and would own 49 percent of the company. G.E. owns 80 percent of NBC Universal; Vivendi, the French conglomerate, owns the other 20 percent. G.E. is in negotiations with Vivendi to buy its 20 percent stake, a remnant of a 2004 deal between Vivendi and G.E.

During the Summer of 2009 Ben Silverman stepped down as co-chairman of NBC Entertainment and Universal Media Studios and was replaced by Jeff Gaspin, who was named chairman of the combined new division, NBC Universal Entertainment.

When Conan O'Brien replaced Jay Leno as host of The Tonight Show in 2009, the network gave the former host a new talk show, committing to air it every week-night at 10:00 p.m., as an inexpensive alternative to the procedurals and other one-hour dramas that typically air during that time slot. In doing so, NBC became the first large United States network in decades to broadcast the same show every weekday during prime time hours. Its executives called the decision "a transformational moment in the history of broadcasting" and "in effect, launching five new shows." The early results are mixed with displaced shows like "Law & Order SVU" suffering, local newscast declining and the late-night programs hurting from the weak lead-ins.

NBC is a distant fourth in the ratings: Viewers down 10% overall with -20% in Adults 18-49 and -26% in Adults 18-34, compared to last year. The move of Jay Leno to prime-time seems to have impaired much of the NBC lineup with displaced shows, late local newscast and late-night programs all suffering, although there is some hope that its critically-lauded "Community" could build if given the chance. A few of the rest of their shows are doing well, such as "The Biggest Loser" and "The Office" and "Sunday Night Football" is a proven ratings prop. NBC officials say that the savings and the apparent disintegration of ratings at 10 pm justify having Leno in prime time. Interestingly enough, Jeff Gaspin concluded that hits cannot be established at 10 pm anymore, largely because viewers are playing recorded shows on DVRs during that time slot.

Fox continues to be the only broadcaster ahead of their ratings from last season in all demo groups. The broadcaster is usually on life support in the Fall until "American Idol" returns but is now drawing audiences to "The Cleveland Show," a top 20 show among 18-to-49-year-olds, and the critical success "Glee." Initially, it looked like this was solely due to their new fall scheduling moves, but ALCS baseball ratings improvement over the NLCS ratings last fall and a more exciting World Series made a nice difference.

Peter Chernin, who spent 20 years at Fox, 13 years as COO, left in 2009. During his tenure, Rupert Murdoch used the cash flow from newspapers to get into television and film. Now the pattern has reversed with television and film providing the cash to get into print, most notably the $5.7 billion spent to acquire Dow Jones. It had been reported that Chernin disagreed with the Dow Jones deal. Murdoch picked Fox Searchlight head, Peter Rice, to run Fox Broadcasting, which displaced Peter Liguori. Fox has been number one in adults 18-49 throughout most of Liguori's four-year tenure which made his firing unexpected. Tony Vinciguerra, chairman of Fox Networks Group, now has operating control of Fox's TV network business. While other conglomerates have been consolidating network and studio units, Fox's restructuring underlined their desire to keep these units separate. Ironically, Peter Chernin is advising Comcast on their takeover bid for NBC.

The CW's focus on 18-to-34-year-old women continued to show some signs of success last season and in the Fall of 2009 with the growth of "Gossip Girl," the resurgence of "One Tree Hill," and the success of "90210" and "The Vampire Diaries." However, the CW has struggled in the ratings since its inception, leading to speculation that its owners, CBS and Warner Bros., might abandon the venture. Back in May 2009, the network announced that it was giving back five hours of time on Sundays to the affiliates, becoming a weeknight-only network. A majority of the affiliates are airing the MGM movie replacement package on Sundays.

My Network TV announced this year that it will no longer be a network. With the beginning of the 2009-2010 TV season, it embraced a programming-service business model. The new My Network TV will continue to include pro wrestling's "WWE Friday Night Smackdown" and a movie night. It also included two "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" reruns per week from NBC Universal Domestic Television Distribution. Greg Meidel, president of My Network TV, stated "We have blown up that traditional model and come up with an innovative approach that is basically an advertiser-supported model, almost like syndication, where we acquire programs from various suppliers on an advertiser-supported basis." My Network TV has realized some audience growth in both households and among viewers age 18 to 49.

CABLE

The cable upfront market for 2009-10 was the weakest since 2001 with sales down 12% to $6.7 billion from $7.6 billion the prior year. Contributing to the almost $1 billion shortfall were recession-battered budgets, some price discounting and executives desire to hold back inventory for the fourth quarter scatter market, which has paid off with higher prices in Q4. As the economy improves it is expected that cable ad sales will grow 6% in 2010, with Disney, Discovery and Scripts expected to see increases over 7%.

In the past year the fortunes of many of the big media companies have depended largely on the proportion of revenues that come from pay television. Cable networks obtain about half their revenue from advertising and the other from carriage fees paid by firms that distribute their channels, which in turn get paid by subscribers. In 2009 carriage fees offset the weakness in advertising and increased at a rate greater than inflation. However, cable operators are finding it more difficult to pass price increases on to customers and while they have tolerated higher carriage fees to date, they will not do so forever.

Like newspaper owners, Cable executives are looking for new ways to protect their investment from the ravages of the Internet. And, as with the newspaper industry, the answer remains elusive. Consumers can already obtain much broadcast and cable content online for free. The major worry is that if cable networks do not protect the fees from paying subscribers, and offer most programming online at no cost — as newspapers have done — then customers may eventually cancel their cable subscriptions. The major media conglomerates like Time Warner, Viacom and NBC Universal have made protecting cable TV from the ravages of the Internet their top priority.

Another troubling issue facing Cable that came to a head during 2009 is increased government regulation. The FCC announced that it is preparing to impose significant new regulations to open the cable television market to independent programmers and rival video services after determining that cable companies have become too dominant in the industry. How dominant the cable industry is has been a matter of dispute. The largest cable companies say they are under increasing competition from the satellite and telephone companies. But commission officials and consumer groups say that the large cable companies dominate the market-place. They cite as evidence the fact that cable rates have risen significantly faster than inflation. The commission's conclusion that the cable industry has grown too large will be used to justify a raft of new cable television rules and proposals. They include a cap that would prevent the nation's largest cable company, Comcast Corporation, from growing, and would prevent other large cable companies, like Time Warner, from making any new large cable acquisitions.

SATELLITE

In 2009 Cable had 56% of the U.S. Television market to 29% for DBS and 4% for the Telephone companies. Starting 40 years after cable, DirecTV and DISH have made enormous gains. The telephone companies, led by Verizon FiOS and AT&T U-verse, already have 4% after the first system launch. The remaining 12% of U.S. Households rely on over-the-air television or receive no television service.

The DirecTV Group, Inc. announced that second quarter 2009 revenues increased 9 percent to $5.22 billion, operating profit increased 2 percent to $1.38 billion compared to last year. DirecTV said it added 224,000 U.S. subscriptions in the period, bringing its total subscribers in the U.S. to 18.3 million. Larry Hunter, interim CEO of DirecTV, said "DirecTV's brand and unrivaled video experience, along with the first full quarter of marketing our bundled service with AT&T, contributed to a 17 percent increase in gross additions to 1,048,000 and a monthly churn rate of 1.51 percent."

Dish Network Corp.'s second-quarter earnings fell 81% despite its first subscriber gain in a year, while profit at former unit EchoStar Corp. doubled. Dish, the No. 2 satellite-television provider in the U.S. has felt escalating pressure to come up with a new survival strategy in the face of competition from DirecTV Group Inc. and from cable providers and local-phone companies. Dish posted income of $63.4 million, or 14 cents a share, down from $335.9 million, or 73 cents a share, a year earlier. Revenue was flat at $2.9 billion. The company gained 26,000 subscribers during the quarter, its first quarterly increase in five quarters. It ended the period with about 13.6 million subscribers, down 1.3% from a year earlier, however.

Dish focuses on the lower-end consumer, who is getting squeezed by the continuing economic decline, while DirecTV has been better able to weather the downturn because its customers are less vulnerable and it had a quicker rollout of high-definition and sports packages. But even DirecTV isn't immune; the company said last week that more customers are opting to cancel premium channels.

In October, a federal appeals court temporarily stayed a recent district-court ruling in Dish's long-running patent-infringement case with Tivo Inc. that would have required Dish and EchoStar to pay $103 million in fines plus interest to Tivo and disconnect millions of video recorders.

There is speculation that Verizon might be ready to make a move on DirecTV as the telco turns its concentration to video as its "core product." Buying DirecTV would catapult Verizon to the No. 2 spot behind Comcast. Unlike regional FiOS, DirecTV offers national marketing synergies with Verizon Wireless.

DVD & HOME VIDEO

Consumer spending for pre-recorded entertainment through the first half of 2009, which includes DVD, Blu-ray and digital distribution, was $9.3 billion, off by 3.9% to the same period last year, according to the Digital Entertainment Group. Sell-through and rental combined were down less than 5.6% but sell-through alone was down 13.5%. This was partially offset by the growth of Blu-ray - up 91% to $407 million- and digital distribution, which increased 21% to $968 million. Not surprisingly, rental spending was up 8.3%, boosted by an increase in Blu-ray spending, which was up 62% to last year.

During the first half of 2009, Blu-ray hardware sales exceeded 2 million units, an increase of 25% over last year. The total installed base for Blu-ray in U.S. households now exceeds 11 million. DVD players are now in 92 million U.S. households.

DVD and Blu-Ray will remain a huge profit center for years to come but Studios are concerned that this gravy train is slowing and may stop eventually. Given the profitability of DVD sales, even a small decline in favor of rentals will have a meaningful impact on Studio profit. The recession is driving notable declines in disc purchasing, not the spread of digital distribution, according to a recent consumer study and market analysis by Nielsen. However, when one considers the phenomenal growth of Redbox — kiosks where DVDs can be rented for $1 a day — and Netflix, there is concern that consumers are looking at the price and convenience of rental over sales and voting for that over collectability. Many people have dust-covered DVDs sitting unwatched on their shelves. Ominously, Wal-Mart and other big-box retailers have started cutting the amount of shelf space for DVDs. If the recession is making lower priced rentals, digital options, or forgoing home video entirely, "convenient" then it is time to acknowledge that the DVDs role in home entertainment will diminish.

Put simply, the Studios need to figure out digital distribution. Demand for digital distribution by the public is obvious from the millions Studios spend to combat piracy of ripped DVDs and illegal downloads and from the rapidly increasing penetration of Internet-connected TVs and consoles. The problem is that Studios want to make consumers collect digital entertainment the same way as DVDs or books, while consumers want low prices and the flexibility to view content on different devices.

This year a consortium called Digital Entertainment Content Ecosystem (DECE) was set up by the Studios, with the exception of Disney, to come up with a common set of formats and standards. Disney is working on "Keychest," which is based on cloud computing where content would be streamed and never downloaded, making it harder to pirate. Time Warner is promoting "TV Everywhere" which offers a vast array of television online and on devices - provided they are Time Warner cable customers. Other companies like Amazon, Apple and Netflix are also working on this conundrum — how to let consumers play content on various devices as their hearts desire without letting them share it on a pirate site.

TELEVISION STATIONS

Stations are presented alphabetically by state, city and call letters. Stations are listed within their assigned DMA (Designated Market Areas), as defined by Nielsen Media Research. DMA rankings are for the 2008-2009 television season that began September 27, 2008, and cover the 210 DMA's throughout the U.S. The switch from analog to all-digital TV broadcasts occurred mid-year 2009. Digital television promises greater channel capacity, higher quality picture and sound such as high-definition television (HDTV), and advanced programming like video-on-demand. Digital television also provides for the possibility of multiple channels, improved program guides and interactive capabilities. Viewers should check local listings for multicast channels in their viewing area.

CORPORATE HISTORIES OF THE NETWORKS

ABC, INC.

(AMERICAN BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

ABC's predecessor, the Radio Corporation of America (RCA) owned two radio networks, the Blue and the Red. In 1941, the FCC decreed that the same company could not own two networks, so RCA incorporated the Blue under the name of American Broadcasting System and established it as an independent subsidiary. RCA then sold this network to Edward J. Noble, and in 1944, the name was changed to the American Broadcasting Company. ABC's first television broadcast was on April 19, 1948 with "On the Corner." Later in the year, ABC scored two "firsts": the live broadcast of an opera (Verdi's "Othello") from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and a TV documentary, "The Marshall Plan." ABC merged with United Paramount Theatres in 1952. This merger was engineered by Leonard H. Goldenson, then the President of UPT. The new company was called American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc. During the 1950s, ABC began to operate at a profit although it had to struggle fiercely to acquire new affiliates. In 1954, ABC made a deal with Walt Disney to acquire a 35% interest in Disneyland and all TV programs produced by Disney. The following year, ABC signed an exclusive rights contract with Warner Bros. for TV programming.

In the Fall of 1962, ABC introduced color programming for the fall season which was expanded in 1966 to include full color broadcasting. In 1965, AB-PT's name was changed to American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. The 1960s also introduced blockbuster theatrical movies to TV with spectacular ratings results when "The Bridge on the River Kwai" was viewed (in 1966) by 60 million Americans. In 1937, the ABC evening news was expanded from 15 minutes to a half-hour, and Joey Bishop inaugurated ABC's late-night talk show programming.

In 1972, ABC was able to operate at a profit for the first time in ten years. In the 1976-77 season, ABC had its first win in the ratings race. In 1976, Barbara Walters joined ABC, becoming the first anchorwoman in television history. The mini-series "Roots" appeared on ABC in 1977 and became the highest-rated program of all time. This helped immensely in the ratings race, and credit must go in large part to Fred Silverman who, two years before, had joined the company as President of ABC International. He left in 1978 to go to NBC.

The decade of the Eighties was a turbulent one for the networks as cable and home video began whittling away their audiences. In 1985, ABC agreed to be purchased by Capital Cities Communications. The merged company's name was changed to Capital Cities/ABC, Inc. ABC held second place in the ratings from 1979 to 1983, when it dropped to third position. It was unable to rise from third until 1987-88 when it displaced CBS in second place, primarily because of the World Series and the Superbowl. It remained second in 1988-89 and 1989-90. In the latter season, ABC had the distinction of broadcasting the most talked-about new series of the period, "Twin Peaks," and the highest-rated new series, "America's Funniest Home Videos."

Daniel B. Burke replaced Frederick J. Pierce as President and COO. There were also sweeping reductions in personnel in the interests of economy and streamlining. Budget cuts notwithstanding, Capital Cities/ABC chairman Thomas Murphy pledged ABC would not scrimp on programming.

Profits at the end of 1990 rose about $70 million. Of the three networks, ABC won the ratings battle in news coverage of the war in the Persian Gulf. For two seasons in a row the network could boast having the only new series in the top ten: "America's Funniest People" (1990-91) and "Home Improvement" (1991-92). Capital Cities/ABC is a partner in ESPN, the highly successful cable TV sports channel, and two other cable TV services — Arts & Entertainment and Lifetime. ABC was the only network in the 1992-93 season to gain ground, moving into second place behind CBS, from its previous third place standing. During the season, Robert A. Iger became the new network President. The network was the first to sign a deal with a cable operator (in this case Continental Cablevision) allowing its stations to be carried on cable without paying a fee. In 1994, the company signed an affiliation deal with E.W. Scripps Company to switch several of their stations over to ABC.

The big event of 1995 was the $19 billion acquisition of Capital Cities/ABC by the Walt Disney Company, said to be the second largest corporate takeover in history. In 1997, Ted Harbert resigned as entertainment chairman of ABC after 20 years with the network. At the end of the 1996-97 season, "Roseanne," one of ABC's sitcom staples, was discontinued after nine years on the air. The producers of ABC's "Home Improvement" sued the program's distributor, Walt Disney, alleging that a $3 million-per-episode renewal was in essence a sweetheart deal benefitting Disney. A lawsuit against the ABC news program Prime Time Live by the supermarket chain Food Lion for trespass, fraud and breach of fiduciary duty was decided in favor of the supermarket by a North Carolina jury. Producers for the evening news magazine got themselves hired undercover as clerks by the chain in order to expose the sales of spoiled food and unsanitary food handling practices by Food Lion, which did not dispute the findings of the investigative report, but instead claimed that the practice of sending in undercover reporters constituted fraud.

ABC's ratings soared when it broke the news in January 1998 that sex allegations were made by intern Monica Lewinsky against President Clinton. Apparently continuing a trend started by the O.J. Simpson trial and elevated by the death of Princess Diana in September 1997, news proved very successful in attracting viewers. Despite its brief victory in the ratings war, the network was scheduled to go through a complete transformation for the 1998-99 season, after losing its number two slot among 18- to 49-year-olds to Fox. For the new season, the network introduced remakes of old shows such as "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "Fantasy Island," had "Sports Night" for male viewers, and aired about 20 made-for-TV movies and mini-series.

ABC finished third in the 1998-1999 ratings war, despite their relentless self-promotion and critical acclaim for new shows like "Sports Night." With the 1999 departure of the embattled Jamie Tarses, it remained to be seen whether ABC's next programmer would be able to resurrect the network's ratings.

ABC's only blue-chip program was Monday Night Football, for which Disney paid the NFL $9.2 billion through the year 2005. In July, 1999, in an effort to reduce programming expenses, Disney combined ABC with Disney's television-production studio in order to slot more shows made by Disney onto ABC's prime-time schedule.

In the 1999-2000 season, ABC hit the jackpot with its American spin-off of the British "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire." For the season ending May 24, "Millionaire" took the top three spots in the ratings with its Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday programs, garnering a 29-, 26- and 25-share respectively.

In the 2000-2001 season, "Millionaire's" popularity waned somewhat. Through Nov. 5, 2000, the show was averaging a 20 share, a significant drop. ABC depended on the show to anchor its programming and generate revenue. With spring upfront ad sales estimated at $1.2 billion, about half of ABC's revenue, ABC executives and advertisers had their fingers crossed.

After surging to number 1 in the 1999-2000 season with "Who Wants To Be A Millionaire," ABC saw its audience drop off, causing the network to fall to number 4 (behind NBC, CBS, and FOX) in overall ratings for the 2001-02 season.

Adding to the network's woes in 2001, ABC was reeling from the worst ad market in years. Buffeted by the Sept. 11 attacks, ABC, CBS and NBC collectively suffered a record loss of $880 million in advertising revenues for the third quarter, a slide of 28.6% from the same period in 2000.

ABC was stung by a number of high-profile disappointments in the fall 2001 season, including the not-so-funny comedies "Bob Patterson" and "What About Joan" which were cancelled. ABC then reallocated budget resources to develop about a dozen comedies aimed at helping the network recover its viewership in the spring of 2002. Also cancelled after only two weeks on the air was "America.01," the ABC News magazine devoted to covering the changes in the country after Sept. 11. The newsmagazine, which premiered on Nov. 2, was created in order to fill the gap left by reality show "The Mole," which was put on hiatus because of low ratings.

ABC Television Network ranked behind NBC and CBS for the 2001-02 season, and almost lost its third place spot in a ratings battle with FOX. In 2002-03, ABC expected to woo younger audiences with its new season of "The Bachelor."

The network had a few more programming building blocks in 2003-04, including the building "According to Jim" and "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teenage Daughter," which generated a lot of interest and ratings due to the untimely death of beloved actor John Ritter. ABC sold $2.3 billion of prime-time advertising up-front, which was 15% higher than 2002. Thanks to improvement at ABC, Disney's media operations, which include ESPN and the Disney Channel, brought in $841 million in operating profit for the period ending June 30th. Ratings for the first part of the new television season were flat to the previous year.

ABC overhauled its executive ranks during 2004. Ironically, the biggest hits of the new schedule including, "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Boston Legal" were picked by the very executives who were sacked, Lloyd Braun and Susan Lyne. Part of the network's problem had been the inability to find a scripted megahit on the order of "CSI" or "Law & Order." It looked like they have them. The opening week of November sweeps brought good news for ABC and broadcast television overall. "Lost" captured Wednesday and helped ABC be one of only two networks to show a ratings increase in key demos vs. 2003's opening week. (CBS was the other net showing improvement.) According to reports in "Variety," the combined six network 18-49 averages in the first week of the November sweep (19.0 rating/50 share) ranked ahead of the previous year (18.3/49), which was good news considering the steady flight of viewers to off-network programming.

On the primetime front, ABC earned the label for "big success story of the 2004-2005 season." Ratings for ABC shows moved the net into second behind CBS. Leading the turnaround were the Emmy-winning hits "Lost," "Desperate Housewives" and "Boston Legal," and surprise ratings hits from new offerings like "Grey's Anatomy." The network saw its advertising upfront take increase 30 percent to $2.1 billion for the 2005-2006 season, which was roughly a 3-5% increase over the previous season.

After more than 20 years of journalistic excellence and stability at its primetime news anchor desk, the ABC news division suffered a terrible loss Aug. 7, 2005, with the death of veteran newsmen and ABC World News Tonight anchor Peter Jennings. Jennings died from lung cancer at the age of 67. Jennings joined ABC news in Aug. 1964 and became the network's primetime news anchor and senior editor of "World News Tonight" in 1983. In more than 20 years in the position he was honored with almost every major award given to television journalists. Elizabeth Vargas and Bob Woodruff were named co-anchors of the broadcast in December 2005. In June 2006, ABC veteran journalist

Charles Gibson replaced both Woodruff and Vargas, after Woodruff was critically injured in January while on assignment in Iraq, and Vargas chose to step down to take maternity leave and later return to co-anchor "20/20" and ABC News specials.

The upfront ad sales for the primetime 2006-2007 season dispelled any doubt ABC's slump of the past several seasons was over. For the second consecutive year, ABC generated cost-per-thousand increases of 4-6 percent and overall sales growth of more than 30 percent, to $2.3 billion (excluding sports). Advertiser confidence was attributed to the net's returning hits "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Grey's Anatomy" anchoring ABC's nine new shows on the fall schedule. "Anatomy" moved from Sunday at 10 to Thursday at 9 to compete on a night that attracts top-ticket advertisers. The balanced programming blend of popular alternative series like "Dancing With The Stars" and "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition," fused with its comedy and drama offerings enabled ABC to nip at the heels of number one CBS.

In 2007 Disney reported higher operating earnings, driven by double digit growth in Media Networks, and also benefited from the acquisition of Pixar and the spin-off of the ABC Radio business. Anne Sweeney, Co-Chairman of Disney Media Networks and President of Disney-ABC Television Group since 2004 is responsible for all the company's entertainment and news television properties worldwide. During her tenure, ABC Studios has grown its product from 11 series three years ago to over 22 in 2008 on broadcast and cable. These series also appeared on a variety of other new media platforms including, Internet, VOD, broadband and mobile. ABC moved into first place among nightly newscasts with Charlie Gibson, and news content is available on ABCNews.com. During the year, The Disney Channel was cable's number one network among Kids 6-11 and Tweens 9-14. "Hannah Montana" and "High School Musical" were big hits.

Revenue and operating income of ABC parent, Disney, declined across all segments of the company in 2009 as tourism, advertising spending and other key segments of the economy continued to sputter. In January 2009, ABC merged ABC Entertainment and ABC Studios and put both under the control of Stephen McPherson who has been in charge of programming since 2004 and has steered a recent ratings turnaround. During the year, Disney-ABC Television Group cut 5% of its workforce. Diane Sawyer will take over the network's early-evening newscast from Charlie Gibson in January 2010.

CBS (COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

CBS began in 1927 as a radio network with 16 stations, United Independent Broadcasters, Inc., founded by Arthur Judson, a concert tour manager and backed by Louis Sterling, President of the Columbia Phonograph Company. Later other investors were invited in, the most prominent of whom was William S. Paley. On September 26, 1928, at the age of 27, Paley became President of the firm whose name was changed to the Columbia Broadcasting System. Paley introduced many innovations to radio broadcasting, the most significant of which was the signing of an agreement in 1931 with Paramount Pictures whereby film stars were heard on radio for the first time. This laid the groundwork for the CBS policy in television from the outset to feature shows built around stars (Ed Sullivan, Lucille Ball, Arthur Godfrey, Jack Benny, Burns & Allen, Garry Moore, etc.).

CBS was in TV as early as 1931 when it began regularly scheduled TV programming over experimental station W2XAB in New York City. In 1941, CBS began weekly broadcasts of black-and-white TV programming over WCBS-TV in New York. By 1948, it had 30 affiliated stations. In 1951, CBS broadcast the first live coast-to-coast TV transmission between New York and San Francisco. The year 1951 also marked the birth of the CBS Eye logo, designed by William Golden. It would stand the test of time and become one of the most famous logos in the world.

In 1952 CBS opened Television City in Hollywood — the industry's first self-contained TV production facility. "Playhouse 90" made its debut in 1956, but the big event of the decade was the 1951 debut of "I Love Lucy," a series regarded as the progenitor of the situation comedy. In the field of soap operas, CBS was both leader and winner, virtually monopolizing that market from 1951 to 1956. In 1951, it introduced "Search for Tomorrow," which was to become the longest-running show in that genre. This was followed by "Love of Life" (1951) and "The Guiding Light" (1952), both overnight hits.

In the late '50s and through the '60s and '70s, CBS reigned as king of prime-time ratings, maintaining its long-running lead with such successes as "Gunsmoke" (1957), "The Defenders" (1961), "The Beverly Hillbillies" (1962), "All in the Family" (1972) and "Dallas" (1978). Also helping was "60 Minutes," the news-oriented show which, by 1995, had remained in the Top 10 prime time shows for 18 consecutive seasons.

CBS began the turbulent '80s with a new President, Thomas Wyman (replacing John D. Backe).

In 1985, Ted Turner made an unfriendly bid for CBS, forcing the network to buy up 21% of its own stock to thwart the takeover. Laurence A. Tisch, a former theatre chain executive, had become the major stockholder in CBS when, in 1986, he instigated sweeping changes in the interests of cost-cutting and efficiency. Eliminated were 700 jobs at the CBS Broadcast Group. Tisch also removed Wyman as President, named himself CEO and induced founder William Paley to return to active duty as acting chairman of the board. It was quite a jolt to the company when, in 1985-'86, it slipped to second place and stayed there through the following season.

In 1987-'88 CBS came in third for the first time in TV history. In 1988, Tisch shuffled executive ranks again, naming Howard Stringer, previously President of CBS News, President of the Broadcasting Group. The networks new management team sought to devise a strategy to pull the network out of its decline in the prime-time ratings. Jeff Sagansky, former head of Tri-Star Pictures, was brought in as President of the entertainment division in 1990. Starting in 1991-92, CBS became the number one network for three years in a row based on the success of such shows as "60 Minutes" (the number one show for both 1991-'92 and 1992-'93), "Murphy Brown," "Murder She Wrote," and "Northern Exposure." CBS was hit hard by FOX's 1994 purchase of 12 stations from New World Communications, losing eight affiliates.

However, the following summer, Westinghouse Electric Corp. acquired the final independent network for $5.4 billion, creating the largest collection of TV and radio stations in America. The 1994-'95 season was a low point for the network as it plunged from number one to number three. By season's end, CBS had the dubious distinction of being the first of the three majors to fall into 4th place, coming in below FOX for the last week before the debut of the 1995-'96 season. In late 1995, the venerable news program "60 Minutes" and CBS came under fire for refusing to air a controversial segment on the tobacco industry. Critics of CBS alleged that the network capitulated to the threat of legal action, rather than actual litigation. During this season the network placed third again. In 1997 CBS station group President Peter Lund was replaced by CBS radio President, Mel Karmazin. Continuing the unpleasant trend of the previous several years, CBS continued to lose viewers in all age groups except the 60+. In the middle of 1998, Mel Karmazin made public the restructuring of CBS. Because of the network's failure to turn a profit, the radio and billboard companies which accounted for 60% of CBS' profits at the time, were to be transferred to Infinity, thereby making the TV operations easier to sell, if need be. Infinity Broadcasting was sold by Karmazin to CBS in 1996 after trying to buy the Eye's radio stations himself. Two years later, the company was several times its former size, and had the cash to grow even more as a result of the CBS deal. Although the CBS President denied considering a TV sale, others admitted that a sale was not ruled out. Because of the network's questionable future, President & CEO of CBS TV, Leslie Moonves, was pressured to deliver successful prime-time programming for the 1998-'99 season. With the end of expensive shows such as "Cybill" and "Murphy Brown," Karmazin announced that the fall's lineup was considerably less costly than the previous year's. And, with shows such as "King of Queens" and "L.A. Docs" scheduled for the fall, analysts foresaw the possible resurrection of CBS.

In 1999, CBS merged with Viacom. Viacom paid $37 billion in stock for the network, making the combined company the third largest media group in the U.S. Mel Karmazin became the President & COO of Viacom under Chairman Sumner Redstone.

CBS came in first in the 1998-'99 ratings war, but still had a viewing demographic older than the 18-49-year-old group prized by advertisers. Many of its new shows, however, did attract a younger audience.

CBS renewed its contract for men's NCAA basketball, securing the lucrative franchise through 2013.

In the 1999-2000 season, CBS edged out NBC for second place in the ratings war.

CBS was number one in overall ratings for the 2000-2001 season and was ahead in November sweeps for 2001-2002. However, like the rest of the networks, CBS was affected by the September 11th terrorist attacks. Without placing an exact number on advertising losses, Viacom President and COO Mel Karmazin said that the attacks resulted in a "considerable increase in costs at CBS News." He also said the network would lose additional revenue from the cancellation of NFL games, rescheduling the Emmy Awards twice, and the delay of the fall season.

CBS continued to have the oldest demographic of the networks but attracted younger viewers and the all-important advertising dollars that come with them by way of "Survivor," its very popular reality show.

CBS placed second behind NBC in the 2001-02 TV ratings race after winning the rank of top-rated network for the 2000-01 season (barely edging the previous year's winner ABC).

The Tiffany network turned 75 in 2003 and was usually the leader in total viewers. In spite of CBS' reputation, series such as Jerry Bruckheimer's two "CSI" series, "The Amazing Race," and "Cold Case" brought more young viewers, but dependables like "60 Minutes" and "Everybody Loves Raymond" continued to make CBS the most traditional of the broadcast networks. Les Moonves pulled a Ronald Reagan miniseries in November after public outcry and a conservative backlash and used repeats of the two "CSI" series and "Without a Trace" to fill the holes.

CBS only launched five new shows for the Fall 2004 Season including "CSI: NY," reflecting their ratings strength during 2004. All of these five benefitted from strong leads, with the exception of the "CSI: NY," brand extension, which faced and did extremely well against "Law & Order" on Wednesday nights. CBS opened the November sweep with a record shattering performance, winning Thursday by its largest margin in viewers, adults 18-49 and adults 25-54 since 1987, according to Nielsen preliminary affiliate-based ratings for Nov. 4.

Also during 2004, CBS' parent, Viacom, Inc., saw the departure of pres. and COO Mel Karmazin and the promotion of CBS chief Les Moonves, to co-Pres. and co-COO of Viacom, alongside Tom Freston. Moonves still oversaw the network which continued to deliver solid revenues. At this time Viacom's TV operations included: CBS & UPN television networks and stations; television production and syndication. During the third quarter of 2004, these operations saw revenues increase 5 percent to $2.0 billion from $1.9 billion, and operating income increase 7 percent to $389 million from $362 million. Growth was attributed to advertising revenue increasing by approximately 4 percent. Solid programming, increasing revenues and a stable management team allowed CBS to continue its winning ways with viewers, advertisers and corporate shareholders.

Although lasting longer than many celebrity marriages, the 1999 union of CBS and Viacom amicably ended by 2006. Viacom Chairman and CEO Sumner Redstone initiated in June 2006 a break-up of the company into two separately traded entities to be known as Viacom, Inc. and CBS Corporation. Citing the demise of the corporate conglomerate, Redstone introduced the split to unlock value to shareholders, with the new companies split along lines strikingly similar to those before the 1999 merger. The new CBS Corporation included the CBS and UPN networks, the Viacom TV station group (soon renamed CBS TV Stations Group), the Infinity Broadcasting radio unit, Viacom Outdoor, the CBS, Paramount and King World TV production operations as well as Showtime, book publisher Simon & Schuster and Paramount Parks. Post-split, CBS Corporation continued to be run by Leslie Moonves. Company execs forecast the new CBS would generate a strong cash flow and would return capital to stockholders through dividend payments and stock repurchases.

CBS Broadcasting placed first in the 2004-05 TV ratings race and negotiated ad revenues for 2005-2006 from a position of power. CBS Sales President JoAnn Ross indicated CBS would sell just under 80 percent of its total prime-time ad inventory, about the same as for the 2004-2005 season, at cost-per-thousand increases of 4-5 percent. She anticipated the network would take in between $2.5 and $2.6 billion when all ad sales for the season were completed. CBS, fighting for younger viewers after years of being viewed as the network watched by an older audience, made strides in the youth market. It saw more ad dollars targeted to younger viewers in the 2005-2006 season, with agencies pumping ad dollars into shows like the Emmy-winning reality hit "The Amazing Race." Freshman shows already renewed for a full second season in 2006 included "How I Met Your Mother," "Criminal Minds" and "Ghost Whisperer." Among returning staples were "CSI," which had been a runaway hit since its introduction, and its spinoffs "CSI: Miami" and "CSI: NY"; "NCIS"; "The King of Queens," for a sixth season; "Two And A Half Men"; and "Survivor." Altogether, CBS programming strategy lured more viewers to CBS than any of the broadcast networks.

Dan Rather retired his post as evening news anchor after 24 years in the job, and after much speculation about his replacement, CBS secured the services of the ever-popular Katie Couric of NBC "Today Show" fame. She left the peacock network to join CBS in September 2006. According to reports, Couric drew more than 10 million viewers to "CBS Evening News" in her first week. Since then, ratings have fallen behind NBC and ABC, though compared with last year CBS has gained while the others are down. For the week of Oct. 16, Evening News drew 7.6 million viewers; NBC, 8.7 million; ABC, 8.5 million.

On the advertising front, CBS, and all the broadcast networks, faced a negative upfront market for the second straight year. Ad spending was down with clients moving money to other media. Yet, media reports showed CBS escaping the spring upfront market as the leader in overall sales, with $2.4 billion — even with its total last season. The network achieved low single-digit CPM increases.

In 2007 CBS operated the broadcast network, 200 owned and/or affiliated television stations, 144 radio stations and Simon & Schuster. After the split from Viacom, primetime programming is the heart of the company, driving profits at the TV station group. Programming accounted for $400 million of the company's $2.6 billion in operating income, but declined 1% in the first six months of 2007. CBS' television division, including stations and syndication, generated $1.8 billion of that number. Despite repeated stock buybacks and increases in the company's dividends, which have kept the stock price strong, Wall Street has been questioning whether Les Moonves will be able to continue in first place given that some of the hits such as "CSI" will keep losing the key 18-49 demographic. Moonves remains optimistic and cites the huge growth in international program sales as being the "lifeblood" of the network. Expanded distribution in new media channels by CBS' hot primetime shows will generate significant and increasing earnings in the years to come.

Leslie Moonves says the purchase of CNET, on June 30, 2008, instantly made CBS a "major player" in the digital realm. CBS aims to leverage its purchase of the technology network to shift the company away from being an "old media company": From entertainment, news and sports to technology, games and business, the combination of CBS and CNET Networks gives the company the content and scale to be leaders on a platform that is gaining audience share faster than any other. In addition to greatly expanding its size, CBS Interactive is now a top five premium content ad supported network; the number one technology network, led by CNET.com; and the number two entertainment and sports network for men 18-34. Its unparalleled collection of sites will be an extremely powerful vehicle for advertisers to reach highly attractive demographics. Since the split with Viacom, CBS has spent $2.6 billion on acquisitions (including CNET) and $2.3 billion on divestitures, including theme parks and radio. In July 2008, CBS announced it was selling 50 radio stations representing roughly $300 million in annual revenue or about 15 percent of the radio division's revenue. Following the divestitures, CBS will own about 90 radio stations.

The continued economic slowdown in 2008 in the United States adversely affected advertising revenues across CBS' businesses, primarily at the local level, and the effects of the U.S.' financial crisis would continue to cause further declines in advertising spending. As a result of these market conditions, the Company revised its 2008 full year business outlook for both adjusted operating income before depreciation and amortization ("OIBDA") and adjusted operating income to a decline of mid-teens versus 2007.

In 2009, National Amusements, the Redstone family movie theatre company that also serves as a vehicle to control Viacom and CBS, announced it would sell nearly $1 billion worth of shares in the two media companies to pay down its large debt load, $500 million of which was due at the end of October 2009. Sumner Redstone's debt problems came to light last year when the company was forced to sell more than $200 million worth of stock after it breached the terms of loans that were tied to the value of CBS and Viacom shares, both of which fell sharply amid the general decline in the market. After the sale Redstone will retain control of CBS and Viacom with 75 percent of the voting stock in each company, although his total ownership of the entities is down to the single digits.

CBS was the most watched broadcast network during the 2008-2009 season and the only one whose audience increased - up 12% from the year before, compared to an average 7% decline for the other major networks. To this date CBS still does not stream its primetime content on

Hulu as the other networks do but does stream on its own site, TV.com. Ironically, the scandal surrounding David Letterman that erupted in the Fall of 2009 cinched his largest ratings victory ever over the "Late Show."

THE CW

Warner Bros. and CBS Corporation stunned the TV world when it announced in Jan. 2006 it would replace the WB and UPN networks in the fall with a combined network dubbed "The CW." Maybe stunned is too strong a word. Both UPN and the WB had struggled to deliver the kind of results coveted by corporate investors. Joining forces seemed the logical course for CBS Corporation, UPN's owner, and for Time Warner, The WB's parent co. With a 50 percent stake each in the new network, The CW ("C" for CBS and "W" for Warner Bros.) would cull the best programs from its old networks, trim overhead and reinvigorate programming for the 18-34 age group. John Maatta, former COO of the WB, became COO of The CW, and Dawn Ostroff, former UPN chief, became The CW's president of entertainment. The new network hit the airwaves in September 2006 with a lineup of shows that included UPN's "America's Next Top Model," "Veronica Mars," its ever-popular World Wrestling Entertainment's "Smackdown" on Friday nights and WB programs "7th Heaven," "Smallville" and "the Gilmore Girls," among others. The programming strength of the combined networks was a major draw to station owners seeking affiliation with The CW.

Media reports from the spring advertising upfronts, revealed The CW booked about $625 million in upfront commitments for its inaugural season. The network began operations in September 2006 with programming from UPN and The WB and premiered "America's Next Top Model."

After the 2007 upfronts, CW tried to build anticipation for the new fall shows but did not schedule any original content except "Hidden Palms," during the summer. The lack of summer originals lost the modest momentum from the regular season. Unfortunately, the fall shows did not do as well as expected. Advertisers were excited by CW's 18-34 target demo, but after the fall premieres that audience went down 23% to last year. Dawn Ostroff, president of entertainment, was encouraged by the new "C3" rating system that includes DVR viewers for up to three days after the initial broadcast and which show that many of their shows are gaining 20% using this measure. Another reminder that the CW's young audience is more likely to watch their shows in non-traditional ways is that "Gossip Girl" ranked among the top shows sold on iTunes during the year.

The laggard in the upfront market among the big broadcasters was The CW. After it suffered the largest ratings decline of the five networks in the 2007-2008 season, its upfront sales for 2008-2009 fell to an estimated $350 million to $380 million, from as much as $625 million in the upfront market last spring. It should be noted, however, that the CW upfront market for 2007-2008 included Sunday and the market for 2008-2009 did not, which shrank the CW schedule to 10 hours a week, from 15 hours. (CW is on from 5 to 10 p.m. on Sunday and from 8 to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday.)

The two-hour premiere of "90210" in the Fall of 2008 gave the struggling CW some of its best ratings ever, with a total of 4.9 million total viewers. "90210," which follows new characters alongside such regulars from the old series as Jennie Garth and Shannen Doherty, gave the CW its highest-rated night ever for a scripted series in the key demographic of adults aged 18 to 49, with a 2.6 rating/7 share. The second season debut of "Gossip Girl" gave the CW a major ratings boost, helping the network earn its best Monday numbers in its two-year history in its target demographic of adults 18 to 34. In total viewers, "Gossip Girl" drew 3.4 million at 8 p.m., nearly matching the series' record of 3.5 million viewers set last year with the show's very first episode. At 9 p.m., the CW garnered 3.1 million viewers for "One Tree Hill."

The CW's focus on 18-to-34-year-old women continued to show some signs of success last season and in the Fall of 2009 with the growth of "Gossip Girl," the resurgence of "One Tree Hill," and the success of "90210" and "The Vampire Diaries." However, the CW has struggled in the ratings since its inception, leading to speculation that its owners, CBS and Warner Bros., might abandon the venture. Back in May 2009 the network announced that it was giving back five hours of time on Sundays to the affiliates, becoming a weeknight-only network. A majority of the affiliates are airing the MGM movie replacement package on Sundays.

FOX BROADCASTING COMPANY

Fox Broadcasting, a subsidiary of Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. and owner of Twentieth Century Fox, began broadcasting with the late night "Late Show with Joan Rivers" on October 9, 1986. The next year, on April 5, 1987, the fledgling network began prime-time broadcasts on Sunday nights only. The initial line-up consisted of "Married With Children" and "The Tracey Ullman Show," which featured animated interludes of a dysfunctional cartoon family named "The Simpsons." Three new shows were added in the following weeks, including "21 Jump Street," which helped launch the career of actor Johnny Depp. In July of that year, Fox launched a Saturday night prime-time line-up. From 1989 to 1993, the network steadily added programming and expanded its prime time coverage to a full seven nights a week. Originally the network aimed its programming at a young urban demographic. Particular attention was given to African American oriented programming, with comedy series such as "Roc," "Martin," "Living Single" and "In Living Color" (a weekly comedy-variety show which showcased not only the talents of Keenan Ivory Wayans and his brother Damon Wayans, but also comedian Jim Carrey). The youth market got its first soap opera with "Beverly Hills 90210," and its successful spin-off "Melrose Place." Fox consistently programmed "risky" shows, even in the face of boycotts, most notably aimed at "Married With Children" and "Beverly Hills 90210." The network, feeling strong about its programming, slotted "The Simpsons" against NBC's top-rated sitcom "The Cosby Show" in 1991.

The network was also actively pursuing sports programming. In 1993, Fox won the rights to NFL football for four years, including the rights to 1997's Super Bowl XXXI. In 1994, Fox acquired the rights to broadcast NHL hockey and in 1995, Fox signed an agreement with Major League Baseball to broadcast weekly games, the 1996, 1998 and 2000 World Series, and 1997 and 1999 All Star Games.

1994 saw the creation of FX Networks. In June, FX, a general entertainment basic cable network was launched, featuring marquee sports events, series and films. In October, FXM (Movies From Fox) was initiated to show Twentieth Century Fox films unedited and commercial free.

Also in 1994, Fox premiered "The X-Files," a fiction series dedicated to exploring the bizarre, the unusual and the paranormal, all with a slant aimed at conspiracy buffs. It took a season to achieve ratings success, but "The X-Files" became one of the most popular series on Fox and garnered a cult-like following. All of Fox's gutsy programming decisions and experiments paid off. In the 1994-'95 broadcast season Nielsen ratings, Fox finished ahead of pioneer network CBS. Fox beat CBS yet again in November 1995. On October 7, 1996, Fox launched the new Fox News Channel on cable.

With the appointment of Richard Cronin as President and CEO of the Fox Kids Broadcast network and Fox Family Channel, Fox began targeting young viewers with "quirky" programs. In its effort to increase its viewership by attracting young people, Fox hoped to also increase the number of older adults watching along with children. For the 1998-'99 season, Fox moved up its prime-time slot on the Fox Family channel to begin at 6:00 p.m. instead of 8:00 p.m., and introduced four new dramas and two comedies, catering to the age group Fox relied upon to push up its ratings. Fox continued to be the only network showing any real growth. Youth-oriented programming — the recipe for its past success—made up most of the 1999-2000 season. In 2000, Doug Herzog resigned as Fox entertainment President and his duties were assumed by Sandy Grushow. Fox cancelled the aging show "Beverly Hills 90210" for the 2000-2001 season, and pinned its hopes for a successful season on David E. Kelley's "Boston Public" and a slate of new shows aimed at the key 18-35 demographic. It also put a lock on Major League baseball for $2.5 billion, starting with the 2001 season. News Corp. agreed to buy the Chris-Craft station group by squeezing out UPN. Rupert Murdoch also said that the company would consider a Fox 2 network.

In the 2001 season, Fox placed in the top three, edging out ABC for the first time. Fox TV Chairman, Brian Mulligan, resigned unexpectedly in November. For 2001-2002, Fox continued to cater to its young demographic with returning shows and new programs aimed at hooking the teen and twenty-something audience. Fox also chose to pick up the controversial "Temptation Island" for a second season, drawing unfavorable reviews from media watchdogs and critics alike.

News Corp.'s TV revenue in 2003 was about flat to 2002 coming in at just over $1 billion. Higher profit at Fox's TV stations was offset by a ratings fall by Fox Broadcasting as it struggled to make up for the previous year's hit, "American Idol." The fall baseball series with a potential Red Sox-Cubs matchup and the Yankees, Marlins World Series led to strong ratings. "The Simpsons," "The Bernie Mac Show," "Malcolm in the Middle" and "Wanda at Large" continued to be stalwart performers.

Fox again tried something innovative and in 2004 launched a very ambitious summer schedule: two sitcoms, two dramas and two reality shows. Fox did this to introduce shows and build an audience before October baseball playoffs precluded the traditional September launch followed by all the broadcast nets for new fall shows. In all, Fox launched 15 new programs during the year. Fox headed into the fall with audiences happy with "Method & Red," "North Shore," "Trading Spouses" and "Quintuplets."

On November 12, 2004, Fox parent, News Corporation, completed its reincorporation from Australia to the United States. News Corporation, now a Delaware corporation, is the parent company of the News Corporation group of companies. News Corporation's primary share listing is on the New York Stock Exchange, under the ticker symbols NWS for Class B (Voting) Common Stock and NWS.A for Class A (Non-voting) Common Stock, and the shares trade on a regular-way basis. The News Corporation Limited had total assets as of June 30, 2004, of approximately US$52 billion and total annual revenues of approximately US$20 billion. News Corporation remains a diversified international media and entertainment company.

The network's move into the top three slot in the 2004-2005 season was led by the creative instincts of Fox Entertainment President Gail Berman. At the helm of Fox Ent. since 2000, Berman exited the network in March 2005 over stalled contract negotiations and became President of Paramount Motion Pictures Group. Fox brought in a strong replacement by immediately hiring Peter Liguori, who was pres. & CEO of News Corp.'s FX Networks since 1998. On his watch, Liguori grew cable's FX into one of the top five basic cable networks with critically acclaimed programs like "Nip/Tuck," "The Shield" and "Rescue Me." Liguori stepped into his new position on solid ground. Respectable ratings for such hits as "American Idol," "House" and "24" and in the 2004-2005 season provided the momentum for the network to continue garnering stable ad revenues even when the broadcast networks overall had seen more ad dollars go to cable programming. In the 2005-2006 season advertising upfront sales, Fox said sales would be $1.6 billion, the same as the previous year. Leading its ad revenues, Fox's enormously popular "American Idol" talent show brought in upwards of $700,000 for a 30-second spot — believed to be a new record for a regularly scheduled prime-time show. And the show didn't disappoint — viewers or advertisers. "Idol" regularly won its time slot and helped Fox take first place in the 18-49 age demo.

With The World Series on its programming docket again in Fall 2004, Fox continued to premiere shows off a traditional Fall TV calendar, a strategy it continues today. The network also has been bolstered by acquiring strong sports properties. Its broadcast of Super Bowl XXXIX in Feb. 2005 (New England Patriots 24 / Philadelphia Eagles 21) had the largest total audience in Fox history and the fifth largest in TV history—133.7 million Americans tuned in to the broadcast. The World Series, with the historic Boston Red Sox victory, averaged 25.4 million viewers across its four games, making it the most watched World Series on any network since 1995 and the most watched on Fox ever.

Although both Fox mega hits "American Idol" and a sixth season of real-time drama "24" weren't scheduled to air new seasons until January 2007, Fox Entertainment Pres. Peter Liguori's entertainment team marched into the fall 2006 season with a strong line-up. Animated Sundays on Fox continued with the 18th season of America's favorite dysfunctional family, "The Simpsons," along with "American Dad" and "Family Guy." Liguori joked in the press that the "The Simpsons" would outlast him at the network. So far, both remain firmly entrenched on the Fox landscape.

Remaining programming at the network included liberal doses of grit and reality. Hospital drama "House" received its life line into the 2007 season by continuing to provide life and death cases solved each week by an abrasive yet brilliant doctor whose lack of bedside manner gets overlooked because of his extraordinary life-saving abilities. The always popular crime and punishment shows also found a home at Fox. Fictional crime/legal dramas "Prison Break," "Standoff," "Bones" and "Justice" provided ample opportunity for viewers to find a favorite in the genre. Tracing the lineage of reality shows may bring you home to Fox. "Cops" entered its 19th season on the air and "America's Most Wanted" also neared the two decade mark and could boast on its website the arrest of more than 900 fugitives as a result of leads generated from the show. Additional reality fare at the net included the successful "Nanny 911," "Skating With The Stars" and "So You Think You Can Dance."

Fox was the first network to finish its upfront advertising deals and reported $1.8 billion in business and secured 2%-3% increases on cost per thousand (CPM) pricing, up from last year's $1.55 billion.

During 2007 Rupert Murdoch announced several major deals on behalf of News Corporation including: the intended purchase of Dow Jones, publisher of the Wall Street Journal, launch of the Fox Business Channel, acquisition of Liberty Media Corporation's 16.3% interest in News Corporation in exchange for the Company's interest in DirecTV, three regional sports networks and cash and also repurchased $1.3 billion of stock. During 2007 Peter Chernin restructured Fox Broadcasting, naming Peter Liguori Entertainment Chairman and appointing Kevin Reilly, from NBC, as president, entertainment. Currently Fox ranks first among 18-49 year old viewers.

News Corp. chief executive Rupert Murdoch told an investor conference in late 2008 that his media giant was making healthy gains in its cable-network and international operations, but Fox-owned TV stations would experience a 15% drop in revenue for the current fiscal year. He said, "Local TV [advertising] in this country is bad." He blamed a 40% drop in spending in the automotive category for TV stations. While the local ad economy was in the tank, Murdoch said broadcast-network advertising was holding up "incredibly" well, and added, "We've had almost no cancellations" of upfront ads. He said scatter prices advertisers pay were higher than rates in the buoyant upfront market. He also predicted that Fox would win its fifth straight primetime-ratings crown, saying that the settled Hollywood writers' strike delayed scripted shows on rivals.

As for basic-cable networks, Murdoch said the startup Big Ten Network college-sports joint venture lost $83 million in the prior fiscal year, but it would make a small profit in the current fiscal year after gaining wide carriage on cable systems. "That's a turnaround this year," he added. Murdoch also predicted that the nascent Fox Business Network will emerge as a success in three years. "We're very confident," he added.

In terms of future investment, News Corp. will focus on new digital media and emerging international countries and avoid traditional U.S. media supported by consumer advertising. As for why, he noted that the home-page ad spot on MySpace — which is owned by News Corp. and brokered by Google — sells for $500,000-$1 million per day.

Peter Chernin, who spent 13 years with News Corp., left his president & COO position in 2009. During his tenure, Rupert Murdoch used the cash flow from newspapers to get into television and film. Now the pattern has reversed with television and film providing the cash to get into print, most notably the $5.7 billion spent to acquire Dow Jones. It had been reported that Chernin disagreed with the Dow Jones deal. Murdoch picked Fox Searchlight head, Peter Rice, to run Fox Broadcasting, which displaced Peter Liguori. Fox has been number one in adults 18-49 throughout most of Liguori's four-year tenure which made his firing unexpected. Tony Vinciquerra, chairman of Fox Networks Group, now has operating control of Fox's TV network business. While other conglomerates have been consolidating network and studio units, Fox's restructuring underlined their desire to keep these units separate. Ironically, Peter Chernin is advising Comcast on their takeover bid for NBC.

ION TELEVISION (FORMERLY I & PAX TV)

August 31st, 1998 marked the debut of PAX TV, the nation's seventh and newest broadcast network committed to airing family-friendly programming that included original live-action series, daily entertainment and information shows, children's programming, as well as popular movies and off-network shows with proven audience appeal. PAX TV is a wholly-owned service of Paxson Communications Corp., a broadcasting company whose principal business is the ownership and operation of the largest broadcast television station group in the United States. Paxson Communications Corp. was an outgrowth of Paxson Broadcasting founded in 1991 by Lowell W. "Bud" Paxson, the co-founder and past President of the Home Shopping Network, Inc., who had been involved in the radio and electronic retailing business for nearly 40 years. Paxson Broadcasting, a Florida-based radio group, initially purchased four radio stations in the fourth quarter of 1991 which were AM/FM combos in Jacksonville and Tampa. Over the course of several years, the Company assembled a substantial statewide radio broadcasting group, and as a result of agreements it had in place on radio stations prior to the 1993 FCC rule change permitting radio duopolies, the Company was among the first to exercise its options and expand its duopoly holdings.

By 1994, the company sought to replicate in television its success in radio. Paxson looked to acquire two types of television properties: underperforming, undermanaged network affiliates and independent stations in major markets which broadcast long-form paid programming. In April, 1994, the company purchased the equipment and acquired an option to buy its first television property, an independent TV station in Miami. Paxson took his company public in November, 1994, through a reverse merger with the American Network Group, Inc., and subsequently moved the new company, Paxson Communications Corp., to the American Stock Exchange. By December of that same year, Paxson had owned or operated four stations, airing a variety of infomercial and long-form programming which by January 1995, became known as the Informal TV Network ("IN TV"). By purchasing independent television stations, entering into time-brokerage agreements, affiliating with stations and extending its broadcast reach on cable via "must carry" requirements, Paxson created a national television broadcasting distribution infrastructure providing long-form programming.

In March 1997, the Supreme Court upheld the "must carry" legislation, and as a result, all of the company's broadcast stations were suddenly viable as a network and would remain accessible to cable television audiences. In June 1997, the company sold its entire radio interest to Clear Channel Communications in a tax-advantaged transaction. Also in June, the company acquired The Travel Channel, an interest in which was in turn sold to Discovery Communications, Inc. later that year.

The company announced in November, 1997 that it would launch the seventh broadcast television network, at that time branded as PAX NET, on August 31st the following year. The network would feature off-network runs of popular shows including the CBS hit series, "Touched By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman," and "Diagnosis Murder," in addition to a number of original programs and theatrical and made-for-television movies.

Between the November announcement of PAX NET and the August 31st launch of PAX TV, the company acquired additional television stations and expanded its distribution through cable agreements. The company also added popular off-network and original shows, and hired a number of executives and hundreds of new employees. In May, 1998, the company announced the appointment of former CBS President, Jeff Sagansky, to the post of President and CEO and the election of William E. Simon, Jr. to the position of vice chairman for Paxson Communications Corp. Paxson also announced that the Simon family would make an equity investment in the company, and one month later, announced the completion of its offering of $275 million of Preferred Stock.

With PAX TV maintaining positive ratings, Paxson Communications Corp. continued to focus on enhancing the distribution of its network and the quality of PAX TV's programming.

In 1999, NBC bought a 32% stake in Paxson's stations, with an option to acquire control in 2002 for an additional $1.2 billion. Paxson stations, then without any news programming, became a likely candidate to carry NBC news as well as NBC programming in secondary timeslots.

In 2000, Paxson continued to do well with its off-network programming, including "Touched By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" and other family-friendly fare. Paxson reported a 25% increase in viewership in the first three weeks of the 2000-2001 season, and planned to continue with its slate of family-friendly programming augmented with made-for-tv movies.

Pax continued to enjoy growth in 2001, with its 2001-02 season off to a good start, showing a 57% increase in viewership over the previous year.

2002 was not so lucky, however. After NBC completed its acquisition of Telemundo, Paxson sued the network that holds a 32% stake of its company and then lost the subsequent arbitration action. Paxson's viewers also slipped with only one program, "Sue Thomas F.B. Eye" showing growth while its broadcast operations, as a whole, continued to post losses every quarter. In late 2002, Pax decided to close its Hollywood production and promotion offices, but with its significant station holdings remained on-air, despite its financial problems.

During 2003, Paxson owned and operated 61 broadcast TV stations, which reached all of the top 20 U.S. markets and 41 of the top 50. The company also owned family-oriented Pax Network, which reached roughly 94 million homes through its TV stations and distribution arrangements with cable and satellite systems and broadcast station affiliates. The company continued to struggle with a hefty debt load and ratings challenges at its program network.

Paxson's net revenues for the third quarter of 2004 (ending Sept. 30) increased 2.6% to $65.9 million, compared to $64.2 million for the third quarter of 2003. This increase was primarily due to increased revenues from long form paid programming. Still struggling to reduce debt and stay out of bankruptcy court, Lowell "Bud" Paxson, chairman and CEO, indicated the network continued to search for a program mix more appealing to advertisers. In that vein, Pax TV jumped on the reality series bandwagon and added two reality shows in Fall 2004: "Model Citizens" and "Cold Turkey." It also introduced two games shows, "Balderdash" (hosted by comic Elayne Boosler) and "On the Cover" (hosted by Mark Walberg).

Throughout 2005, Paxson Communications continued to explore ways to lower operating costs and improve financial liquidity. In presentations to investors early in 2005 it identified its strategic alternatives: find a third party to acquire the company or change control; find a partner to program its network and use the company's existing distribution system; sell assets; or consider a combination of these options. In March 2005, Paxson notified its joint sales agreement partners other than NBC Universal, Inc. ("NBC") that it would exercise its right to terminate the JSAs, effective June 30, 2005.

On June 28, 2005, Paxson announced the re-branding of PAX TV to i. The i brand reflected a network programming strategy to provide an independent broadcast platform for producers and syndicators who want to reach a national audience. Chairman and CEO Lowell "Bud" Paxson refuted rumors the network would switch to all long form paid programming and reiterated the network's plans to continue entertainment programming with shows like "Sue Thomas FB Eye," "Young Blades" and "Palmetto Pointe."

From August 2003 through March 2005 the company engaged Citigroup Global Markets Inc. to act as financial advisors to assess Paxson's business plan, capital structure and future capital needs, and to explore strategic alternatives for the company. Because no viable transactions were developed on terms deemed acceptable to shareholders, the engagement with Citigroup ended. The company continued to consider strategic alternatives, which included the sale of all or part of assets, finding a strategic partner to provide the financial resources to enable the company to redeem, restructure or refinance its debt and preferred stock, or find a third party to acquire the company through a merger or other business combination or through a purchase of Paxson equity securities. The company's principal efforts remained focused on improving core business operations and increasing cash flow.

A new logo, a new corporate name and new blood in top management reinvigorated the financially struggling Paxson Communications Corp. during 2006 (corporately known as ION Media Networks). The company tapped R. Brandon Burgess to be its new CEO in November 2005, succeeding company founder, Lowell W. Paxson who resigned as chairman & CEO and was named chairman emeritus. Burgess most recently served as executive v.p., business development & international channels for NBC Universal, which is also a stakeholder ION Media Networks. The corporate name change, effective with its board approval in June, was the beginning of healthy change for a company plagued by financial challenges. Burgess and top management never missed opportunities to remind the financial community and virtually anyone who would listen that the network "is the only broadcaster that reaches over 60 percent of U.S. homes through its own station group and over 83% with additional distribution through its cable and satellite platforms."

Realizing that infomercials and its current programming had not yielded the financial results it needed, change ensued on the content front. In June 2006 ION announced a programming agreement with Warner Bros. Domestic Cable Distribution, providing ION with the rights to broadcast popular movies and classic TV series from Warner Bros.' extensive library. In July, ION inked a similar programming alliance with Sony Pictures Television ("SPT") and rights to broadcast dozens of classic TV series and a large selection of award-winning feature films from the Sony library. Under the terms of the agreement, ION gained access to many of SPT's most popular TV series from the last three decades, including, "Charlie's Angels," "Stargate & Hutch" and "The Partridge Family," among others. In late October, ION further strengthened its content inventory by entering a strategic programming agreement with RHI Entertainment (formerly known as Hallmark Entertainment), for the broadcast of RHI Entertainment's extensive library of award-winning titles and select original programming. Under the terms of the agreement, RHI Entertainment serves as ION's exclusive TV programming supplier on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights for an initial two-year period beginning July 1, 2007. RHI will plan and program the 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. time periods, totaling 12 hours of programming per week, utilizing its catalog of over 1,200 titles, which have captured 448 Emmy Nominations, 103 Emmy Awards, 15 Golden Globe Awards and numerous Peabody, SAG, Christopher and Genesis Awards. The agreement also provides for the U.S. broadcast premiere of at least six new RHI productions each year. Company President & COO Dean Goodman resigned in late October. Burgess indicated other members of management would assume his duties and no replacement would be sought.

Currently, ION has 94 VHF and UHF owned and operated affiliate stations in the U.S and covers about 80% of primetime households through the television network and distribution arrangement with cable and satellite operators.

By 2008, ION Media Networks, Inc. owned and operated the nation's largest broadcast television station group and ION Television, which reached over 94 million U.S. television households via its nationwide broadcast television, cable and satellite distribution systems, and features popular TV series and movies from, CBS Television NBC Universal, Sony Pictures Television, Twentieth Television and Warner Bros., among others. The Company has launched several digital TV brands, including qubo, a channel for children focusing on literacy and values, and ION Life, a channel dedicated to active living and personal growth. It also has launched Open Mobile Ventures Corporation (OMVION), a business unit focused on the research and development of portable, mobile and out-of-home transmission technology using over-the-air digital television spectrum.

ION Television is aimed at the 25-54 demographic. At its 2008 sales presentation, Chairman and CEO Brandon Burgess, along with President of Sales and Marketing Stephen Appel, detailed upcoming programming plans. They introduced ION Television's new "positively entertaining" network slogan, showcased the new primetime lineup and touted the expansion of the network's programming block to 4 p.m.

On May 19, 2009, ION Media Networks, Inc., along with its affiliates, filed a voluntary petition for reorganization under Chapter 11 in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York. In July, United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York granted final approval for the company's $150 million debtor-in-possession financing being provided by a majority of its first lien senior secured lenders. The financing is consistent with the company's plan for growing its TV network through general audience appeal based on sustained investment in programming and digital technology. The company has secured the right to convert this financing into equity at its election, as part of an overall plan the company intends to complete in the near term.

In September, Ion Television reached a multiyear agreement with Warner Bros. Television Distribution, which gave the network access to multiple movies. "Criminal Minds" and "Ghost Whisperer" were added to the Ion Television lineup in 2009. In January 2009, the network announced that it had acquired broadcast rights to air the award-winning Canadian cable drama series "Durham County." "Reba" joined the Ion line-up in April. Most Ion programs now come from either 20th Century Fox Television or CBS Television Distribution.

MY NETWORK TV

A network born from necessity, MyNetwork TV came to life after two fledgling networks, UPN and The WB, decided to fold in an announcement made in Jan. 2006. The networks' owners, CBS Corporation and Time Warner, decided to take the best from each network's programming and staff, combine and start over with a new network: The CW. The scramble to affiliate ensued and quickly left several top TV station groups and numerous stations without a network affiliation and primetime programming.

Fortunately for small, newly unaffiliated stations and station groups, Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. TV Stations Group was also one of the groups left without a network affiliation for nine of its 35 properties. Luckier still, Murdoch's organization knows how to launch successful networks. Think Fox. Think Fox News Channel... Think F/X on cable and the National Geographic Channel, among Murdoch's other successful network launches. Think that maybe your station has a few options with Murdoch by your side. By February, News Corp. executives laid out a blueprint for a new broadcast channel/network/service — MyNetwork TV. The network would be anchored by the nine News Corp. stations abandoned by UPN's closing, and would welcome independents and other strong stations whose owners didn't like the terms of The CW affiliation agreement. Financially, many station owners found the MyNetwork TV affiliation terms more attractive than The CW's. The biggest advantages to station owners signing with MyNetwork TV were the absence of programming fees and generous air time for advertising — up to nine minutes of ad time per hour.

At launch, MyNetwork TV could boast coverage on stations covering about 96 percent of the country. Its programming consisted of 12 hours of original content per week, airing between 8 and 10 p.m. It introduced two hour-long dramas, "Desire" and "Fashion House" from co-owned Twentieth Television. The short drama series, in essence primetime soap operas, aired five days a week, with Saturday recaps. MyNetwork TV's formula entailed running non-stop originals that concluded every 13 weeks with a high-intensity finale and were based on the telenovela format made popular on Spanish-language networks.

With MyNetwork TV's blueprint, its affiliated stations will have fresh programming 32 weeks a year. Shows in development include reality programs "Catwalk," "Celebrity Love Island," "Transformed," and "America's Brainiest," as well as "On Scene," the last a Fox News-produced magazine. MyNetwork TV plans to succeed where UPN and The WB failed by keeping costs down. Telenovelas cost around $100,000-$120,000 per episode, far less than program development costs reported at other U.S. networks: $2.3 million per episode for non-serialized dramas and roughly $1.3 million per episode for sitcoms. Another key to profitability at the network level is MyNetwork TV's use of strip programming. Strips not only can be cheaper to make but also cheaper to market. MyNetwork TV promoted only two shows, not the 15+ a conventional network must promote. Ratings for "Fashion House" and "Desire" were extremely dismal after their launch. According to Nielsen Media Research, through October, a little more than a million viewers tuned in to watch each episode per night. Yet, MyNetwork TV executives remained optimistic and were convinced the format would work in the U.S. if given sufficient time.

In 2007 the ratings for MyNetwork were still dismal, and the risky strategy of telenova strip serials programming did not pan out. News Corporation hired Greg Meidel, formerly of Paramount, Fox and Universal TV, in January 2007. He promptly ended the telenovas and put together reality shows and specials from the Fox archives. The network has already had some success with "Celebrity Expose," "The Academy" and "Jail." The rest of the schedule included "NFL Total Access" and movies on Thursdays and Fridays.

From the very start, MyNetwork TV has improvised its programming. Its first choice was to rely on serials in the style of Spanish TV's telenovelas. When that did not work, it went to reality series and movies. Its biggest break came when World Wrestling Entertainment's "Smackdown," a UPN staple that had wound up with the CW, moved to MyNetwork TV for the 2008-09 television season.

However, MyNetwork TV announced this year that it will no longer be a network. With the beginning of the 2009-2010 TV season, it embraced a programming-service business model. The new MyNetwork TV will continue to include pro wrestling's "WWE Friday Night Smackdown" and a movie night. It also included two "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" reruns per week from NBC Universal Domestic Television Distribution. Greg Meidel, president of MyNetwork TV, stated, "We have blown up that traditional model and come up with an innovative approach that is basically an advertiser-supported model, almost like syndication, where we acquire programs from various suppliers on an advertiser-supported basis." MyNetwork TV has realized considerable audience growth in both households and among advertiser-coveted viewers age 18 to 49. In that demographic, it is now the 10th most-popular network.

NBC UNIVERSAL

NBC was an outgrowth of Radio Corp. of America, General Electric and Westinghouse. These three companies jointly launched a network in 1926 with 31 stations, 25 in a network called Red and 6 in a network called Blue. A year later, it was forced to sell the Blue network to ABC, keeping for itself the one known as Red. Television began for NBC in 1928, when on April 4, it acquired from the FCC a permit to operate an experimental station, W2XBS. Actual transmission from the Empire State Building did not begin until October 30, 1931. Eight years later, the network began broadcasting on a regular basis, beginning with the opening of the New York World's Fair on April 30, 1939.

NBC became a TV network on January 12, 1940, when two stations, WNBC-TV, New York, and WRGB-TV, Schenectady, New York, carried the first network programming. In June, 1941, the FCC granted NBC the first commercial TV license and a month later it had four advertisers signed up. After World War II, NBC scored two big "firsts." On June 19, 1946, Gillette became the first advertiser to sponsor a TV network show, the Joe Louis-Billy Conn boxing match. That same year, Bristol-Myers became the first sponsor of a network TV series, "Geographically Speaking." NBC can also claim to be the first to introduce coast-to-coast network TV coverage. On September 4, 1951, when the U.S.-Japanese peace treaty was signed in San Francisco, NBC cameras were on hand. In 1952, NBC pioneered early-morning programming when it introduced "The Today Show." NBC can also claim the first regularly scheduled network color series "The Marriage," launched in 1954. That same year it achieved the first west-to-east TV transmission with the telecast of the Tournament of Roses Parade in color. At the start of the 1965-66 season, NBC declared it was the "only all-color network." In 1968, NBC introduced new forms of TV programming with "The Name of the Game," a series that incorporated feature-film elements into a 90-minute show. This then spawned the "NBC Mystery Movie."

In 1972, NBC broke new ground again when it introduced "The Tomorrow Show" shown from 1:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. This was a talk program and it demonstrated that in the early hours of the morning something more than re-runs and old movies could be shown. In 1974, another late-night show called "Weekend" was begun. The 1976 NBC telecast of "Gone with the Wind" drew the largest audience to that date for an entertainment program. In 1978, "Holocaust" attracted 107 million viewers and won 21 major awards. Such programs helped NBC in the ratings, but in 1976-77 it fell to third place, where it stayed until 1983-84. Along with the other networks, NBC moved into a period of turmoil during the decade of the 80s, fighting off rising costs and competition from cable TV and home video. In 1986, General Electric Corporation purchased RCA (NBC's parent) for $6.28 billion; GE, it will be remembered, helped launch the radio network in 1926 which led to the development of NBC-TV.

This brought personnel changes led by the replacement of Grant A. Tinker as NBC chief executive officer by Robert Wright, although Wright was not given Tinker's chairman title; that being taken by John F. Welch of GE. Instead, Wright was named President as well as chief executive officer. Along with its competition, NBC started cutting staff and budgets in 1986. In 1984-85, NBC edged up to second place, and the following year it was ranked number one in prime-time viewing for the first time in the three decades of Nielsen ratings.

NBC held on to its first place standing for the following five seasons, through 1990-91. Long-time hit series in the five-year period included "The Golden Girls," "Cheers," and "The Cosby Show." Despite the network's number one standing, figures showed a steady decline in viewers. In May of 1991, Brandon Tartikoff, credited with pulling the network up from third place 11 years earlier, departed from NBC to become head of Paramount Pictures. When "The Cosby Show" ran its final first run episode on April 30, 1992, it became NBC's highest-rated series finale episode ever. The 1992 Summer Olympics also gave the network its widest ratings margin of all time. The 1994-95 season found NBC on top with its popular sitcom "Seinfeld" and the two most highly rated new series, "ER" and "Friends," both placing in the top ten. During the 1995-96 season, NBC was again ranked the number one network, with four of its Thursday night shows ranking in the overall top five. In the summer of 1996, NBC, in association with software giant Microsoft, launched a 24-hour cable and Internet news channel, MSNBC.

In October 1997 the networks adopted an updated "voluntary" ratings system that uses the letters S, V, D, L, SV, which stand for sex, violence, suggestive dialogue, strong language and non-comedic fantasy violence in addition to the age rating. Only NBC and Black Entertainment Television refused to use the new system. Despite pressure from the White House, Congress and advocacy groups, the network had said that the ratings tread on its First Amendment right, and that there was no public outcry for the new system.

With its star show "Seinfeld" going off the air, NBC was faced in 1999 with the seemingly impossible task of finding a replacement. The network did manage to keep "ER," its other highly successful show, albeit at a draining cost of $13 million per episode. Keeping in line with the demand for news television, NBC's Dateline showed 6½ hrs. of programming about Princess Diana and her fatal accident.

In mid-1999, NBC had to ante up again to keep a hit show. The contract for "Friends" was renewed through 2002 at a cost of approximately $5 million per episode. In spite of NBC's attempts to rally after the loss of "Seinfeld," the network slipped to second place behind CBS in 1999. Ratings for its new prime-time shows did not look promising and the network needed another hit of the magnitude of "Seinfeld" to bring "Must See TV" back into American homes.

NBC had a tough year in 1999-2000, coming in third for the season. Perhaps worse than the ratings tumble were the embarrassing numbers during the Sydney Olympics. Various reasons for the poor viewership were cited, including the tape-delay that made it possible to get real-time Olympic results everywhere but NBC. In an effort to boost ratings, NBC executives demanded that Nielsen exclude the first half-hour of the Olympics' prime-time broadcast (7:00-7:30) from its calculations. That gambit did bring up numbers somewhat, but it's unlikely that the same tack will work during the primetime season which, with a few exceptions, looked dry.

In 2001-02, NBC faced the prospect of the Winter Olympics and the effect they would have on ratings. Elsewhere, NBC expanded the successful "Law and Order" franchise to include a third program, "Law and Order: Criminal Intent." Even with longtime hits like the original "Law and Order," "Friends," and "ER," NBC placed third in the 2000-01 ratings war. 2001 also saw the failure of NBC's attempt to become a force on the Internet with its NBC Internet (NBCi) venture. The company bought the 61% of NBCi it didn't already own and folded its operations. NBC now plans to court Hispanic viewers through its agreement to purchase Telemundo for $1.98 billion.

NBC took the top spot over CBS in the 2001-02 season ratings. The network improved its ratings in the 2001-02 season, after placing third in the 2000-01 season.

NBC remained the top network in adults 18-49 with the start of the 2003 fall season, as they have in eight of the last nine years. However, there is some concern about the future. Powerhouse programs "Friends" and "Frasier" ended in 2004 and NBC might have become overly dependent on the "Law & Order" franchise with its spin-offs; "Special Victims Unit" and "Criminal Intent. With a third spinoff on the way and reruns of the other three running nonstop on TNT and USA, it is hard not to think that NBC may be making the same mistake ABC did with "Millionaire." The big financial news of 2003 for NBC happened when parent General Electric Co. announced a deal to acquire the entertainment assets of Vivendi Universal SA, which includes Universal Studios and Universal Television, where Dick Wolf, the "Law & Order" creator is based.

Formed in May 2004 through the combining of NBC and Vivendi Universal Entertainment, NBC Universal is 80%-owned by General Electric, with 20% controlled by Vivendi Universal. The new NBC Universal hoped for the best when filling its 2004 fall lineup. Gone were perennial favorites "Friends" and "Frasier." The network relied heavily on the strength of returning dramas, reality programming and "Friends" spinoff, "Joey," to make it through November sweeps. During Nov. (primetime ratings week of Nov. 8-14) NBC finished a strong number two among adults 18-49 as "Fear Factor," "Las Vegas," "The Biggest Loser," "The West Wing," Friday's "Dateline NBC," "American Dreams" and "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" all set or equaled their season highs in 18-49, according to in-home viewing figures from Nielsen Media Research. Also in 2004, NBC news anchor Tom Brokaw announced he would retire from the network after 38 years on the job.

NBC was caught with the cupboard bare in the 2004-2005 season after losing "Friends," and program fare which included aging program leftovers from seasons past. The once fresh "Will and Grace" saw waning viewer interest as did "ER" and "The West Wing." And new shows did not live up to expectations. "Friends" spin-off "Joey" couldn't match the ratings of its parent, and the program barely got renewed for a second season. A poor showing for other new shows "LAX," "Father of the Pride" and "Hawaii" only added to the troubles which landed NBC in a dismal fourth place — both in total viewers and in the coveted 18-49 age demo — behind CBS, ABC and FOX.

NBC Universal saw its revenue fall 26 percent from a year earlier, when it benefited from advertising from the summer Olympics in Athens. Going into advertising upfront sales in mid-2005, NBC sales execs braced themselves for a tough sell. NBC Universal parent, General Electric, forecast earnings at NBC Universal to be flat in 2006, hurt by soft ratings from its network prime-time TV line-up. To secure commitments from major advertisers for the fall season, NBC found itself cutting prices by at least 2% and in some cases more. The industry forecast advertisers would shift between $500 million and $700 million away from NBC in the 2005-2006 season, slashing its ad take to $2.2 billion. NBC Universal Television Group President Jeff Zucker acknowledged a long climb ahead. Yet, NBC's new programming, with the promising hit "My Name Is Earl," along with "Surface" and "Three Wishes" wasn't likely to fuel the kind of surprise revival ABC experienced last season with "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Grey's Anatomy."

After seeing operating profit fall 10 percent in each of the past three quarters, NBC Universal announced in October 2006 plans to cut costs at the network by $750 million by the end of 2007. NBC Universal's parent, General Electric, saw the TV unit's slumping results dip into GE earnings. Network cuts will take the form of a 5 percent staff reduction, a reduction of scripted shows and a move toward cheaper reality programming and substantial cuts to its news budget.

Despite financial woes at the peacock network, NBC's early fall ratings illuminated a couple shining stars. "Heroes" was a big hit on Monday nights. Tuning in to the recent popularity of movies based on comic book heroes, NBC's "Heroes" showcases characters with super powers, a formula successful in attracting coveted viewers in the 18-49 demo. Through mid-October, "Heroes" pulled in about 13.5 million viewers a week. Another "new" hit show bolstering the network is Sunday Night Football. The fall telecast, which aired on ESPN last year and which delivered to NBC an average of 17.7 million viewers, made the prime-time football telecast the sixth most-watched show. NBC finished even in the ad upfronts with $1.9 billion, but to get there had to slash cost per thousand about 5% and increase volume. Thanks to Sunday Night Football, NBC got a much-needed cash infusion taking in between $200 and $300 million in the upfronts for the sports franchise. Viewers should stay tuned to see how $750 million in cuts will affect the quality of shows airing on NBC throughout the year.

Jeff Zucker was promoted to President and CEO of NBC Universal in February 2007, replacing Bob Wright, who held that position for 21 years. During Zucker's previous job, NBC tumbled from first place to fourth in primetime. Profits fell 6% and NBC Universal was the only GE unit posting a decline. However, ratings are up 36% at MSNBC and 76% at CNBC and NBC acquired female-focused Oxygen for $925 million in October. Fortunately, the network can still rely on the NFL games on Sunday and the surprise hit of last year, "Heroes." Surprisingly, NBC did not change its Thursday night lineup and although "The Office" and "30 Rock" are favored by the critics, they have not enjoyed much ratings success. This is important because movie studios and other consumer product companies are heavy advertisers on Thursday night to make strong impressions before the weekend. Much of the rest of the NBC schedule relied heavily on reality shows that have not been particularly well received.

The 2008 Beijing Olympic Games were far beyond NBC's expectations. The Games drew an average audience of about 30 million a night on NBC itself, millions more on NBC's cable channels, 30 million unique visitors to NBC's Olympics website, 6.3 million shared videos from the coverage streamed on the site and an ultimate profit that network executives project will surpass $100 million.

When GE reported third-quarter earnings on Oct. 10, NBC Universal was one of the few bright spots, with revenue up 35% from a year earlier to $5.07 billion and profit that increased 10% to $645 million. The results were driven largely by the unit's cable channels, theatrical films and the Olympics. It was the first double-digit profit growth at NBC Universal in three years.

The signs that the national advertising market was weakening were apparent in the Fall of 2008. Apart from the strong performance of its news and live-event programming, NBC had a disappointing autumn. It averaged 14.5% fewer same-night primetime viewers between 18 and 49 years old compared with same point in the previous season, and the network failed to generate any new primetime hits. The network finished in fourth place among the top-five English-language broadcasters for the last four seasons.

NBC Universal's cable portfolio was a bright spot in 2008, with strong performance across the board, including from Bravo and recent acquisition Oxygen. Through Sept. 28, for instance, USA Network averaged 6% more primetime viewers than at that point in 2007, and Sci Fi (rebranded Syfy) was up 8%, according to Nielsen Media Research.

Respected and beloved NBC anchor, Tim Russert, died during the year.

NBC Universal said it would shave $500 million from its 2009 budget, in a new sign that the broader economic crisis would likely take a stiff toll on the media sector. The General Electric Co. unit, which includes broadcast and cable-TV networks, local television stations and a movie studio, said the cuts would amount to 3% of its 2009 budget.

However, NBC has remained in fourth place, ahead of the CW. In 2008-2009, no new primetime hits emerged (despite NBC's rare good fortune to have both the Super Bowl and the Olympic Games in which to promote their new offerings), while "Heroes" and "Deal or No Deal" both collapsed in the ratings.

In 2009, five years after Comcast's failed bid for the Walt Disney Company, Brian L. Roberts is looking to NBC Universal to fulfill his dream of turning his cable company into a major media conglomerate. Comcast is in negotiations with General Electric to merge Comcast's programming assets with NBC Universal. The broad outline of the deal would give Comcast 51 percent of NBC Universal. Comcast would contribute its own programming assets, which include several sports networks, and cash, in the $6 billion to $7 billion range, to the new venture. G.E. would contribute about $12 billion of debt, and would own 49 percent of the company. G.E. owns 80 percent of NBC Universal; Vivendi, the French conglomerate, owns the other 20 percent. G.E. is in negotiations with Vivendi to buy its 20 percent stake, a remnant of a 2004 deal between Vivendi and G.E.

During the Summer Ben Silverman stepped down as co-chairman of NBC Entertainment and Universal Media Studios and was replaced by Jeff Gaspin, who was named chairman of the combined new division, NBC Universal Entertainment.

When Conan O'Brien replaced Jay Leno as host of The Tonight Show in 2009, the network gave the former host a new talk show, committing to air it every weeknight at 10:00 p.m., as an inexpensive alternative to the procedurals and other one-hour dramas that typically air during that time slot. In doing so, NBC became the first large United States network in decades to broadcast the same show every weekday during prime time hours. Its executives called the decision "a transformational moment in the history of broadcasting" and "in effect, launching five new shows." The early results are mixed with displaced shows like "Law & Order SVU" suffering, local newscasts declining and the late-night programs suffering.

PUBLIC BROADCASTING SERVICE

In 1948, the FCC stopped issuing new television station licenses. American educators, fearful of the impact of unrestricted commercial broadcasting, pushed for the Commission to hold open channel slots for non-commercial, educational television broadcasts. In 1952, when the FCC freeze was lifted, 242 channels were reserved for educational television. America's first non-commercial educational television station was KUHT in Houston, started in 1953.

By 1962, 75 educational stations were broadcasting around the country. As these stations shared roughly the same programming interests, a loose distribution network evolved, allowing locally-produced programs like "Children's Corner" to be circulated among these stations. Most of the programming was produced on a shoestring budget. In 1962, the federal government authorized $32 million in matching funds for the construction of new educational television broadcasting facilities. In 1967, a blue ribbon panel urged local and state governments to increase their financial support of "public television" and recommended that the federal government participate in the production of programming. To this end, the first Public Broadcasting Act was passed. This law also created the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, a non-profit "steward" of the public funds committed to public broadcasting, and, not incidentally, a barrier against government interference in programming decisions. In 1969, the Public Broadcasting Service's charter was signed, with its main intent the establishment of a nationwide program distribution service. 1969 saw the premiere of an hour-long, daily children's variety show, called "Sesame Street," which targeted pre-schoolers with fast-paced educational programming and featured live performers, cartoons and Muppets developed exclusively for the show by Jim Henson.

In 1970, PBS' first year as a "network," its programming included series as widely varied as "Washington Week in Review," "Civilisation," "The French Chef" and "Soul!" By 1973, PBS had more than 1 million individual subscribers. PBS and its member stations were responsible for bringing to U.S. audiences critically acclaimed BBC programming under the flag of "Masterpiece Theatre," which included such classics of television as "Upstairs Downstairs" and "I, Claudius." In 1976, PBS began broadcasting closed-captioned programming for the hearing impaired. In 1978, PBS became the first American network to distribute its programs by satellite.

Although some portion of PBS and its member stations' budgets are provided by federal and state government funding and corporate gifts, PBS and its member stations have continued to rely upon the contributions of individual viewers to stay afloat. In the late 1980s and early 1990s, PBS and the CPB suffered an enormous amount of criticism by government officials for an alleged "liberal" bias, and later in the 90s, for not being "self-sufficient." Although a notable few PBS series have achieved some financial success in other areas (primarily children's programming in the home video and product licensing fields), it is important to note that the production of most of the all-important local educational and public affairs programming never breaks even. In the face of continuing cuts in government funding, PBS programmers have accepted what may have been inevitable, the inclusion of commercial sponsorship (and actual commercials) in programming.

In the wake of the government threat of fund cuts, PBS increased its effort to achieve financial independence. In 1997, PBS President Ervin Duggan announced that the network would use its recognizable brand to market products and services, such as educational videos and distance-learning programs. With this approach as well as using the internet to sell its products and investing in new programming, PBS had a total revenue for the 1997 fiscal year of $239 million, $15 million more than its target.

PBS got caught in a scandal in 1999 involving the sharing of its donor lists with partisan political groups. The GOP complained about the practice, which primarily involved list-sharing with the Democratic Party. PBS admitted that it called into question the independence and impartiality of the public network.

In 1999, Frank Cruz was appointed Chairman of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

PBS continues to be a target of Republicans who are opposed to government funding of educational, informational, and cultural programming. Nonetheless, CPB's funding has been approved at $340 million for 2001, $350 million for 2002, and $365 million for 2003.

PBS' operating revenue grew from $262 million in 1998 to approximately $324 million during 2003, largely from non-member revenue sources. This revenue growth has enabled PBS to invest more in three key areas: national programming, advertising and promotion, and PBS.org. Interestingly, PBS.org is the most visited dot-org Web site in the world, and the home of comprehensive companion Web sites for more than 500 PBS television programs and specials. The National Programming Service provided by PBS is the major package of programs PBS distributes to its member stations. It features children's, cultural, educational, history, nature, news, public affairs, science and skills programs. In a survey completed in Jan. 2004 by non-partisan, international research company RoperASW, the American public called PBS the most trusted institution on a list of nationally known organizations in the country and the best use of tax dollars, second only to military defense. The opinion study, which included 1,000 randomly selected participants across the country, also found Americans are more satisfied with programming on PBS compared with commercial broadcasting or cable networks and consider PBS news and public affairs series the most trustworthy. PBS plans to conduct this survey annually to keep a pulse on its perceived performance with the viewing public.

On the heels of this positive report, Pres. and CEO Pat Mitchell testified before the House Appropriations Committee during the year to underscore how PBS uses its federal funding to educate and enrich American lives. During her testimony she highlighted PBS' early education, "Ready To Learn" service through local stations, in which PBS distributes over one million free books and sponsors literacy workshops for 900,000 caregivers and 7.4 million children. PBS has even found support in a Republican White House, with First Lady Laura Bush serving as honorary chairwoman of PBS' initiative to build children's literacy skills. The struggle to maintain public funding levels remains constant, although Mitchell cited an uptick in corporate sponsorships. By the end of 2003, PBS had 11 new uncrowdfunders all above the $1 million mark and three or four above $2.5 million. PBS also forged ahead with digital delivery of its programming signal. In 2004, PBS reaches 80 percent of the country via digital signal.

A PBS staple, "Clifford the Big Red Dog," visited Capitol Hill in 2005. Clifford's host on the Hill was Representative Nita Lowey, Democrat of New York. She and other PBS advocates were "barking" about a proposed $100 million cut in the GOP-led House's budget, which some believe was meant to punish public television for a perceived liberal bias. At the center of this discussion were proposed cuts to the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB), which oversees the Public Broadcasting Service. Ultimately, the House restored the $100 million and the CPB appointed long-time Republican loyalist, and former Republican National Committee Chairman Pat Harrison for its President. Whether this has a chilling effect on what content makes the public TV airwaves will likely be debated for months and years to come.

The issue about programming content has already had a chilling effect on the PBS organization itself. The NY Times reported: "Late last year, when she heard that the PBS children's series "Postcards From Buster" would include an episode with a lesbian couple, Education Secretary Margaret Spellings asked the network to yank the episode. PBS supporters and gay rights advocates cried foul, noting that the couple was on screen for mere moments; conservative critics said Spellings had shown that PBS has a liberal agenda and called for a boycott."

PBS did not distribute the episode to its PBS affiliates and the incident ultimately led Patricia Mitchell to resign as PBS President at the end of her contract in June 2006. Under Mitchell's leadership prime-time ratings rose to the highest ever in its 36 year history and PBS stations extended their reach for digital broadcasting to over 89 percent of the country. Mitchell also added diversity to the schedule, including the "American Family," an Emmy-nominated series featuring a Latino family, and "American Mystery!" a special featuring Indians living in the Southwest. Mitchell's work has been recognized with 37 Emmys and five Peabody Awards and she received two Academy Award nominations. Most recently, she received the Sandra Day O'Connor Award for Leadership. Her leadership award is not surprising. She has run PBS efficiently: only 4% of PBS's annual budget goes to management and general expenses, with 75% of total revenues going to noncommercial programming and promotions.

Perhaps a healthy result of appropriate "content" discussions is the creation of an ombudsman post at PBS. Following a nationwide search, PBS has appointed veteran journalist Michael Getler as Ombudsman. As an independent internal critic, Getler will seek to ensure that PBS upholds its own rigorous standards of journalistic ethics for both online and on-air content. His reports and commentary will be published on pbs.org. Getler was previously The Washington Post's Ombudsman. He has complete authority to determine what issues are examined and full independence in assessing them. The decision to appoint an Ombudsman, first considered by PBS management more than one year ago, was fully supported by the panel of expert journalists PBS convened in February to review the organization's Editorial Standards and Policies.

PBS continues to be a private, nonprofit media enterprise that serves the nation's 348 public noncommercial television stations, reaching nearly 90 million people each week. It brings diverse viewpoints to television and the Internet and provides high-quality documentary and dramatic entertainment.

Paula Kerger joined the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) as its sixth President and chief executive officer in March 2006. Kerger came to PBS from the Educational Broadcasting Corporation (EBC), the parent company of Thirteen/WNET and WLIW New York—two of the nation's largest public television stations; where since 2004 she was the executive V.P. & COO and a member of the office of the President, a position carrying both internal and external responsibilities.

First up for Kerger and her team: an aggressive health programming initiative targeting America's greatest health challenges. In Jan. 2007 special primetime PBS programs began addressing four urgent health issues which threaten the lives of millions of people: heart disease, obesity, cancer and depression. The PBS Health Initiative was designed as a wake-up call for action, offering programs that cut through the clutter of medical information to provide realistic and concrete guidance on how individuals and families can take control of their health. These 90-minute programs entail compelling stories of individuals and families facing these medical conditions, providing insight into the latest groundbreaking medical research to provide a full picture of the complex physiological, psychological and social factors that are driving the alarming prevalence of heart disease and obesity in America. Each special has a follow-up half-hour program with medical experts to answer questions from a studio audience and to provide specific strategies for prevention and treatment. An extensive Web component will be available to direct viewers to information and resources that provide help and support.

On the technology front, PBS announced in late October PBS content would be available on the iTunes Store — www.itunes.com. PBS joined the growing list of broadcasters making programming available for download to mobile media.

In recent years, PBS has had to struggle with attempts to reduce part of its budget from the federal government, probably due to a perceived liberal bias in its programming. Although the majority of funding comes from viewers and sponsors, it is estimated that federal funding dropped 23% in 2007 to $380 million. In spite of this, PBS won eight Emmy Awards this year for shows such as, "Nova," "Frontline," "Nature" and "American Experience." The crowning achievement of the year was Ken Burns' 15-hour, 7-part historical documentary, "The War," broadcast in September, chronicling World War II through the experiences of men and women on the battlefield and at home from four American cities: Mobile, Sacramento, Luverne, Minnesota and Waterbury, Connecticut.

In 2008, the Bush administration proposed lowering the federal subsidy for public broadcasting for the eighth straight year. The cuts would slice in half the money that public television gets from the government. Lately the audience for PBS has been shrinking even faster than the audience for the commercial networks. The average PBS show on prime time now scores about a 1.4 Nielsen rating. The major problems seem to be increased competition from the cable networks — the stunning BBC documentary "Planet Earth," for example, which in the old days would have been a natural for PBS, was instead broadcast on the Discovery Channel — and the inability to develop new programming that attracts new audiences and sponsors.

Except for "Antiques Roadshow," all the prime-time stalwarts — "The News Hour," "Nova," "Nature," "Masterpiece" — are into their third or fourth decade. Infrequently, a program like "The War," Ken Burns and Lynn Novick's World War II documentary, the most-watched PBS series in 10 years, comes along and makes a huge splash. The broadcast of the first episode was watched by some 7.3 million people. But such projects are few and far between.

In a speech in 2009, CEO Paula Kerger said the hope of nonprofit organizations is to make the world a slightly better place everyday. With educational content spanning multiple platforms, PBS is attempting to change the way their audience can access content. Kerger said the corporation has historically been a pioneer, being the first to utilize closed captioning and a national satellite. Today, the corporation does multicasting, and distributes much of their content in high definition. In addition, PBS allows some users to publish their own content and uses mediums like Xbox and Hulu to distribute programming.

INTERACTIVE TELEVISION

Interactive television (generally known as iTV) describes a number of techniques that allow viewers to interact with television content as they view it. This section focuses more on the hardware, software and applications, and services related to the interactive television experience than content creators and distributors. Increasingly, "mainstream" content creator and television distribution companies now retain the capability to produce & distribute an interactive television product. See TV producers and distributors section of the almanac for comprehensive content and distribution coverage. Content companies listed here focus primarily on the interactive television experience.

INTERNET PROTOCOL TELEVISION AND INTERNET TELEVISION

IPTV is a system where the delivery of television or "rich media" content to a customer's home is accomplished via Internet Protocol broadband networks. Instead of being delivered through traditional broadcast and cable formats, the content is received through the technologies used by computer networks. In traditional television delivery, all programming is broadcast simultaneously. The viewer selects which program he wants to watch by changing the channel. IPTV, by contrast, sends only one program at a time. Content remains on the service provider's network and only the program the customer selects is sent to the home. When a viewer changes the channel, a new stream is transmitted from the provider's server directly to the viewer. Like cable TV, IPTV requires a set-top box. Two of the newer distribution channels are Internet television, which operates on the world wide web and Internet Protocol Television, or IPTV, which is offered via broadband networks that are private. Google, Joost and similar services are examples of Internet television, while phone and satellite companies like Verizon, AT&T and EchoStar offer the private networks that are IPTV.

ABOUT TELEFILM CANADA

Created in 1967 and reporting to the Department of Canadian Heritage, Telefilm Canada is a federal cultural agency dedicated to the development and promotion of the Canadian audiovisual industry. Telefilm provides financial support to the private sector to create distinctively Canadian productions that appeal to domestic and international audiences.

In 2006-2007, Telefilm managed nearly $400 million in financial resources; $261 million was administered on behalf of the Canadian Television Fund. The resources managed by Telefilm are committed through the Canada Feature Film Fund and the Canada New Media Fund enabling Telefilm to act as key financing, strategic and promotional partner on both the international and national scenes.

Consult the website for additional information concerning regional offices, funds and programs, co-production certification, festivals and markets, catalogs and current developments.

INTERNATIONAL COPRODUCTIONS

International co-productions are a key component of Canadian film and television production. They are a favored method of penetrating new markets and facilitating project financing.

Canadians are quite active in the international co-production area. They promote quality and demonstrate remarkable energy and understanding of markets, making them sought-after partners.

On behalf of the Canadian government, Telefilm administers official international co-production agreements. These partnerships enable Canadian producers and their foreign counterparts to pool their creative, artistic, technical and financial resources to co-produce films and television programs that enjoy the status of national productions in each of the countries concerned.

At present, Canadian producers may create joint works with their counterparts in more than 50 countries.

Telefilm Canada is a federal cultural agency dedicated to the development and promotion of the Canadian audiovisual industry. With the objective of building larger audiences for Canadian cultural products, the Corporation acts as a partner to the private sector through investments in diverse productions that speak to Canadians and that resonate with audiences around the world. From screenwriting to international markets, Telefilm provides support for all industry activities.

The Corporation oversees a number of funds and programs, including the Canada Feature Film Fund and the Canada New Media Fund. Telefilm is also the administrator of the Canadian Television Fund.

From promoting Canadian films at major festivals and markets to stimulating new international coproduction partnerships, Telefilm Canada is also an innovative and entrepreneurial player on the worldwide market.

INTERIM EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
Jane Bisbee - jbisbee@ampia.org

The Alberta Motion Picture Industries Association (AMPIA) is a non-profit professional service association serving the independent motion picture production community in the province of Alberta. AMPIA was founded in 1973 with the single aim of furthering the independent motion picture industry as a viable economic and cultural force within the province.

Historically, AMPIA has been recognized and called upon to serve as a voice for the Alberta film and video industries. In 1994 the Association strengthened this voice by expanding its membership to include a broader base of industry professionals within its voting membership. Likewise, the organization expanded the size and scope of the AMPIA Board of Directors to reflect the various sectors of this dynamic industry.

Formed in 1940 as an organization dedicated to the welfare of all men and women of the motion picture industry. It has grown to its present-day strength of over 900 members in five branches across Canada. Original membership requirements called for 25 years of service in the industry. This period of service has now been reduced to 5 years. Everyone involved in industry, theatrical or home entertainment qualifies for membership; no matter what their job title; doorman, cashier, caretaker, manager, projectionist, booker, corporate employee, industry supplier, etc. The Canadian Picture Pioneers Trust Fund helps any members of the film industry in need by, for example, frequently paying additional medical and special treatment costs, providing wheelchairs and general living expenses. In 1983 the Trust Fund began to provide scholarships to post-secondary students in the industry or have parents working as part of the industry.

OFFICE OF COMMUNICATIONS (OFCOM)

OFCOM was designed to be a 'super regulator', required in an age where many media platforms are converging. OFCOM was initially established in the Office of Communications Act 2002 [1], but received its full authority from the Communications Act 2003. On December 29, 2003, OFCOM inherited the duties that had previously been the responsibility of five regulatory bodies:

The Broadcasting Standards Commission

The Independent Television Commission

The Office of Telecommunications (OfTel)

The Radio Authority

SATELLITE AND CABLE SYSTEMS OPERATORS

British television broadcasting has a range of different broadcasters, broadcasting multiple channels over a variety of distribution media. Before the advent of digital television in the UK, five main television channels dominated (BBC, ITV, Channel 4, Five, S4C and Teletext) British television. With the increasing popularity of digital television, all are expanding and offering a portfolio of digital-only channels to viewers. Starting in 2008 and ending in 2012, television services in the UK will go completely digital, region by region. Digital UK is the independent, not for profit, organization set up by the broadcasters to lead the UK's switch to digital television.
